The Public Debt Statement for August shows a decrease of $3,537,-394.

Senator Blaine sometimes makes as many as three speeches a day in Maine.

Hon. John Welsh, ex-Minister to England, arrived in Philadelphia on Sunday evening.

Col. Thomas A. Scott, President of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., is on his way home, and is expected to arrive about the 12th inst.

A dispatch from Yokohama says General Grant was a passenger on the City of Tokio, which sailed from there on the 3rd inst. She will probably arrive at San Francisco on the 21st instant.

Not only is the gold flowing from Europe by the million, but our bonds are being rapidly returned to us. Each bond that comes stops interest from going abroad, and all the gold that arrives is cash.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has prepared a statement showing that the number of gallons of spirits produced during the fiscal year of 1879 was 71,829,617, against 56,193,103 in 1878, showing an increase of 15,-789,574 gallons.

This Republic of ours raises about 580,000,000 bushels of grain more than the entire products of France, Germany and Austria, and if we could always be sure of a profitable market for our grain, we could easily double the aggregate.

Voters who have not paid a State or county tax within two years next preceding the election (except such as are between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-two years), must pay such tax one month preceding the election, that is, on or before Saturday, October 4.

The Yellow Fever still seems to be getting worse. In Memphis the number of cases have increased the past week, while in New Orleans fears are entertained that the disease will become epidemic. Several deaths from that cause occurred there last week and seventeen more cases were reported on Saturday.

Census day will be June 1st 1880. On that day about twenty thousand enumerators will commence their labors those in cities being required to complete their work in two weeks, while others will be allowed the whole month of June, but dying before the enumerator reaches them, will be counted in the census; births subsequent to the first of June will not be counted.

The pedestrian rage will begin again, both Rowell and Weston having landed in New York, and commenced preparations for the big contest soon to take place. Weston will endeavor to make the biggest showing of his life, and Rowell will try his utmost to take the belt back to England with him. We shall hold our breath and wait for the foot falls of fate.

Officials at the Pension Bureau say they will be able to dispose of every claim under the act allowing arrears of pensions by the middle of October. The amount already disbursed is nearly $12,000,000, leaving $13,000,000 to be paid. The pension arrears will aggregate about $25,000,000. The largest amount paid to any pensioner has been $4,500. Daily disbursements average $2,500,000; total applications filed 95,000, of which fully 20,000, are not entitled to additional payment.

CARLISLE BARRACKS CONVERTED INTO AN INDIAN SCHOOL.—The Secretary of War has ordered that Carlisle Barracks, Pa., be turned over to the Interior Department to be used as a school for the Indian youth, to be modeled after the Hampton (Va.) Normal Institute, and has detailed Captain R. H. Pratt, of the army, to have charge of it. Captain Pratt has had much experience in the work of Indian education at St Augustine and Hampton, and is confident of good results at Carlisle. Secretaries McCrary and Schurz are both much interested in the subject and very hopeful that the successful effort at Hampton will be followed by success at Carlisle, and lead eventually to such action by Congress as will enable the Government to establish many such schools. About one hundred Indian youths, of both sexes, will be sent to Carlisle this fall. A similar effort is soon to be inaugurated in Oregon, under the charge of Lieutenant Wilkinson, of General Howard's staff.

Salt Lake City is just now in a state of great excitement over events lately happening there which have a National, political and social significance of no small importance to the American people. The Mormon leaders and Mormon followers have at last become greatly alarmed, and with good reason, as to their ability to continue much longer under the United States Government undisturbed in the enjoyment of their criminal practices. Polygamy, even in the religious guise assumed for it by the fathers of the Mormon church, is to-day as hideous and repugnant to the moral and religious population of this country, as any of the crimes mentioned in our statute books, and the sooner the offenders are brought to justice the sooner will the darkest blot upon Western civilization be wiped away. That the officers of the law are at last, after many failures to convict and punish this peculiar class of criminals, in position to bring them to speedy justice admits of no doubt, and hence the present unusual state of disturbance and alarm in the Mormon camp.

Old residents of Salt Lake City say that at no time since the coming of Johnson's army to Utah, more than twenty years ago, have the leaders of the Mormons felt that they had so much cause of apprehension as now. There have been times of great excitement there within the last ten years, especially during the time when Judge McKean presided over the Territorial Court, and when Brigham Young was a prisoner and under indictment for numerous crimes; but neither Judge McKean's hostile rulings nor the Prophet's arrest struck at the root of the system of polygamy. The Mormons expected that the legal crusade against them would be brought to a halt, as it was, by decree of the Supreme Court of the United States, and they knew that as long as they controlled the juries, or a portion of them, their leader could never be convicted or punished. They were annoyed, exasperated, but they never felt that their institutions were in danger.

Several events have occurred within the past few months which have shaken the faith of the Mormon leaders in the security of their system. Until recently every attempt to punish a Mormon for the practice of polygamy through prosecutions in the courts failed, either because the prosecuting officer found it impossible to procure legal evidence of the crime or because Mormons on the juries refused to vote for conviction. The success of the Government in the Reynolds case surprised the Mormons, but it caused no alarm amongst them, because they firmly believed that the law against polygamy was unconstitutional, and would be so declared by the Supreme Court. The decision of that tribunal against them was like a thunderbolt. It struck away one of the main corner-stones of their confidence, and placed every polygamist in Utah and adjoining Territories in the attitude of a criminal. Before, they supposed that they were trampling upon a law that was null and void because unconstitutional. Now they can no longer excuse themselves on that ground.

