THE Snyder County Republican Standing Committee will meet at the Court House, in Middleburg, on TUESDY, SEPT. 27, 1881, at 1 o'clock P. M. to transact important business. BY ORDER OF SAMUEL GROSS, Chairman.

CHARLES SAMPSEL, Secretary.

Delightful cool nights.

Oh! for a good soaking rain.

Paper coffins are said to be the latest invention.

William F. Crouse has gone to Halifax to school.

Sunday school pic-nics are about over for this season.

The S. S. Picnic last Saturday was quite a success.

Almanacs for 1882 are already putting in an appearance.

Not within the memory of the oldest inhabitant has the pasture been so dry.

But very little wheat has yet been sown in this vicinity, on account of the drougth.

The reader is referred to the advertisment of the "Edison Music Guide" in another column.

Summer closed her books for 1881 on the 11th of September, according to the almanac makers.

"You handle the truth quite carelessly," is the latest and refined style of calling a man a liar.

Now is the time to think about advertising, and reflections should be followed by judicious action.

Charles Walter, of Franklin, had a finger smashed at the straw-carrier of Joseph Walter's separator.

We will give, in our next issue, a supplement containing a full history of the last hours of the President, &c.

Capt. Mills, of Northumberland, paid this office a visit on Tuesday last. Call again Captain; we are always glad to see you.

Quitting advertising in dull times is like tearing out a dam because the water is low. Either will prevent good times from ever coming.

Perc. Hare brought to this office a stock of corn measuring 13 feet in length and having two large ears—it grew on Zechman's ridge, below town.

Conductor Furlong and Will Kreeger went on a squirrel hunt and brought in a monster black-snake which Mr. Furlong shot. His snake-ship was perched on the limb of a tree about forty feet above terra firma.

Mr. Hervey Bower and Mr. U. Kerstetter are at home again. Mr. Bower was down in New Mexico and Mr. Kerstetter at Bedford.

Mr. B. says that only one man in twenty dies a natural death in that country. the nineteen "die with their boots on."

Hall's Vegeetable Sicilian Renewer is no new preparation for the public to experiment with; its success is unparalleled for restoring gray hair to its natural color, promoting its growth, and producing new hair on bald heads.

KILLED.—On Monday afternoon about 2 o'clock, Ed. S. Anthony, of Northumberland, and employed in the P. & E. R. R. yard, was crushed to death between two freight cars when they were shoved together, catching him between the bumpers. He never spoke and died in a few minutes after. A jury was empanelled by Esquire Pursel, who returned a verdict of accidental death, exonerating the railroad company and employees from all blame. The deceased was sixty-three years of age, and leaves a wife and daughter. He was highly esteemed by his neighbors and all the employees about the shops as an honest and upright citizen, and a pleasant companion. He had been in the employ of the *P. & E. R. R. Death of Absalom Swineford, Esq.

Many of our citizens will be pained to hear of the death of this estimable gentleman. Mr. Swineford was born on the 20th of March, 1817, in Union county, Pa. He was admitted to the practice of law the day after he was twenty-one, and married the following day. He became the partner of his father-in-law, John Lashells, who was at that time the most prominent lawyer of Central Pennsylvania. For nearly thirty years Mr. Swineford continued the practice of the law at New Berlin, Pa. At different times during that period he became the editor of the family newspaper known as "The Good Samaritan" and "The Family Presbyterian." He was for years a contributor to many of the religious and secular papers throughout this country. In nothing, however, was his life so comepletely taken up as in the Sunday school work. For twenty-five years he was the superintendent of a large and flourishing union Sabbath school, composed of the children of five different denominations of Christians; during which period he became the author of a number of Sunday-school books in prose and poetry, now to be found in Sunday-school libraries all over the land. Thinking that his Master could be best served in this way, he was for the last ten years an active Sunday-school missionary in Illinois and the northern part of Pennsylvania, organising Sunday schools, holding institutes, and delivering lectures. I was while serving in this capacity that the useful and devoted life of this active Christian gentleman, filled with good deeds, was terminated. Many of our Sunday-school teachers and scholars will remember him and his addresses during winter visits here.

He leaves a wife and two sons—Howard Swineford, Esq., so well-known as one of our preminent insurance agents, and Edward Swineford, now with the St. Louis Bridge Company and Tunnel railroad, St. Louis, Mo.—Richmond Daily Dispatch.

Better than Ever.

