		ne statue en al estatue en al constatue en al c	na upper parte de la calence		terrente and the and the second s	and the second
	· Y		dent
						$\boldsymbol{\lambda}$
				AN D'I'II
	6 \sim				and a second second and a second s
	.	/				ALLANDER A SERVICIE A
	⁶⁶ FR	EEDOM AND RIC	HT AGAINST SLA	Avery and wro	NG."
T. READ & H. H. FRAZI	ER, EDITORS.	MONTROSE,	THURSDAY, APRI	L 16, 1857.	H. H. FRAZIER, PU	BLISHERVOL 8. NO. 14
Poet's Gorner.	Miscellaneous.	titled forester, who despised rank and court-	any voice was ever plainly suggestive of scaf- fulds and battle-axes, this was one.	down the banks of her hair, and soaking her	n an an the State of the second s	that law, can go into now territory and the
For the Independent Republican.	THE SALE OF A KINGDOM.	ly baubles; and she pleased herself with de- licious images of quiet contentment, as they	Nathalie, forest girl as she was, could not condescend to battle the king with these his	The count saw her, for, doffing his cap, he	Remarks made by Mr. Webster in the Senate of the United States, on the 12th of Au-	establish that local law, to the exclusion
MY WIFE.		rolled along. Coaches in the street made	own weapons and as there gid not appear to be any other, she thought best to make a feint	raised his hand to his lips with a knightly	guit, 1848.	maxim of the civil law, that between sla ry and freedom, freedom, should always
BY RET. T. HEMPSTEAD.	A nes, and the 4 o'clock sun streamed slant-	ers at the palace door swept open long ave-	of surrender, and calmly said, "I wished to	so near that the wind might be seen lifting	HE Constitution of the United States rec-	presumed, and slavery must always be pr r name! first breathed in Paradise,	ingly inrough the aisles of the great forest, and upon the varied costumes of the tempo-	i nues through the noble crowd, who respect fully withdrew. Bowing to the right and	leave your majesty possession of your son	I nis nair, when the little mast cracked and broke, dragged the boat down and precini-	A ognizes it (slavery) as an existing fact, an existing relation between the inhabitants of	ed. If any question arose as to the statu an individual in Rome, he was presumed nd warbled down the rosy air, wafted through the stainless skies	rary inhabitants. Never since the days of	left, Le Norman, with Nathalie upon his arm	rank when he offered me marriage. My re-	tated the occupants into the roaring gulf	the Southern States. I do not call it in "in-	be free until he was proved to be aslave, nd up the silver vault, to where Heavenly splendors burn and glow	danced beneath the umbrageous oaks nor	and the marchioness following directly be-	ligious faith will be an invincible bar to his wishes. I love LeNorman the hunter; I will	Lie was a strong swimmer; for after every wave broke its crest over him, he was seen	stitution," because that term is not applica- ble to it; for that seems to imply a volunta-	cause slavery is an exception to the gen mound the Triune Mystery-	one half so splendid. Fine ladies of the	and staircase, swept through the ante-rooms	never wed your son, the prince !"	riding the next one triumphant. Now lost	ry establishment. When I first came here.	law of mankind. An . individual is to
'er, in mortal time, may know he sweetness that is hid in thee.	court had thrown aside their hoops and pow-	till the doors of the throne-room were thrown	"Madame," returned the King, "your	to sight, now again appearing, now support-	it was a matter of frequent reproach to Eng-	presumed to be free, until a law can be all the hills o'er which the wind	der, and stopped out in the native dignity of peasant girls, or ascended into a blazing guise	open, and they entered : while fords and la	me your friend. My son, I confess it, is more	ing a fainting comrade, and now with rapid	land, the mother country, that slavery had been entailed upon the colonies by her, a	duced which creates ownership in his per olls with its thousand-harping sound of so sweet a cadence shrined,	of borrowed royalty. Atalantas with buskins	awaiting their turn, stepped aside. If the	than a match for me. If you had been the	would have sunk long ago. The rain and	gainst their consent, and that which is now	local law, as I have already said ; but I i not so rich a music found	and apples, Dianas with crescents and hounds,	brilliancy of the ante-rooms had seemed gor-	daughter of a grand duke of a minor King, I	spray mingled their strength with the wind	considered a cherished "institution" was then	it is a matter to be proved; and theref n that single holy name f "wife," first breathed by Angela' lips,	graces, muses, and dryads, all mingled their gay array with gods and satyrs. Turks and	geous, what must the flood of lustre have ap peared to her bewildered eves as Le Nor-	would not have whispered a word against your faith; but as you well know, my king-	mist arose and hung round him, closing him,	regarded as, I will not say an evil, but an entailment on the colonies by the policy of	if individuals go into any part of the ea they with eyes of golden flame,	veomen. The dancers were swinging around	man naused at the threshold, giving her a	dom, though recent, is important, and will	out from the sight of his wife, and hiding his	the mother country against their wishes At	or else the presumption is that they are.
