——LADIES! If you wish to see a fine line of CLOAKS go to S. Weis, Selinsgrove, opposite the Keystone Hotel.

The law makes a witness swear that he will tell the whole truth, so help him, and then it imposes rules of evidence by which he is not permitted to tell it.

——S. Weis, of Selinsgrove has a large and fine assortment of Germantown wool and Zephyrs, than ever before. That's the place to buy,

No other remedy has proved so effectual in not only relieving coughs and colds, but in curing them, as Dr. Haas' Expectorant. 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

——S. Weis, Selinsgrove, makes a specialty in LADIES COATS, this season. He has a full line at very reasonable figures.

☞ Henry H. Jones, dentist, who has permanently located at Adamsburg, this county, will be at the Washington House, in this place, during Wednesday of each week, and will be prepared to attend to all business in his profession in a satisfactory manner and at reasonable rates.

Mr. C. C. Seebold the enterprising agent of the "White" Sewing Machine has removed from the classic shades of Pine street, to the Kreamer property, formerly occupied by Mr. G. W. Granville Esq., all who desire a first class sewing machine, sewing machine attachments, oil, thread &c. will do well to call, and examine his stock.

——FURS! FURS! FURS! FURS! A full line of Ladies, Misses and Children's furs at S. Weis' Selinsgrove, cheaper than ever before.

Bi-carbonate of soda, or common baking soda that is found in almost every household, is said to be a sure remedy for burns and scalds. The soda should be placed on the wound, and a cloth placed over the top of it. The cloth should be kept moist all the time. This treatment not only relieves the sufferer of all pain, but helps to cure the wound. The Boston Journal of Chemistry is authority for the above, and its well-known reputation should be sufficient guarantee that there is no hoax about the matter. Let every one remember this remedy and try it should they be burned or scalded.

——A full line of Muslins, prints, Flannels, Dress goods &c., at S. Weis', Selinsgrove. Prices very low.

—Mr. Thepholus Swineford the gentlemanly and genial salesman formerly with Kaub, Frymire & Co., but now with Young & Keiper successors to Wanner, Young & Co., importers and wholesale dealers in China, Glass and Queensware, will during the next two weeks call upon the merchants of this and adjoining counties soliciting orders for the house with which he is connected. Mr. S. well known reputation for fair dealing will be a sufficient guaranty to those who wish to buy that all goods will be as represented. We hope the merchants of the county will give him a liberal share of their patronage.

THOSE TRAMPS.—Still reports come in relative to the depredations of this class of public nuisance. It is about time for them to begin their migration to large cities, where they prefer to reside during the snow and storms of winter. Their final journey for the season through the rural sections is likely to be one of plunder, and too much caution cannot be exercised. Hitherto farmers have been compelled to treat them civilly and to accede to their demands through fear of their malice, but these tactics are unwise. There should, however, be discrimination—some of these tramps are unfortunate victims of the times. They would gladly work if they could procure it. Let us be ready to share our mite when we have reason to believe such individuals are at our door asking for help, but in feeding the great army of lazy, thieving wanderers, we are treading charity in the dust and feeding and fattening crime.

A GOOD SCHOOL HISTORY.—We have never been particularly eager to bring about changes in school books, but always favor improvement in this direction when its sign and omens are sufficiently manifest. The best helps of instruction are none too good for our children, and they should be carefully sought and promptly adopted when found.

We have recently given a little thought to historical text-books, having had a new work of this kind placed in our hands for examination, which excites unusual interest in all who have given it proper study. The book in the production of Prof. J. C. Ridpath, an accomplished scholar and historian, who is well known for several works delineating our national record and progress; and he has certainly invested the subject with fresh attractions. His text is admirable, with faultless arrangement and a series of the best illustrative maps, charts, diagrams it has ever been our good fortune to see in any history. Prominent educators speak of it in terms of unmeasured commendation, and is going into use very rapidly in all communities where the education of youth is regarded as a matter of prime moment. Our readers will do well to examine it for themselves.

—Our sanctum was graced a short time since by a visit from Roswell Romig now a resident of Iowa but formerly of this county. We can number him among one of our earliest personal and political friends. We never found him to be a "sunshine" friend, but through ill fame as well as good, the same generous selfsacrificing gentleman, true to himself, true to his political creed and true to his friends. We are gratified to note no change in these respects since his removal to the Hawkeye State, but find him as generous and good a republican as when a citizen of little Snyder. This visit to this state was occasioned by the illness of his father, Mr. John D. Roming of West Beaver township. In this connection we are glad to note the improved condition of Mr. Romig's health, and that the subject of this notice has returned to his western home, where we hope his success may be continuous and his friends be as numerous as here.

On the Death of Dr. Wilson.

On Wednesday, the 14th ult., immediately after the funeral services of Dr. Charles Wilson, late of New Berlin, the medical fraternity present from Union and Snyder counties, held a meeting to give some eXpression of their esteem and appreciation for the professional attainments and intellectual qualifications of their deceased friend and co-worker in alleviating the ills and pains of the suffering.

Those present on the occasion were Drs. F. C. Harrison.——Reichard, Geo. S. Kemboll, Wm. Seebold, J. R. Gast, T. C. Steans, M. L. Mench, J. W. Young, S. W. Burg and J. W. Hoy, of Union county. Drs. J. Y Shindle, J. W. Rockfeller, I. G Barber, Percivil Herman, and——Sheats, of Snyder county.

