HOYT ON FINANCE.

Professing to be an honest man, the candidate of an honest organization. I favor honest money.

The volume of the currency should be regulated by legitimate demand, and not by the requirements of bankrupts and wild speculators.

The currency should be redeemable as early as the exigencies of the Government will permit, in the currency recognized by all civilized nations.

The contracts of the Government should be held as sacred as the contracts of individuals, and the bonds, the evidence of its indebtedness, should be paid according to the understanding between the Government and the lender.—Speech at Butler, Sept. 2, 1878.

To the People of Pennsylvania. The Republican Party of Pennsylvania, in appealing once more to the people for their suffrages, does so with the conviction that the candidates upon its ticket are in every way worthy of support; honest, capable, and faithful to its principles, and that the record of the party since its advent to power, demonstrates that the Commonwealth has never so prospered as when under Republican rule.

sources have been developed; bur- cans have been erected and main- tained for the protection of our min- ing population; yet, nowhere in the Union, is the burden of a State Govern- ment so lightly felt. The State, under Republican Rule, has been honestly governed, and her honor held above reproach.

It is alleged by the opposition that the annual expenditures of the State have been increased since the Republicans came into power. The increase of expenditures has only kept pace with the increase in popu- lation, wealth and the material in- dustries to be fostered by Govern- ment. Twenty-four years ago the Common Schools received an annual appropriation of $150,000 to $175,000; now they receive one million. Then there was no expense for re- bellion invasion or suppressing the rebellion; no Chambersburg suffer- ers to be indemnified; no soldiers orphans to be maintained; no insane asylums to support; few charitable institutions to aid. The Legislature has been doubled in size and expen- se. To these causes, not to extrava- gance, corruption, or wrong, the in- creased expenditure is largely attrib- utable. The increase has been for the public good, while the ability to maintain the expenditure has grown with the growth of the State, and strengthened with its strength.

Within the last few years the people have been relieved entirely from all direct taxation for State purposes, except partially upon personal prop- erty, and the burden of the mainten- ance of the Government has been imposed upon corporation.

The Republican party came into prominence before the whole world as the sword-bearer of this nation to preserve and protect its internal as well as external foes; and having delivered the Union from de- struction, claims that the National Government should be administered upon the principles of those who preserved it, and not upon the prin- ciples of those who endeavored to destroy it.

The doctrine of State Rights, though kept in the background, is the distinguishing tenet of the Southern Democracy. Without the Southern Democracy the Democrat- ic party of the nation cannot prevail. It is dominated by them. Mr. Sing- lington, of Mississippi, at the last session of Congress announced bold- ly his adhesion to the doctrine that the States under the Constitution but stands like a rock against the right of a State to set up its supremacy against that of the nation. The party maintaining that right is unfitted by its principles to admin- ister the government of the nation or maintain its integrity.

Controlled by the South the Dem- ocratic Party must shape its policy upon the mould of the Southern leaders, and the southern leaders, in turn, must accommodate themselves to the demands of their section. Mr. Goode, of Virginia, who has charge of the bill to reimburse William and Mary College for its alleged loss during the Rebellion, gave to its constituents as a reason for not pressing a vote, that its passage would affect the elections now pend- ing; after the elections he could rally more strength for it as the immedi- ate fear of public censure would then be removed from the Democratic members. The policy of Mr. Goode actuates nearly all the friends of southern claimants. They await a Democratic Congress and Adminis- tration, when the Democratic Party must give them all they demand.

Present delay is no abandonment of the claims. Democratic success will not only invigorate them but like the Archangel's trumpet will wake from the dead thousands of others now resting in the grave. Their extent cannot be measured, except by the ability of the party in power to manufacture them.

For the same reason the Democ- ratic Party, in Congress, discharged disabled Union Soldiers from position and replaced them by the sol- diers of the Confederate Army.

For the same reason, the Democ- ratic Party is a Free Trade Party. It made a determined effort last win- ter, following the lead of a Commit- tee of Ways and Means appointed by a Democratic Speaker from Pennsylv- ania, to pass the Wood Tariff Bill, and controlled the Legislature in both branches in every year but three during that time; it built up an enormous debt of over forty mil- lions of dollars, and produced the Canal Ring, under which this debt was contracted, which did more to foster jobbery, promote corruption, and establish traffic in office, than any organization that has ever ex- isted here.