cheld the night of Sin's eclipse, fars and pain and blighting dew	like a band of reeling bacchanals among the			beacon star from him. At last the wind	any rate it stands upon the Constitution	Now our friends seem to think that ar cold around the Primal Two. r is the name of "friend" to those	tree-boles, when one withdrew fatigued, and wandering to a little distance, flung herself	1 Hitherto depending on him, she had been only the shrinking girl of Ardennes wool	junce. Still, generous as you are to resign your lover, human nature is not infallible; it	patches of blue sky smiled out from the south	The Constitution was adopted in 1788, and went into operation in 1789. When it was	equality arises from restraining them to going into the Territories, unless there h the sail this bleak, tempestuous sea	on the sward beneath wide-spread branches.	now, as it were instantaneously, a new force	were too much to expect this of you. Let	and west, and the waves rocked to and fro	adopted the state of the country was this:	law provided which shall protect their o Juman Life, while keenly blows he gale of black Adversity,	Dressed as a sea nymph, she went by the	seemed to develop within her-her figure	me guard you; let me always be your friend.	in stray sunshine. The countess still strained	slavery existed in the Southern States ; there	ership in persons. The assertion is that sweetly up the gulf of years cturns the holy accent " mother,"	est one among all the merry masqueraders	grew a shadow more creet, the rich folds of her dress shock out with a somewhat proud	As a proof of it, let me offer you a most wor- thy husband, in the person of the Count d'En-	but neither count nor fisherman was there:	tory, the whole Northwestern Territory,	create an inequality. Is increating to said on the other side in relation to inen
" sister" calms our childish fears,	and so doubtless, thought the tall and grace-	er grace-a prescience of what was to come	tremer!"	and at the end of an hour's intense watching,	which, it was understood, was destined to be	ity ? Sir, from the date of this Constitu nd manly is the sound " my brother;" ret I know a sound as sweet.	ful Apollo, who, with golden curls clustering	seemed to surround and strengthen her	for utterance; but at last, as the king contin-	three bodies were tossed high upon the strand.	formed into States; and it was then deter-	and in the counsels that formed and e h heavenly music more complete.	across his shoulders, joined her.	She cast her eyes round on the magnificent throng, and prouder and statelier than any	ued his harangue, it broke forth in wild and	Nathalie with outstretched hands instantly	mined that no slavery should exist in this territory. I gather now as matter of infer-	men's judgments since. it is received richer than the golden song	"It is not," said he, "the first time Na-	empress, swept up the noble vista to the	angry protest.	fell senseless,	ence from the history of the time and the	settled truth, that slave labor and pree l ile glancing wings the branches throng, ad June trips with her roses on,	thalle has been seen by her adorer; once or	king. A moment, with Jove-like thunders	"Allow me, at least, to convey the future countess to a place not so liable to listeners,"	A year's seclusion—due not to grief, but to respect, bud passed and the leafy other	history of the debates, that the prevailing	do not exist well together. I have before at one word, with mystic art ich binds us to some kindred heart ;	woods has Le Norman worshipped her beau-	gathering on eye and brow, the old monarch gazed on the approaching pair, while all the	he said; and Nathalie accompanied him per-	of Ardennes had fulled Nathalie, for the mo-	recognition of the existence of slavery in the	tion that formed the Constitution, to the
at the lordly shout that swells	ty, but never in guise so costly as now	court anticipated his action, and were smack	force through several devious ways till they	ment, into complete forgetfulness of the last	Southern States, and giving a representation	fect. Mr. Mason, as is well known, w rom the green hills of earth to heaven, in its sweeping triumph, tells	What spell has come over the yiaid of Ar-	ing their mental lips over the expected scene But like a balmy summer wind dispersing	stood in the dimly-lighted palace chapel.	oleven years—and again she sat beneath the	to those States, founded in part upon their slaves, rested on the supposition that no ac-	distinguished member from Virginia.
