E. B. TAYLOR, Superintendent.

Indian summer is due this month, and there is a good deal of speculation as to whether it will come.

—S. Weis, Selinsgrove, makes a specialty in LADIES COATS, this season. He has a full line at very reasonable figures.

Did you read Weis & Oppenheimer's large advertisement on our first page? If not read it and see what astonishing offers they make, and our word for it, all they say they will do.

For every disorder and every incipient or developed disease for which it is recommended, you will find Dr. Haas' Expectorant the best safeguard and cure within your reach. 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

—FURS! FURS! FURS! FURS! A full line of Ladies, Misses and Children's furs at S. Weis' Selinsgrove, cheaper than ever before.

On Monday whilst Mr. Samuel Musser of Franklin township, was out in the woods chopping wood, the aX glanced off and he cut himself severely in the left foot. He fainted from loss of blood. The wound was dressed by Dr. Bibighaus, and he is getting along finely.

Supervisors are required to furnish index boards to each crossing. See Purdon's Digest page 1279 section 53. They are required to keep in repairs the roads between wing walls of all public bridges, also to give the Commissioners early notice of any repairs needed to the different bridges.

—A full line of Muslins, prints, Flannels, Dress goods &c., at S. Weis', Selinsgrove. Prices very low.

On Sunday afternoon, 21st, ult., lightning struck a rod in Blair county, passed into a dining room where about a dozen devout persons were holding a prayer meeting, dismissed the audience, tore up the floor, passed into the cellar, burst through the wall and before betaking itself to its grave, demolished the hydrant. No one was injured.

—S. Weis, of Selinsgrove has a large and fine assortment of Germantown wool and Zephyrs, than ever before. That's the place to buy,

Jerome Hettrick of Mexico, Juniata county, attended court at New Bloomfield last week as a witness in the Newport Bank robbery case, and as his name was called he suddenly fell to the floor and died almost instantly. Mr. Hettrick was a merchant and several years ago represented his county in the legislature.

It having been decided that the Assessors are of no practicle use as members of the election board, on election day, their duties having been accomplished by their complying with the provisions of section 2nd of the Act of Assembly approved January 30th, 1874, the county commissioners will not pay assessors for attending elections.

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last, while the teacher Mr. Weidensaul, and his pupils were cleaning the Troxelville school house, the ceiling gave way, and falling upon a daughter of Josiah Kline, injured her so badly as to cause death in a few hours. She was about 12 years of age. The directors were in the same day, making efforts at repairing the half-broken down building

The tree man is again making his grand rounds in this county. For fruit trees, persons ought to go to the nearest nurseries and select for themselves, if they want to plant an orchard. Our forests supply a better quality of shade trees than is often sold at eXtravagant prices by enterprising nursery agents who have sample books with beautifully printed pictures to catch the innocent and entrap the unwary.—Ex.

Many of our business men who feel the pressure of the times, and the tendency of all classes to retrench and economize, fell into the error of supposing that the discontinuing and refusing to advertise their business, is one of the best and easiest methods of reducing eXpenses to meet the decrease of business. The best time to push business is when it is dull, and the quickest way to bring the eXtra inducements offered by merchants is by advertising in the local papers.

REMARKABLE STORY.—Dr. Jesse Laverty, living in Eastpennsboro' twp., is a great lover of pork. A number of pigs are raised yearly by him, and many children would be glad of the attention given to the inmates of his pens. The Doctor and Mrs. Laverty recently took a trip and were gone three days. When on their way home, fifteen miles away they saw at a cross road a pig which had a wonderfully familiar look, which stood facing the comers and when they came near made a dash for the buggy and got entangled in the running gear, which soon brought things to a stand still. Satisfied that the young porker was his own the doctor gave him a lift into the buggy where he lay still as a child. When the buggy neared the barn the Jewish outcast woke up made a leap from the buggy and ran for his pen. It turned out that the pig had been stolen and carried 20 miles into the country, and was homeward bound when he cajled his old friend and got the lift into the buggy.

The doctor, whose veracity has never been questioned, says he is willing to testify to the above facts.—Valley Spirit.

—LADIES! If you wish to see a fine line of CLOAKS go to S. Weis', Selinsgrove, opposite the Keystone Hotel.

Judge Junkin, in his recent charge to the Grand Jury of Perry county, laid down the law that "any shooting at supposed game, before the sportsman has discovered his mark, is carelessness, and if the object thus carelessly fired at, turns out to be human, and death ensued from the shot and wound that is manslaughter." People who are in the habit of firing at supposed game or at places where they may wound or kill persons, might as well make a note of this.

