Six thousand five hundred soldiers' orphans have graduated at the age of sixteen, the schools provided for them by the State of Pennsylvania. There are 4,400 yet remaining, and by May, 1885, they will all have graduated, and the schools will be discontinued.

As spring approaches, it is absolutely essential for the preservation of health to have all places around one's premises where dishwater has been thrown, and garbage has accumulated, be two colored patterns, a colored steel washcloths, and nearly half a hundred other illustrations. Unquestionably this is the best and cheapest of the lady's book, and ought to be taken, by every family in the land. The terms are but two dollars a year, with great additions to clubs, and handsome premiums on the postage getting up the book.

FARMER'S MAGAZINE for April, just received, is an unusually brilliant number, especially in its engravings. Are two colored patterns, a colored steel washcloths, and nearly half a hundred other illustrations. Unquestionably this is the best and cheapest of the lady's book, and ought to be taken, by every family in the land. The terms are but two dollars a year, with great additions to clubs, and handsome premiums on the postage getting up the book.

For the Post, Home and School.

Many persons find it extremely difficult to make their homes what they should be for their children. The early home influences of each child form the foundation of his or her future career in life. Some parents think that as long as they clothe and feed the bodies of their children, their parental duties are performed. They neglect the mind, the noble part of the child, which is constantly in action and must be occupied with either good or bad, according to surrounding circumstances. If you wish your children's minds expand with a knowledge of the good and the beautiful around them, inculcate high, noble, in-lustrous, elevating principles in them. Who has not been held spell-bound by the good or bad actions of certain children? They were seeds that probably were sown at home by the parents, or ingrafted by playmate or friend to grow and bring forth fruit, each of its own kind. There is no place nor time on earth which shapes our future destiny more completely, than home and childhood. "Action speak louder than words." And for a child, that has a good example before him, and receives correct training from the cradle to the school-room, there need be no fears. But, alas! how many children have genuine examples given them by the parents? But instead have the poisons of deceit, envy, tale-bearing, theft, etc., handed and practiced in their presence every day. We tell the contents of a vessel that will issue out and time will always bring forth an issue. A person may put on the garb of a christian but sooner or later their true principles and character will be reflected by some means or other. When we hear of parents objecting to having their children corrected and making complaint that their lessons are too long, that boys should not be punished for swearing, etc., we come to the conclusion that ere long such parents will have occasion to hang their heads in shame and hear of the sins of children that have been spoiled by sparing the rod. It is a notorious fact that children who are punished much at home, need most at school. A teacher or one of the W. B. schools has just been prosecuted for abusing a pupil. We know of the merits of the case and feel like giving the readers of the "Post" a little light. It was through the ignorant and prejudiced of several generations in this community that the charge was made at all, and that the warrant was issued at the county seat, looks as though the Justices of this twp. could not take care of properly indictable cases. There are very few who are veridant enough to ascribe any good motives to those who were so busy in stirring up the case. It was settled by a square compromise. The teacher did not acknowledge to any guilt or violation of law. This is good news. It puts the case in far different light from that in which it was understood on receipt of the first intelligence. For this result we may thank the efforts and good sense of men who do not allow their passions to lead them in what ever direction Old Nick may dictate. By and by the public will understand the motives and see that certain persons were inspired simply by a love of "filthy lucre." No farther contributions are necessary to defend the teacher. In our next we will speak of the schools.

Venor's latest prognostications say that spring will be fairly early, hot and dry, and the midsummer cool and wet. The autumn promises to be open, dry and fine. There is likely to be a great deal of sickness during the year, but the weather—except in a few isolated sections—will be favorable to agricultural pursuits. The winter of 1882 bids fair to be open and generally mild, with but few, and those short lived, storm periods.

Every one is acquainted with the old nursery story about the hen that hatched the ducks, and how one fine day they went swimming in the pond nearby, and the indolent hen offered them to keep out of the water; but it may not be generally known that whenever poultry has anything to talk about in these later and more enlightened days, their conversation always turns to the benefits their species have derived from the use of M. B. Roberts' Poultry Powder. 25 cents per package, by all druggists.

We were greatly amused some days since by seeing one of our venerable citizens, who had been bowed down by rheumatism, throw away his crutches and declare himself just as young as he used to be, and he is recommending Roberts' Embrocation to every old lady in town. Great lintment that!

Englishmen formerly supposed that American running horses were very inferior to theirs, but during the last two years Paris, Wallenstein and other fast ones that were sent from this country to England, have won hundreds of thousands of dollars for such Americans as the Messrs. Lorillard, James Gordon Bennett, &c. The Englishmen, have investigated the reason for the great success of American horses, and find that they are kept in such fine condition by the constant use of M. B. Roberts' Horse Powder.—SPORTING TIMES.
