THE POST.

Middleburg, July 21, 1881.

Local News, &c.

SNYDER COUNTY COURTS.—The Courts of Snyder County are held on the fourth Mondays of February, May, and September, and second Monday of December.

—All communications, business letters &c., for this office, to secure prompt attention should be addressed as follows: THE POST, Middleburg, Snyder County, Pa. Advertisements, communications &c. must be handed in by Monday noon, to secure insertion in next issue

With this issue we enter upon the fifteenth year of THE POST under its present management. And, it is wholly becoming to say to our patrons that, we are truly thankful for their steady support and respectfully request a continuance. We have had no occasion, nor was there at any time a necessity, to employ trumpeters to herald our success; nor did we sing praises unto ourselves, but have steadily moved on in the "even tenor" of our way taking no heed of "the roaring lions seeking whom they might devour;" maintaining the right; adhearing to truth; sustaining justice; encouraging peace and harmony; advocating sound policy, and honestly striving to do all the public good in our means and sphere. We will move on with the world and the other machinery that moves.

The picnic season is now alive in all its glory.

Oats harvest next—the crop will be abundant.

For the best Tobacco and Cigars call at the Central Hotel.

The prediction is that there will be an immense chestnut crop this year.

There are some girls in this place who want to be cream-ated very often. How shocking.

Mrs. Gutelius and two children of Northumberland, paid the editor's family a visit.

John Steininger brought to this office an oats stock measuring six feet two inches in length.

Rev. Doctor Wolf, of Gettysburg, delivered an interesting sermon on Sabbath evening last in the Lutheran church of this place.

When a man is bitten by a hornet or "yellow jacket" he never tries to deny it. On the contrary he is ready to make oath to it.

Judgment for 2 cents has been rendered at Hanover, York county, against Levi B. Miller for tolls due. He took an appeal to Court.

Last week, Col. William Harding returning from his farm to his residence, was attacked by a large dog and severely bitten in the right arm The Col. dispatched the brute.

The Grand Army of the Republic of this State will go into camp under canvas upon the battle-field of Gettysburg for one week, commencing on Saturday, July 23rd.

Flies are said to soon disappear from a room containing a plate of the following mixture: Half a teaspoonful of black pepper in powder, one of brown sugar, and one of cream, mixed together.

Some of the young men of this place have got "the summer fever" in a very malignant form, and it is doubtful if a permanent cure will be effected before cold weather sets in.

An exchange says that the late comet was a boon for married men. All they had to say when going home late was that they had been gazing at the comet. It was always thus that man could com(i)t over confiding women.

J. L. Reibl, District Agent, and his sub-agents sold fifty-seven Champion Reapers and Mowers in Snyder county, this season, and if they could have been supplied by the company nearly as many more would have been sold.

It may not be generally known that a small spoonful of salt added to the cream at each skimming will prevent that strong taste so frequent in cream after being kept three or four days, and is much superior to the usual custom of salting the butter after churning.

It is a common household experience to find the caps of glass fruit cans so firmly screwed on that they cannot be removed by the hand. A cloth dipped in hot water and applied to the outside of the cap will cause it to expand, when it will come off without effort.

A whole train of cars on the Mexico railroad in Mexico ran into the San Antonio river, at a point near Guantal, on June 26th, on account of the giving way of a stone bridge. The train was loaded with soldiers, and two hundred of them were killed and burned to death, and many others wounded.

This is an advertising age. Every man who is up to the times takes care that the world knows it. A trade candle is not hidden under a bushel. Business is found to increase in direct ratio to the amount of money judiciously expended in letting the public know where you are and what you have to sell.

To take shelter from a thunder shower under a tree, is to invite great risk of being killed by lightning. This has been published so often that it is wonderful every person who can read does not heed the warning. Still, every summer we have additional instances that the danger remains unknown, or that many people are heedless of their lives. Better risk a thorough soaking than to seek such a fatal protection.

A new law requiring practitioners of medicine and surgery to take their diplomas to the prothonotaries of their counties to be registered has been signed by the Governor and has gone into effect. The penalty for refusing to comply with this law is a fine of one hundred dollars, one half to go to the prosecutor and the other half to the county, with imprisonment in the county jail at the discretion of of the court. This is one of the methods by which it is proposed to weed out bogus diplomas.

Last Friday several boys of Franklin were shooting mark and becoming tired of the sport loaded the gun with an unusual quantity of powder and afraid to discharge it—they took it to Mr. John Francis representing that it was loaded lightly and requested him to discharge it—he did, but suspecting something wrong held it in such a manner as he supposed would be harmless, but the thing bursted and was blown into fine fragments on piece of which inflicted a severe and painful cut in his arm—had he held to his shoulder he would have lost his life.

