THE POST.

Middleburg, AUG. 23, 1877.

Local News, &c.

—All communications, business letters &c., for this office, to secure prompt attention should be addressed as follows: THE POST, Middleburg, Snyder County, Pa. Advertisements, communications &c. must be handed in by Monday noon, to secure insertion in next issue

The evenings are commencing to grow cool.

The farmers are now busy with their fall ploughing.

The harvest is past and the summer is approaching its end.

School teachers will soon open the fall and winter educational campaign.

REGISTER.—It behooves every voter to see that his name is on the Registry List. September 5th and 6th are the last days on which this important duty can be attended to prior to the November election.

The man who don't advertise is like the boy who took green corn to market in a bag and when any person asked what he had to sell, he told them "It was none of their business.

It is asserted by an exchange that nothing makes a girl madder than to have the congregation kneel to pray just as she steps into church with a new bonnet on, after having waited until the last bell had rung.

ERADICATE THEM.—The season of the year is now approaching when weeds begin to ripen and scatter their seeds broadcast, and it behooves all our citizens to keep a close watch of their premises if they desire a small crop next season. Let your scythe and "go" for them.

RECEIVER APPOINTED.—Judge Bucher of the Mifflin, Union and Snyder district has appointed E. B. McCrum Receiver of the Selinsgrove & North Branch Rail Road Company, with authority to take full possession of all the property and franchises of the company, collect subscriptions, settle claims, solicit additional subscriptions and complete the enterprise, or do whatever may be deemed for the best interests of the creditors, debtors, and the Company.

Several boys by the name of Kreitzer, and another named Arnold, entered a melon patch belonging to Moyer & Troup, in Chapman township, on Tuesday, evening. Mr. Moyer, who had been watching the patch, fired on the boys, and young Arnold received the contents of the gun in his side, the shot penetrating his kidneys.—Courier, 16th inst.

Since the above was put in type, we learn, that Arnold died from the effect of his injuries.

GRANGERS' PIC-NIC.—The patrons of Husbandry, of Snyder county will hold their annual Harvest Home Pic-nic, on Saturday, August 25th 1877, at Bower's Grove, near Middleburg. Able speakers from a distance have been engaged to address the meeting. The Pic-nic is on the basket order, all are expected to provide their own refreshments. The farmers, and all friends of Agriculture are cordially invited to be present, a good time generally is eXpected. The Sunbury and Lewistown Railroad will issue eXcursion tickets to the grounds.

S. R. Downing of Chester county will be one of the speakers.

Swindlers.—The swindling operations on the farming community continue, and the methods resorted to are as numerous as the swindlers. There seem to be victims enough to make it profitable or to give encouragement to the operators. They generally select those who do not read the papers—men who are so wise that it would be folly to even speak a word of caution until they are entrapped. If all farmers would take the papers, the rural districts would not present so rich a field for these swindling operators.

SCARED FARMERS.—At Baskinsville, Perry county side of the Clark's Ferry or Juniata bridge, a report was circulated last evening that a panther is prowling about the neighborhood of Powell's church in the valley. On Sunday a long and slender backed animal, of a mouse color was observed by a Mr. Snyder, who pronounced it a panther. The cries of the beast were heard by a number of farmers, and some four or five parties have been hunting for it since Sunday. It is presumed the beast strayed away from its haunts on Mahantongo mountain above the Ferry.—Patriot 9th inst.