The Republican Party obtained partial control in 1858 and 1859, and was completely successful in 1860, and has remained in power with but one or two interruptions since that year. Under its hands, the credit of the State, impaired by the reckless- ness of its predecessor, has been re- stored; the State debt has been re- duced from $42,000,000 to $22,000,000, with an accumulation of a Sink- ing Fund, practically reducing it to $13,000,000; a war debt of three and one half millions has been paid; the tax of three mills upon all our real estate has been wiped out; a half million has been bestowed upon the citizens of Chambersburg for their relief from rebel incendiarism; the common school system has been maintained at a present annual ex- pense of $1,000,000; the orphans of our soldiers have been cared for; asylums for the insane and reform- atory institutions have been estab- lished; and $1,000,000 ever has the changer of money in this country looked to see from what bank the note he handled was issued. It matters nothing, except to those interested in National Bank, whether the bank currency is re- tained or replaced by greenbacks, if the latter can constitutionally be substituted. The credit of each is based upon the National faith. To increase this currency would simply decrease its purchasing power. Its present volume is equal to that be- fore the panic of 1873, while the price of nearly every article of con- sumption is so reduced that a dollar will purchase more than at any pe- riod since the war.

To pay the National debt with ir- reasonable promises to pay is repudi- ation. The masses of the people of Pennsylvania are honest, and cannot sanction repudiation in any form. The remedy for our present difficul- ties is to be found only in a patient adaptation of ourselves to our sur- rounding. The current of worldly affairs flows on irresistibly; we can- not turn it back. We are gradually but surely rising from the slough of debt, incurred when it was so easy to borrow, and as we emerge from it we will find our way back to National prosperity.

The Republican party has always insisted upon the equal rights of men, without regard to color, condi- tion, or nationality. It gave the right to manhood, to labor, and to the proceeds of labor, to four millions of downtrodden people, and can never agree to surrender the right of the humblest citizen to live unmo- lested under his own roof tree, and to contract for his own labor as he will. The founders of the Common- wealth, a toiling people, handed it down to their posterity with a title sanctified by struggle, suffering, and sacrifice, indestructible by any of the wild vagaries of Socialism or Communism.

The safety and prosperity of this State depend upon the maintenance of the principles of the Republican Party. It has proven itself a trust- worthy guardian of the interests of both State and Nation. Public secur- ity, public confidence, and public honor are alike involved in the coming contest. The voters of the State will be found with the party which has given strongest evidence of its ability to maintain them all.

M. S. QUAY Chairman Republican State Com- mittee.

OUR PARIS LETTER.

The Kingdom of Denmark—Its participation at the French show.—Interesting exhibits of a thrif- ty people.

Amongst the nations who have responded to the appeal of France, the Exhibition of her ancient ally, Denmark, is received with much sympathy. During the great war following the French Revolution, and in the coalitions of the European States resulting from the conquests of Napoleon I, Denmark steadfastly remained the friend of France, and putting herself at the head of the neutral maritime Powers suffered losses which have not yet been repaired. Copenhagen was bombard- ed and half destroyed in August and September, 1807, and the Danish fleet was captured and conveyed to England. By the treaties of 1815, the Peninsula kingdom was reduced to a state of the third order; al- though the energetic character of her people, her advanced civilization and moral importance, ensured her a certain amount of influence throughout Europe—even when the events of 1864-65 deprived her of half her territory, and more than a third of her inhabitants. At present the population of Denmark does not exceed 1,800,000 souls. But the subjects of Christian IX. are distinguished for loyalty, courage, se- verance, love of family, and stid- ion and meditative habits. Having reaped nothing but mortification from politics, they have taken re- fuge in labor, where they know that activity and probity ever bear the palm. From these causes the Dan- ish exhibition is not the least inter- esting in the Palace of the Champ de Mars, representing as it does, the vitality and skill of the little country in peaceful arts.

The facade of the Danish section, in the Street of the Nations, is copied from the Bourse of Copenhagen. It is a small building of brick and sculptured white stone, lacking nei- ther elegance nor originality of de- sign. On each side of the entrance rise two stucco columns, imitating marble. Between each pair is a niche, at present empty. The col- umns nearest the entrance support projecting pilasters, above which are two other columns of lesser pro- portions, which form a frame for the curious mullioned window of the first floor. The gable is ornamented with two beautiful caryatides, be- tween which the royal coat of arms is sculptured. A truncated pyramid surrounded by a sphere crowns the pediment. Within, Denmark oc- cupies but one-half of the transverse triforium; the right is occupied by Greece, and the piquant contrast between the products of the country and the period of Pericles, and those of the cold and foggy Baltic Galleries, is continued through the galleries pertaining to the facade. Through- out, and even in the vestibule, of the Exhibition of the Direction of the Common Schools at Copenhagen. Education is greatly considered in this kingdom, especially primary in- struction, which is gratuitous and compulsory. Upon the lists used in the schools are shown the prod- uctions of the people, drawing al- bums and copy books. A glass case contains various objects of manufac- ture.

The nomination of Senator Fisher is a bitter, bitter pill for the Democ- racy of this region to gulp down. They may howl "frand" till they turn red in the face and their press can advise the Senator as much as they wish in regard to his seat in the State Senate, but his nomination pleases the people who intend to support him and before many days roll round his defamers will find that H. G. Fisher is a gentleman equally as capable of conducting his own affairs as he is of taking the lead in a spirited campaign. Mr. Fisher has boxed the political com- pass long enough to understand the dark ways of his adversaries; he is not the man to resign his seat in the Senate when there is a U. S. Senator to be elected and R. Milton Speer looking towards Washington with wistful eyes. We think Mr. Fisher will be elected, but that is no reason why he should imperil his Senatorial district.—Perry County Free- men.

