Independent Republican.

46 Freedom and right against slavery and wrong."

C. F. READ & H. H. FRAZIER, EDITORS.

MONTROSE, THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1857.

H. H. FRAZIER, PUBLISHER-VOL. 8. NO. 29.

false issues and pretences. It has advanced

Poet's Corner.

THERE COMES A TIME.

There comes a time, or soon or late,
When every word unkindly spoken,
Returns with all the force of fate,
To bear reproof from spirits broken,
Who slumber in their tranquil rest,
Which waking cares no more molest. Oh! were the wealth of worlds our own,

We freely would the treasures yield, If eyes that here their last have shone. If lips, in endless silence sealed, One look of love o'er us might cast,

When anger arms the thoughtless tongue, To wound the feelings of a friend, Oh! think ere yet his heart be wrung. In what remorse thy wrath may end; Withhold to-day the words of hate, To-morrow it may be too late!

SONNET TO AN ANKLE.

This morning, wearied with the cares of State We strolled down Pennsylvania's avenue, Revolving mighty thoughts within our pate (Mourning the price of beef, 'twixt me and you,')
When of a sudden, right before our view,
A lady gently raised her boop, and there
'I saw an ankle past all-visions fair.
Twee such a pedestal as Hebe owns, At Savery's, whose charms, or pumpkin pie, Have won the poet Morford's serious eye; Sure such a gem cannot be made of bones Now oft from sleep in frenzied mood I start, That ankle's put its foot into my heart.

Original Article.

For the Independent Republican. SLAVERY'S ANTAGONISMS.

"Nature in all her subtle forces." These words occur in Mr. Sumner's last great and memorable argument in the United States Senate, for which he has so signally suffered the vengeance of the fell spirit of Slavery. The substance of the connection in which they are found, is, that "all the elementary forces of Nature, whether of matter or mind, militate against the system of human bondage." And every word of the sententions passage, it must be confessed, is replete with voluminous meaning. There is a volsume of force and meaning, a subtlety of operation, and a certainty of effect impossible to be fully estimated, existing in the outward form and expression of Nature, in her most internal and subtle economy, in the springs of human action, and the spontaneities of the human heart: reason, will, impulse, senti-ment, sensibility, operating directly and by every possible mode of indirection, assaulting, besieging, sapping, corroding, corrupting, incessantly working decay; and irresistibly tending to absolute and irretrievable dissolution. As in the corporeal & sle disease invades any member or at any point. all the energies of the vital economy are aroused to counteract and repel the destroyer, so, in the system of Nature, slavery is a condition so violent and unnatural that it arrays against it all the forces of the moral and material world. The inspiration of Naturethe spirit of the hills, the valleys, the woods, the waters, the birds, the flowers, the groves, the fountains, the fields, is a spirit of freedom -Nature in the enchantment of vernal bloom. aestival glories, and autumnal grace and bounty, sere and chastened—the conditiondream of imagination. It matters not how gentle, how benignant, is the influence; if it addresses itself strongly to the sentimental, the emotional nature, if it stirs the burning instincts of the soul; for, although "The flocks, the herds, the birds, the streams, the breezes, Attune the heart to niclody and love," they awaken inward questionings, of justice, destiny, futurity, retribution. And it is the peaceable," Whatever is artistic, estheticever is beneficent and inspiring, is essentially, necessarily anti-Slavery. So, too, Nature in her wilder aspects and grander operations. "There is a pleasure in the pathless woods;

There is a rapture on the lonely shore;

There is society where none intrudes, By the deep sea, and music in its roar."