Mrs. Walter was the owner of a pet Leghorn rooster which "no money could buy", nor was the rooster second in her affections. And although held in high favor among the old-lady-hens and quite a gallant among the pullets, he became morose—sad—got an abberration of the mind and determined on suicide—he hanged himself at a pale fence, but a lad happening by at the time took him down—a day or two after he made an other effort and succeeded—when discovered he had already hung too long in the broiling sun and wasn't fit for the pot.

We are called upon to record the death of one of Middlecreek township's aged citizens, in the person of Michael Erdley who died on the 17th inst. The deceased was a member of the Reformed church—honorable in all his dealings, loved and respected by all who knew him. His remains were interred in the Salem Cemetery, followed by a large concourse of relatives and friends. A very able sermon was preached by Rev. W. A. Haas, from St. Luke 23 chapter and 24 verse. The deceased was aged 75 years, 3 months and 6 days. He was the last of a family of six children. Rest in peace.

W. H. S., Salem.

Vaccinate.

Doctor I. G. Barber has just received fresh vaccine matter and has fixed Thursday and Friday between the hours of 10 and 12 a. m. and 4 and 7 p. m. after which time he will do no work of the kind, except in special cases.

Doctor G. Ed. Hassinger will assist.

It is to be hoped that all will take advantage of the opportunity and thus perhaps save us from the dreadful scourge which is dealing death plentifully only a few miles from us. Let every body, old and young come and be vaccinated.

It is well worth while sending at once to the publishers for specimen pages and particulars. *S*ee also their advertisement elsewhere. American Book *Ex*change, *P*ublishers, New York.

SUDDEN DEATH—Last Friday evening, July 8th, Mr. Jacob Kleckner, who resided near Laurelton, in Hartley twp., mounted his horse and rode over to Penns Creek to set his fish net, expecting to return in a few hours. As he did not get home that night, his wife became uneasy, and went in search of him early on Saturday morning. He was found lying on the bank of the creek entirely naked, and almost dead, in which condition he had lain there alone during the whole night. His horse was tied near by and his clothes (which he he taken off to set the net) were undisturbed. When found he was still alive, but unable to speak. He was carried to the house of Lewis Badges, near by, where he died within an hour, before the physician arrived. It is supposed that just as he came out of the water, after having set his net, and before he could dress himself, he had an attack of apoplexy or something of that nature. Mr. Kleckner was about 55 years of age, and was a much respected and useful citizen. He was buried Monday in the Kiester graveyard. Peace to his ashes.—Lewisburg Journal.

West Beaver Items.

MCCLURE, Pa., July 19, 1881.

MR. EDITOR:—Please permit me, through the columns of your paper, to inform the public, and especially those who consider lock-jaw incurable, that it can be cured, and has been cured, recently upon a young stallion owned by Isaac W. Mattern, now residing upon the farm with his father J. J. Mattern, near Fisher's Mills, said animal was castrated and soon after jumped down and embankment and sprained himself which finally brought on an attack of lock-jaw, his jaws were so firmly locked for four days that they could not be broken open and of course he could not partake of any kind of food or drink. During those four days he lay as in death, having his legs and neck stretched out, and Mr. Mattern had already selected a place for his burial, but under the skillful treatment of Harry M. Ulsh an experienced veterinary surgeon of same community, the horse has recovered, after seven weeks of daily medical treatment. The case reflects great credit upon the veterinary skill of Mr. Ulsh.

Mr. H. M. Ulsh, the veterinary surgeon of West Beaver is now engaged in stocking with logs, the steam saw mill of J. H. Stadon, near Adamsburg, and has bought a labor saving machine, namely a Riding saw or crosscut, with which a laborer of Mr. Ulsh's named Daniel Tyrell, aged 59 years, performed an almost incredible day's work, but nevertheless correct. In the space of 8 hours and 5 minutes, he made 71 cuts averaging 14½ inches in diameter. Who can beat Dan?

On last Friday evening as George Snyder and wife and Reuben Felker and wife were on their way to McClure upon a Spring wagon, the hindmost seat upon which the ladies were seated upset and they were violently thrown to the ground receiving some bruises which might have proved serious.

John O. Goss of Bannerville, lost a valuable mare, one day last week, while at Adamsburg.

The Cyclopaedia War.

The month of July, 1881, witnesses the completion of the largest and most important literary work this country and the century have seen. It is the Library of Universal Knowledge, large type edition, in 15 large octavo volumes, containing 10 per cent more matter than Appleton's Cyclopædia, at less than one fifth its cost, and 20 per cent more than Johnson's Cyclopædia, at a little more than one-fourth its cost.

