COUNTY TICKET.

FOR ASSEMBLY L. N. MYERS, of Middleburg.

FOR COUNTY SURVEYOR GEORGE B. BENFER, of Jackson.

1856 and 1880.

Well, Democracy is singing the same old songs: "Pennsylvania's Favorite Son" (Jimmy Buchanan now Winfield Scott Hancock), "State Pride," "Free Trade," "States Rights," "Nigger on the Wood pile," "30 cents a Day," all set to that familiar national air, "The Bonny Blue Flag."

But by a close observation it is clearly manifest that the manufacturer, farmer, miner, puddler, furnace and rolling-mill workers, factory men generally, nail-cutters, laboring men, do not sing so loud and well as in 1856—especially is this true in Pennsylvania—and as certain as two and two are four, a mathematical truth, Pennsylvania will give Garfield and Arthur 40,000 majority.

The men above enumerated are thinking, reasoning, reading, and there is a quiet, but marked determination to risk no change. The fearful lesson taught by the poor, miserable, lame, blundering, vasculating administration of "Pennsylvania's Favorite Son," James Buchanan, has made the largest volume of American history and will be handed down to the latest posterity as an admonition that Favorite Sons without proper and necessary qualifications are not to be entrusted with the administration of the affairs of this great and good Government.

Thousands of millions of debt; more than two hundred thousand dead; more than three hundred thousand disabled by wounds and disease; millions of property destroyed; dependent widows and orphans; universal sorrow and distress; our commerce destroyed; national honor jeopardized; national progress impeded; a dire monetary crisis which shook the nation from centre to circumference were the results of elevating Pennsylvania's favorite, imbecile, misguided, unqualified son to the chief magistracy of the United States.

Will we sue that song again? General Hancock, against whose brilliant military record we have not a word to say, lacks experienced statesmanship—a was educated in quite a different school—and is perforce allied to the men who sought to destroy the government and will be powerless against such allies if entrusted with the duties of President—powerless, surrounded by Hills, Lamars and Hamptons—powerless, in the clutches of a Congress composed of Rebel Brigadiers.

We are truly proud of General Hancock's heroic, military deeds of valor—but those we owe to his country—he owe it to himself by reason of his profession and to his country because it was the duty of every citizen to exercise all his energies to preserve it from disintegration at the hands of traitors.

In a word, the company he keeps cannot, will not be trusted with such a high, valued and responsible trust.

William H. Slingerly the Philadelphia Record man, has fallen "air to $700"

From the Phila. Press. Wade Hampton's Speech and His Sentiments.

A matter but little if Wade Hampton denies the language as reported in his speech at Staunton, Va., as long as he and the rest of the Southern statesmen cling to the principles which underlie it. Sentimentality forms no part of the National Union, but the principles for which our Revolutionary Fathers mutually pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor, and for which in the late war, thousands of brave men left home, wife and little ones, fathers and mothers, sisters and loved ones, and sacrificed the comforts and cheer of firesides, enduring the hardships and privations of long marches, and fought with Grant, Sherman and Phil Sheridan, and smothering their blood with such glorious men as Lyons, Baker and McPherson, and for which the memorial monument was dedicated at Gettysburg by the martyred President, Abraham Lincoln—to the "memory of the unknown dead"—these, and these alone from the foundation of this glorious Republic, Against these principles Lee fought, fighting against these principles Johnson fell, and would they, were they living, vote against the principles for which they fought? Is Wade Hampton using his powers to build up the grand fabric of the National Union South as it stands in the greatness of its strength North? Then why apologize for words which express thoughts as they are cherished by the people of the solid South, and which show themselves now as they did in Jackson's day and as they did in 61.

The veterans in blue are not going to forget the dangers they passed through to carry the red, white and blue and the great sacrifice they made to keep the colors flying in the face of the foe, and when General Hancock laid aside the blue he insulted the national honor in catering to Southern pride, and disgraced living in what so many brave boys gloried in dying—the blue.

On the 4th of March will be seen in Washington how the boys in blue still cling to the principles for which they fought, and their determination will be manifested to keep bright the traditions of the fathers and to reward virtue and patriotism as shown in the life of James Garfield.

A VOTER, Lewisburg, Pa., Aug. 28, 1880.

Republican Gains in Indiana.

New Albany, August 26.—The Democratic exodus in this city amounts to a panic, and the widest alarm pervades their ranks. To-day Mr. George F. Penn, Democratic Councilman from the First Ward, this city, and heretofore a formidable local Democratic politician on account of his influence, published a card renouncing Democracy and declaring for Garfield and Arthur, and Porter and the Republican State ticket. Mr. Penn is general manager of the operative department of the glass works.