"Music in its roar"-Yes, this grand mu sic of the elements finds ever an answering chord in the human breast, and especially with the untutored child of Nature, or the child of sorrow: he loves the wild music incorporated into the institutions of modern i up of the public mind. Europe, was born of the rocks and mountains, the waterfalls, the fountains and forests, the storms and tempests, of old Scythia,-These and such as these were the influences that formed the character of the men who length and breadth of the land, as are now haid ner institutions and fashioned her polity the orators of the Revolutionary times, sha-—the independent warriors who followed the ping the character of the youth who are to standards of Alaric, Attila, Clovis, Theodoric, and others. The history of Switzerland, too, world. And the well-read volumes of ser- and all the Southern Fathers, in its then mildis a striking illustration of the same principle. Free and independent Switzerland, which never yet bowed her neck under the been touched with a coal from off the altar of sistent with the principles upon which the yoke of the oppressor! Through the ages, freedom, will stand upon the book-shelves of Revolution proceeded and the Republic was the wild grandeur of her mountain situation thas beat with living effect the generous fame nia, and from Delaware to Oregon, firing the to come to an end; but a deplorable white trash," we should have some millions slavery would soon come to be regarded at dom. Nat Turner-didn't he draw his in- of Human Rights, and to thunder its denunspiration from all around him? didn't he read cistions against oppression. These influences cover the deep. And this immense power is on the side of freedom, and against slavery, which, and entirely, and necessarily, without division, subtraction, abatement, or deduction. The Muses refuse all fellowship with the demon of slavery. They have had have ever been enamored of the goddess of whatever he be called, is one of the forces of the globe. But his strength consists in this, A. Douglas have been squared under the line Who is it that tramples upon Kansas !-in the necessity that he be true to his inspiration—to be "holy soul of his Divide art," that is, to Neture, and of course he must be one of the figure of freedom. If he traitorizes here, if like ould attempt, he is shorn of the "lock of his strength." Like the wound

The grove. But his strength consists in this, and plummet of the impartial historian—

Can you divine? Who enacted the bogus political system, and to code, and who sustains it? And can you exhaust of southern so their laws and their law-makers? When the sidious, and hostile, and example, shall be among the influences legislators themselves are mere ruffians, what the constituency be? Southern so their laws and their law-makers? When the sidious, and hostile, and could a govern must the constituency be? Southern so their laws and their law-makers? When the sidious, and hostile, and could a govern must the constituency be? Southern so their laws and their law-makers? When the sidious, and hostile, and could a govern must the constituency be? Southern so their laws and their law ed Condor, he but beats the earth with disaascend the heavens. The inspiration of slavery is the inspiration of malediction—all that determine. I read that there is in it, or about it, of, to, into, or out ry effort, undertaken to sing the beauties and ty-four—an epoch long to be remembered losophy, the investigation of things with refrelations. It has for its object to explore the a vast territory was forever secured to free-ultimate principles of things; and, of course, dom and free labor. The bill was introduced in the nature of things, it must be the foe of and strenuously supported by Stephen A. slavery. When the veteran sage sits down Douglas, an unprincipled and reckless politiin the tranquillity of retreat, without pas- cian, upon a pretence, a mere cheat, common-to the benefit of slavery.

One of the Arabian Caliphs, the Mahomephilosophers of Athens and Rome enjoyed the blessings and asserted the rights of civil and religious freedom. Their moral and political writings might have gradually unlocked the fetters of Eastern despotism, diffused a liberal spirit of inquiry and toleration, and ever character-" No country was ever visitflourish like the spring "-and certainly none by the influences of slavery, that did not fade and wither like the autumn. "Wherever ed, her deeds have been heroic." And her actings and doings have ever been the favor-What was it that made Greece and Rome so gloriously and immeasurably superior to the other nations of antiquity; and what has made their story as familiar, wherever the knowledge of letters has existed, as nursery tales? It was because they enjoyed in a sued, the visible, and the related idea, the perior degree, though it were but partially, the benefits of freedom. And, in modern times, what is it that has made England, within her narrow insular limits, the seat of empire and the hive of commerce—the Arbiter of nations, and the Mistress of the waves !-At the commencement of the eighteenth century," says Macaulay, " every free constitution in Europe, save one, had gone down; that of England had weathered the danger and was riding in full security." Here is the dictate and the influence of Nature, as it is secret of her wealth, her dominion, and her the precept of revelation, "first pure, then renown. It is the freedom of her Constitution, imperfect as it is, vindicated again and whatever is softly, gently beauteous-what again against the efforts of tyrauts and usurpers, by the spirit and intelligence of her people, until it is now, undoubtedly, as Macaulay observes, "riding in full security." For every uprising, at least, every successful uprising, of the human mind against the at- and blasted human hopes. It is a constant tempts of oppression, always results in increased security—the rights of rulers and peo the "basest"—and I add emphatically of the ple are defined—the theory and practice of most violent—"passions of human nature." government is investigated, and comes to be It constantly tends to imbrute men, to prebetter understood-new safeguards are provided and permanent influences established. Such, to the English, with respect to their results and influences, in an especial manner which she "discourses"—the music of the were the revolutions of 1648 and 1688; and, driving tempest, the music of the roaring wa- with us, the Revolution of 76; and, with reterfall, the rolling thunder, and the rattling spect to the contest now waging among us We didn't need laberiously compiled volstorm. He dwelle in the midst of it, and it between freedom and slavery, scarcely less umes of evidence, by investigating commitfills his bosom with wild and stormy impal- important—more fundamental in its princises, unutterably adverse to the tame, craven ples—the abiding results will equally enure To reflecting men the source and the cause spirit of slavery, and which forever make to the benefit and establishment of freedom themselves felt in the positive constitutions and human rights, by the examples of nobleness and baseness, the splendid arguments rate only as the increased afflictions of the Fifty years hence, the manly and glowing eloquence of Sumner, and Seward, and others, will be declaimed from the "rostrum" in ten thousand school rooms, throughout the recklers appeals to prejudice and passion-But there is another mode in which these now the whole stock in trade of the bogus causes, in connection with others, have a far Democratic leaders—will be silent as the more important operation. It is in the infu- grave, known and read only of a few literary when the acts and the character of Stephen hideous applause.

