Farm, Home &c.,

Capital, Cash, And Credit.

No business can be carried on without capital. A laborer works with his hands, when he procures a tool or an implement he at once makes use of capital, which is literally the accumulated labor of himself or others, or rather, the product or result of it. In business, one has fixed and floating capital. The fixed capital is that which remains year after year permanently invested: it may be in the shape of a horse, a ship, or a railroad. Floating capital is that which is always changing its form; may now be a pair of horses a mowing machine, cows, sheep, seed, fertilizers, money spent for wages, or merchantable goods of any kind. This kind of capital is more productive than the other, because it may be turned oftener, sometimes several times a year, and if well used may bring a profit every time it is turned.

Debt is in any respect, something to be avoided. If a farmer has a 100 bushels of wheat in the granary, or a cow or two that he can spare, he had better turn these into cash and buy what he wants than to buy on credit. Easy come, easy go, is a true adage and a thing bought on credit begins a habit of buying on credit, until the purchaser is tied, and struggles like Laocoon in the folds of the gigantic python. The old fable is even more apt; for the victim of the deadly serpent was enfolded along with his sons; and the family of the involved debtor shares his fate with him.

The use of labor-saving machinery is imperative. We can not make our farms pay without them. But, as has been shown heretofore, in buying these, or anything else, on credit, we buy them very dearly. The extra price paid in this way is by no means the greater burden upon the farmer. He pays again and again for the mistake of going into debt. He lays a burden upon his mind which paralyzes his energy.

The free man holds up his head and encounters daily labor with elastic energy. His step is firm, his heart is light, and he is full of vigor and hope. But the slave never feels as the free man. He drudges, but works; hope and he are strangers to each other, and he is careless of results.

The involved debtor is a slave and is bound with a cord. He looks ahead, not in hope, but in dread. He fears disaster before it comes upon him. A thunder-cloud in his outlook for his crops is a miserable nightmare to him, which "murders sleep" and haunts his waking hours.

The free man may whistle down his care, and if his crops threaten, he is thankful that he has enough and to spare, and looks hopefully for another year. The wife and children, sharing the husband's fortune in the one case, suffer every day; but in the other case may sing and laugh while the skies lower and the rains fall in the midst of harvest.

This is one way in which the farmer in debt pays an extra price, and it is, without doubt, a bad way. In another way he pays. He gives a note due in a year, trusting to favorable crops for the means of paying it. If there is any way by which a period of time passes more quickly than another it is to have a note coming due. Before one thinks, the day is at hand. If not prepared for it is renewed; perhaps it is in the hands of a grasping broker who exacts usurious interest as the price of a shave. By and by the original amount is doubled. This happens too frequently. Perhaps in time it is paid through pinching and saving, but at what a sacrifice of money and happiness. This is another way in which the farmer in debt pays an extra price for his purchase.

We need not lengthen the homily. Many of our readers know too well how it is themselves. The cost of it all is as the physical reaction after an active stimulant, and leaves the victim poor and depressed in far greater proportion than he had been elevated by the enjoyment of possession and use.

To Pack Green Corn in Salt.—Choose full, tender corn; cut close to the cob, and mix two teacups of salt with eight of corn, or pack the same proportions in alternate layers in a stone jar. Put a cloth, an inverted plate, and a weight on to keep it under the brine, which it will make. To cook, rinse some of the corn in cold water until the salt is all gone, then cover with plenty of cold water and bring slowly to a boil; pour off this water and replace with boiling water; just enough to cook it in. Season with butter, and a pinch of sugar and a little corn starch mixed smooth with some sweet cream, bring to a boil and serve.

A noted cure for neuralgia is hot vinegar vaporized. Heat a flat-iron sufficiently hot to vaporize the vinegar, cover this with some woolen material, which is moistened with vinegar, and the apparatus is at once applied to the painful spot. The application may be repeated until the pain disappears.

BEST IN THE WORLD!