Hon. Washington C. De Pauw, proprietor of De Pauw's American Plate Glass Works, this city and his two sons, Newland L. and Charles De Pauw, all heretofore strong Democrats, are out boldly for Garfield and Arthur, and Porter and the Republican State ticket.

Dr. Elijah Newland, formerly Democratic State Treasurer of Indiana, and a life long Democrat, is openly for Garfield and Arthur, and Porter and the Republican State ticket.

Mr. Fred Wilson, a foreman in the Windowless Works, and heretofore a red-hot Democrat, is for Garfield and Arthur and Porter.

The late Hon. John S. Davis was one of the leading Democratic politicians of Indiana, and at his death a few weeks ago was Judge of the Floyd and Circuit Courts. Three of his sons have within a few days come out strongly for the Republican National and State ticket.

Mr. David G. Hudson, a heretofore pronounced Democrat and active business man, says: "The business men of the country do not need or desire any change, for times were never so substantially good in this country as at present. I will, therefore, vote for Garfield and Arthur, and Porter and the Republican State ticket."

There is now in course of organization the results of elevating Pennsylvania's favorite, imbecile, misguided, unqualified son to the chief magistracy of the United States. Will we sue that song again? General Hancock, against whose brilliant military record we have not a word to say, lacks experienced statesmanship—a was educated in quite a different school—and is perforce allied to the men who sought to destroy the government and will be powerless against such allies if entrusted with the duties of President—powerless, surrounded by Hills, Lamars and Hamptons—powerless, in the clutches of a Congress composed of Rebel Brigadiers.

WASHINGTON, August 31.—The relative prosperity of the country can always be inferred pretty correctly from the size of the internal revenue receipts since hard times always diminish the consumption of whiskey and tobacco, from which they largely come, while the revenue of business increases it. During August last year these receipts amounted to $9,427,964, while during the month that closed to-day they reached $10,497,091, making an aggregate of $21,606,047, for the first two months for the current fiscal year which opened July 1, against but $19,177,110 for the two corresponding months of 1879, or an increase of considerably over twelve per cent. Democratic stump speakers will find it rather hard to deduce arguments in favor of a "change" from these figures.

The Little Rock (Ark.) Evening Telegraph heads a long account of a Democratic barbecue in Arkansas not inappropriately with the stars and bars of the Confederacy. The voice of Republicanism is no longer heard in that section, and from constantly listening to but one tune the people there have come to look upon Hancock's success as certain. In Lee's election and the triumph of Democracy they see no less a triumph of the cause once thought lost. In recognition of this old Secession flag are resurrected, and its pictured representation heads the columns of the Little Rock Telegraph. It does not now mean disunion, but is the best emblem on hand for that which is in all their hearts, as expressed by Toombs of Georgia: "If Hancock is elected the Southern boys will run the machine."

In recounting the desertions from the Democratic ranks in various States the Harrisburg Telegraph says: "The same story of conversion of influential Democrats to the Garfield standard is told by the letters received at the headquarters of the Republican Committee of Pennsylvania. In one precinct of the Third Ward of Philadelphia seven Democrats signed the roll of a Garfield Club! The Republican Clubs of Pittsburgh have enrolled over one hundred former Democrats."

Our Democratic friends have pronounced Schnyder Colfax dead. They sought to convey that impression and were ever so ready to consign Garfield to the same political fate. Colfax waked up the other night in South Bend, Ind. and so eloquently did he portray the truth that 158 democrats threw away their Hancock torches and inscribed their names on the roll of the Garfield and Arthur club of that city. Hurrah for R-Republican principles. The truth is mighty and will prevail.

Allentown Chronicle: "The following is a gem from the speech of Hon. John D. Stiles at the Democratic county meeting, as reliably reported: "While Hancock was at the front gallantly fighting the enemies of his country, where was Garfield? Where was he? Why, in Congress voting the last man and the last dollar to carry on the radical war. [Immense sensation.]"

What The Ladies Say. All the world knows, that when a woman has one expressed a decided opinion upon any subject, the matter may be regarded as settled, and the status of the article under consideration is defined beyond possibility of dispute.

An apt illustration of this truth is Emeric's Fashion Quarterly, of which the Fall number is before us. This number opens with a choice selection of literary articles, in which entertainment is blended with instruction; lessons in dress-making, lace-making, cooking, etc.

A magnificent lithographed Fashion Plate accompanies the book, representing actual costumes, at moderate prices. Published by Emeric Bros., 287 to 295 Eighth Ave., New York, at 50 cents a year, or 15 cents a single copy.