he fetters from a nation riven ; marriage bells or fluting breeze		the clouds of tempest, a passing smile scat	. so lately professed friends! in, and now speak-	self-same nook as in her girlhood. All but	auisition of territory would be made to form	it puts free white labor in disrepute ; the hat roves through May's enchanted ground,	motion the waving grace of a true sea-nymph,		ing in his lowest tones, "I give you a choice.	the first fifteen years of her life seemed vis	new States on the Southern frontier of this	causes labor to be regarded as derogatos music poured o'er moonlit seas, While misty rocks give back the sound ;	fore him; her flowing robe was an iridescent	two, the king briefly exclaimed, in a voice inaudible to any but them-"Son!"	nevertheless, you are completely in my pow-	around, the distant bugle of some royal hunt	country, either by cession or conquest. No one looked to any acquisition of new terri-	the free white man despises to work, to us all have not a tone to me	pearly-colored stuff, changing now to the sug-	"Father," said Le-Norman, in the same	er. You have not a relative in the world !	ing party stole up her ear like "horns of elf	tory on the Southern or Southwestern fron-	expression, where slaves are employed. raught with glorious melody, noulded and attuned to be	gestion of a pale blue, now to the sott flesh tint of a shell, and now to a deep watery		If you do not comply with my demands, I have dungeons so deen that for all your life	iand taintiy blowing." And thus when one	tier. The exclusion of slavery from the Northwestern Territory and the prospective	is a malter of great inforest, to the link between our souls and Him The is the Life, the Truth, the Love,	sheet of sea-green. Slender branches of scar-		you will never see daylight again. Neither	leading a red roan steed, it seemed as if al	abolition of the foreign slave trade were gen	certainly is, that wherever slave labor
l round whose throne the listening Worlds	let coral made a vivid splendor in her dark	measured each other with undaunted eyes,	do I shrink from such terrific resources, al-	the interval had never beeu; and looking up	erally, the former unanimously, agreed to	vails, free white labor is excluded or dis ar golden sound! how art thou stained	hair, and hanging from their tips a veil of lace fell down and half smothered the glow	"The prince, in his present passing fancy," said the king, "does the court honor. Le	' though loth to mention them to ears polite, t such as starvation, tight cords; het irons"	Le Norman ! I am"-but here as she would	and on the basis of these considerations, the South insisted that where slavery existed it	e ageo. I agree that slave labor does not essarily exclude free labor totally. The
By hearts corrupt and lips unclean! eightry from thy soul hath waned—	and sparkle of jewels that adorned her. Dia-	us hope that when this boyish freak is fin	- I can never be trightened into submis-	have said "fifteen," memory rushed back or	should not be interfered with and that it	free white labor in Virginia, Tennessee,
Off hath thy snowy vesture been ailed in the path of common dust,			s ision," she said, interrupting him, haughtily.	her, and hiding her face in her hands, she	should have a certain ratio of representation in Congress. And now, sir, I am one 'who	done by slavey But it more the lab d'cradled in the arms of lust.		leniently as it deserves! Mademoiselle, you father rendered me distinguished services	"while you are single, my son will never	sternly-arrested her.	believing such to be the understanding of	something of its respectability, by the sy wife" hath trembled from the red	wise round her skirt, and rubies, emeralds,	but for him, I should have lost my kingdom	complete the alliance I design. He will be	Stay a moment, madame!" he com	which the Constitution was framed, mean to	of and when associated with, slave lab
And recking lips of him whose thought	and opals, strewn with a profuse hand on her attire, and glistening with lavish lustre,	Command from me any favor !"	wretched and unhappy; while, if you marry, he will resign himself to forgetfulness. Do	nanded. "Since Providence has thrown u	abide by it.	Wherever labor is mainly perfirmed slaves, it is regarded as, degrading to
Where the dull swine lies down to rot ; d the hoarse libertine hath drunk		tection from royal and princely insults du	you wish to be the cause of his misery?	troth you once gave me. It was broken by	I have now stated, as I understand it. The in maudlin triumph to that name,	just rising from the sea, was blazing with the	I ring the reception. I neither ask nor will re	- have no great affection in my nature; it is	you, and rendered valueless to me, elevel	a condition of things upon the adoption of the	have a deep interest in keeping labor free ach in his blighted, soul hath sunk still deeper the hot bolt of shame.	myriad dazzling water drops that dripped	ceive any favor from your majesty !" And with a courtesy as smorth as the least toose	f chiefly pride; therefore all those pangs with which I threatened you, I will inflict upor	With a certain wild vehemence she as	Constitution of the United States. What has happened since? Sir, it has happened that a al a Turret O combat belaks	a subcarn of this upper world to carry down	ble loval submission could render so grace	him, if you disobey. You can go forward to	claimed, turning at bay upon him, "I wa	s above and beyond all contemplation or ex