TRAMPS.—In dealing with the tramp question it is all important to know that these strolling outlaws and vagabonds are banded together in an organized body, whose primary object is to prey upon society. They have their season of coming and going, of appearing and disappearing. They have districted the States and sections of country in which they travel. They have signs and signals, which are so much Hebrew to those not belonging to their guild, but perfectly intelligent to one another. Mysterious chalk and charcoal marks on fences, doorposts and crossroads tell whom and what to avoid, where the shotgun gives a warm reception, or some soft-hearted dupes may be found. In fact the brotherhood of tramps is an established fact, and must be dealt with as such if we desire to be rid of it. Different State Legislatures have already enacted laws on the subject, different towns have taken it in hand, and, in a measure, saved themselves from the annual summer incursions of these unwelcome visitors. But if the nuisance is to be entirely abated there must be concert of action. We are sometimes asked, what is to become of the tramp if he is cast off by everybody? We answer let him stay at home, among his relations, friends or acquaintances. We will take care of our own poor. So will the townships. No one need starve in this land of plenty, provided he or she does his or her part.

The Moon will be totally eclipsed on the 23rd of August. Visible in Pennsylvania.

NOTICE.—The administrators of the estate of A. J. Peters, Esq., deceased, hereby give notice that all persons who had placed, books, notes, papers, accounts &c., &c., in his hands for collection &c., are requested to make settlement within ten days, and take them away. All unsettled accounts must be settled at once, or they will be placed in hands of a proper officer and disposed of according to law.

Aug. 23rd, '77.

GREEN CORN PUDDING.—Take six ears of corn and with a sharp knife cut off the corn and chop it fine. To this add three pints of milk, three eggs, three dessert-spoonfuls of butter, the same amount of sugar, and salt to suit the taste. Beat the sugar and eggs together, add the corn and milk, and bake until the top is nicely browned. The sugar may be omitted and a handful of corn meal or powdered crackers be used instead, and the dish served as a vegetable and not as a dessert.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON MASON'S HILL.—We are informed that on Thursday last, a small boy named Davidson living on Mason's Hill, was sent to the spring on the brow of the hill nearly opposite Northumberland, to get a bucket of water. As he failed to return in time search was made, when he was foune near the river's edge at the bottom of the hill. It is supposed that looking over the precipice, he lost his balance and fell over the ledge of rocks almost perpendicular, about two hundred feet in height. His body was a complete wreck of broken bones and lacerated flesh.—Sunbury American, 17th inst.

SHOT HIS SISTER.—We learn that last week one day over in Juniata county, near the Snyder county line a child was allowed to have a gun to go hunting, and staying until after meal time, when he came home requested his sister to get him something to eat, which she refused to do, stating that it was his business to be at home at meal time. He again urged her, as before, at the same time threatening to shoot her if she refused his request, she told him the same as before, when he took his shot gun and deliberately shot her in the face and neck. It is thought she cannot recover. The boy is only nine years old, his unfortunate sister is grown.

ART OF SWIMMING.—Men are drowned by raising their arms above water, the unbuoyed weight of which depresses the head. When a man falls into deep water, he will rise to the surface, and will continue there if he does not elevate his hands. If he moves his hands under the water in any way he pleases, his head will rise so high as to allow him free liberty to breathe, and if he will use his legs as in the act of walking (or rather of walking up stairs,) his shoulders will rise above the water, so that he may use less exertion with his hands or apply them to other purposes. These plain directions are recommended to the recollection of those who have not learned to swim in their youth, as they may be found highly advantageous in preserving life.

Terrible Mill Accident.—This morning between 7 and 8 o'clock, a terrible accident happend at the new planing mill and box factory, Hebburn street and the canal. Mr. Frank E. Wood, an employee in the mill, got down under a circular saw to rosin some belting, and while in the act of doing this his arm was caught in the belting and jerked up against the saw, which cut off the hand and wrist in an instant at the lower two-thirds of the arm, just above the wrist. The unfortunate man was taken to his home, and Dr. E. B. Campbell sent for. The doctor soon arrived and dressed the horrible wound. Mr. Wood may well be called an exceedingly unfortunate man. One year ago last month Dr. Campbell was compelled to amputate almost the whole of his left hand, leaving only the little finger and thumb, with a very small portion of the hand. He is now totally crippled, so far as the hand is concerned. It is truly a deplorable case, as he has been a hard working man, maintaining his wife and children with the proceeds of his labor.—Gazette & Bulletin 8th.

