Take two half-gallon (or quart) tin fruit cans and take the bottoms out of them. Now take a couple of half cigar boxes, tack down the lids and ent a hole through the bottom and lid of each, so you can fit in your cans, first bringing the ends level with the lid or bottom. Now stretch wet rawhide, parchment or bladder over the other end and tie tight and let it dry, and your speaking tubes are finished. Now take two-ply of shoe threat and wax it well, making it as long as you wish it. Punch a hole in the centre of the parchment head, poke the end of the string through and put a knot on it to keep it from pulling back. Then put your string like a telegraph wire, but do not let it touch wood. Where you wish to support it or make a turn, run it through a loop of the low for contraction when wet. GRAPTING WAX .- As the time for grafting fruit trees is at hand, the following formula for making grafting wax will prove timely. It has the merit of being easily and safely prepared, as it contains no alcohol, turpentine or other inflamable fluids. It is recommended by Major Frees of the Germanded by Major Frees of as it contains no alcohol, turpentine or other inflamable fluids. It is recommended by Major Freas of the Germantown Telegraph: To four parts of rosin, add one part of beeswax and one of beef or mutton tallow.—Meit them together in a skillet, (which is the best,) or a tin-cup, and stir well. It should remain in the vessel and be used as needed. Use warm, in a liquid state. Twenty or thirty scions can be waxed with one heating up. When much grafting is to be done, a little fire for heating it to be done, a little fire for heating it to be done, a little fire for heating it to be done, a little fire for heating the wax should be made on the spot, between two bricks or stones. The object to attain in the proportion is that the wax will not crack in cool dry weather, or run in warm weather. If, however upon trial, different proportions be required, the foregoing can be altered, though after using them in several ways we have come back to the present.