celebrate the praises of slavery! Nor is a bill was introduced into the Senate for the the Genius of Philosophy less hostile-Phi- repeal of the Missouri Compromise, a timehonored and sacred guaranty, resting in the erence to their exact essences and their true solemn obligations of plighted faith, by which sion or prejudice, to speculate upon the eter-nal obligations of justice, the rights of nature ter Sovereignty'—the ostensible reason— and of man, and the philosophy of the social but really, doubtless, from very different mostate—sociology—his results can never enure tives. Though born and bred in the free States, and representing a free State constituency, Douglas had become an extensive tan tyrants of the East, was smitten with a Slave-owner, and the real motives undoubtcuriosity to become acquainted with Grecian | edly were a spirit of affiliation with the slaveand Roman Philosophy, and to introduce the holding interest, and the unchastened ambistudy of it in his dominions. But says the tion of attaining the Chief Magistracy. For, historian, "The influence of Truth and Reastrange as it may seem to us of the present States. By the recent sudden and unexpect-ed admission of California as a free State, neighbor-island to their own habitations. ed admission of California as a free State. encouraged the Arabian sages to suspect that this balance had been lost. A new State was whatever lives on from age to age, whether scale of freedom, and to restore the lost balof poetic invention, philosophic speculation, ance by securing it to the side of clavery, as or historic face goes to swell the tide that is a counterpoise to the newly admitted State setting toward universal freedom. The tes- of California. The bill was introduced withshe has spoken, her eloquence has been tri- called doughfaces, from their unlimited subwith indecent haste through both houses of Congress, in the face of probable consequenite and fruitful theme of the Muse of history. Sees at which every benevolent and patriotic doubt, at this distance of time, that the whole

bly render, and history will record, upon the sense of the community in which it exists, to simply the negation of strength. It is a mighty tences of quarrel, for the purpose of plunderblunt, and distort, and pervert all perceptions of the beautiful, the noble, and the true. Slavery was characterized by John Wesley as the "sum of all villainies;" and, in one word, this is doubtless the most just and perfect description of it that could be given.-There is not a moral precept, not one, of which it is not in direct derogation. But its predominant character is that of violence and robbery. It feeds upon crushed humanity, and riots in the spoils of human happiness school of depravity, or, as Jesserson has it, of pare them for deeds of darkness, cruelty, and blood. The fillibustering, duelling, "niggerburnings, nigger-hangings, nigger-mutilatings," and abolitionist-lynchings, so common at the South, are its legitimate fruits. And so are the disorders and atrocities in Kansas. tees, to understand whence they proceeded. are sufficiently palpable a priori. They don't and Slavery exists. The British Americans come of the emigrant-Aid societies; or at any Whatever of civil freedom was originally and thrilling appeals, and the general stirring | bondmen of Egypt came by the hand of Moses and Aaron; and no honest and intelligent man will pretend that they do.

