Farm, Home, &c.

Start Right and then Stick.

If every young man who is on the eve of commencing life on a farm, for himself, could read the following, clipped from the Golden Rule, and thoroughly take in the meaning and intent of the writer, it would help to increase the number of really successful farmers in the country. There is nothing like starting right and then sticking to it.

Want of foresight in choosing; and stability of purpose and effort, are at the bottom of half the failures in farming, for it is even more disastrous for a farmer to make sudden and radical changes in his business plans than to "put all his eggs in one basket," by depending on one crop. The farmer who "rotates" from sheep to cows, and from cows to grain, and from grain to fruit, with every fluctuation of the markets is pretty sure to get one crop that he can't "raise"—a mortgage.

Every farm is better adapted to some industries than to others. If the land is low and springy and cold, foot rot or other diseases will take the profits off of sheep. If there is not plenty of pure, cool water, and pasturage specially adapted to cows in its chemical characteristics, and that does not shrivel up by the end of July, dairying will not prosper. If the grain-producing elements in the soil are exhausted, or interfere, grain crops will fail. If fruit trees must stand "with their feet in water," owing to a lack of drainage, orchards will prove disappointing.

Then again, men are as different as their farms. Some have just the knack to bring together a dairy of cows, nearly every one of which shall a "good milker," and by gentle, clean, provident management secure large returns for the best of products. Another has the faculty of having his land, his seed, his fertilizers, his times and seasons, just right to coax fields of waving grain from the soil. Another will have a flock of sheep, every one of which looks as though bred to enter for the premium at the county fair. Still another will plant and prune and shape an orchard of half a thousand apple trees so that they shall all stand uniform, smooth symmetrical, yielding just such apples in just such quantities, as he planned when he brought the trees from the nursery. The point is that every man, in farming as in other occupations, should ascertain what his combined inward forces and outward circumstances will enable him to do best, and do that. As a rule, diversified farming is the best, except in localities pre-eminently adapted to one branch, like the dairy regions of New York or the natural grain fields of the West.

A snug little orchard; fields of grain, grass, corn, and root crops, a manageable drove of cows or sheep, a pair of choice breeding mares; a pen of good hogs; a yard of poultry; some extra crops to experiment on—this old-fashioned method is about the safest and most comfortable, after all, for specialties require special knowledge and special conditions of success. They are like one-legged milking stool—can't stand alone; while varied farming has various supports.

The Rural New Yorker says: "An intending purchaser should have the horse brought out before him, and watch the animal as he stands at rest. If the owner is continually starting the horse into motion and urging him to "show off," something may be suspected, because it is when the horse is at perfect rest that his weak points are divulged. If the horse be sound he will stand square on his limbs, without moving any of them, the feet being placed flat upon the ground, and all his legs plumb and naturally posed. If one foot be thrown forward, with the toe pointing to the ground, and the heel raised, or if the foot be lifted from the ground, and the weight taken from it, disease or tenderness may be suspected."

Beautiful Whitewash.—The following is a receipe for making a beautiful whitewash: "To five gallons of whitewash made of well burned lime add a quarter of a pound of whiting, half pound of loaf sugar, one quart and a half of rice flour, made to a thin and well cooked paste, and half a pound of white glue dissolved in water. Apply warm. Previously scrape off old scaly whitewash. This is like kalsomine and gives a brilliant and lasting effect,

A poultice of chopped onions, mixed with an Indian meal poultice hot, and applied to the throat, will very often cure diphtheria, and may always relieve inflammation of the lungs, if applied to the chest.

THE SUN FOR 1879.

THE SUN will be printed every day during the year to come. Its purpose and method will be the same as in the past. To present all the news in a readable shape, and to tell the truth though heaven fall.

THE SUN has been, is and will continue to be independent of everybody and everything save the Truth and its own convictions of duty. That is the only policy which an honest newspaper can have. That is the only policy which has won for this newspaper the confidence and friendship of a wider circle than was ever enjoyed by any other American journal.

THE SUN is the newspaper for the people. It is not for the rich man as against the poor man, or for the poor man against the rich man, but it seeks to do equal justice to all interests in the community. It is not the organ of any party, class, sect or party. There needs no mystery about its love and hate. It is for the honest man against the rogues every time. It is for the honest Democrat as well as against the dishonest Republican, and for the honest Republican as against the dishonest Democrat. It does not take its cue from the utterance of any political organization. It gives its support unreservedly to any men or measures are in accordance with the Constitution and with the principles upon which our Republic was founded for the people. Whenever the Constitution and constituted authorities are violated—as in the outrageous conspiracy of 1876 by which a man not elected was placed in the President's office, where he still remains—it speaks out for the right. That is THE SUN'S idea of independence. In this respect there will be no change in its utterance for 1879.

THE SUN has justly earned the hatred of rascals, frauds, and humbugs of all sorts and sizes. It ought to deserve that hatred not less in the year 1879 than in 1878, 1877, or any year gone by. THE SUN will continue to shine on the wicked with undiminished brightness.

While the lessons of the past should be constantly kept before the people, THE SUN does not purpose to make it of it only a magazine of ancient history. It is printed for the men and events of to-day, whose concern is chiefly with the affairs of to-day. It has both the disposition and the ability to afford its readers the promptest, fullest, and most accurate intelligence of whatever in the wide world is worth attention. To this end and the resources belonging to well-established prosperity will be liberally employed.

The present disjointed condition of parties in this country, and the uncertainty of the future lend an extraordinary significance to the events of the coming year. The discussion of the press, the debates and votes in Congress, and the movements of the leaders in every section of the Republic will have a direct bearing on the Presidential election of 1880—an event which must be regarded with the most anxious interest by every patriotic American, whatever his political creed or allegiance. To these elements of interest may be added the probability that the Democrats will control both houses of Congress, the increasing feebleness of the fraudulent Administration, and the spread and strengthening everywhere of a healthy abhorrence of fraud in any form. To present with accuracy and clearness the exact situation in each of its varying phases and to expound, according to its well-known methods, the principles that should guide us through the labyrinth, will be an important part of THE SUN'S work for 1879.

We have the means of making THE SUN, as a political, literary and general newspaper, more entertaining and more useful than ever before; and we mean to apply them freely.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the DAILY SUN, a sheet page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 65 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 70 cents a month, or $7.70 a year.
