What the Republican Party has Done for Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania passed under Republican management in 1861. On the expiration of Gov. Hoyt's term on January 1, 1883, the Republican party will have ruled 22 years. Gov. Curtin was elected in October, 1860, took the Governor's chair January 1861.

The State debt in 1860 was $7,364,922. The State debt in 1882 was 79,198,000. Total reduction under Republican Governors $71,833,078.

The Republican party in 1866 repealed the tax of three mills on real estate. The value of the real estate in Pennsylvania in 1880, was $1,545,914,868. A three mill tax for sixteen years amounts to $74,303,913, which has all been saved to our taxpayers.

In 1873 horses and cattle were exempt from the three mill tax. In 1880 the value of horses and cattle was $33,288,835. A three mill tax on this sum for nine years amounts to $898,798. By these two acts of Republican legislation the taxpayers were saved the enormous sums of:

Table with 2 columns: Description of tax relief and Amount saved. Includes items like 'On real estate', 'On horses and cattle', 'Total of taxes saved to people in fifteen years', 'Total military expenses', 'Total saved to taxpayers by repeal of tax law'.

It will be seen that the Republican management of the State while it has relieved the real estate and lands and horses and cattle of the farmer of over seventy-five millions of taxes, it has educated the millions of orphan children; paid over ten millions of military expenses incident to the Rebellion, reduced the State debt nearly eighteen millions of dollars. Yet Democratic organs would have the world believe we have such an "unfortunate State," that to relieve it, the people should elect a Democratic Governor this year. But to present in a nut-shell the above facts we recapitulate:

Mrs. Ogden, the wife of a prominent and wealthy citizen of West Philadelphia, was so severely burned on Sunday night by the explosion of a kerosene lamp that she died four hours thereafter. The flesh dropped from the lady's arms, so badly was she burned, and she suffered very little pain, as the nerves were evidently destroyed.

The Right Party for Young Men.

Hundreds of young men yearly become eligible as voters and are honored by the will of the people, with the duties and responsibilities of the franchise. It becomes then not only a matter of sound policy, but of vital importance to the young man that the claims of the various parties be brought clearly before him and candidly canvassed. The position a young man takes at first may determine the course of his life and will almost certainly his political companionships. Many youths with more than ordinary ability, have often to view the political drama from the back seats or do not because they have either neglected to inform themselves properly or have lacked energy to emancipate themselves from distasteful entanglements. No party in history has less to conceal and more of which to be proud than the Republican party and in entering this year's contest in Pennsylvania, a contest, which must end in the victory of either the Regular Republican, or Democratic ticket as the fulcrum points have no possible chance, every Independent vote being only a sort of sneaking sanction of Democracy, we will in a few words advance the claims of the Republican party to the confidence of every young man who is about to vote.

The Republican party was born of the nation's need; it did not grow like Jonah's gourd in a night, but struck deep, not into the hearts of true and honorable men before it was known as an organization. It was a protest against the arrogant spirit of slavery and the low and degrading outcome of Jacksonianism which made the public service a mere will through and the best political philosophy getting as much as possible from the Democratic end as possible.

Mrs. Ogden, the wife of a prominent and wealthy citizen of West Philadelphia, was so severely burned on Sunday night by the explosion of a kerosene lamp that she died four hours thereafter. The flesh dropped from the lady's arms, so badly was she burned, and she suffered very little pain, as the nerves were evidently destroyed.

About three weeks ago Miss Jennie Boggs, a young lady about sixteen years of age, who for several years past has resided in the family of Mrs. George Freaner, wife of the Hon. George Freaner, of Hagerstown, Md., was awakened at a late hour at night by a noise in her bedroom. Thinking it was one of the inmates of the house she asked who it was. Hearing no response she arose from her bed, walked to the door of her room and looked out in the passage, where she saw a man making a hasty exit down the stairs. She alarmed the household, but no clue to the intruder could be ascertained. About two weeks ago the young lady rose in the morning and discovered that during the night some one had entered her room while she was asleep and had cut all her hair from her head. Upon informing Mrs. Freaner of what had transpired, several friends of the family were summoned, and an examination of the premises was made. The lower doors of the house were found open, as well as a window. It is supposed that some person, jealous of Miss Boggs' magnificent hair, which reached nearly to her feet, had entered the dwelling, chloroformed the poor girl and robbed her of her tresses. The mysterious affair caused a sensation in the usually quiet town, and on Wednesday last this was greatly intensified when it became known that Miss Boggs was seriously ill. The best medical aid was summoned, but, despite their efforts, the girl died. She was born in Hagerstown, and adopted by Mrs. Freaner when quite young, and had received the kindest treatment from Mrs. Freaner's family. The cause of her death is said to have been an acute attack of cholera morbus, but the general opinion is that she died from grief at the loss of her hair, as she would sit from morning until evening and complain of the nefarious act. Her funeral took place on Saturday, and was largely attended.

Five colored men were struck by lightning at Smyrna, Tennessee, on Sunday, and one of them was fatally injured. The debt statement issued on Tuesday, shows the decrease of the public debt during the month of July to be $13,890,927.52. Gay Smith, the boy of twelve years, who killed his father at Kirkwood, Mo., July 7th, was on Saturday convicted of murder of the first degree. The top of the head of the statue of Lord Nelson at Quebec, about 60 feet above the ground, was knocked off by lightning on Friday night. The horse of Wm. Smith, at Lost Creek, Neb., was struck by lightning on Thursday night, and one of his daughters was killed, another being dangerously injured. A wood shed in which several women and children took shelter from a thunder storm near Medway, Mass., last Friday, was struck by lightning, and two of the children were killed. Miss Myers saved her mother and sister from being crushed to death on the railroad at East Liberty station, but the brave act cost the young lady her own life, the engine striking and killing her. A young thief, known as George Miller, was found to be a young girl on being arrested at Canton, Ohio. She had for several years passed for a boy, even among the sneak thieves with whom she associated. August 5th General Allison was a fight with the forces of Arabi Pasha. British loss 4 killed and 29 wounded, while the loss of the enemy must have been very heavy—estimated at 200 or 300.

Nebraska has now her best year of crops since she became a state. That's a solid comfort.
