

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Prothonotary, JEREMIAH CROUSE, of Middleburg. Register & Recorder, JAMES M. VANZANDT, of Middleburg. District Attorney, HENRY H. GRIMM, of Freeburg. Jury Commissioner, ALVIN A. USLU, of West Beaver.

Real estate sales, lately made in New York City, show a continued improvement in prices.

When the Republican party came into power the National paper could not find people to take it at 12 per cent.; now the people are glad to take it at 4 per cent.

Any Republican who wishes to become more of a stalwart can easily succeed by subscribing for a half dozen leading Southern newspapers and reading them carefully.—N. Y. Tribune.

The reappearance of the yellow fever at Memphis in this early period of the season is a distressing event. There is reason to apprehend a general outbreak in the region where it prevailed so disastrously last year.

The Governor of New York vetoed the Tramp bill, which was passed by Ohio and Pennsylvania, and as a necessary consequence the Tramps will make the Empire State the scene of their depredations. New York will not be envied the possession of such a nuisance.

Russia obtained her victory over the Turks at a fearful price. It is announced, as the estimate of the Gobs, that the war cost Russia $150,000,000, and the deaths in the army were 200,000. This statement looks extravagant, but it should be correct, coming from the source it does.

Ex Senator Alcorn, of Mississippi, displays commendable frankness. He says there are more people in his State in sympathy with the Bourbon ravings of the Okolona States newspaper than many think. He is sorry to say it, but it is true. The editor really means what he says, and there are thousands who applaud him.

The proper authorities at Washington have given notice that pensioners already on the rolls will not be examined every two years as to the nature of their injuries, as was required heretofore. It has been discovered that, whilst this was expensive to the wounded veterans, it was of no real benefit to the Government.

In Harrisonburg, Va., on the 4th of July, numerous Confederate flags were hung to the breeze and floated over the city until nightfall. One, a large flag, was suspended over a principal street of the place. In addition to these, portraits, almost life size, on canvas, of General Robert E. Lee, General Washington, and Stonewall Jackson were conspicuously exhibited to the admiring gaze of the patriotic (?) inhabitants. There is no bloody shirt in this of course.

John A. Small, Esq., Resident Clerk of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, well known as the compiler of Small's Legislative Hand Book, was found dead in his bed at the Girard House, Philadelphia, last Thursday morning. He went to Philadelphia on Wednesday, apparently in his usual good health. He died of apoplexy. Mr. Small was greatly esteemed by men of all political parties. Speaker Long, on Saturday, appointed Wm. L. Cooper, Esq., Resident Clerk in place of Mr. Small. Mr. Cooper has long been connected with the House.

The price of grain has advanced lately. One hundred millions dollars' worth will be wanted in France as the Ministry already declare, because of an unfavorable season in that country; and from statements made in the House of Commons, the distress in England is great in consequence of a very short crop there. Perhaps, throughout the grain growing regions of Europe, there has been a short crop; at least such appears to be the tenor of European despatches, which we suppose are somewhat colored by grain speculators in this country. Hitherto the provinces of Russia have generally supplied the defective harvests of Western Europe; and if their harvests have been favorable, may do so again.

In this country the crop is said to be good, and it can supply the people beyond the Sea all they need without such a drain upon our stores as to make grain dear for our own people.

Grain has been low in price here for some time, indeed, we might say too low for the prosperity of the country; and a moderate advance in its price is rather to be desired than deprecated. As yet, the advance is speculative rather than substantial. It looks as if it was caused by the few who attempt to control the market by getting up what they call "corn in wheat," and they have succeeded in raising the market.

