

Advertising Rates.
The columns one year, $50.00
One-half column, one year, $25.00 One-fourth column, one year, $12.50
One square (10 lines) 1 insertion, 75 Every additional insertion, 50 Professional and Business cards of not more than 5 lines, per year, 5.00 Auditors, Executors, Administrators and Assignees Notices, 25 Editorial notices per line, 10
All transient advertising less than 5 months 10 cents a line.
All advertisements for a shorter period than one year are payable at the time they are ordered, and if not paid the papers ordering them will be held responsible for the money.

Poetry.

My Love.

Day after day, while at my window sitting,
I see the children at their play near by Like butterflies in summer garden sitting.
They hover round beneath my watchful eye.

The little girl, with flushed and merry face, Gazes at me shyly for my answering smile,
And tempt me with their most alluring grace
To get and thoughts away while they beguile.

Blonde hair and brown in soft confusion bleeding,
Black eyes and blue upturned to meet my gaze,
Beams with white and pink their confiding
To add new beauty to the "wondering mae."

But when they are by one, tired out with playing,
Still slowly kneel through the sunset light,
Memory goes back beyond the dark years, straying
Among the days of yore that seem so bright.

I turn my head, a radiant, golden splendor Shines from the west upon the pictured wall,
And glorifies a face divinely tender.
With brown hair and eyes of blue It falls on me.

With violet eyes so winsome in their expression,
That mine grew smiling spite of grief and pain,
With curved lips, the seal of love's completeness;
Oh, heaven, could I but press them once again.

In vain I watch and wait, she will come only
When night has cast her spell on sea and shore,
Then when I sleep and dream, no longer lonely,
For comes to feed my hungry heart once more.

'Tis then and only then that I behold her;
Her dear voice floats around me soft and low;
'Tis then, and only then, my arms enfold her,
The little girl I lost so long ago.
--Boston Transcript.

Select Tale.

THE HEART OF ICE.

The winter's day was drawing to a close, and the black shades of a snowy night were setting in.
In the silent seclusion of a deep and lonely glen, far from any other habitation, and some length from the public road, stood a small outhouse, known as the Glen Farmhouse, the property of Ralph Granite, who resided there with his wife, and had done so for thirty years.

He was a cold, hard man—cold as hard as the name he bore.
May Granite, his wife, was the exact reverse, with a motherly face and a warm and tender heart.

On this bleak night of December, this night of storm, wind and snow, Granite and his wife were quietly seated in the large, homely kitchen.
At last Mrs. Granite, dropping her knitting in her lap, broke the silence of the room.

"I wonder where Alice is to-night, Ralph?"
"What do you care where she is,
ah?" roughly exclaimed the farmer, looking up from his paper with a dark frown.

"A night of storm never comes but I think of my poor girl!" it was on such a night as this that she left her home, and to-night I have such a strange feeling at my heart."
"Banish her from your thoughts as I have done—the disobedient girl."

"Oh, Ralph, Ralph, it is unfa-therly to talk thus! Remember that she is your daughter, my child—the only child God ever gave us."
And tears came rushing to the poor mother's eyes.

"What claim has she on us now?
A very dutiful daughter she proved, didn't she?" cried the father, bitterly. "When Alice disobeyed me by marrying that son of George Conway, I tore her face and memory out of my heart."

"Alice was never a disobedient child—never, never!" wept the mother. "She loved a man who loved her truly, she came to you and old you all; he, too, came and asked your consent, to marry Alice.
What was your answer? You refused, insulted him, and thrust him out your house."

As if to do again, muttered the warmer between his clenched teeth.
"They were married in the village church," went on Mrs. Granite, and told the night train for the city two years ago. From that time to his father and whereabouts have been a mystery, and she has never returned to us."

"Yes, she wrote," said Ralph Granite, his face growing still harder.
"She sent two or three letters after she went away, but I destroyed them the moment I received them."
"And you never told me?" Oh, Alice, Alice, that was cruel!"

"Not more so than her disobedience to her father's wishes. Come now, drop the subject."
The mother almost yielded to the father's command, and the bitter struggle was over.

The Post.

VOL. 17. MIDDLEBURG, SNYDER COUNTY, PA., FEBRUARY 5, 1880. NO. 33 their candle, and securely fastening the door, took their way up to their chamber above the kitchen.