ARM AND HAMMER BRAND. CHURCH & CO'S SODA. ABSOLUTELY AND CHEMICALLY PURE.

AND

SALERATUS

Which is the same thing.

Impure Bi-Carb Soda or Saleratus (which is the same thing) is often slightly dirty white color. It may appear white, examined by itself, but a COMPARISON WITH CHURCH & CO'S "ARM AND HAMMER" BRAND will show the difference.

See that your Saleratus and Baking Soda is white and PURE, as should be ALL SIMILAR SUBSTANCES used for food.

Housekeepers who prefer bread made with yeast, will improve its quality, make it rise better and prevent it from souring, by adding one-half teaspoonful of Church & Co.'s Soda or Saleratus. Be sure and not use too much. The use of this with sour milk, in preference to Baking Powder, saves twenty times its cost.

Each one pound package for valuable information and read carefully.

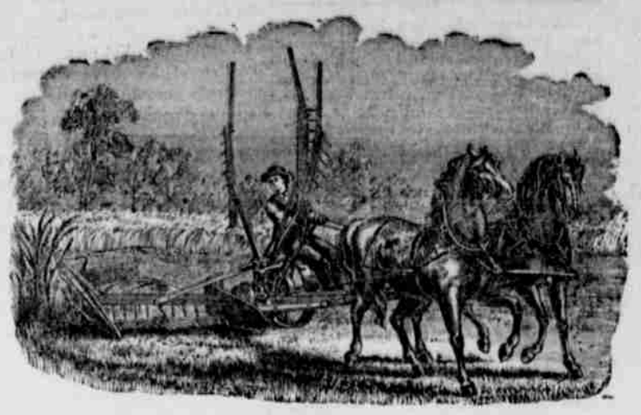
Encourage Home Manufacture!

The old Established Buckeye Works of Lewisburg present the following attractions for the Farmers.

THE BATES HARVESTER.



This is a new LIGHT REAPER with Johnson Sweep Rake, and will fully supply a want long felt for a good, handy, light Reaper, and at the same time combining strength with durability.

The Self Rake is perfectly controllable.

The Rake Stand, Head, Cams and Arms are made of Malleable Iron, thus combining the strength of Wrought Iron with the least weight.

The whole machine weighs about 750 pounds

The inside end of cutter-bar can be raised by a lever without the driver leaving his seat; the outside end is raised in a moment without effort.

The machine is perfectly balanced, the Tilting Lever can be used with two fingers, and tilts the guards alike at both ends in taking up lodged grain.

Finally, we are well satisfied that we have the best Grain Harvester now in the market, and are willing the Farmer shall be judge and jury.

Try it and be convinced that it is just what you want.

We build two sizes.

Size "A" cuts a swath of 5 feet 6 inches.

Size "B" cuts a swath of 5 feet.

THE NEW BUCKYE REAPERS.

These Machines are Buckeyes Improved.

On examination you will see that we retain all the original features of gearing, bracing, leading wheel, double jointed coupling and folding bar.

The cutter-bar folds over in front of the driver, and can be folded without leaving the seat.

A leading wheel is attached to the inner shoe, which prevents the loose grass over which it must frequently pass from being pushed along and clogging the guards, and prevents the guards from catching in the ground while passing ridges and hollows.

The cutter-bar floats on the ground, thus mowing evenly over knolls and ridges, dead furrows and ditches.

Will cut a full swath all the time, without driving the off horse in the grass.

Thrown in and out of gear instantly by a lever.

It is the lightest draft.

It is the lightest draft.

It is the easiest managed.

Does the best work.

Has an adjustable crank box.

And will, as the Buckeye has always done, outlast any other machine.

We build four sizes. Size A 4½ feet cut. Size B 4 feet cut, Size C 4½ feet cut. Size D 4 feet cut.

We guarantee these Machines to be well made and to do satisfactory work to the farmer, allowing him to be judge and jury.