O welded Love ! O symbol brich

Of that most holy, deathless tie

Which links the chosen sons of light To Him who chose for them to die : May he whose soul ne'er rose above The miser's dust, a bruto's desire, Through Love's green paths of myrile rove. Or to his pearly heights aspire, ... Or breathe the sacred lialm that springs Like incense from his silver wings? No ! let him wear his crown of dust. His purest love is gilded lust ! My gentle wife, I sometimes fear That Heaven hath poured too large a good On one so frail and vile as L. To feed me thus on Angel's food, And drench me in the rosy wine Of love so pure and deep as thine : 'And well I know a fearful thing

It is, to win a human heart Around our own to twine and cling With strength which only Death can part. Cheeks I have seen more like the rose, And forms more delicate to view. And foreheads more like mountain snows And locks that glanced a brighter hue, And yet, of high or lowly birth, On all our green and lovely carth, There's not a lip that shames the rose, Nor brow, though like the Alpine snows, And bound with half the diadems Snatched from the deep, relentless sea-There's not a form, though locked in gents, Halt, half so beautiful to me As that dear eye and brow of thine, Afar from thee, Beloved One, I still thy calm sweet face can see, And b'er the distance wide and lone, My thoughts fly yearning back to thee Like some lost bird that seeks her nest, While night is broading o'er the west, 0, come to us! the woods are sere On Housatonic's regal hills, Yet the bright robin's note I Lear, And Spring hath loosed the shouting rills; Soon, soon the clover sandaled May Her check upon the buds will lay, Aud every bough and turf shall be A temple and a shrine to thee, And bid the gentle stranger hall To velvet bank and mossy vale. NEW PRESTON, March, 1857.

Because thy woman's heart is mine.

"THE LOST SOUL"-Lieut. Herndon of the United States Navy, in his narrative of the exploration of the Valley of the Amazon, self to look at her; at last when he raised gives the following :

"After we had refired to our mats beneath welling over with tears. There is a moment the shed for the night, I asked the Governor if he knew a bird called El alma perdida.-He did not know it; by that name, and requested a description. I whistled an imitation of its notes, whereupon an old crone, stretched on a mat near us commenced, with animated tones and gestures, a story in the broke forth, with tenderest kisses and most Incar language which ran somebow thus:

"An Indian and his wife went out from the village to work their chacs carrying their infant with them. The woman went to the spring to get water, leaving the man in charge blingly, Nathalie had requested to know the of the child, with many cautions to take good "care of it. When she arrived at the spring she found it dried up, and tent further to look for another. The husband alarmed at her long absence, left the child and went in search. When they returned, the child was gone; and to their repeated cries, as they wandered through the woods in search of it, mark. they could get no response save the wailing cry of this little bird, now heard for the first time, whose wild and wailing cry their auxious and excited imagination syllabled into pa-pa. ma-ma, (the present Inichus name of do nothing wrong, was satisfied. the bud.) I suppose the Spaniards heard this story, and with that religious poetic turn of thought which seems peculiar to them, called the bird El alma perdida-" the lost the door ; another moment, and Le Norman "The circumstances under which the story stood in the apartment, with flushed 'cheeks and an anxious, vivid brightness in his rest-was told-the beautiful, still, starlight night -the deep dark forest around-the faint-red less eyes. As the marchioness turned and glimmering of the fire, flickering upon the old woman's gray hair, and earnest face as tion, but it was instantly checked by his she poured forth the guttural tones of the she poured forth the guttural tones of the warning look, and they were soon rolling a-language of a people now passing away- long to the royal palace. gave it a sufficiently romantic interest to an imaginative man.

ful an action, she sailed between king and nto the still depths of twilight caves. parents in a hut among these woods, I had cupied throne. Well str, said the king to Le, Norman, been in our family more than six hundred ty on his noble face, "well, sir, I have heard any evil from him. She trembled an instant. vears!" that," said the young man. "And monsieur has then a family and a name ?" she said. "None nobler in the kingdom," he replied. But, Nathalie, how came you here ?" "Ab, the marchioness was my mother's friend," said Nathalie, "and to-day is my birthday, Le Norman. To-day I am fifteen." "So young and so lovely," thought Le Norman; "and if she loves me (as I cannot doubt she does,) born to how much trouble !"

