Sunday night, about 1 o'clock an attempt was made to enter the house of J. J. Reimensnyder, on Fourth street, by placing a short ladder to one of the second story windows on the Fourth street side. ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon, July 10th, while Charles Metler was returning from Arter's mill in Upper Augusta, and when but a short distance from the mill, his horse took fright at a clap of thunder and vivid flashes of lightning, throwing Mr. M. out of the wagon, cutting two gashes above his eye and hurting him inwardly quite seriously.—Sunbury Democrat.

Jeremiah Bowersox, of whom mention was made a few weeks ago as having been almost drowned in a dam near Beavertown two weeks since, met with quite a misfortune on Saturday. While engaged in chopping a slab at Samuel Knouse's saw mill near Beavertown, his axe hit a limb of a tree and in coming down cut a severe wound in his foot. He was taken to the residence of his parents in Freeburg on Sunday.

John Smith died in Princeton, Bureau Co., Ill, on the morning of July 17, 1880, in his sixty-fifth year. Mr. Smith formerly resided in New Berlin, Pa., and was at one time there engaged in publishing the "Union Adler," a German paper, and afterwards the "Union Star." He removed to Ill. in the year 1845, where he was also engaged for some time, in the publication of different news-papers, but of late years he had turned his attention almost entirely to farming.

Monday afternoon, several boys under ten years of age were playing at Greenridge, and during Mrs. Dubois absence entered her cellar and found a gallon of whisky which they drank as water in a bantering manner until they became unconscious. One little fellow aged 7 years, son of Andrew Dunlavy, came out of the cellar and lay for two or three hours in the hot sun. His parents were very much alarmed when they found him toward evening, but thought the effects would wear off, but the boy grew worse and they sent for Dr. Williams Tuesday morning; the boy then had congestion of the brain which caused his death that evening.—Mt. Carmel News.

A Quarter Century Harvest Hand.

CENTREVILLE, July 27, 1880

ED POST—In 1856, David Reichley, of Centreville, Snyder county, Pa., a youth of 17 summers, was employed by John S. Schrack, a well known and intelligent farmer of Buffalo Valley, as a "harvest-hand," and as regularly as the season of hay-making and harvest returned so regularly was David employed until the war of the Rebellion broke out when he entered the military service and as a brave and faithful soldier served Uncle Samuel for three years. His term of enlistment expired just before harvest 1865 and he was again employed by his former friend. Mr. Schrack, and each and every harvest since up to the last harvest of 1880—thus showing faithful service upon the one part, and proper treatment and appreciation on the other. R. D.

Splendid nights for sleeping.

We, Stettler's Cornet Band, return our warmest thanks to the citizens of Middleburg and vicinity who so generously aided us in a pecuniary way to liquidate our indebtedness incurred in the equipment of the Band. As individuals and an organization we shall always hold our patrons in grateful remembrance; and as part and parcel of the community it shall be our constant aim and study to do all we can to elevate, advance, improve and enliven the common interests of the community. Two tramps turned up in this place last week who hailed from Harrisburg, and gave their names as Harry Bubb and Denrich D. Donnel. Bubb procured work at the foundry of J. J Batman, and Donnel in the barber shop of J. O'Niel. Both boarded with Mr. Batman. Getting a little money they both got drunk on Sunday, and in the evening returned to the house of Mr. Batman. Soon after dark they took their departure, when Batman discovered that he was minus a suit of clothes, a pair of boots, shirt and hat. A warrant was issued and officer sent after them, who overtook them at Georgetown on Tuesday, and bro't them before Esquire Smith, who committed them to jail. Donnel had the suit of clothes on when arrested.—Sunbury American.

A FAMOUS CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA RECEIPT.—The season for these distressing ills is at hand, and the New York Journal of Commerce contributes the following to the medical knowledge of the day: No one who has this by him, and takes it in time, will ever have cholera. We commend it to all our friends. Even when no cholera is anticipated it is an excellent remedy for ordinary summer complaints, colic, diarrhoea, dysentery, etc. Take equal parts of tincture of Cayenne pepper, tincture of opium, tincture of rhubarb, essence of peppermint and spirits of camphor. Mix well. Dose, from fifteen to thirty drops in a little cold water, according to age and violence of symptoms, repeated every fifteen or twenty minutes until relief is obtained

James Gillan of Chambersburg on Thursday a week after much solicitation induced David Hafer of that county, to take out an application of insurance for $2,214 upon his stock, farm implements, and crop of grain and hay which had just been housed in the barn. The transaction was concluded about two o'clock p. m., and at five a thunderstorm passed over the barn was struck by lightning, and with its contents was entirely destroyed. The barn was not insured. The insurance upon the crop and implements destroyed will return the loser about six hundred dollars. This was a timely expenditure of money, and Mr. Hafer does not regret the head he gave to the plausible and convincing regument of the agent.—Bloomfield Times.

