Stable Management of Horses.

port of Sup't, of Common Schools, Maine.

It is one thing to know how to use a horse, but it is another thing to know how to take cure of him. A stabled horse needs special regular as the measurement of the hours,-When a change of feed is made, it must be done with great care, giving a small allowance at first, until the stomach becomes used to the charge. He must be cleaned every day; and when we say cleaned, we mean all that can be conveyed by that word. A good curry-comb, brush, and an oiled woolen cloth. are the itensils necessary. First take the curry comb, and begin at the top of the neck. back of the ears, working the hand both ways. Proceed in this way, till you have gone over the entire body and legs. Then take both comb and brush, and follow the comb with the brush, and after every other stroke, drawthe brush across the teeth of the comb, to clean it. An experienced groom will do this inadheres to the outside. The face and cars years. Take one part of lime to three parts must also feel the brush.

Few men know how to clean a horse propcrly. If the above directions are followed. daily, your horses will enjoy good health, generally. Stabled horses must be exercised daily. This is absolutely essential to good health. If the feet of your horse are brittle, and hre liable to break and crack, they must ed, and you will not be a hamed either to ride, or drive him.

Another thing quite as important, is a clean and well ventilated stable. We cannot excuse any farmer, or horse owner, who does not clean his stables twice a day. A stable should be so constructed, as to have a wide passage-way or floor in front, to feed from, Above the manger a space should be left, a foot or two in width, clear, and the passages way should be the avenue for the supply of fresh air to the nostrils of the horse.

A horse enjoys a good bed, and it should never be refused him. At night, take your fork and make it up light, and you will feel amply rewarded for the humane treatment you have given your beast. 🦠

MANURING .- There is a great deal of haigsplitting, theoretically, on the subject of manures. One of the most popular of the New England agricultural journals ways: "The notion that all manures should be adapted to the plants which are to be nourished, and that great care should be taken to apply the right kinds to certain specified plants, is not of any great value." Still, there are general principles to be observed. Horse and, hog manure are hotter, and work sooner, than that from neat stock, and should therefore bave the preference upon cold land. Ashes are the coolest of manures, and should always he applied to dry and sandy loams. Green manure, spread upon the surface of ploughed land, is offensive, but aragging a harrow over it so far" brings it into contact with the soil that its ammonia is absorbed. Manures should not be buried too deep. A lady in the New England Farmeranswers the inquiry. frequently made of her, "how did you raise such nice peppers?" by saying that she saved all her soap suds, slops, &c., for her garden. She also took a cask, into which she put the droppings of the hen-roost, and filled it with "waste water" from the house. At night she took a pail and dipper, and applied it to beds, vines, &c., and, in fact, used no other manure for her garden. This was the way she "raised such nice peppers."-Farm

EFFECTS OF PUMPHIN SEEDS ON CONS.-A correspondent of the New England Farmer having learned that pumpkin seeds exercised an effect to dry up the milk of cows that cat them, has lately made some careful experiments fully confirming the fact. When he commenced feeding pumpking to a cow, she was giving eight quarts of milk per day, which was in a few days reduced to four on slops and out meal, she returned to the original milkings of eight quarts. He then resumed the pumpkin feed, but boiled, in ad-

"Siri. I have great satisfaction in assuring you that myself and family have been very much ben fited by your returned. My wife was cured, two years since, of a severe and dangerous cough, by your Cherrat Precional, and since them has enjoyed perfect health. My children have several times been cured from attacks of the Inducenza and Croup by it. It is an invaluable remedy for these complaints. Your Cathartic Pills have entirely cured, but from a dysorphia and contiverses, which has these complaints. Your CATMABUTE TRLES have enumed the form a dyspepsia and contineness, which has grown, upon me for some years,—indeed, this cure is much more important, from the fact that I had failed to get relief from the best Physicians which this section of the country affords, and from any of the numerous remediate back when. dies I had taken.
"You seem to us, Doctor, like a providential blessing to our family, and you may well suppose we are not unmindful of it.

Vours respectfully.

lic, yet thousands have already experienced their good effects. Invalids given over by their physicians as incurable, have found relief and been restored to sound and vigorous health from their use. The great amount of good these medicines have done, has in-duced thousands to recommend them to their friends. Men of integrity and physicians have sanctioned their ise, recommended them to the public.

READER, if you want not your constitution is ured by that slow, larking poison, calomel; or other mineral substances, touch not such medicines as contain them, but procure those excellent and purely regetable preparations, Halsey's Forest Wine and If you have the dyspepsia, or are troubled with costiveness, take this Wine and the Pills, according

If you are nervous, or weakly, or have emachated countenance, or general debility, this Wine and the Pills will restore you to health and energy.

If you have unhealthy colored skin, or pimples, postules, or blotches, these medicines will purify the blood and cradicate all such humors. If you have a weakly constitution, and feel your clves too old for your years, take these excellent medicines, and they will invigorate your constitution and fortify it for longer life. If you are billious (which may be known by such aptoms as drowsiness, loss of appetite, dizzinesss, furred tongue, etc.) take a good dose of the Forest Bills, and they will purge from the stomach and bowels all mo bid and bilious matter, and thus prevent If you have the liver complaint, the Forest Wine an I Pills will cure it. These medicines exert a powerful and most salutary action on the liver, and have been the means of enring thousands of this trouble PARENTS, there is not, perhaps, a mouth in the year that some member of your family does not com-plain of headache, or sickness at stomach, or have furred tongues, or some other unfavorable symptoms. These are the forebodings of disorder; and sickness, of some kind or other soon follows; for such symptoms always show that bile or morbid matter exists in the stomach and bowels, or that the system is otherwise disordered. Timely use of the Forest Wine and Pills will, in all cases, prevent sickness from such causes, and will purify the blood, and produce strength and animation.

The Forest Medicines, kept always at hand, to be taken whenever such symptoms are exhibited, will save your family almost entirely from sickness, as Londen's series of Family Medicines: Merchant's well as your doctor's bill, which frequently amount to more in a week, than sufficient of these medicines LADIES, the Forest Wine is your medicin variety of other kinds; Trask's Magnetic Ointment, the great remedy for burns, rheumatism, and all inweakly, or nervous, or in general ill health, this Wine will do more to restore you than all other medicines. In all cases where bile exists, or the bowels constipated, the Forest Pills also should be taken, according MARINER and TRAVELER, if you wish to guard