I don't suppose any true Mormon would be deterred from contracting plural marriages because they are forbidden by a valid law of the United States. Three years ago it would have been just as impossible to convict a polygamist after such a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States as that in the Reynolds case as before it. A part of every jury were necessarily Mormons and they would never vote to punish a man for a crime of which they themselves were guilty and which they did not admit to be a crime at all. But since then there has been a change in the Territorial law relating to jurors that is quite as important as the late decision of the Supreme Court. The Mormon Legislature of Utah enacted the code of criminal procedure of California not knowing that it contained a provision for the appoint of triers to determine whether a juror is qualified or not to serve in the trial of a given case. This puts it into the power of the prosecuting attorney to weed out all Mormons from a jury about to try a man indicted for polygamy, and to secure twelve men who will bring in a verdict in accordance with the evidence. This law was enforced in the Miles case, and even Mormon lawyers appointed by the Judge as triers were obliged to reject Mormon jurors, and Miles was convicted. This law cannot be repealed by the Mormon Legislature, because, the Governor has an absolute veto power and will never sign a bill for that purpose.

No wonder then that Mormon leaders, who for thirty years past have openly defied the law, and ridiculed the idea of ever being punished for or arrested in their criminal practices, have at length become terribly alarmed as they see by the recent act of the Legislature and the recent decision of the Supreme Court the net of the law drawn closer and closer around them, until escape from the legitimate consequences of their abominations seems utterly impossible. They have at last been driven to the wall, and, let us hope their doom is sealed.—Franklin Repository.

The North American says: "It is gratifying to hear that all the locomotive works in the country are hard at work, many of them having more orders than they can possibly fill. A thousand more men could be given employment at the Paterson shops if there were only room for them in the buildings. All this means that the railroads are doing an increased business, and the railroads are the barometer of the National industry. When their trade is larger and profitable the country is prospering.

If Nelly Grant Sartoris's children are not thoroughly cosmopolitan it will not be for lack of cross strains of races in their blood. In the first place Nelly herself is the off spring of a Scotch-descended father and an English-descended mother. Her husband's father was a Greek, and his mother the daughter of an English father and a French Austrian mother.

Peter Herdic, the dethroned lumber king of Williamsport, was on trial last week at Bellefonte, on the charge of having obtained money from a banking firm in that place by false representations. The trial attracted considerable attention throughout the State, and several able lawyers were engaged in it. The testimony closed on Friday evening and on Saturday morning the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

There are very strong indications that the tide of immigration for the coming year will exceed anything this country has ever known. All over England the suffering working people are moving in columns towards Liverpool, their destination being the United States. The larger part of these coming caravans are in such a state of poverty that they will land on our shores comparatively penniless, unless there is some organized assistance at hand thousands of them will only be added to our surplus population. What is needed is a grand colonial scheme, backed by efficient financial aid, whereby the coming multitudes may be placed where they will be of the greatest service to themselves and the country, on the plains of the far west.

D. LANGELL'S ASTHMA & CATARRH REMEDY (PATENTED.)

HAVING struggled twenty years between life and death with ASTHMA or PHTHISIC, and been treated by the most eminent physicians without receiving any relief, and at last pronounced incurable by them, I at length, by experimenting on my own case, discovered a remedy that cured me, and which I am now satisfied will cure any case of ASTHMA or CATARRH in existence. My discovery was simply a vegetable production, which I obtained in a concentrated form, after many years of study and research. My attention was first directed to the subject by noticing the remarkable effects produced upon the Indians by the inhalation of the fumes of a certain herb when thrown upon the fire. I was at the time afflicted with ASTHMA in its worst form, and was induced to try the remedy, more from curiosity than from any hope of benefit, as I had tried so many things without success that I had become disheartened. To my surprise and delight, I was relieved almost immediately, and in a few days was entirely cured. Since then I have administered my remedy to thousands of others afflicted in the same manner, and have never failed in a single instance to give immediate relief, and in a short time a permanent cure. In CATARRH, the inhalations carry the healing vapor directly to the affected parts, and in a few minutes relieve the most distressing cold in the head. In BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, and all DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS, it acts like a charm, and in many cases will cure in FIVE MINUTES, and will in all cases relieve in that time. It is perfectly harmless, and contains no opium in any form. Each package contains sufficient medicine to last from one to two months, and with each package I give a pamphlet containing full directions for use in all cases, with many certificates of cures, and references to well known citizens in every section of the country. I will guarantee that it will do all I claim for it in every case, or refund the money. Should your druggist not have it, do not be persuaded to take something else, but send to me, and I will send you one trial package, Free of Charge. Should your druggist not have my remedy, I have a large supply on hand, put up in several packages with full directions how to use it, which I can send by mail or express, on receipt of the price.

$1.00 per Package.