They had scarcely entered the apartment when a pitiful cry was wafted to their ears from without.
Mr. Granite raised the window and put his head out.

"Who's there?" he asked, trying to penetrate the darkness.
"A poor woman who has lost her way in the night and storm," said the sorrowful voice.

"Where do you want to go?"
"I want to reach the village, but I'm not able to walk any farther.
Won't you give me shelter. Pray do—only till morning!" spoke the wanderer out in that awful storm.

"Poor thing!" cried Granite's wife. "I'll go down and open the door."
"No you won't,"
And the farmer stated his wife;
then said to the woman:

"You follow the road a couple of miles and you'll reach the village.
We don't take in wanderers." He shut down the window, and his wife fell into a chair weeping.

"Ralph, Ralph!" she cried, throwing her arms about his neck. "The poor woman will perish!"
The farmer made no answer, but retired to bed.

Man without a heart, sleep on, for it is the last night of peaceful slumber that ever will visit your pillow.
The morning's dawn will bring to your house a horror that will blight darken, and shadow your future on earth; it will rend your icy heart as it was never rent before!

And the poor woman of the storm, where was she? Out on the lonely road, where snow lay in drifts, and the wind tore by. On, on, her step faltered, she stopped, then fell.

Fierce howled the wind, heavier fell the snow, and on the roadside started up a face; white as the snow that surrounded it, the face of the strange woman, rigid in death, in her upward of snow.

Morning dawned, with a blue sky, a genial sun, and a snow clad country.
Farmer Granite and his wife were eating breakfast.

The farmer's face wore a strange look, and his wife was puzzled.
"What's the matter?" she asked, after finishing her breakfast, and pushing back his chair. "Do you know what I'm going to do to-day?"

"No."
"Well, then, I'm going to write to the city and ask both Alice and her husband to come out here."
"Are you really in earnest?"

"Yes, wife. I've been a stern father long enough. I'm going to make up with Alice and her husband."

Mrs. Granite's joy was unbounded. The heart of ice was melted at last.
"I wonder what became of that poor woman who came to our door last night?"

"Oh, she's in the village now, in all probability."
A pain, heavy and sharp, seemed to catch his breath.

Why did he start and seize the back of his chair to keep himself from falling?
Four men were coming up the path—four neighbors carrying between them a plank, with something on it.

They entered the farmer's kitchen and laid the burden on the floor.
The farmer and his wife were pale as the dead face before them.

"A woman, Mr. Granite," explained one of the men, "a woman as was found by us four this morning, up-pon the road. She's quite dead, sir."

"Why—why did you bring her here?" gasped the farmer.
"Cause I thought as how her face looked like—like—"

A wild shriek came from Mrs.
Granite, who dropped on her knees and tore the covering off the face of the dead woman.
A cry of agony and horror came from the farmer, as the dead face, with its open, glassy eyes, stared up at him.

"Good Heaven!" he cried, covering his eyes, and staggering back wards.
"It is Alice—our Alice—whom you refused to shelter last night!
Oh, Ralph, it is the vengeance of Heaven!"

the earth, and the little slab contains three names—Ralph and Mary Granite, and Alice, their daughter.
Husband, wife and daughter sleep together now, under the shade of the cherry-tree willow.

Longevity Notes.

John Battle died in Montreal the other day, aged 112.
Robert Kidd, 105 years old, is the oldest man in Texas.

Mary Ferny died in Little Valley, N. Y., at the age of 105.
Samuel Lacey recently died in Pike township, Pa., aged 107.

Margaret McMahon died in Durham, England, in her 113th year.
Aunt Sarah Zicka, in the county hospital in Flatbush, L. I., at 104.

Clara Claire, of New Orleans, was burned to death at the age of 103.
Luke Corville, 102 years old, had hanged himself in a pigpen on a poor farm.

Thurlof Weal saw the first steam boat and rode in the first steam railway train.
A pupil in the Ogeonville (Ga.) school is eighty-two years old. She is a negress.

After living more than a century, a Michigan man committed suicide by hanging.

Andrew Jung, ninety-three years old, of Columbia, Pa., served under the first Napoleon.

Lucy Kurnay, of Lansing, Mich., was fifty-five years a slave and over sixty years free.

Bonus Kemp, ninety-six years old of Galloway, Ky., married Mary Bridges, aged sixteen.

Over a century ago Ann Collins, of Paris, Ky., was born. She remembers Washington.