"Vice is a monster of such frightful mien That to be hated needs but to be seen;

But, seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace." At the era of the Revolution, slavery was mons of those noble Divines, Beecher, Chee, er form, and with the prospect of a speedy ver, Storrs, Parker, Chapin, whose lips have extinction. It was felt to be grossly inconthousands of families, from Maine to Califor. founded, and was universally expected soon drivers, and a few millions of slaves and "poor cuse enormities—to keep up the claptrap ture is ever the inspirer of the spirit of free whole counsel of Scripture upon the subject cy that at the North it is regarded with far reproach of liberty's cause, would really be less aversion, and at the South is now openly, and generally, and zealously defended, brave "-a watchword of progress, a beacon the lessons of sedition in the fields, the brooks, will be immortal, while in a few brief years both on utilitarian and moral and religious to light the nations to freedom, happiness, the groves, the fountains, the woods? didn't all this Union-saving twaddle—the sophis—grounds, as a system of the highest practical and virtue. Such might reasonably be exthe zephyrs whisper to him, and didn't the tries missamed argument, and the base and utility, in which "one class directs, and the pected to be the results, to the free States, of storm proclaim?

the zephyrs whisper to him, and didn't the tries missamed argument, and the base and utility, in which "one class directs, and the pected to be the results, to the free States, of other labors," and as of indefeasible Divine a dissolution. But what would become of right. Nay, it justifies every enormity. To the Southern Confederacy, the slaveholding plant slavery in Central America, year after Republic! The permanency, stability, and year, a miserable misereant makes atrocious force of every government must always deence, the universal and all-pervading influence, men—historians, who will construct the authorizer, the literature of all ages, and philosophy, an incalculable force, which, like time by applying themselves to original the stone cut out of the mountain without sources of information, And then, too, shall feated, returning home from whole earth as the waters the work of retribution begin. The very men, which had been supported to the state of the state of the state of the country, upon helpless women and read only of a tew interacty war upon the peaceful and unoffending inhabitants of the country, upon helpless women and practically, it recognizes the doctrine of the time by applying themselves to original and children; and at length, haffled and destination, from a land term, all the men born within certain degrees. war upon the peaceful and unoffending inhab. pend upon the degree in which, theoretically a feud with him of old; he is an abomination ples of baseness and infamy, by the disgust ble manners—confessedly one of the foremost ural rights, you have alienated another class system, because it has grown covertly, by fill ponderous volumes. The consequences to them; they never sung the praises of the and hatred which they inspire, are among the statesmen and ripest scholars of the age—at of men, and they will be ready, at the first black god, and they never will; while they most efficient auxiliaries in the cause of truth his post in the Senate chamber, and for words opportunity, to resort to the standard of the and progress. We could almost as ill afford to spoken in debate—is stricken down with murspare the memory of Arnold from our history derous blows by a brutal and cowardly rufthe Naileds, the Nereids, and the whole celestial as that of Washington. They both evidently fian, and—the amazement of the civilized high shall be disfranchised, you have estranged so grossly, glaringly inconsistent, that it not too much, that there is a volume of force, sisterhood. The true poet, the poet born, he operate strongly in the same direction, tho' world—throughout the length and breadth of still another class; and, finally, if you say all could never have made progress or even subeach in a different manner. And thus, too, of the entire South, the deed is received with the men under five feet pine inches, you versal freedom. Born and reared under New less. But such is the feeling of blind devobled and broken pinions, without power to England influences, is it any slight treason of tion with which our Southern brethren have ascend the heavens. The inspiration of slave- which he has been guilty? The future will come to regard this "sum of all villanies." It etermine. I read that—

"On the twenty-third day of January, in the end of all perfection in the social organiof, it. Only think of a poem, a great litera- the year one thousand eight hundred and fif- zation. They devote themselves to the black of dissolution and reconstruction were over, of Nature fixed eternal distinctions between right and wrong? Has he made physical conditions, material prosperity, in any degree to depend on the moral status of the community? And can a system which thus confounds all moral distinctions, nay, which transmutes vice in its most odious forms into virtue, truth into falsehood, purit into corruption, and vice versa,—can it sl aist? And, besides, it is said, "they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." Violence begets violence. Southern cities already begin to require detachments of the Regular Army stationed near them, "to protect them from a portion of their own population."-Are not the States upon the Gulf as liable to son is of an unambiguous character. The day, at that time slavery controlled the Re- be "Africanized," by and by, as Cuba is, or public-the Federal Government and all its as St. Domingo was? "Africanized!" It offices and honors. It had long been the set- is a word of their own coining, and what does