After the meeting was duly organized, on motion, Drs. Rockfeller, of Middleburg and Hoy, of New Berlin, were appointed a committee to draft resolutions eXpressive of the feeling entertained by the members of the medical profession for the loss the profession has sustained in the death of Charles Wilson. In accordance with the above action the Committee respectfully submit the following:

WHEREAS, It has pleased an all-wise and unerring Providence to remove from our midst, by sudden death, our friend and professional brother, Dr. Charles Wilson, of New Berlin; therefore

RESOLVED, That we, as members of the medical fraternity, sincerely feel the loss of one of our members so well known for his good judgment in the sick room, his fine perceptive faculties, friendly demeanor and winning urbanity.

RESOLVED, That while the profession has lost an able and useful member, the community has been deprived of a good citizen—liberal in his views and congenial in his social qualities—and the afflicted and suffering an ardent and sympathizing benefactor.

RESOLVED, That the sympathies of this body be most heartily accorded to his family in their bereavement, and that a copy of these resolutions be published in at least two papers each of Union and Snyder counties.

J. W. HOY,
Committee.

The Accidental Killing of Human Beings by Sportsmen.—In view of the fact that so many persons are killed during the fall hunting season, by sportsmen, Judge Junkin in his charge to the Grand Jury, of Perry county, on the convening of the October term of Court in that county, on the 29th ult., adverted to the subject as follows:

It is impressed upon my mind as duty to draw your attention to events, quite frequent of late in this county, namely: the accidental killing of human beings by sportsmen. Of late years it might be said without great exaggeration that the gunning season opened about the middle of October, and birds and human beings were shot in common. There seems an impression that all accidental killing is without responsibility; that death from the careless use of a deadly weapon is only misadventure. This is a grave error, and we seek to correct it at once. The rule is, that death from negligence is manslaughter on the negligent party, punishable by a fine not exceeding $2,000, and imprisonment not exceeding two years. What is negligence? It is the want of that care which men of common sense and common prudence ordinarily exercise in like employments. Where death is the result of an occurrence in itself unexpected, but which arose from negligence or inattention, the guilt of the person producing it, depends upon the inquiry whether he was guilty of, gross negligence at the time.

The degree of caution to bring the case within the limits of misadventure, is proportioned to the probability of danger attending the act causing death. When deer had entered a cornfield, and were doing injury, the owner went with his servant to watch at night with a gun, and he charged the servant to fire when he heard anything rush into the standing corn; and upon the owner rushing into the corn in another part of the field, the servant fired and killed him. Chief Justice Hale thought it amounted to manslaughter, for want of due diligence and care of the servant in shooting upon such a token, as it might be a man as well as a deer; however, he said it was a question of great difficulty. But it was finally agreed, that the servant having obeyed the order of the master, and being ignorant that it was anything else than a deer, the killing was only misadventure; but it was also agreed that, had no order to fire been given, it would have been manslaughter, because of the want of due caution in the servant to shoot before he discovered his mark, (Wh. c. L. p. 1004.)

Thus you perceive the rule to be, that any shooting at supposed game, before the sportsman has discovered his mark, is carelessness, and if the object thus fired at, turns out to be human, and death ensues from the shot and wound, that is manslaughter.

It thus appears that any shooting at supposed game, before the marksman has ascertained certainly that it is a bird or beast, is careless shooting, and the party will be held responsible for his act, where the death of a reasonable creature easues therefrom. And this is right, sensible and just. Human life is too sacred to be chanced upon the probabilities of the object fired at turning out to be a pheasant or turkey; the hunter must know to a certainty that the object is NOT a human being or answer for manslaughter. What right has the sportsman (whose vocation at best is cruel and nearly useless), to fire upon any moving object obscurely seen amid leaves and trees, and shade and bramble? If he is incapable of restraining his ardor, and suppressing excitement in the act of capturing game, so that he mistakes a man or child for an animal, he is unfitted to use a deadly weapon in the woods. Such men should content themselves with shooting at a board out of range of human life.

It is time that all may understand the penalty which the law inflicts for accidental killing, when it is the result of carelessness.

With high winds this is the season for accidental fires. Be careful where you put your ashes.

Baron Rothchild, of Paris, has just paid $800,000 for a picture. What a dance! For that amount he might have secured the Post, in advance, for 400,000 years.

TWO HOGS STOLEN.—On Thursday, 22d, our townsman, Aleck. Bowersox made preparations to butcher on the following morning, Friday 23d. The night of the 22d was dark and rainy and Aleck. repaired to the Washington House to spend the evening and was entertained in the Sheriff's usual good style from 8 to 10.30 when Aleck went to his home and on his arrival was informed that the hogs were stolen. With lantern in hand he instituted search for the hogs and thieves in which he persisted until about 12 o'clock without any clue to either. Early the next morning search was again begun and about 9 a. m. he found his hogs cosily stored in the basement of Sheriff Bolender's Warehouse, in Franklin, as happy as two hogs could be. (Lots of corn in the warehouse.)

Alternately mad and p'e sed Aleck conducted the Porkers home—the hogs pleased too—not knowing they were going to the slaughter. There being a combination lock on the door to the entrance of the basement would almost point the finger of suspicion at Sheriff B. and Ben Bachman his clever Bar tender and measurer of coal; and even to Dr. Rockefeller who have the sole care and custody of the complicated keys. But there are other facts and circumstances connected with the felonious taking and carrying away of the hogs which more strongly point to others as the guilty parties and which are deemed sufficient to begin civil and criminal proceedings. It is rumored that Robert Ingersoll of Washington City, and Joseph S. Arnold of Port Treverton may be retained as council.
