He is taking AMBROTYPES that positively look like the originals which sat for them!!; which will last more than "thirty days from date;" and which you can even "aend out West" and still they will remain as perfect as when first taken. However recent facts may show the contrary—this is all true.

"Some folks" are evidently learning in a school that will profit them. "Cheap Ambrotypes," which have neither the merit of being natural, durable, or well fanished, are beginning to be quite lightly esteemed, in comparison with those which possess all those during the qualities. People are discovering that main as perfect as when first taken. However re these desirable qualities. People are discovering that the low price, of a valueless article, adds nothing to its intrinsic worth; and that a pleasing and faithful likeness is really the cheapest—even at the added price which is asked for it. Self-Acting Bent-Lever

THIS INVENTION claims superiority over every the other, in the following respects: In the invariable scientific principle involved, and upon which it acts; in its undeviating accuracy; in its lightness and strength; in its wonderful capacity, convenience. and strength; in its momentum capacity, convenience, of form, and applicability to every purpose for which Scales of any kind are required; in its perfect simplicity, in the absence of any complication liable to variation, or to get out of order; and, finally, in the important fact, that this scale can be afforded at a mut enethird the cost of any other Platform Scale. of like capacity and accuracy in use. And possessing in an eminent degree, all these merits, this Invention is conceded to be one of the most useful and valuable ever brought before the public. And coming, as it does, within the reach of all, it cannot but find an unprecedented sale and undivided market among furners, housekeepers, mechanics, merchants, &c., everywhere, to the exclusion of every other welching apparatus. weighing apparatus.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

IMPORTANT INVENTION.—For some five years past, Mr. D. M. Smyth, of Pennsylvanin, (now of this State) an ingenious and scientific mechanic, has concentratan ingenious and scientific mechanic, has concentrated his mind and means upon an invention at length perfectly successful, and for which letters patent have just been issued by the Government of the United States. This invention is known as "Smyth's Self-Acting Bent-Lever Platform Scale," and as this is the first public notice of this useful and valuable interprovement, we shall take the liberty of expressing ourselves freely upon its merits. The platform of the scale is about 12 by 18 inches, and the whole scale is about 8 inches high and weighs entire only about is about 8 inches high and weighs entire only about 25 pounds, while it has the extraordinary capacity of weighing any object from one ounce to four hundred pounds. Its form is compact and convenient, and is applicable to every purpose for which scales of any kind are required. Under the platform and attached to the leverage is suspended a weighted arm or pen-dulum. To this pendulum is attached an indicator, dulum. To this pendulum is attached an indicator, which, together with the pendulum, the instant any object is placed upon the platform moves from the centre of gravity to the point indicating the exact weight. The scientific principle upon which it acts admits of no inaccuracy or change, and a given pressure or weight upon the platform must always carry the weighted arm and indicator to the same point.

The principle beyond doubt is the correct one, and that it has been properly applied in this instance, the lucky inventor has left no room for doubt. He sective to have attained perfection itself—at least so far as Platform Scales are concerned, and to have combined Platform Scales are concerned, and to have combined in a remarkable degree an invariable scientific principle, "known of all men," with compactness, convenience, strength of form, durability and accuracy. But the great and important feature in this Scale is the fact that beyond all these merits it possesses the additional one of being cheap, and within the reach of every family.—Albany Ere. Jour., Jan. 28, 1856.

We have examined this new Platform Scale and concur in all that is said by the Journal! The principle is at once simple and beautiful, and ensures perfect accuracy, while the price will be three times

SAYTH'S PATENT PLATFORM SCALE -We have exan incil this new invention. Nothing can be simpler or more completely developed than the principle upon which its acts. The platform which sustains the on which its a pendulum, suspended and loaded at the end, through an arc of a circle; and the indicator points out, many the practions scales inc measure practically in the practical points of the practical loose weight on a beam, as on a steelyard, till it hits the precise point. Smyth's invention is a self-working one, and indicates at once, and to the minutest; fraction, the figure. By attaching the weight on the end of the pendulum, the scale becomes multiplied by fives or tens: by releasing the weight it gives ounces instead of pounds. For household purposes, it is as cheap and far better than steelyards; and is finding the way to all well propoletal birchous where finding the way to all well regulated kitchens where the receipt book, with its prescriptions of weights and proportions, is used.—Atlas and Argus.

SATTH'S PATENT PLATFORM SCALE. This new and valuable invention was on exhibition at our State Fair just closed. Nothing in its department received more attention or was more generally admired or ap-proved. This scale, possessing the extraordinary merits conceded to it at the East, cannot but be execedingly valuable, and must, we think, come into reneral use:

The Albany Krening Journal publishes the above, and adds: This scale (Smyth's) was also exhibited at the State Fair at Watertown, and not only received every attention given it in Ohio, but carried off the first and highest premium awarded—a diploins and allere model.—Cleveland (Ohio) Journal. SAVTU'S SELF ACTING BEST LEVER PLATFORM SCALE. The fundamental principle of every impor-tant invention has been very simple. In its simplici-ty is the elements of its worth, its usefulness and a-daptability. Inventions of conflicted movement curacy and durability must be combined cheapness. All of these desideratums are involved in the invention recently patented and known as "Smyth's Self-Acting Bent-Lever Platform Scales." The scale in question, from its construction on the principle of gravitation, is never liable to be out of order. It must
