Robinson:
All the farmers were of the "well to do" sort, and some of them, who have turned their attention to fruits and market gardening have grown rich. The soil is loam, varying from annly to clayey, and surface gently undulating, intersected with small streams and occasional wet meadows, in which deposits of peat or muck are stored, sufficient to fertilite the whole upland surface after it has been exhausted of its matural tertility.

surface after it has been exhausted of its natural iertility.

It is certainly one of the most extensive fortile tracts, in an almost level perition, and suitable condition for pleasant farming, that we know of this side of the Western prairies, we found some of the oldest farms apparently just as profitably productive as when first cleared of forces fifty or a hundred years ago.

The geologist would soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. The whole country is a marine deposit, and all through the soil we found evidences of caluroous substances, generally in the form of indurated calcareous mari, showing many distinct forms of ancient shells, of the tertiary formation; and this mariy substance is sonitered all through the soil, in a very somminuted form, and in the exact condition most easily assimilated by such plants as the former desires to cultivate.