I advert to one other consideration, and slavery were divided off from each other, and past has doubtless been greatly due to the lakes, oceans, rocks, hills, valleys, glens, caviruling policy of the government. "Oh Temtwo separate independent confederacies were weight of the free and potent North in the scale erns, mountains, winds, clouds, hail, snow, pora! Oh Mores!" and what occasion had mind must have revolted. There can be no formed, what would be the consequence?— of Nations. But, once out of the Union, if thunder, lightning, storms, tempests, Nature, the Roman Orator to exclaim, in comparison doubt, at this distance of time, that the whole "No country has ever been visited by the intransaction, on the part of its originators and fluences of Liberty, that has not flourished its leading advocates, was a most wicked and like the Spring;" and of course our Northern upon Mexico, a voice would perhaps come its grandeur and sublimity, in all its wildness timent, this moral torpor, this debasing conper and flourish, in time to come, as we have whimpering of Mexico, or Spain-" hands life, through all the vessels of the body politic. doom-smitten dominion of thirty millions of should have the prospect of an invaluable acquisition to our population and resources, up-on the North. The proposition has already ceived with some degree of favor, to abandon their North American possessions to their destiny; and, at any rate, they must soon become free and independent States: in which -such is their settled anti-slavery sentiment ground for slave-catchers. And, besides, it change the tune and pitch it to the key of has already become the settled policy of the "Squatter Sovereignty," then the doughfaces South to keep them out of the Union, for the all throw up their hats, clap their hands, and reason that their accession would at once and shout, "Squatter Sovereignty." And so on, forever establish an overwhelming preponder- as often as the changes are rung southward. ance against her. The existing mismamed re- But slavery out of the Union, and no longer ciprocity treaty recently negotiated under able to make and unmake Presidents, cabipro-slavery suspices, was evidently framed net and foreign Ministers, Judges, collectors, with a direct view to prevent any annexation Postmasters, and the whole army of officials feeling springing up in the provinces. But for the whole country, the scene would change this impediment of slavery removed, and Can-directly. All this pro-slavery twaddle would ada would come to us as naturally as the cease, from the moment the Union were dismountain rill comes to the ocean; and, instead solved. There being no longer any one inof a few hundreds of thousands dissolute slave | terested to whitewash the sepulchre and ex-foreign or domestic enemies of the State. Again, if you say all the men over six feet especially under a Republican government, have embittered a fourth class, and you infatuation in its champions to precipitate have just three inches left as the basis of your | this contest by the repeal of the Compromise.

political system, and this is broader than the basis of Southern society to-day, and still narrowing, while all beside is antagonistic, ingenerous natures. They can't understand And, could a government impugued by so many external and internal forces, stand, don't know that they are "poor, and misera-ble, and wretched, and blind, and naked," upon such a basis? The Richmond Enquirer asks, "Could the South maintain herself?" tion with which our Southern brethren have come to regard this "sum of all villanies." It is with them the institution of institutions— is with them the institution of institutions— the end of all perfection in the social organitation. They devote themselves to the black harlot, ugly to ghastliness as the figrim and hargard, and call her a goddess, radiant with celestial beauty. And can a comministy in spiral part of the subject race, races rather and novelty of dissolution and reconstruction were over, they would be falling to pieces and coming back to us, State by State, as Texas came to us fashionable and popular to tell the truth as it is now to disguise it. Locally and temporary causes ancient aristocracy of France, as the account races of the constantly increasing upon the strength is constantly increasing upon the strength which such monstrous perversities exist, flourish? Can it hold together? Has the Author They would come voluntarily, but they wo'd may continue to produce their effect. But to be settled will be immeasurably more black come understanding this one thing, that they the leaven already works powerfully in and damning. I peer darkly, painfully into the come not because we couldn't do without other countries. During the civil war in bosom of the future: there is a frightful and come not because we couldn't do without other countries. During the civil war in them, but because they couldn't do without Kausas, last season, foreign travelers were lurid glare of conflagration, ravishing, blood, us. They would come purged of the evil upon that blood-stained soil, and the story of carnage, and devastation, dim indeed in its which now makes them, or soon will make the outrages and atrocities there committed, outline, but unmistakable in substantial fact. which now makes them, or soon will make the outrages and atrocities there committed, them, a dead weight upon the nation. Dis. was faithfully and truthfully told by the Eusolution would undoubtedly be the surest ropean press, more highly colored even than and speedjest means of exterminating slave the "Black Republican lies." In particular, ry, and of ultimately uniting the whole North it is well known that an eminent, English American Continent in one great and glorious confederacy of free States. The Union is the support of Slavery. Without it slavery could not subsist, and Southern statesmen and indeed, to a considerable extent, of continent of England, and indeed, to a considerable extent, of continent of England, and what will be the depth of that know it. There will be no dissolution, except as a dissolution, perhaps, of society from its rotted bands, in some of the Southern States; or, at any rate, such a measure will never proceed from the South. Southern within our borders, and in Canada and other certain whether the independence of the Colpoliticians will doubtless do all they can by countries, by the troops of fugitives from the onics could be maintained, and, if maintained, tled policy of the South to preserve the numerical balance of the free and the slave States. By the recent sudden and unexpect- and amission of California o never, never, never, unless given up to trust it will not be many ages before the acy of the prejudices of education, at least "strong delusion." It would be the wildest principles of international law, an enlightened some little extenuation may be found. But their caliph was a tyrant and their prophet soon to be formed out of territory included but one, for I only seek to present a few infatuation in them. The threat, as has been an impostor. The instinct of superstition under the guaranty; and the design was—inwas alarmed by the introduction of even the spired undoubtedly by the fear of losing the abstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences "—and of course equally the control of the Government—the design eviabstract sciences the introduction of the threat of the man upon the tace of the earth not duly control to the course to thoughts out of an inexhaustible subject. It town's poor to separate from the town; and if there were really any serious danger, it betract sciences"—and of course equally the network the already preponderating. Whatever the past bequeaths to the future, fractives on from age to age, whether poetic invention, philosophic speculation, r historic face, goes to swell the tide that is etting toward universal freedom. The tesmony of history, the ten thousand living.

