"Oh, if you only will!" Laura cried, eagerly. "Mrs. Work was quite an invalid, and could not accompany her daughter, so she also was very glad to have Pauline go with her."

imperial old man said, and would hear nothing. The will duly signed, witnessed and sealed, told the lawyer where to put it in his desk, which stood within his view.

truth, her welcome had grown somewhat cold, both on Laura's part and Mrs. Work's. Laura was very unhappy. Lewis Vanwirth scarcely ever spoke to her except in the most formal manner.

was in the room. He laid his will on her lap. "I find," he said, hurriedly, and in a shaking voice, "that my grandfather left his money to you."
