

Farm, Home, &c.

The Wishes.

An old farm-house, with meadows wide And sweet with clover on each side; A bright-eyed boy who looks from out The door the woodbine wreathes about, And when this one thought of day: "Oh if I could but fly away From this dull spot the world to see, How happy, happy, happy, How happy I would be!"

Amid the city's constant din, A man who found the world has been In the same thinking all day long: "Oh if I could only trace some more The field path to the farm house door, The old green meadows could I see, How happy, happy, happy, How happy I would be!"

Lime is a good manure for clayey soils and plaster for sandy ones, because the former retains and the latter attracts moisture.

Plain Rusia Cake.—One cup of sour milk, one cup of sugar, two cups of flour, one egg, one level teaspoonful of soda, half a cup of raisins, chopped, and spiced to taste.

Egg Cake.—Three eggs, three cups of sugar, five cups of flour, one-half cup of raisins, two cups of sour milk, one teaspoonful of soda, spice to taste, one cup of butter, and bake in a hot oven.

A garden should not be shaded by large trees since but few plants flourish under shade and drip, while the strong roots of trees often usurp all the soil, and appropriate to themselves all the best of the garden.

Never whip your horse for becoming frightened at an object by the roadside; for if he sees a stump, a log or a heap of tanbark in the road, while he is eyeing it carefully and about to pass it, if you strike him with the whip, it is the log, or the stump, or the tanbark that is hurting him, in his way of reasoning, and the next time he will be more frightened. Give him time to examine and smell all these objects, and use the bridle to assist him in bringing him carefully to them.

What Five Sheep Will Do.—Five sheep will enrich one acre of old, worn-out mowing land in three years, so that it will produce one and one-half tons of hay per year for several years by a light sprinkle of seed each year sown in early spring.

Five sheep will produce manure in winter to the value of $10 by giving them suitable bedding.

Five sheep will get their living through the summer on one acre of ground; the pasturing of the same would be $3.

Five sheep will raise five lambs, worth $15.

Five sheep will shear twenty-five pounds of wool, worth $6—Ez.

Ashes for Cattle.—One of our substantial subscribers, in a recent conversation, gave his experience in treating neat stock affected with the habit of eating wood, chewing bones, &c. His cattle were one spring affected in this way; they became thin in flesh, refused to eat hay, and presented a sickly appearance. He put about four bushels of leached ashes in his barnyard and threw out to them about a shovelful each day. They ate it at with evident relish. After turning them out into pasture he put one peck of dry ashes per week on the ground in the pasture. They ate it all up and gnawed off the grass where it had been lying. The cattle began to improve, gaining flesh and looking better than they had for several years. He now gives one quart of ashes, mixed with the same quantity of salt, to twelve head of cattle, about once a week, and finds it agreed with them wonderfully. —Maine Farmer.

Feeding Young Chickens.—In some localities it is difficult to get chicks through the first two weeks after they are hatched, for the little complaints of this early period are more numerous and critical than at other periods of their lives. Feed is the first consideration, and pure water a great essential to them from first to last. Cornmeal is the one article of chicken diet which has been the main dependence for generations, but some experiments with rice last year convinced us that for young chicks it is equal to anything, if not superior to anything else. Broods fed upon rice alone all lived and grew finely on a single handful of feed for the hen and her brood. An inferior quality known to the trade as broken rice, is just as good for feed, and it takes so little for a feed that the expense is no greater in the Northern States than cornmeal, while in the South it will be the cheapest feed known.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Hints for Horse Owners.—If a colt is never allowed to get an advantage, it will never know that it possesses a power that man cannot control; and if made familiar with strange objects, it will not be skittish and nervous. If a horse is made accustomed, from his early days, to have objects hit him on the head, back, and hips, he will pay no attention to the giving out of harness, or of wagons running against him at an unexpected moment. We once saw an aged lady drive a high spirited horse, attached to a carriage, down a steep hill, with no hold-back straps upon the harness; and she assured us that there was no danger, for her son accustomed his horses to all kinds of usage and sights, that commonly drive the animal into a frenzy of fear and excitement. A gun can be fired from the back of a horse, an umbrella held over his head, a buffalo robe thrown over his neck, a railroad engine pass close by, his heels be bumped with sticks, and the animal take it all as a natural condition.
