American horses are now taking first honors in Europe. The victory at Epsom has been followed by another at Paris; the American colt "Foxhall," owned by J. R. Koee, having won the "Grand Prize of Paris" on the 12th inst. The prize is 100,000 francs.

The locusts appeared in Kentucky and Southern Illinois about three weeks ago, and have increased alarmingly. They have begun devouring the fruit trees and the cereal crops, and bid fair to do great damage. The appearance of the pest has been followed by considerable illness.

The tents, horses and paraphernalia of the "Great London Show," a circus, was seized by a deputy sheriff from Chicago, at Des Plaines, Illinois on Saturday afternoon just as a performance was about to begin. The seizure was made on an attachment for a debt of $800. The circus was then taken to Chicago on Monday.

There has just been launched at Chatham, England, the most remarkable and deadly vessel of war ever constructed. It is named the Polyphemus, and is of 2500 tons weight, and will without doubt prove the most extraordinary ship of war afloat. She is novel and peculiar alike in form, structure, fittings and arrangement of armor protection, and her weapons will necessitate a new mode of naval warfare. The appearance she will present at sea will be that of a cylinder floating on its side, the top of the cylinder being only four feet six inches above the water line. The entire hull is covered with steel armor of immense thickness. The motive power of the vessel is 5,500 horse power, and the only weapons she is to carry is a powerful ram and the deadly Whitehead torpedo. The vessel is now out experimenting on her strength.

Pittsburg Dispatch: "The first quarter of Garfield's first year in the Presidential chair was concluded on Saturday, and it would be hard to find three months in the career of any President in which more has been accomplished. His secretary of treasury has saved millions to the country. His postmaster-general has saved a million. Official swindlers have been pushed to the wall. Machine politics have been given a death blow. The people will begin to think that they have something to say in the government of the country.

The Canadas have lost 120,000 inhabitants by emigration to the United States, during the last year, and now there is an effort making to induce the Irish people, who are determined to flee from the oppressions inflicted upon them by the English landlords, to locate on Canadian soil. To this end, Sir John McDonald, who is now in London, is turning his persuasive powers. He hopes to reach the ear of the Irish peasantry, and secure a favorable consideration mainly through the influence of the Catholic priesthood.

She was decorating her room with pictures, and she perched it thus up on the topmost nail; and she sat down to admire her work, and remarked quietly, "Now everything is lovely, and the goose hangs high!"

When the English officials in a colony got tired of lemonade and lawn tennis they got up aascarabout some dark colored king intending to cross the border. Then they send for troops, shoot a lot of natives, demand tribute and feel better.

"Don't Want That Stuff." Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fifteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results that she continued its use until cured, and was so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.—STANDARD.