Diana Duran, of Springfield, Florida, was supposed to be 115 years of age when she died.

Mary Donohue, whose grandfather died in his 121st year, recently died in New York aged 112.

Poleg Sprague, of Mai oo, is ninety years old, and blind. He was a United States Senator in 1829.

James Smith, of Somerset county, N. J., now 102 years old, was sold as a slave thirty years ago for fifty cents.

Thomas Howe, of Barrington, N.
H., lately made a marriage proposital to a lady eighty-five years old and fifteen years his junior.

A negro died not long ago in New Haven, Conn., leaving a family of orphans from sixty to eighty years old. The father was 108.

The eleven daughters of the late Robert Johnson, of Middletown, Conn., are alive, the youngest over fifty years old, the oldest over eighty.

Armstrong Porter, of Luzerne, Pa., died last month aged ninety-eight. He voted for Thomas Jefferson for President, and for Samuel J. Tilden for the same office.

Although 103 years of age, Jane Gilbert, who is living at 25 Vine street, Baltimore, is in excellent health. She remembers the bombardment of Fort Mifflin and saw George Washington once.

A North Carolina couple, who are each over ninety years of age, desire to die at the same hour. They have completed their funeral outfit even to their tombstones. They live in Iredell county.

He Was in No Hurry.
He was a man who looked as if he took life easy—one of those sort of men who seem to be always half inclined to die to save the trouble of breathing.

He ascended into a doctor's office the other day, as if time hung with lead on his hands.
"Doctor is in?" he asked.

"Yes," replied the trim maid servant.
"Awake?"
"Yes, sir."

"All right, just tell him I'd like to see him. If he was asleep, I was going to tell you not to disturb him.
Is he at breakfast?"

"Yes."
"Well, I'll wait till he gets through."

He waited for about half an hour.
At the end of that time the doctor appeared, hurriedly wiping his mouth with his handkerchief.

The man was leisurely examining an album on the centre-table.
"Good-day, sir," smiled the doctor,
"Ah, good day; nice day."

"Beautiful."
"Remarkable day for this season of the year."
"Yes, sir."

"Good for crops."
"Probably."
"Sorter looks like rain, though, in the east."

The doctor assented.
The caller began on another subject and said that grass was better than it had been for many previous years.

What on earth can the fellow want?" reflected the doctor, and he determined to sound him.

"Are you ailing, sir?" he asked.
"Oh, no!"
"Your wife?"

"Bless me, no."
"Then," queried the doctor, in desperation, "what do you want of me?"

"Oh! just called to remark," replied the man, as he got up, "that my mother-in-law was taken violently with the fits this morning, and if you could just drop around to the house some time during the day, with out inconvenient yourself any it might sort of reassure the old lady."

Elimination.
Our bodies are in a state of incessant waste and repair. At countless millions of points old material is being used up and instantly replaced by new material that is as instantly cast aside.

For this reason it is true not only that one's body is wholly changed every year, but that it is not the same at two successive moments.

Hence the importance of eliminating organs, to drain off this dead matter.

Arterial blood furnishes all the new material, while the old is brought away in the veins, from which, it having been eliminated, the residue returns to the heart purified for further use.

The eliminating organs are the lungs, liver, kidneys and skin. The lungs eliminate carbonic acid—the most abundant of all the waste; the liver, cholesterol—waste of the brain and nerves; the kidneys, the waste of the muscles, the skin, more or less of carbon, but especially the salts of the system.

If any eliminating organ is inactive or diseased, so as to be unable to perform its office properly, the effete matter is left in the blood, to accumulate in the circulation, except that some one or more of the other eliminating organs come to the help of the former.

The skin often does so much of this vicarious work that a single glance at the diseased man's face will sometimes enable the physician to know what eliminating organ is diseased or torpid. This waste matter left in the system results in various diseases—sometimes in blindness, sometimes in ulcers and various eruptions, and often in death, the system becoming at length fatally poisoned with it.—Foul's Companion.