Chambers's Encyclopædia, which forms the basis of the Library of Universal Knowledge (the last London edition of 1880 being reprinted verbatim as a portion of its contents), is the laborious product of the ripest British and European scholarship. It has developed through a century of Cyclopædia making; its various editions having been many times revised, in successive years, till it has come to be universally recognized, by those competent to judge, as standing at the very front of great encyclopedias of knowledge, and better adapted than any other Cyclopædia for popular use. It contains such full and important information as the ordinary reader, or the careful student, is likely to seek, upon about 25,000 subjects in every department of human knowledge. Chambers's Encyclopædia, however, is a foreign production, edited and published for a foreign market, and could not be expected to give as much prominence to American topics as American readers might desire. To supply these and other deficiencies a large corps of American editors and writers have added important articles upon about 15,000 topics, covering the entire field of human knowledge, bringing the whole number of titles under one alphabetical arrangement to about 40,000. Thus the work is thoroughly Americanized, and the Library of Universal Knowledge becomes at once the latest and most complete Encyclopædia in the field, at a mere fraction of the cost of any similar work which has preceded it.

Victory

For The Revolution

Price of the 15 volumes, complete, in extra cloth binding, $15.00. In half Russia, sprinkled edges, $20.00. In half Russia, gilt top, $22.50. In full library sheep, marbled edges, $23.00.

The superlative value and importance of this great Encyclopædia lies especially in the fact that it is brought within the reach of every one who aspires after knowledge and culture. It is really a liberal education easily within the reach even of every plowboy of the country and apprentice boy of the city. Every farmer and every mechanic in the land owes it to himself and to his children that such a Cyclopædia shall henceforward form a part of the outfit of his home. To the professional man, and every person of intelligence in every walk of life, a Cyclopædia is a necessity.

Of course the old and wealthy publishers who have grown rich (it is said that the Appletons have made a profit of nearly two million dollars on their Cyclopædia) from the sale of their high-priced publications are not pleased that their monopolies are broken and their power overthrown. Of course the book agents and booksellers who have been used to getting from 40 to 60 per cent commission for selling those high-priced books are not so well pleased to sell the Library of Universal Knowledge on 15 per cent commission, though those who are not short-sighted discover that their own interests, after all, are identical with the interests of the people, and their real profits, in the end, are increased, by the immense sales which result from meeting the people's wants. The majority of booksellers, however, are better pleased to sell than to cheat, this and our numerous other standard and incomparably low-priced publications. But the Literary Revolution has always looked to the people in whose interests it is, for its patronage, and it has never looked in vain, as our more than one million volumes printed last year (this year being increased to probably more than two millions) abundantly prove. You can order the Cyclopædia directly from us, and by uniting with your neighbors and friends you can secure club rates as follows:

$10,000 Reward

To Club Agents.

A discount of 10 per cent will be allowed to agents ordering not less than three or more sets of the Cyclopædia; and a discount of 15 per cent will be allowed to agents ordering five or more sets at one time.

As a special inducement to our friends and patrons to go to work promptly and vigorously, each doing what he can for the dissemination of Universal Knowledge, we propose to distribute $10,000 in special premiums as follows, in addition to the regular discount to clubs:

$5,000 Reward

to the agent who sends us clubs of not less than five subscribers, after June 15th and before September 15th, 1881.

$5,000 Reward

to the agent who sends us clubs of not less than twenty in number, the premium to be awarded among the 10 club agents according to the number of subscribers, subscribers which each of the 10 agents may have sent in.

The names of the subscribers must be sent to us as they are received by the agents. The first $5,000 named will be distributed as specified as rapidly as the names are received, and the next $5,000 will be distributed promptly on Sept. 1st. The names of premium agents will be published, with the amounts received by each, and the list will be corrected from week to week. Subscribers must be actual purchasers for individual use, and not booksellers or agents who turn over subscriptions to others.

Persons desiring to raise clubs may send for as many copies of the prospectus as they desire, in the various styles of binding, putting up a specimen copy for each subscriber. Specimen pages will be sent free upon application. Specimens will be sent to agents for the cloth edition for examination, before being filled in the order of their receipt by us.

Specimen pages of the Library of Universal Knowledge will be sent free upon request. Descriptive catalogue of our large list of miscellaneous publications, and a descriptive pamphlet describing book making and explaining how agents can make money rapidly, sent free upon application. Remittances may be made by bank draft, money order, registered letter, or by express. Postage stamps will be received for fractional parts of a dollar.