Secretary Sherman is on the boom just now. A new Washington publication, the World, whether in exclusively in the interest or not, is doing valiant service for him. This paper claims that our financial system under the judicious management of Secretary Sherman, has been made a matter of astonishment and wonder to the whole civilized world, and the credit of our government stands second to none in the galaxy of nations. It adds: "What his brother has been in arms, Secretary Sherman has been in finance. Quick to conceive, bold to execute, he has gradually and fearlessly carried on a system of financing that has by its gradual development and successive stages anchored our financial system on the impregnable rock of universal confidence. Who that has followed the unraveling of the intricacies of the monetary system of the country but has not been astonished and surprised at the wonderful boldness, that, the unwavering boldness, that has characterized every step and the final success of the vast undertaking? With a strong hand on the helm and a quick eye to detect the shoals and hidden rocks that lay in the path, Secretary Sherman has guided the financial bark into the stream that is now so rapidly bearing it on to business prosperity and a sound financial system. If ever in the history of nations the plaudits, well done, good and faithful servant" is applicable, it was never more so than in the case of Secretary Sherman. Combining the qualities necessary for any office in the gift of the people, John Sherman to-day stands forth before the American people as the foremost man in the nation." This is certainly a high claim for John Sherman, though there are a great many who will admit that, in the main, he deserves all that is claimed for him as a financier.

The Washington Republican says that among the sterling speeches printed for circulation by the Republican Congressional Committee is one by Hon. Horatio G. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, having for his theme "Labor is the Source of all Wealth; Pay for it in Honest Money." His remarks were made on Honso bill 564, to amend certain sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to coinage and coin, and bullion certificates, &c. The speech throughout is strongly charged with common sense, sound argument, and is fortified with stern facts, eminent authorities, and pertinent application of all his resource of knowledge to the question at issue. Mr. Fisher contends for an honest bimetallic currency and denounces in fitting terms the heresies and quackeries that mark the advocates of inflation and short coin.

The Postmaster General has issued an order requiring all postmasters to make an actual count of the number of letter and postal cards and of packages of third and fourth class matter deposited for mailing at their postoffices upon the first seven days of September, and the superintendent of railway mail service is directed to have a similar count made upon cars and steamboats for the same length of time. Another order recently issued by the department requires all postmasters hereafter to preserve all waste paper and twine at their post offices until enough is accumulated to fill a mail bag, when, after careful examination to see that no letters or packages are concealed therein, they will dispatch the same by mail to the Postmaster at New York city to be sold by him.

The Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, who was one of the last of the prominent Southern statesmen to be drawn into the rebellion, and who subsequently became Vice President of the confederacy, boldly maintains that "the war has settled nothing" and that the old state rights questions are still living issues. Mr. Stephens professed to accept the results of the war at the close of the conflict, and he was pointed to as a thoroughly reconstructed Southerner, but how insignificant his conversion is now apparent. The loud professions of so many of the conquered rebels after the close of the war, that the disturbing questions were fully disposed of, and could not again distract the country, were false and insincere as is now fully demonstrated.

YELLOW JACK.

MEMPHIS, July 18.—Two new cases of yellow fever were reported to the Board of Health this morning. All trains going out late last night were crowded and many more are leaving to-day. While a majority of the physicians do not apprehend the raging of the fever in an epidemic form, they all advise people who can do so to leave the city.

Three new cases were reported to the Board of Health this afternoon. These make 16 as the total number of cases reported since the 9th inst. The total number of deaths from fever to date is 7. Business is almost entirely suspended, especially among wholesale merchants. Large crowds of citizens are leaving on every train that departs from the city.

MEMPHIS, July 21.—Thirty-six new cases of yellow fever were reported to-day.

Charles Gardner, of Wilkesbarre, Pa. was drowned last week while in bathing. His brother who attempted to rescue him was also drowned. They sank in the presence of a number of spectators who made no effort to save them.

From June 18th to July 4th, there were shipped from York, per Adams Express, over forty-seven cases of clerics.

A shoe-peg factory at Bradford is now running at a capacity of more than 200 bushels of pegs per day.

Virginia has abolished public hangings and now inflicts capital punishment in private.

Over 600 Mormons arrived at New York on Wednesday last, from Europe, being mainly English, Scotch and Sweden.