spoke again.

beheld his face, she began a sudden exclama-

6

ş · ·

"And my family scarcely counts beyond pared. A pretty affair you made out of noth-"Sire, I am in earnest," said Le Norman. " And so am I, you graceless wretch !" returned the king. ""Must drag into court all our awkward country dames?" "I have never before intruded, I believe."

said Le Norman. "So much the worse now," said his father, 'to find you entangled so uselessly at this late day

"Could you, sire, choose in any royal house of Europe a queenlier bride?" And he remembered with a double pang of "By heaven, young man, you won't want both exquisite joy and pain the emotion man-

queen till you are king! And if you think ifested by her on the occasion of a slight accident to him. Then he had thought her a of this again, I'll declare your brother heir in wild, charming forest girl, beautiful enough | your stead." to beguile an hour away, although doubting "Sire," said Le Norman, with coolness. 'nothing would better please me !" even then if his feelings towards her were too deep for trifling. Now he found her of "Then, if that's your cue," returned his

a certain noble rank-but what of that! It father, "you shall be both heir and king." "I will not cousent to be either, on any must be a high rank indeed which should smite down the barrier between them; and, nursed other terms than that my wife be Queen Nain different religious faiths, inexorable state | thalie," said Le Norman. "Your wife!" whispered the exasperated laws must intervene, should all else prosper, and prevent their union. He should never king. "Has the boy ruined me? Are you dare to tell her of his love; she would 're- married to her, sirrah ?" cover her affections in a little while, if he But not deigning to reply, Le Norman were silert, and be happy again-he would bowed, and stepping aside joined. Nathalie, not entail wretchedness on her young life- while the chamberlain immediately continued he would never speak. Having made this the presentations. They stood in the shadow doughty resolution, while his thoughts were of a curtain, and as Le Norman again drew almost written on his face, he hummed a Nathalie's arm into his, with a decided gessnatch of the distant dancing tune before he ture she withdrew it, and only lightly laying her hand on his, gazed steadily into his face.

And of what was Nathalie thinking? Of What reproach, what passion, what great sorsorrowful things, if her face was any index. row suffused her countenance! Though he It was a moment before he dared trust him- could not help loving her, nor, as we have seen, forbore vowing fidelity to her, yet his heart smote him that he had ever concealed his head her dark eyes were fixed upon him, his rank.

of weakness that is irresistible; if he had "You would never have loved me, Nathawithstood now he had been more than hulie, if I had told you," murmured Le Norman, "Forgive me-fortune will favor usman. He need not ask if she loved himbe knew it. He need not swear his love for I shall yet make you my wife-we shall yet her-she would feel that. He took her in | be happy !"

his arms, and lulled the grief that then first A sudden dizziness, like the precursor of a swoon, overcame him, and in the midst endearing sentences. Alas for Nathalie! her voice tolled out low and clear as a bell A month had passed, and every day had upon sultry air, the one word, "Impossible !" Great must have been her self control; for witnessed an interview between the two lovers of the wood; and when once, half trem- in this moment of bitter pain, disappointbe ashamed to love?" she ventured to re- he was borne unseen to his own apartments, and the gaiety of the others continued. Thus, "Not that, indeed, my darling!" he refrequently under the gayest masques are the plied; "but one who, knowing what lies be-fore him in the future, should be ashamed to saddest tragedies enacted. Scarcely had Nathalie gained a remote corlove you!" And Nathalie, feeling he could ridor, when a sudden rush and murmur proclaimed that the king had withdrawn and that Now she sat in the drawing-room of her the audience was broken up. While she friend the marchioness, in full dress, awaitpaused to look around her she became sensiing her lover, who was to accompany and ble of an approaching step, and in a moment present her at court. A coach dashed up to the king appeared, and taking her hand, led her into a private apartment, and courteous ly requested her to be seated. "Madame," said he sternly, while seating himself opposite, "by what authority do you receive my son's addresses?" Nathalie raised her eyes, and with her head somewhat thrown back, she answered, "I must be addressed altogether differently be-Whenever Nathalie had seen her lover before I reply at all."