Building and loan associations have hitherto been exempt from State taxation, but it appears that the State Treasurer, acting under the advice of Attorney General Lear, is determined to collect a tax of one quarter of one per cent. on their capital. This step is taken under the law of the State taxing corporations, and the Attorney General holds that tax should be collected on the entire amount of capital named in the charter of incorporation. We believe with the Lancaster New Era that "the law under which the tax is contemplated inapplicable, but were it otherwise, such a step must prove far more harmful than beneficial to the true interests of this Commonwealth. For the sake of a few thousand dollars of which it does not really stand in need, it is proposed to impair the usefulness of hundreds of associations all over the State which have done more for our prosperity than can be summed up in dollars and cents." That these associations will resist the payment of the tax does not admit of a doubt. It is manifestly unjust to impose this burden upon these organizations, and if the Attorney General is sustained in his opinion by the Courts, it will have a tendency to wind up suddenly many of these institutions throughout the State, and prevent the formation of others.—Ex.

How to Keep Well.—The remedy for summer diseases, by whatever name is: Eat less. We do not mean that you shall starve yourself or deny yourself what you like best; for, as a general rule, what you like best is best for you; you need not abandon the use of tea or coffee or meat, or anything else you like, but simply eat less of them. Do not starve yourself, do not reduce the quantity of food to an amount that would scarcely keep a chicken alive, but make a beginning by not going to the table at all, unless you feel hungry; for if you once get there, you will begin to taste this and that and the other, by virtue of vinegar or mustard, or syrup, or cake, or something nice. Thus a ficticious appetite is waked up, and before you know it you have eaten a hearty meal.

The second step towards the effectual prevention of all summer complaints and the like is: Diminish the amount of food consumed at each meal by one-fourth of each article. If you have taken two cups of coffee or tea at each meal, take a cup and a half; if you have taken two biscuits or two slices of bread, take one and a half; if you have taken two spoonfuls of rice or hominy or cracked wheat or grist or farina, take one and a half; if you have taken a certain or uncertain quantity of meat, deminish it by a quarter, and keep on diminishing it in proportion, as the weather becomes warmer, until you have no unpleasant feeling of any kind after your meals, and in this way you will be sure to be healthy and happy.

Will the Wild oats that is being sowed around the various camp meeting grounds terminate in a profitable crop.

RETAILERS OF TOBACCO.—Many grocerymen and other dealers in tobacco, are in the habit of cutting plugs of tobacco up into small pieces and retailing them from cases, jars, etc., which is a technical violation of the Internal Revenue laws. The law allows retail dealers to sell only from packages properly stamped. Tobacco can only be retailed from stamped packages, and to sell it otherwise than from the original stamped packages they are liable to seizure. Peremptory orders are issued to Revenue Agents and Deputy Collectors of Internal Revenue to seize all tobacco not found in stamped packages. Penalties are inflicted for not destroying stamps on cigar boxes and tobacco packages as soon as emptied. If all engaged in the sale of tobacco and cigars read this and comply with the requirements they will save money and trouble.—Ex.

MOODY,

HIS

Words, Works, & Workers.

This is the only authentic and full history of Mr Moody and all his remarkable doings bound in one volume of large crown octavo of 552 pages. Sold by subscription only. The book is divided into five distinct parts—treating of different subjects and different matter—The following being the merest synopsis of an explanatory nature of the first three parts:

"This is pre-eminently the newest, freshest, and most complete of all the Moody literature: It contains FIVE BOOKS IN ONE: in substance as follows:

Here is Part I., which gives a sketch of Mr. Moody's life and an account of every one of his great revival campaigns; all the important facts and incidents that can be found in any Life of Moody for which alone you have to pay $1.50 or $2.00.

Here is the most pleasing picture of Mr. Moody that can be found. It is an elegant steel portrait, made in London; which the publishers have imported especially for this book.