Spired unuouotedly by the lear of losing the control of the Government—the design evidence averaged by every body out if there were really any serious danger, it of the community in which slavery is regarded by every body out if there were really any serious danger, it of the community in which it exists, and its immumicate influence. It is a condition so vident the past bequeaths to the future, for foredom's morning.

Thus we may observe, from a few suggestion, the universal aversion, with lowers poor to separate from the town; and there were really any serious danger, it there were really any serious danger. The stars in the fature, of the community in which is accountered to the future, of the community in which is accountered by every dod out if there were really any serious danger, it there were for man to star any of the community in which is accountered to the future, of the deliberatory, and the foredom's morning.

Thus we may observe, from a few suggestion, the universal aversion, with if there were really any serious danger, it then were for dead on the fature, of the counter are at were the fature, of the counter are at war then the fature, of the counter are at ware the fature, of the fature, of the fature, of the counter are at thrilling memories of former times, of what the country, and—there is reason to believe to make a remark upon that great humbug soon write "Ichabod" upon them and their some wildered fugitive to the land of British Fathers rose in rebellion to repel. I tremble ever character—"No country was ever visited by the influences of liberty, that did not free States; and, by the complicity of a cormany silly people have been frightened, and that his justice will not always. rupt executive and executive influence un spar- out of which so much political capital has been find themselves embarrassed with new diffi- tred of the system; while every ray of light slumber." Freethinking Jefferson, and this, ingly used with a numerous and despicable made. Suppose the Union were dissolved— culties, from without as well as within: their that darks, seems to illuminate its horrors, too, be it remembered, long before the interschool of politicians of those times, popularly it is indeed an event of very slight intrinsic called doughfaces, from their unlimited sub- probability, hardly of moral possibility—but Diplomacy of the nations would gather them drop, every falling raindrop, every ascending had become fushionable, or it was event. umphant and sublime; wherever she has act- serviency to the slaveholding interest, carried suppose that it were actually dissolved. Sup- in a net, and put a period to their fillibustering vapor, fields, landscapes, trees, groves, for- ed that slavery was to overspread the virgin pose that, to-day, the area of freedom and operations at once. Their impunity in the ests, birds, beasts, rills, rivers, cascades, > criminal conspiracy against freedom and free Confederacy, under these influences, might to them, "Hands off, gentlemen," of very and seeming disorder, and in all its more reasonably be expected to continue to prose different volume and emphasis from the apparent heauty, and harmony, and light, and done in time past, only more gloriously, for off; if you covet the house and garden of our "All the elementary forces of Nature, excharacter and conduct of these men; and the we should be rid of the incubus of slavery. __, aister of the peninsula, and you can obtain it by ultations and agonies, and man's immortal lesson will be one of great practical utility.