Ehrichs Fashion Quarterly for the Fall season of 1881 is before us. and merits a word of commendation. The number is the largest ever issued, containing 120 large quarto pages of original and interesting matter, illustrated with hundreds of excellent engraving. An illustrated "Lesson in Dressmaking" is a useful feature; and tales, sketches, and essays, original and selected, abound.

The illustration and description of the current fashions; and so far as we are competent to judge, the work is faithfully performed. Every article needful to the dress of ladies or children is illustrated and described under its appropriate heading; and the current retail price in New York is given for every article described. With this magazine as a guide, it is difficult to see how a lady can fail to do her shopping in the most thorough and economical manner.

The subscription to the magazine is only 50 cents a year, 15 cents a copy. The publishers are Ehrich Bros. Eighth Avenue and Twenty-fourth St. New York, PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for October is unusually good, even for that incomparable lady's book. The steel engraving, "Don't Be Scared," is one of excepional beauty; and so is the colored, steel fashion plate, with its five, charming-looking, exquisitely-dressed ladies. There are two colored patterns, with designs for fans, a line of decoration that is now all the rage. All the stories and novelets, are good; in fact, in 'Petersons," only the very best are given. We cannot too often refer to this magazine as altogether the cheapest and best of its kind. The terms are but two dollars a year. Great deductions are made to clubs, and handsome premiums are given to persons for getting up clubs. Specimens will be sent, gratis, to persons wishing to get up clubs. Address, CHAS. J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Phiadelphia, Pa.

A distressing accident occurred on Tuesday afternoon of last week. Philip Neitz was in the act of digging an old well deeper for his father in-law John Lebkeicher, of Chapman township, and had prepared a blast which failed to discharge. then he threw an arm full of straw into the well in order to ignite the fuse, the straw even refused to burn but layed smouldering at the bottom of the well which produced gas and an unpleasant smell. Thinking all danger past Mr. Neitz put a ladder into the well and climbed to its bottom notwithstanding the entreaties of his comrades not to do so. When down but a short time he said that he felt badly and ascended the ladder about twelve feet when he fell backward hanging to it in a lifeless condition. His comrades not wishing to risk their lives in going down to him by pulling the ladder out, but his hold left go and he fell to the bottom, dead, in which condition he was taken out by means of hook and rope.—Courier.

In Memoriam.

Chief Burgess, W. W. Wittenmyer, called a meeting of the citizens in respect to our dead President:

Hon. G. Alfred Schoch was elected President and Dr. I. Grier Barber, Secretary.

Rev. J. P. Shindel offered prayer.

Stetler's Cornet band executed a dirge.

Short and appropriate eulogies were delivered by Messrs. Bower, Arnold, Gilbert, Smith, Esqrs., and Rev. J. P. Shindel.

The following named gentlemen were selected to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting: F. E. Bower, W. W. Wittenmyer, J. Gilbert, D. Bolender, J. H. Arnold and T. J. Smith who reported the following:

RESOLVED, That we, citizens of Middleburg and vicinity, here by express our heart-felt sorrow at our national bereavment, in the untimely death of our lamented President, James A. Garfield—As part of a stricken nation we mourn our nation's loss—

RESOLVED, That we tender our sincere sympathy to the family of James A. Garfield, and mingle our prayers with theirs for that support and consolation in this their hour of supreme desolation, that a faith in the God who directs all things, alone can give. That the devotion and fortitude of Lucetta R. Garfield, during the illness of her lamented husband, have made her name a lasting symbol of all that is best and noblest in womankind.

RESOLVED, That in commemoration of the nation's loss, our public buildings be draped in mourning for a period of 30 days—and that we recommend that during the hour of our President's burial all places of business in our town be closed.

COMMITTEE.

Letter from Colorado.