here the Count d'Entremer awaits you will be forced to witness how bravely myself to worse than death-more than tor-a sunbcan of this upper world to carry down ble loyal submission could render so grace him, if you disobey. You can go forward to claimed, turning at bay upon him, "I was above and beyond all contemplation or ex. leged inequality. There is no pretence that ine prince endures his tortures. could never wear satin; that because I decked in the same low tone, savage in its almost It is not likely the king would have per. A moment or two he regarded her, then my hair with flowers, I had there no precious inaudible intensity and slow pronunciation, formed an iota of this grandiloquent threat; said, "I have taken shame to myself for elev-It is not likely the king would have ner-A moment or two he regarded her, then heir looms. Monsieur, these jewels have while sunbcams could not equal the benigni- but Nathalie could have given credence to en years that I could not overcome my passomething of this befi re. I was not unpre- and then with a firm step went forward, placed her hand in the Count d'Entremer's-never seen by her before-and being quickly and done," he resumed; but she interrupted him. irrevocably pronounced his wife, received the congratulations of the smiling king and the few withesses. Leaning against the altar, palhd and cold as sculpture, the first object her married eyes discerned was LeNorman. He moved forward, with an expression as if every second of time was a sharp sword that stabled him, and appeared to offer his com. old are you, my friend ?" pliments,

"What ardor," he murmured; "what sincerity ! what constancy ! Madame la Comp. to me that an hour ago we plighted troth.tesse is as firm as a rock in her determination | Is it so ?" to be faithless as shifting saud !"

France, and from the windows of her chateau. watched the shadows come and go on the purple Pyrennean slopes, while her husband was absent the greater part of his time at Paris, or at the court she had so lately left. Time decadence of summer in the air, came, and passed not so slowly with the prince; indeed, the cathedral was thronged for a triple cer-LeNorman witnessed a thousand events for every one in the monotonous years of the Countess d'Entremer. Having recovered from the first severe shock of his loss and disappointment, with the native energy of his nature, not deeming it right to waste his life in idle despair, he wonderfully bestirred himself-superintending the education of his brother, arranging scientific expeditions, and performing all duties devolving upon him, but steadfustly refusing the royal match urged by his father, and clinging to the loose trag-ments of the love of earlier days. Ten years had elapsed since the death of his father and his own coronation-his brother had entered into manhood, and LeNorman, as the king, had already commanded the admiration of all Europe by his daring genius, when the Count d'Entremer appeared again at court after a short absence, and for the first time since his marriage brought with him the countess. Of course all the world were on the qui vive to behold the meeting; but all the world found very little satisfaction in the calm nonchalant air of the countess, as she received the rather sarcastically polite welcome of the king; for though not quite twenment, and emotion, so lightly had her fingers ty-five she was in the full vigor and bloom of name of her lover, an almost stern tone had touched his hand, that he was not aware when womanhood, and perhaps lovelier, and with

of the building a promenade of several hundred yards, and abruptly terminating in a precipice, whose base was washed by the sea. State debts, Tennessee was originally a law which creates property in persons.

On this cliff, one afternoon, a party of court-iers-among whom was the king, his brother, and the Countess d'Entremer, were watching the approach of a small boat, which was out on a fishing excursion, and could hardly reach the shore before the squall should burst upon it. Erect in the prow, a keen eye could not fail to recognize the lofty figure of the Count D'Entremer:

Leaning breatblessly over the cliff, Nathalie remained with her eyes fixed on the boat; for although she had no manner of affection for the husband forced upon her, she could not view his danger with indifference, nor desire any thing but his happiness. The boat was still far distant, the wind increasingimaginative man." imaginative man." fore it had been in his simple hunting dress, for that of some falcy disguise. Now in her slave in some suitable conversational pice, as with hands alightly extended forward she stood, silent and motionless.— and occupation; California, Utab, and New

"Monsieur has perchance thought," re- prince, and stood beside the marchioness, a you, or back the way we came. In the latter you had died in torture first 2. It was to save stitution or the people who adopted it, for which shall be subject to the ordinance of ure-to marry D'Entremer!"

> Must I undo the work of so long a time?"-She returned him no answer. "If that were "Your cruel father's death has not left in the inexorable state laws one obstacle the less!" "I can annihilate all obstacles," he returned, triumphantly. Silence followed. Some at length he said, "A singular fancy strikes me, N athalie. It is your birthday. How

"I am lifteen," she returned.