Now is the time to take the borers out of the apple trees, before they go so deep down that they cannot be captured. They are now going downward so as to be ready for operation next spring, when they will kill the trees, if left to have their own way. When apples will sell for $10 or $12 per tree, as many have done this fall, it is well worth while to try to save the trees from this destructive enemy. In all cases where the borers are not captured it is will to fill up their paths with strong rosin soap.

Now that the chilly night air and raw atmosphere prevail to a considerable extent, rendering little folks liable to take severe colds and frequently to sudden attacks of the much dreaded croup, the following remedy may be of incalculable service: "Croup" can be cured in one minute, and the remedy is simply alum and sugar. The way to accomplish the deed is to take a knife or grate, and shave off in small particles about a teaspoonful of alum; then mix it with twice its quantity of sugar, to make it palatable, and administer it as quickly as possible. Almost instantaneous relief will follow.

We notice that J. F. Riehl of the firm of Riehl & Bro. Lewisburg, Pa., representing the Halladay Standard Wind Mill, registered at the Motter House, Harrisburg, Pa., on Wednesday last on his way to Lebanon Valley and from thence to Mechanicsburg, Cumberland county, Pa., where they have a number of Mills to put up and have allready erected about 25 Mills now in running order in the Cumberland Valley. All are doing satisfactory work. Johnny is an old hand in the business and we know that all work entrusted in his care will receive prompt attention.

PAY OF ARBITRATORS.—The new law for the pay of arbitrators declares "that hereafter the compensation of arbitrators, chosen under the compulsory arbitration laws of this Commonwealth, shall be two dollars for each day necessarily employed in the duties of their appointment, and five cents for each mile necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the place of meeting, which shall be entered and taXed in the bill of costs in the case and collected as other costs of the case are collected: PROVIDED, That in all cases where no defense is made before said arbitrators, and in all cases in which said arbitrators shall be engaged less than five hours in hearing, their fees shall be as heretofore.' The act was approved March 22nd, 1877.

Judge Fisher, of the York county bench, announced the other day that thereafter he would, in view of the expenses entailed upon the county by the evil of intemperance, enforce the act of assembly imposing a fine of $2 upon every one found intoxicated upon the streets, and he thereupon called upon every officer of the peace to arrest every offender and take him before the justice of the peace and have the said fine imposed, and in default of the payment of the same to have the party committed to prison. The court also stated that the fine collected under the law must be handed over to the board of school control for the benefit of popular education.

COAL OIL ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday evening a week, says the Myerstown Chronicle, whilst Mrs. Samuel German, residing on College street was starting fire, preparatory to getting supper, she took a coal oil can and poured oil on the fire to make it burn faster. The flames ignited the oil in the can and it exploded, throwing the oil over her clothing, and in an instant she was all one flame. All the clothing was burned off her body and she was literally burned to a crisp. She was out in the yard screaming, when Samuel Barney, a neighbor snatched a piece of carpet and threw it over the burning woman. A little girl aged nine months was sitting in the room and was also badly burned along the spine and head. Dr. Frank Bower was immediately summoned, who rendered all possible aid to the suffering woman and child. Death came to her relief at 11 o'clock. The child died on the following Friday.

Desperate Encounter With Four Blackened Villains.—Friday night a week, Mr. Samuel Kemmerer, son of W. B. Kemmerer, proprietor of the well know flouring mill located about midway between Milton and Watsontown, worked at some repairs in the mill until about 2 o'clock on Saturday morning. He had finished at that hour and was washing his hands when the mill door opened and in stepped a man and presented a pistol to his face and demanded flour or his life. It may be imagined that Mr. K. was a little surprised at the thus early calling of the customer to say nothing of the manner in which he made his wants known. Before Mr. K. had time to reply, the blackened Texan-styled individual proceeded to lay hold of a sack of flour but was told that that had been sold but he would be given some out of a bin in another part of the mill and invited him to go along and get it. After lowering the light of the lamp, Kemmerer started, followed by the pistol flourisher and on arriving at the designated place, Mr. K. picked up a flour stamper and instantly turned around and with one blow of the instrument felled his assailant to the floor and then proceeded to belable him in a manner in strict conformity to the requirements of the occasion. The noise produced aroused a large dog in the mill which came to the scene of combat. About this time the door again opened and another man entered. The dog thinking no doubt, that he would take a hand along with the rest, pounced upon customer No. 2 and came off victorious, in as much as he got his man down and drew blood quite profusely, as indicated by his mouth and the quantity discovered on the floor of the mill after daylight. Next upon the scene came two more men who drove the dog off and dragged his and Mr. K's victim from the mill and placed them in a wagon standing near and drove off at a rapid rate. Mr. K. Says he does not know to what extent he injured his man with the flour stamper, but supposes that he must be cut and bruised very much. At last accounts there was no clue to the whereabouts of the party. Their faces were all blackened as above stated and were not recognised.—Daily Messenger.
