

THE NEW CABINET.

President Garfield on Saturday sent to the Senate the following nominations:

- James G. Blaine, of Maine, Secretary of State.
William Windom, of Minnesota, Secretary of the Treasury.
Wayne MacVeagh, of Pennsylvania, Attorney-General.
Robert T. Lincoln, of Illinois, Secretary of War.

Thomas L. James, of New York, Postmaster General.
Samuel J. Kirkwood, of Iowa, Secretary of the Interior.
William H. Hunt, of Louisiana, Secretary of the Navy.

SKETCHES OF THE MEMBERS OF THE NEW CABINET.

James G. Blaine, of Maine, was born in Washington, Pa., on January 31, 1839; was educated at Washington, where he graduated in 1847. He moved to Maine in 1853, and adopted journalism as a profession. In 1858 he was elected to his first office, the Maine Legislature, having already achieved distinction as a public speaker in the Fremont campaign of 1856. He was five times elected to the Legislature, and in 1861 and 1863 was Speaker of the House where he exhibited the same peculiar fitness for a presiding officer that he showed as Speaker of the National House of Representatives. In 1863 he was elected to the Senate, in 1875, to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Lot M. Morrill to the Secretary of the Treasury, and was re-elected for the term which will expire March 4, 1883. He was a candidate for President in 1875, receiving on the final ballot 351 votes to 387 for Hayes and 21 for Brewster. He was again a candidate for President in 1880, where he received only 234 votes and 142 on the last ballot. He was nominated by Mr. Blaine it is not necessary for us to say anything at this time except that he is the most brilliant political leader that this country has known since the days of Henry Clay.

Mr. Windom, of Minnesota, is a native of Ohio, in the prime of manhood, a lawyer by profession, was a representative in Congress for eight years and in 1870 was appointed a Senator to succeed Senator Morton, deceased, and was subsequently elected, and re-elected in 1877. His present term will expire on the 4th of March, 1883. He was a candidate for President before the Chicago convention, but did not receive at any time during the balloting more than ten votes, these being the votes of his own State. His abilities are of the rugged, solid kind, yet his public utterances are not devoid of the graces of rhetoric which distinguish the orator. His opinions have the greatest weight in the councils of his party. Less aggressive than Blaine, less brilliant than Culliver, he is a safer political guide than either. He more resembles Elihu Root. He is in his fifty-fourth year.

Wayne MacVeagh was born in Chester county, April 19, 1833. He was graduated at Yale college in the class of 1853, and adopting the profession of law, was admitted to the bar April 23, 1855. Having entered upon the active practice of his profession, he became district attorney of Chester county, and remained so for three years. During the war he served as captain of militia in the staff of Gen. Couch in 1862. During the last-named year he was also chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Pennsylvania. Under the first administration of President Grant, he was appointed United States Minister to Constantia, in 1872 he was the Republican delegate representing the Fourteenth Senatorial district composed of the counties of Dauphin and Lebanon, in the State Constitutional convention. In 1876 he took a prominent part in the settlement of the Eastern controversy, his action having been of a purely judicial character in the investigation of questions of law. He is a gentleman of high culture, whose rank at the bar in Pennsylvania is second to no man in the legal profession.

L. James of New York, is pointed by President Hayes in the management of that important office he has displayed executive ability of such character as to have won the approbation of men of both parties, and if we are to judge from the management of the largest post office of the country, his ability to manage the postal affairs of the nation, the people can rest assured that they will be successfully managed. He has given the people of New York the best postal service since the organization of the Government. Mr. Kirkwood is a native of Ohio, and moved to Iowa in 1855; was elected Governor in 1869 and again in 1871; was in 1833 nominated by President Lincoln and was confirmed as Minister to Denmark, but declined the appointment; was in 1866 elected to the United States Senate to fill the unexpired term of James Harlan was in 1875 again elected Governor of Iowa, and resigned that office January 21, 1877; was elected in January, 1876, to the United States Senate as a Republican, his term of service will expire March 4, 1883. Robert Lincoln is the oldest son of the late President Lincoln. He is about 33 years of age and a lawyer by profession. He has never held any public position, but has studiously devoted himself to the practice of law in Chicago, where he now lives. In general disposition Mr. Lincoln resembles his lamented father, being modest and unassuming in his manner and kind and courteous in his bearing toward all who are brought in contact with him. Those who know him best say he possesses talents of a high order, and that he combines those qualities which would make him a successful executive officer. While Mr. Lincoln is esteemed on account of his father, he is also respected by all who know him on account of his worth and ability. His wife is a daughter of ex-Senator Harlan, of Iowa, a lady of many accomplishments, who is well known in social circles in Washington. Judge Hunt is a native of South Carolina. He went to Louisiana with his father's family when a boy, in which State he has resided ever since. Previous to the war he was an old line Whig, and during the rebellion he was a staunch Union man. He is a lawyer by profession, and is one of the most effective and accomplished speakers in the South. He was attorney for Gov. Kellogg in his contest with McJannet in the celebrated Durell case, Judge Hunt was the candidate of the Republican party for Attorney General in 1876, when Packard was elected Governor. The Packard Government, however, having been overthrown, Judge Hunt was not permitted to occupy the office to which he had been chosen by a vote of the people. A few years ago he was appointed one of the Judges of the Court of Claims by President Hayes, which position he now holds. Judge Hunt has been a staunch and consistent Republican for a number of years. He has the confidence of the Republicans of the South, and his appointment will give general satisfaction to that section.