"Aud I am nineteen." said he. " It seems

Not many days elapsed ere a strange ru-sadly with the young countess, scarcely more crowned heads of Europe. More than one and impartial judgment of mankind, and as than a child, as she sighed far away in distant king of different realms had congregated in I agree with him that it is a case proper to competent to Congress, in the exercise of a this capital, and an universal wonder was dis- be considered by the enlightened part of man- fair and just discretion, considering that there played in the countenance of every subject kind, let us see how the matter in truth have been five Slaveholding States added to and plenipotentiary.

The seventh of October, with all the sweet which my honorable friend from Georgia, yet only one Free State, to prevent their lecadence of summer in the air, came, and with so much ability sustains, declare that further increase. That is the question 1 emony. The procession left the palace to the sound of slow, pleasant music, amid the shouts and blessings of the populace upon Le Norman, "the dear king;" and in the cathedral, in the presence of subjects and brother kings, Le Norman took the crown from his own head and placed it on his brother's; and when the further ceremony of coronation what is the amount of that? . They say that was finished, knelt as count only in his paterin this way we deprive them of the opportunal heritage, and was the first among his nity of going into this acquired territory with rifice. The reason? It came through the open door of an inner chapel, where Nathale, unattended by any one save the spirits of ciety, in the general, and common, and uniradiant beanty, issued and advancing, placed versal understanding of mankind; is esteemed her hand in that of the abdicated king, Le her hand in that of the abdicated king, Le property. Not at all. The truth is just stitution. I repeat the statement of the fact Norman; and, beneath the benedictal hand this. They have in their own States pecul- of the creation of five new Slaveholding the wife of the Count of Nassau.

estimated at three million two hundred thousand square miles, has been derived from various sources. The thirteen English Colonies which united in the Revolutionary war, in I should encounter the honorable memheld nearly the same territory which they now possess, as States. Besides these, Virassembled at summer festivities. The royal Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.— abode was on a cliff, which afforded in front These latter claims she ceded to the United making this complaint is, that they annot the whole world as my own justification, I mostly included in the original patent of the ground of complaint they have. Now, Georgia. Maine was a part of the State of here, I think, gentlemen are unjust towards Massachusetts. Thus the whole of the pres-ent territory of the United States east of the river Mississippi, excepting only the State of It will not be contended that this sort of per-slavery, as it existed, and as it still exists in Florida and the whole Gulf coast, came to sonal slatery exists by general law. It exists the States. And then looking to the operatus as the possessions of the original thirteen only by local law. I do not mean to deny the tion of these new acquisitions, which have in colonies. Florida and part of Alabama and validity of that local law where it is established this great degree had the effect of strength-Mississippi, were ceded to us by Spain in but I say, it is, after all, local law. It is ening that interest in the South, by the ad-1819, as compensation for spoliations upon nothing more. And wherever that local law dition of these five States, I feel that there is our commerce. The Louisiana purchase, does not extend, property in persons does not nothing unjust nothing of which any honest made in 1803, gave us the whole tract lying exist. Well, sir, what is now the demand man can complain, if he is intelligent, and I between the Mississippi river and the Rocky on the part of our Southern friends ? They feel that there is nothing with which the divmountains, including the States of Louisians, say, "we will carry our local laws with us ilized world, if they take notice of so humble Arkansas, Missouri, and Iowa, and the Terri- wherever we go. We insist that Congress a person as myself, will reproach me when I tories of Minnesola, Nebraska, Kansas, and does us injustice unless it establishes in the say, as I say, as I said the other day, that I local law," pectation of the original framers of the Conturned she, "that because I lived with foster- little in the rear upon the right of the unoc. case my guards will attend upon you, and you from dying in torture that I sacrificed eigh territory has been acquired by cession, 1787. The only restraint is that they shall first from France, and then from Spain, on not carry slaves thither, and continue that our Bouthern frentier. And what has been relation. They say this shuts them altogeth-the result? Five slave-holding States have er out. Why, sir, there can be nothing more been created and added to the Union, bring- inaccurate in point of fact than this stateing ten Senators into this body, (I include ment. I understand that one-half the people sion, while feeling its object to be faithless .- | Texas, which I consider in the light of a fore- | who settled Illinois are people, or descendign acquisition also) and up to this hour in ants of people, who came from the Southern which I address you, not one Free State has | States, and I suppose that one third of the been admitted to the Union, from all this ac- people of Ohio are those, or- descendants of quired territory. • • • • those who emigrated from the South; and I Mr. President, what is the result of this? venture to say, that in respect to those two