This picture of the Old Homestead was taken on the spot by an artist who went to Mr. Moody's native home for that purpose.

Part II. is a collection of Mr. Moody's wonderful portraits of the men and women of the Bible, which have been so much admired both in Great Britain and America. There are twenty-five of them.

This is the only book in which these Bible portraits have ever been brought together.

Part III, is Mr. Moody's entire system of theology.

The usual way of publishing Mr. Moody's sermons has been to throw together forty or fifty newspaper reports, without the least attempt at classification by subjects; print them on cheap paper in cheap binding, and push the sale as rapidly as possible, simply on the strength of Moody's name.

In making this Part III, the entire range of his doctrinal sermons and lectures have been examined, and everything remarkable or of especial value has been selected, and arranged by subjects; so that the reader may see Mr. Moody's entire doctrinal teachings in compact and systematic order, and in his own vigorous and life-like style.

This outline of theology is the only attempt that has ever been made at an orderly and complete presentation of Mr. Moody's religious opinions; and if he were to die to-day, this volume would be the only work from which his evangelistic theories and methods could be fairly understood.

This makes "Moody, His Words, Work and Workers," the most valuable book on this subject for reference, and permanent library use.

This department of theology comprises five sections, which give Mr. Moody's best sermons and sayings; first, about God; second, about Jesus Christ and His Offices; third, about the Holy Spirit; fourth, on Sin and Salvation; and fifth, on The Last Things, as the books of theology call them, i. e., Heaven, Hell, and The Return of Our Lord.

Section First is short. Mr. Moody does not preach a great deal along this line. He thinks that "God out of Christ is a consuming fire;" therefore, he preaches mostly about God as he appears in the person and work of Jesus Christ.

Section Second, Christ and his Offices is one of the best parts of the whole work. Mr. Moody has more beautiful and helpful things to say about the Son of God than any other religious teacher of these times. He makes one think of the sweet words of Luther, of Fenelon, or Thomas and Kempis.

The Third Section gives Mr. Moody's lectures on the Holy Spirit.

The editor of this volume took the best reports of those lectures as they were first given in Chicago, and also the best reports of the same lectures in Boston; compared them together; took the treatment of each topic in Mr. Moody's best form, and arranged the whole in their proper order.

These lectures are, by many, thought to be his most profitable discourses, and alone are worth a separate volume. NO OTHER BOOK HAS EVER CONTAINED THEM.

The Fourth Section, entitled Sin and Salvation, contains his favorite sermons on PERSONAL SALVATION; such sermons as Mr. Moody says are "fit to convert sinners with."

These are the sermons and sayings that set some of the English clergy against him, and that were so sharply criticised in Boston by the Unitarians.

Here is "Moody's Man," that some of the Boston people made such a fuss about. Moody says it is all a mistake that "because a man is born in Boston he does not not need to be born again.' (See page 410.)

Here (see page 414) is his wonderful weighing sermon that produced such a marked impression in Chicago where he proposed to hang a pair of scales from God's throne and weigh the members of his tabernacle and congregation by means of the Ten Commandments, first one by one, and then against the whole ten together.

Here (see page 435) is his great sermon on Law and Grace.

On page 433 begins that remarkable talk to fallen women, and the letter that one of these poor creatures sent him, and which he read at one of the Monday meetings in Farwell Hall.

Among the sermons in Section Five is that one on the "Return of our Lord," which is published separately with the proof texts. None of the other books of Moody's sermons have it.

This work is sold at $2.00 or $2.75 according to quality of binding. Persons desirous of studying the history and remarkable doings of this remarkable man, should apply to either of the subscribers who are canvassing the county.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvellous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued and restored to health.

This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it is constantly producing are too remarkable to be forgotten. No family should be without it, and those who have once used it never will.

Eminent Physicians throughout the country prescribe it, and Clergymen often recommend it from their knowledge of its effects.