Died from Hydrophobia

About nine weeks ago Captain James H. Stanly, a well known resident of Middletown, was bitten on the finger by a small dog owned by him. It was feared at the time that the dog was mad and shortly afterward the animal died. Captain Stanley took the usual precautions to prevent any effects from the bite. Last Sunday, however, symptoms of the dread disease hydrophobia began to plainly exhibit themselves. Physicians were at once summoned, but they could do nothing save endeavor to alleviate the violent spasms which at intervals seized the victim between the spasms. Captain Stanley was perfectly rational and fully appreciating his condition on Monday bade good-bye to his friends. On Monday night he escaped from the persons who were attending him and when found was in the rear of a foundry on the outskirts of the town gnawing at a tree. From that time the spasms increased in number and violence until on Tuesday night death ended the agony.

Captain Stanley was probably fifty years of age, a man of fine physique, weighing about two hundred pounds. He was sergeant of Co., G. Sixth regiment, Pennsylvania reserves during the war and was a gallant soldier. His remains were taken to York for interment.

Last Spring a little babe was left at the residence of Uriah B. Garman, in Harrisburg. They accepted the little stranger and did for it all that kindness could do, and it throve until a few weeks ago when it had an attack of cholera infantum, and last week it died. The night after its death, about eleven o'clock, a man and woman came to Garman's door and asked to see the babe. After entering the house they introduced themselves as the father and mother of the child. The couple were richly dressed and gave every evidence of belonging to upper classes of society. The woman cried over the corpse and, called it "her baby," and the man appeared almost equally moved. They ordered a nice coffin, and all arangements to be made first-class. The woman explained that she wanted to keep the child but her mother would not have the scandal, and insisted on its being put in other hands. It is supposed the couple are either married or will be and that the child was born out of wedlock, though belonging to such a class of "blue-blooded" society that the parents of the girl could not bear the idea of having their circle know of the daughter's misfortune. They departed as they came and are unknown. What a novel in real live.

Reading Notices.

Next to taking his home paper, every earnest Republican ought to subscribe for a staunch, reliable Republican organ, which will enable him to thoroughly post himself on the general features of the campaign. THE TOLEDO WEEKLY BLADE, whose announcement is published elsewhere, offers very liberal inducements to campaign subscribers, and presents each one with a free copy of their portrait of GARFIELD. THE WEEKLY BLADE is the exclusive publisher of the Nasby letters, and the BLADE COMPANY have just issued, in pamphlet form, some of the latest and most effective of the PARSON'S writings, at the low price of ten cents per copy.

Republican Campaign Manual.

A "Republican Manual" for the campaign of 1880, is announced as in print and very soon to be issued. It is written by Mr. E. V. Smalley, long known as a brilliant newspaper correspondent, and for many years a leading editorial writer on the NEW YORK Tribune. Leading features of the book, will of course be biographies of the candidates. It will be the most authoritative and most complete sketch of General Garfield which will appear. Mr. Smalley was at one time the General's private secretary, and has been his intimate friend during the whole of his public career, and is therefore qualified by special advantages as well as by talent and experience for the task undertaken.

"Garfield as an Orator and as a Statesman" is a special department, containing extracts from the General's most celebrated speeches upon topics of the greatest interest in the present campaign; and representing the best efforts of a brilliant scholar, an orator of rare power, and a statesman of consummate tact and skill, it will be read with great interest. Another department, not only of great present interest, but of permanent value, is a full history of the republican party, its principles, struggles and victories, with important statistical tables, particularly valuable for reference in political campaigns.

It is a book which earnest republicans will delight in, and find the best of all arsenals from which to draw ammunition for campaign use; a book which the independent and conservative voters will study with interest and profit; a book which small democratic stump speakers will steer clear of when they can. It is published by the American Book Exchange, New York, whose "LITERARY REVOLUTION" has been the wonder and pleasure of book buyers for months past, and its price, therefore, is only fifty cents, with seven cents extra for postage where sent by mail. Leading booksellers, agents of the publishers, will have it.

STRAYED.—5 Sheep—2 ewes, and 3 lambs, nearly grown—left the premises of the subscriber about three weeks ago. Any information concerning their whereabouts will be properly rewarded. J. CROUSE.

ROBERT'S HORSE POWDERS were formerly used amongst the runners and other valuable horses, but now since the Price has been reduced to 25 Cents per Package, all can afford to use them.

We were greatly amused some days since, by seeing one of our venerable citizens, who had been bowed down with Rheumatism, throw away his crutches, and declare himself just as young as he used to be, and now he is recommending Robert's Embrocation to every old lady in town. Great liniment that.

It is very discouraging to the industrious farmer's wife, as well as foolish to have her Poultry to die from Cholera or other disease. When she can buy of her druggist, ROBERT'S POULTRY POWDER for 25 Cents a Package. And guaranteed to cure.

It is sad but true that many children have filled untimely graves, by the neglect of their mothers to have SIMS' SYRUP of TAR, HOAR-HOUND and WILD CHERRY on hand. Every thoughtful mother has a battle this Season of the year for immediate use.