>
> But of all the tauses that counterwork the institution of slavery, the most pervading and weight upon the nation. It is not merely the we think it right to see fair play in this matpotential is its tendency to debase the moral clay of Nebuchadnezzar's image, for that was | ter: you mustn't seek any unjustifiable pre- cians exulted in their freedom, and "when sore, corrupting the health and vigor of the ing her as you did Mexico"—and doubtless its foundations, came pouring like a mighty dured in any department of the government whole body—a decaying, dying member, in the fillibusters would be stricken with a great which loathsome moral diseases rankle and sense of justice and humanity straightway. which loathsome moral diseases rankle and sense of justice and humanity straightway. sons were united at Marathon, and the tide The brooding influence of slavery, like a fester, and send their deadly virus to circulate It would be curious, too, to observe the of her triumph rolled back upon the Helles-cloud, rests over and darkens the American revolution of public sentiment which would pont." Freemen everywhere exult, and their mind. Oh, for some moral Scipio to rally It may well be questioned whether a libertyloving, labor-honoring, God-fearing Republic > of twenty millions of freemen, is not more desirable and more effective, nationally, for all > the purposes of defense and of offiense, than a
>
> revolution of public sentiment which would > for fifty jubilant shouts ring ominously through the broken forces of our moral power, and > dark house of bondage." "Exultations and > wage exterminating war on these defilers of > their country's fame; these maggots that
> the purposes of defense and of offiense, than a
>
> Our public men, if they were ambitious of and their pure, glowing blood baptized her
>
> Treemen every where extut, and their > jubilant shouts ring ominously through the > broken forces of our moral power, and > wage exterminating war on these defilers of
> their country's fame; these maggots that > bond forces of our moral power, and > wage exterminating war on these defilers of
> their country's fame; these maggots that
> the purposes of defense and of offices, than a office and distinction, have been compelled soil unto freedom forevermore; for the dark. Do you say that "all this is simply the raw aristocrats, crackers, sand-hillers, and slaves. to win their way by pandering to the South. ness of the present shall ere long be with ing of a fanatic?" And was Jefferson then And, besides, in the event of a dissolution, we No man can hope to rise to any eminent policy from the ancient glory stricken through; a "fanatic?" was Washington a "fanatic?" sition in the Government, or even attain any and her inspiration lives in the past, the Adams, and Henry, and Hancock? small situation of profit, who is not sound on all slavery questions, according to Southern Martyrs and Confessors have been the seed views of them; who is not entirely devoted of truth and virtue and freedom in all ages; to the interests of the institution, whatever and the agonies of countless victims that ex- love freedom, and hate slavery? Go, trace may betide. If any public man exhibit the pire untimely under the unjust and cruel the footsteps—the blood-stained trail fof the least independence here, he is a marked man; rigors of the system and by its lawfes vio- Continental Army of "fanatica" over the froand of course all our doughface politicians lences, in this age of railroads, steam presses | zen earth. Compute the cost of the Revoluevent, they would at once undoubtedly coslesses with us of the North if we were entirely separated from the responsibility, the recan never be while the present Union lasts > and of course all our doughtace politicians | lences, in this age of railroads, steam presses | zen earth. Compute the cost of the Revolutions |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this |
> make it a primary object to conciliate this | > make it a primary ob promise measures and finality," then the as with a sunbeam in the whole volume of cally" ejaculating, with his expling breath, -will never, and they say they will never, doughtaces all cry, "compromise measures human nature, and can never be erased or "Save my country! save my country!" consent to make their provinces a hunting and finality." If the Southern Dictators obscured by mortal power." Slavery is out of harmony with nature. about degrees of latitude, " laws of climate."

> > unlimited power over the subject in the territories and all its incidents; and that by all means it should be exercised without delay, "What makes all doctrines plain and clear?