We stand here now, at least I do, for one, to States, they are at this day settled by peosay, that considering there have been already ple of Southern origin in as great a porportime they thus stood confronting each other ; five new slave holding States formed out of tion as they are by people of Northern origin newly acquired territory, and only one non- according to the general numbers and proslaveholding State at most, I do not feel that portion of people South and North. There I am called on to go further ! 1 do not feel are as many people from the South in prothe obligation to yield more. But our friends of the South say, you deprive us of all our rights. We have fought for this territory, and you deny us participation in it. Let us there is then no exclusion of Southern people there is only the exclusion of a peculiar local. be faithless as shifting sand !" Time, too fast for the most of us, lagged dom, and was proclaimed officially to all the proposes to leave the ense to the enlightened dom, and was proclaimed officially to all the proposes to leave the ense to the enlightened there any inequality. Time, too fast for the most of us, lagged dom, and was proclaimed officially to all the proposes to leave the ense to the enlightened there any inequality. The question now is, whether it is not

into territor

stands. Gentlemen who advocate the case this Union out of foreign acquisitions, and we invade their rights, that we deprive them see no injustice in it. As to the power of of a participation in the enjoyment of terri- Congress, Thave nothing to add to what I said tories acquired by the common services and the other day. Congress has full power over common exertions of all. Is this true?— the subject. It may establish any such gov-How deprive ? Of what do we deprive erament, and any such laws, in the Territothem ? Why, they say that we deprive them ries, as in its discretion it may see fit. It is of the privilege of carrying their slaves as subject, of course, to the rules of justice and slaves into the new territories. Well, sir, propriety, but it is under no Constitutional restraints,

I have said that I shall consent to no extension of the area of slavery upon this contibrother's new subjects to swear tealty. The new king stepped aside, while all the world wondered the reason of so great a sac-ly do not deprive them of the privilege of go. The new king stepped aside, while all the their property. "Their property ?" We certain-tion in the other House of Congress. I have how stated my reasons for my conduct and ing into these newly acquired territories with my vote. We of the North. have already all that, in the general estimate of human so- gone, in this respect, far beyond all that any Southern man could have expected, or did expect at the time of the adoption of the Conof the patriarchal archbishop, was declared iar laws, which create property in persons. States out of newly acquired territory. We They have a system of local legislation on have done that which if those who framed the TERRITORY OF THE UNITED STATES .- The which slavery rests; while every body agrees Constitution had foreseen, they never would Territory of the United States, which is now that it is against natural law, or at least a have agreed to slave representation. We have gainst the common understanding which pre- yielded thus far; and we have now in the vails among men as to what is natural law, House of Representatives twenty persons vo-I am not going into metaphysics, for there- | ting upon this very question, and upon all other questions, who are there only in virtue ber from South Carolina, (Mr. Calhoun,)and we should find no end "in wander mazes of the representation of slaves.

Let me conclude, therefore, by remarking name of her fover, an annost seen one into his voice as he bade her not in-come into his voice as he bade her not in-quire again; and with a strange pain in his face, he warned her; that as it was, she would face, he warned her; that as it was, she would the pressure ceased, but only felt her face re-ceding, as a vision fades, while she flitted back-face, he warned her; that as it was, she would the pressure ceased, but only felt her face re-ceding, as a vision fades, while she flitted back-face, he warned her; that as it was, she would the pressure ceased, but only felt her face re-ceding, as a vision fades, while she flitted back-face, he warned her; that as it was, she would the sea shore palaces the whole court were the sea shore pala States in 1787, making a small reservation go into the territories of the United States, rest, on these propositions. First, I had of lands in Ohio, for the payment of certain carrying with them their own peculiar local when the Constitution was adopted, nothing looked for any new acquisition of territory parti of North Carolina. Alabama was This, according to their own statement, is all to be formed into Slaveholding States. Sec. ondly; That the principles of the Constitution prohibited, and were intended to protorritory in which we wish to go, our own have made up my mind, for one, that under no circumstances will I consent to the furth-

and the second second

This demand, I, for one resist and shall re- er extension of the area of slavery in the U.

uttercups in the grass for immeasura- in the woods; and her heart swelled with side, his eyes leering upon her, and in his The courtiers withdrew a little, and the king Mexico, by treaty with Mexico in 1848.sist. It goes upon the idea that there is an States, or to the further increase of slave repable gold mines under ground.-Longfellow. in the woods, and her heart woods, and her heart and her heart together upon Goodrich. inequality, unless persons under this local 'resentation in the House of Representatives.