Burdette's Advice to a Young Man.
My son, enjoy yourself. Have a good time; pleasure is eminently right and proper, but a good time isn't secured by a headache that lasts all the next day. The simplest pleasures are the most lasting. After you have spent two years in Europe, you will come back and sit down by your own fireside and think of a picnic you went to down at the Ouseside one afternoon in June, that cost you just sixty-five cents. The 'good times' that you don't take your wife to, my son, that you would like about rather than have your sister know about them, the 'good times' of them never comes back to refresh you and gladden your heart does the memory of that sixty-five cent picnic, when you chattered nonsense with the girl you loved, and laughed just as the leaves rustled, because you couldn't help it. The 'good times' that wake it, the morning and wonders where it was and who saw it and where all its money is gone; the good time that tells itself off with a headache, there's precious little fun in that.
And it only takes a little bitterness of that kind to poison and cloud the memories of her past. It doesn't take many such 'good times' my boy, to mingle tears with your bread and gall with your drink. The sting is the smallest part of the bee, but when you pick him up by it, though the rest of the bee were as large as an armchair house, yet would the sting outweigh all the good sweet barren honey-laden portion of the bee, and you would think about it oftener and longer.

A Glance at the Algerians.
They are the Yankees of Africa, these Algerians. Full of chatter, suspicion, curiosity, narrowness of nature, poverty of possessions, ingon-ious, tricky, crafty, sharp at swapping, sparse at swearing, and with a capacity for flat diatribe that would surpass the jealousy of an army of 'Shin Shingles.' They are, however, a singularly attractive people if you want to paint pictures, but a most repulsive lot if you have to pay bills. Some of the women are pretty and most of them cleverly.
French vices and no national virtues of any kind, mark the rising generation of 'young Algeria' particularly in the top of this place. He is lavish in Oriental costume flimsy, with his stockings hanging down over the heels of his embroidered slippers.
He speaks bad French, smokes a species of dried hay called tobacco, and takes to coffee one per cent. above the grade mixed with muddy molasses.
Beyond this he does nothing but gamble away his father's last penny or his mother's pocket-money—if mother or money exist. He is a compound of an incurable Washington loafer mixed with a Fifth avenue second class head, and both materially uneducated.

Without powder a gun is only a rod.
If your stomach is not strong, do not eat roaches.

If one cannot build a house, he builds a shed.
A bald-headed person does not care for a razor.

The thread is quite accustomed to follow the path of the needle.
The sole of the foot is exposed to all the filth of the road.

The pot lid is always badly off; the pot gets the sweat and the lid gets the steam.

He who waits for chance will have to wait a year.

The new Queen of Spain wears no earrings.
Old maids are very numerous in England.

A dentist's sign—Drawing, music and dancing.
Texas has almost stopped horse racing by fixing a tax upon it.

Leadville has two coroners, one for day and one for night work.

The high price of cotton may affect the batting of the base ball clubs next season.

Door bells are not favored in Leadville. If a man is too proud to kick the door in he's too high-toned for that locality.

A starved tramp said he was so thin that when he had a pain he couldn't tell whether it was a stomach ache or a back ache.

A Western editor says one hug is worth a dozen love letters, and they cannot be introduced as evidence in a breach of promise suit.

The preacher who preaches that contentment is better than riches, ought to be contented when his contribution box returns empty.

It is said that Edison's light will burn under water as well as above it and there is no longer any need of floating around in the dark for fish.

A Baltimore man's nightmare turned out to be the shadow of his wife's foot on the bedroom wall, instead of an unearthly monster with two horns.

A Baltimore schoolchild of twelve years, when he was asked to write a poem on the subject of a man, wrote the following:

My father is a man, and my mother is a woman, and they are married, and they have a house, and they have a garden, and they have a dog, and they have a cat, and they have a bird, and they have a fish, and they have a pig, and they have a cow, and they have a horse, and they have a sheep, and they have a goat, and they have a chicken, and they have a duck, and they have a turkey, and they have a pig, and they have a cow, and they have a horse, and they have a sheep, and they have a goat, and they have a chicken, and they have a duck, and they have a turkey, and they have a pig, and they have a cow, and they have a horse, and they have a sheep, and they have a goat, and they have a chicken, and they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and they have a goat, and they have a chicken, and they have a duck, and they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and
they have a cow, and they have a
horse, and they have a sheep, and
they have a goat, and they have a
chicken, and they have a duck, and
they have a turkey, and they have
a pig, and they have a cow, and
they have a horse, and they have a
sheep, and they have a goat, and
they have a chicken, and they have
a duck, and they have a turkey, and
they have a pig, and they have a
cow, and they have a horse, and
they have a sheep, and they have a
goat, and they have a chicken, and
they have a duck, and they have a
turkey, and they have a pig, and they