The tuition charged is intended to be just enough to hire assistance and cover necessary expenses. As it is supposed that many teachers will not desire to devote their whole time to the common branches arrangements have been made to teach any branch usually taught in the Institution for one dollar additional charge.

Lectures will be delivered one or two nights each week by the faculty or persons from abroad. Prof Stoddard, of N. Y., will be in attendance at least two weeks, during term, and give the Teachers the benefit of his instructions and experience. Prof. Clark, of Homer Academy, N. Y., will attend a week or more. Prof. Davies, of the State Normal School, Albany, N. Y., is also expected to be in attendance a portion of the time. Also other distinguished teachers and James Bolles, on the east by lands of the same and