MANITOU, Col. Sept. 1, 1881

I am now at Colorado Springs proper—they are 6 miles North of the city of Colorado Springs. This morning I thought I would see what I could of this country, so I took breakfast at 6 a. m. and as the clock struck 7 a. m. I started for the "Garden of the Gods" 3 or 4 miles West of Colorado Springs. As soon as you leave the town you can see the wall of rocks which wall in the Garden of the Gods—they are a red sand stone and in the morning as the sun shone against them looked like a brick kiln that had just been burned and opened—I asked a boy to direct me to the Garden—he said—"Go straight for the Red Rocks." The distance is about 4 miles but when I saw the rocks it appeared about 1 mile away over a little hill—but when I commenced to climb the hill each time I arrived on the top of one hill another of about the same size would rise before me—and I made up my mind then and have not changed my opinion as yet that an Eastern man can form no idea of distance or elevation in this country, at least not until he has becomes accustumed to this pure light air. Before going to the Garden of the Gods I went a mile to the North to "Glen Eyrie" a beautiful place but as yet not open to visitors—they are putting up some fine builtings up here and when the R. R. is completed to here and the building finished it will be a great summer resort as the water is abundant and of the finest quality. Going South from Glen Eyrie a mile to the Garden—I saw for the first time in my life the watering of land by means of drains runing through it. It was a truck patch and looked splendid, green and nice while all around was barren and waste. Around Colorado Springs there is no farming of any account done, you see a field of corn now and then but since I have been in Colorado I have not seen as much wheat as one good farmer in Kansas would raise. Grapes are 25 cts. lb. and other fruits in proportion. If you stop at a hotel you are "stuck" as far as paying goes but you can get good meals for 25 to 35 cts. at restaurants and lodging very reasonable. But I have forgot to go on with my letter about my ramble I arrived at the Garden about 8.30 and a strange name, I thought, it was to give such a place. At the Garden there are no houses, no cabins, no person within a mile—I should judge. The approach to the Gurden is thro' a gate-way about 100 feet wide on either side of which rise high perpendicular cliffs of sand-stone, the wall runs North and South to the North the stone is read (the same I saw from town) to the South of the entrance the stone is white—the Red stone rises out of the plain and is perpendicular for over 300 feet it is not filled up around its bass by large bowlders falling from the top (as it is a compact mass) but you can gather flowers right where the rock brakes the ground. Hundreds of people have carved their names here the earlist date I saw was cut by a party of surveyors, 1858. After entering the Garden which is, I judge, about 1 mile square you see Red sand (or rather more of a Granite—cut and hewed into all sort of shapes—Indeed I do not wonder that a natural artist after finishing some sketches in this vicinity refused to put them on exibition as natural scenery, for fear they would be taken for studies made from ruins in the old country. I walked from the Garden of the Gods to Manitou about 3 miles (as desirous as before) and visiting all the springs in the neighborhood during the day. They have 3 kinds of springs here—soda, sulphur and iron—the soda and sulphur are near the depot and principal hotels but I walked one mile up a canon to the two iron springs and was amply repaid for my trip—the springs are very strong of iron—the soda springs are very strong and about as good Seltzer water, and I judge I got away with a quart or two. I got a good dinner for 35cts. and then started up the "Ute Pass" to see the "Rainbow falls" one mile up the canon, the falls are fine and about 100 feet high, the stream is not large but when the sun shines in the right direction a rainbow can be seen. It was 1 p. m. when I was there so no rainbow was visible. Forgot to mention that in passing from the Garden to Manitou I passed the "Rocking stone" this rock weighs it is estimated, 300 tons which can be rocked too and fro—apparently they have no foundation—and above without a great width. This is a great summer resort for people from all parts of the country, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and all the large cities are represented there—the place is small—But there are three large hotels—the Cliff House, the Saratoga and the Manitou House, and all seen to be doing a good business and charge enormous prices. I walked in all to-day about 7 hours and I walked hard but do not feel the worse of it—indeed it seemed to do me good. And I have not felt so well since I left Jersy. About two and ½ miles out of Colorado Springs this morning I passed a western Grave Yard It was laid out regularly and if a family could afford it a little fence was put around each grave or graves but if poor they were just burried in the open prairie. It was a lonely spot. Most of the tombstones were [illegible] and a great many were so

Court commences Monday next.

Our town at present presents a sad appearance, almost every building is draped in morning, on account of our lamented President.

Ellis H. Free and Harry Haller boarded a freight train to take a ride, on Saturday night. Below Port Royal Free's hat blew off and the boys concluded to get off and return home. As they were coming up the track Free stepped to one side to avoid a freight train, when he was struck by an engine passing on another track. His left arm was so shattered that it had to be amputated within a few inches of the shoulder. His uncle, Dr. Free, of Harrisburg, came to see him; Doctors Banks, Crawford, Sandoe and Rodgers performed the operation, on Sunday evening, after every hope of saving the arm had been abandoned.—Juniata, Tribune.

MANHOOD
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

Just published, a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical cure of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, &c., also Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; induced by Self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequence of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.