About two hundred pounds a year. And what was made quite plain before, Grow dark again? Two hundred more."

ously and cumingly concocted schemes. - ception? True, by artfully availing itself of the balance of interests and the basest passions of unprin- but time will convict these men of a delibercipled politicians, it has seemed to flourish ate and deadly design upon American free-under our system, for a time; but the more dom, and history will blast them forever, you extend it the more you increase its fragbility, and the more you pack it the more is on their memory as time recedes, they will its utter rottenness apparent. You may finally stand forth matchless in the glory of multiply safeguards, checks, and balances; infamy, the habitation of their fame, a . Land in the bosoms of her hardy pessantry. And hearts of coming generations: not the least thus is it everywhere, and at all times, in a read among them will be the sermons in ination, the interstate slave trade, has sprung greater or less degree. The society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which they have not shunned to declare the original and the society of Na-which the of honest, industrious, and intelligent freemen, the North with the just feeling of abborrence you may build enclosures and pile fortifics- of darkness, as darkness itself, where the er countries. The public sentiment would to topple down at any moment, for the forces "the home of the free, and the land of the brave"—a watchword of progress, a beacon to light the nations to freedom, happiness, and virtue. Such might reasonably be expected in a contrarywise direction, and traverse, in a few years, the whole space to light the nations to freedom, happiness, and virtue. Such might reasonably be expected in a contrarywise direction, and the world is the valley of the world is the valley of the terraquious globe. A sense of weakness of the globe. The globe. The largest lake in the world in the world is the valley of the contains 500,000 square the terraquious globe. A sense of weakness of the globe. The globe. The globe. The globe. The globe. The globe. The globe is the valley of the world is the valley of the contains 500,000 square the terraquious globe. A sense of weakness of the globe. The globe. The globe. The globe. The globe is the valley in the world is the valley of the contains to freedom, happiness, and virtue. Such might reasonably be expected in a contrary wise direction, and the world is the valley in the world i doughfaces, especially, would get new light champions themselves. There is apparently is Lake Superior, 450 miles in length. The right away. They would see at once that upon their minds a constant restlessness and greatest natural bridge in the world is that right away. They would see at once that upon their minds a constant restlessness and the Constitution is decidedly and clearly an apprehension, and hence their impatience of over Cedar Creek, Virginia, which extends anti-slavery document; that it gives Congress contradiction and their transibility, so unbe- across a chasm 80 feet wide and 250 feet coming the dignified placidity of statesmen and deep, at the bottom of which a creek flows. philosophers. They lose all temper upon the slightest provocations; the ghost of abolition-ism throws them into peroxysms of hydro-decidedly clever and cool: "The editor has phobian rage. Is this the character and the gone up the river for a few days. All good conduct of men conscious to themselves of articles, facetious remarks, puns and typoof giant wrongs overtake their perpetrators because it has advanced stealthily and insid- and abettors, and return upon them in ten iously. It is in itself such an enormity, and thousand ways and forms, which no human prudence could foresee or prevent. I said effect, impossible to be estimated. Slavery sisted in any other way; and it was a strange is doomed to extinction. Peacefully or forcefully, it must die. Voluntarily, by gradual emancipation, if its supporters will see the danger that impende—it, wisely and timely, they will heed the voice of warning; or by dire and sanguinary catastrophe, if they will not. The alternative as yet remains, as yet generous natures. They can't understand the feeling with which slavery is naturally regarded by communities which have never not. The alternative as yet remains, as yet been exposed to its demoralization. They the bow of peace and promise rests upon the been exposed to its demoralization. They gathering storm-cloud. But the basis is congathering at the one side, and the tinually narrowing on the one side, and the

The men who are endeavoring to subject this continent to the dominion of slavery by violence and deceit, by the grossest perversions of history, of the Constitution, and of tinental Europe. The whole dark tale of infamy? Arnold was born and reared unand liberal publicism, will secure to every man upon the face of the earth not duly convicted of crime, at least his personal liberty.

tagious, benumbing influence of slavery, these men would to-day be branded and despised as the blackest of traitors. If we could but bring public sentiment upon this subject half up to the standard of the Revolutionary era, would not be tolerated for another six months; the whole Eastern world, as if loosened from and these doughface politicians would be en-territories of the Republic and become the "Great Scipio's ghost complains that we are slow And Pompey's shade walks mavenged among us!" Slavery is out of harmony with nature, notwithstanding all the disgustful claptrap, had proved true to the hopes and promises about degrees of latitude, "laws of climate," of our early "fanatic" morning, whether free-and "isothermal lines"—out of harmony with dom's Millenium might not ere this have dawnuniversal Nature, discordant, and jarring with ed over Europe, and then say, are not these all her economy, and hence constantly liable the words of truth and soberness, or, rather, to be baffled and defeated in its most labories is it possible to exaggerate in word or con-

The doughfaces may blather for a while;

"THE GREAT UNITED STATES,"-The large