Yellow Fever. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17, 1878.—For the past twenty-four hours the number of new yellow fever cases reported by the Howards is 175; by the Board of Health, 309; by the Young Men's Christian Association, 119, making a total of 593, against 382 yesterday, an increase of 208. This makes the total number of cases 13,400. The great increase in the number of the fever, is showing a tendency to be more uncontrollable.

NOTICE. Notice is hereby given that the fol- lowing articles have been purchased by the undersigned at Constable's Sale and left in possession of Emanuel Sasaman during his pleasure, all persons are cautioned not to meddle or interfere with the same: 8 Tables, Sink, Wood Chest, 2 Cupboards, 4 Bedsteads and Bedding, Flour Chest, 9 Chairs, 4 Barrels, 2 Meat Stands, 2 Chests half a barrel of Salt, lot of Crocks, Stand, Clock, Looking Glass, lot of Carpenter Tools, 2 Saws and 1 chisel, 3 Tables, 2 Benches, Carpenter Bench, half bushel measure, material for 2 Wood Cases, 2x4 Grind Stone, Wood Saw, Shovel, Grubbing Hoe, Wheelbarrow, Box, 5 Chains, 1000 Kells, 2x4 Table, lot of Turnouts tion nor to the system adopted in the Lycees and technical institutions, which are said to be admirably adapted to suit their special needs. The show-cases of the first room contain specimens of printing and Danish book-making, ships, rigging, and perfumery. More worthy of note are the beautiful ceramic collec- tions of Madame Ipsen and Peter E. Schon, of Copenhagen. Several of the specimens have been bought by the Vienna Museum. A little further on, a large show case ver- ging upon the longitudinal gallery also attracts attention. The adjoining room is principally devoted to furniture, for the making of which Copenhagen enjoys a certain reputa- tion, which is certainly justified by the present exhibition. The fine buffet-sideboards are the prizes of a lottery formed on behalf of the In- stitution for Idiots. The centre of the hall is in the form of a semi-circular rotunda, at the upper part of which is a kind of fresco repre- senting the different types of the country in national costume. Shop- keepers, sailors, fishermen, workmen and peasants follow each other hand in hand, and carrying garlands. Perhaps it is the neighborhood of Greece which has inspired this remin- iscence of the Panathenaic process- ion. On entering the third hall which is devoted to clothing, the skin of the formidable white bear contrasts in its vividness with the soft shading of the eider down. Denmark possesses towards the North Pole several islands, one of which Iceland, is three times as large as herself. Unfortunately the name is but too insignificant of the nature of the country, and, with the exception of a few scanty beaches and valleys, in which a savory herb grows, the island consists of jagged (mountains), glaciers, sterile and gloomy plains, fields of algal moss, myrrar (marshes), lakes, torrents, rapids and cataracts, long and large volcanic flows. It is not, therefore to be wondered at that the island contains only 37,000 inhabitants, whereas, were it populated proportionately to France, it should nourish 7,000,000. It is only represented at the Exhibition by some furs prepared by the furriers of Copen- hagen.

In this same hall is a large collec- tion of tapestries, woven embroider- ies and other objects, the work of the Danish women; various prod- ucts of textile industry, nearly all of which are still manufactured by the country people, with the excep- tion of the cloth, linen, and cotton tissues made at Copenhagen, and exhibited here. Denmark being an essentially agricultural country most of the mechanics, are instruments of agriculture. The western part of Jutland is almost entirely compos- ed of flat land and somewhat poor; but the eastern part the soil of which is chalk or clay, and perfectly irri- gated, is both rich and well cultivat- ed. Zealand and the southern is- lands are still more fertile, possess- ing an undulating surface, and allu- vial or sandy soils admirably adopt- ed for culture.

In the hall of alimentary products are numerous samples of cereals of the country. Oats and barley rank first, as in all northern cli- mates. Rye and Wheat follow. Laxland wheat is justly celebrated, and known to all agriculturists. The Danish agricultural exhibition is completed by interest meteorologi- cal and statistical tables, which en- able visitors to arrive at the exact condition and progress of the rural economy of Denmark, by maps, plans, models of farms, and draw- ings of the different types of the equine and bovine races of the country.

The nomination of Senator Fisher is a bitter, bitter pill for the Democ- racy of this region to gulp down. They may howl "frand" till they turn red in the face and their press can advise the Senator as much as they wish in regard to his seat in the State Senate, but his nomination pleases the people who intend to support him and before many days roll round his defamers will find that H. G. Fisher is a gentleman equally as capable of conducting his own affairs as he is of taking the lead in a spirited campaign.