COMING ALONG THIS WAY.—Jay Gould having wobbled up pretty much everything in the railroad way toward the West, is reaching out his arm to grasp the railroads in the East. A noticeable operation in railroad stock took place last week, wherein Gould is said to have secured control of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore road, and to have made some advances toward the Reading. We should not be surprised to see Gould controlling the roads in the East in a short time. A gentleman who associates with the capitalists of Philadelphia and New York, said to us, the other day, that Jay Gould has made fifty-five millions of dollars within two years, and that he made thirty-five millions in his recent operations among the telegraph companies. If he goes on that way he will soon have enough to live on comfortably.—Lebanon Courier.

BATHING IN A CREEK EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.—There is a young man in Danville who takes a bath in Mahoning Creek every evening and remains in the water each time about 10 minutes. He dives and plunges about in the freezing stream, as a boy does in July, and seems to enjoy it as much. After his ablutions he towels and dresses himself deliberately and goes home refreshed. Daily for years he has followed this practice, summer and winter. What a change from the hot water bath!

Delaware county is becoming famous for its creameries. Lebanon turns out more young lawyers than any county in the State. A Huntingdon man was recently fined sixty-five cents for lispings. Bethlehem wants an additional law judge for Northampton county. The population of Shannokin is increasing rapidly and now numbers nearly 10,000. Huntingdon county never contained as many young deer as are now running there. The amount of corn on hand in the central part of the State exceeds that in store for very many years. Magdalen Ebner, a dumb girl of Erie, aged 4 years, was accidentally burned to death on Wednesday. Panthers in more than usual numbers have appeared lately in the vicinity of Bell's Gap, Blair county. Robert Fry, a workman, fell from the roof of a house in Pittsburg on Wednesday and was instantly killed. Cotswold sheep are being extensively introduced on land lying along the eastern slope of the Allegheny mountains. Bradford, McKean county, is becoming famous for the amount of oil it produces and the quantity of liquor it consumes. The melted snow in the forests reveals the fact that game in enormous quantities was frozen to death during the winter. A number of school houses burned in Adams and Fulton counties are supposed to have been fired by tramp incendiaries. An Altoona workman who has been there, warns the mechanics of the State not to go to work on the Washington penitentiary. The state bank of Lehigh county readily burn from $100 to $200 per acre. In former years they were difficult to dispose of at $10. Some of the largest hawks ever seen are crossing much easier by their depredations among the poultry owners in Clinton county. Mrs. John Wilson, of Titusville, attempted to kill her son with kerosene on Wednesday and was badly burned that she will die. David Tallhall has been postmaster at New Castle since 1839, or for the last forty-two years, being first appointed at the age of twenty-one years. The superstitious citizens of Danville claim to be troubled by the appearance of a veritable ghost which makes its appearance masked up in a large cloak. The fourteen year old son of Jacob Welser, living near Gray's Landing, Greene county, was burned to death recently. His clothing accidentally took fire. The Welsh mountains, of Lancaster county, are the resort of the worst characters in that part of the State, highwaymen, murtherers, counterfeiter and burglars. Frederick Drenlinger died in New Hanover township, Montgomery county, on Tuesday, in his 70th year. He had been postmaster of that place for forty years. L. D. Green, of Sanbury, was instantly killed on Saturday while at work in a planing mill. The saw broke into pieces, and one splinter entered his breast causing instant death. David Howard while at work in shaft No. 6 of the Pennsylvania coal company at Pittston on Saturday, was instantly killed by a fall of roof coal. He leaves a wife and one child. The pumps in Cameron colliery at Shamokin were turned on last Tuesday without the knowledge that John Fox, a carpenter, was working in the airway. He was scalded to death. Numerous parties in different parts of the State are already on the way to the west. From Berks, Schuylkill, Montgomery, Bucks, and Clinton counties the departure is very large. The burning of the barn of Mr. Seth Graybill in Penn township, Lancaster county, on Thursday, by which $12,000 worth of stock was lost, is known to have been the work of an incendiary. Mrs. Parlington says don't take any of the quick returns, as they are regimantal to the human system; but put your trust in God, which will sure reward you.
