From the Atlantic Monthly. THE WIND AND STREAM. A brook came steeling from the ground; You scarcely saw its silvery gleam

Among the herbs that hung around

The borders of that winding stream,—

秦基九司至山海

A pretty stream, a placid stream, A breeze came wandering from the sky, Light as the whispers of a dream; He put the o'erhanging grasses by,
And gayly stooped to kiss the stream,—
The pretty stream, the flattered stream,
The shy, yet unreluctant stream.

The water, as the wind passed o'er. Shot upward many a glancing beam, Dimpled and quivered more and more, And tripped along a livelier stream,—
The flattered stream, the simpering stream,
The fond, delighted, silly stream.

Away the airy wanderer flew
To where the fields with blossoms teem, To sparkling springs and rivers blue, And left alone that little stream,— The flattered stream, the cheated stream, The sad, forsaken, lonely stream.

That careless wind no more came back; He wanders yet the fields, I deem; But on its melancholy track Complaining went that little stream,—
The cheated stream, the hopeless stream,
The ever murmuring, mosning stream. For the Independent Republican.

Shadow and Light. Darkness enveloped Creation. Earth hung self-balanced in the mighty Chaos. An intense gloom brooded over all things. Yet even then the Spirit of the Holy One was moving to and fro upon the waters. Wasted over the turbid waves, a still, small voice rang through all Chaos with a soft clear echo -"Let there be light;" and the dark unfathomable shadow that had so long lingered

Gradually the day waned. The shadows of night stole over the waves, although scarcely perceived was their approach, so softly and silently they enveloped Earth in their dark mantle. The flowers folded their tiny leaves and slept, while in their dreams floated visions of resplendent light. Perfect peace rested over earth, and through the air echoed the song of the celestial choirs as they chanted praises to "God on High." Nature slept calmly until the returning morn should waken her from her fairy slumbers. The order then established by divinity has ever thus continued; shade and light alternating and intermingling; one columning the beauty of the other-the shadow giving outline to the light.

. And as in the natural, so in the spiritual world. There is darkness until the Divine Spirit moves upon the soul, and the "still small voice" says "Let there be Light."-And all along the narrow pathway the shadow "creeps, and creeps, and is ever looking pay, he can ell more goods and make more money, at one half the usual profit put upon country goods, over the shoulder of the sunshine." Does the tempest threaten our sea of life? List to His voice who says, "Peace, be still: and that peace is not such as the world giveth. Do trials and temptations almost overwhelm us? Do we near the shore of the returnless river? There are footprints in the sand, of those gone over, and our attent ears catch an echo of the song we shall sing, up there. As the waters ripple nearer and nearer, we may catch a glimpse of the pearly gates ajar, of the Palace of God.

OVERHEAD PIPE IN THE SCHOOL-ROOM .-It is common in school-houses to use considerable overhead pipe from the stove, to increase the means for the radiation of heat. But in my opinion, heat thrown out over-head, is of no advantage in making a room comfortable, and does much injury to the health, producing a dull, irritable feeling of the head, successive returns of sick headache, loss of appetite for food, and a gradual decline of strength of body and vigor of mind. The sympathy between head and stomach is such, that very few persons can be any length of time where heat is radiated directly upon the head, without the digestive organs being affected, and especially such as are pre-disposed to a dyspeptic habit. The feet may be kept warm, but the head must be cool, to enjoy health of body and vigor of mind. It is not uncommon for teachers and scholars to complain that their school labors wear upon health; but it is not the study and teach ing that impair it; rather these, properly conducted in a well regulated from as to heating and ventilation, may become auxiliaries to preserve health.

In my own school-room, the long reach of horizontal pipe overhead, I have had taken down and placed a short distance above the floor extending from the floor to the perpendicular that goes up to the chimney. It has proved to addimuch to the comfort of the room: the oppressiveness that was before felt from the heated air is now done away. Every school-room should be freed from overhead stove pipe, except what is required to reach vertically to the chimney .- A Teacher, in Scientific American.

Self-Acting Bent-Lever PURCHASE

THIS INVENTION claims superiority over ever Lother, in the following respects: In the invaria-ble scientific principle involved, and upon which it acts; in its undeviating accuracy; in its lightness and strength; in its wonderful capacity, convenience of form, and applicability to every purpose for which Scales of any kind are required; in its perfect sim-plicity, in the absence of any complication liable to variation, or to get out of order; and, finally, in the important fact, that this scale can be afforded at about one third the cost of any other Platform Scale, of like capacity and accuracy in use. And possessing in an eminent degree, all these merits, this Invention is conceded to be one of the most useful and valuable ever brought before the public. And coming, as it does, within the reach of all, it cannot but find an unprecedented sale and undivided market among farmers, housekeepers, mechanics, merchants &c. everywhere, to the exclusion of every other weighing apparatus.

The invention of the Scales and the many invalua ble improvements which we have made within the past few months, have brought them to such a de-gree of accuracy, that they may be safely relied upm in every transaction of weight.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

IMPORTANT INVENTION.-For some five years past Mr. D. M. Smyth, of Pennsylvania, (now of this State) an ingenious and scientific mechanic, has concentrated his mind and means upon an invention at length perfectly successful, and for which letters patent have first been issued by the Government of the United States. This invention is known as "Smyth's Self-Acting Bent-Lever Platform Scale," and as this is the first public notice of this useful and valuable improvement, we shall take the liberty of expressing ourselves freely upon its merits. The platform of the scale is about 12 by 18 inches, and the whole scale is about 8 inches high and weighs entire only about 25 pounds, while it has the extraordinary capacity o weighing any object from one ounce to four hundred pounds. Its form is compact and convenient, and is applicable to every purpose for which scales of any kind are required. Under the platform and attached to the leverage is suspended a weighted arm or pen dulum. To this pendulum is attached an indicator which, together with the pendulum, the instant any object is placed upon the platform moves from its centre of gravity to the point indicating the exact weight. The scientific principle upon which it acts admits of no inaccuracy or change, and a given pressure or weight upon the platform must always carry the weighted arm and indicator to the same point. The principle beyond doubt is the correct one, and that it has been properly applied in this instance, the lucky inventor has left no room for doubt. He seems to have attained perfection itself-at least so far a to have attained perfection itself—at least so far as Platforn. Scales are concerned, and to have combined in a remarkable degree an invariable scientific principle, "known of all men," with compactness, convenience, strength of form, durability and accuracy. But the great and important feature in this Scale is the fact that beyond all these merits it possesses the additional one of being cheap, and within the reach of every family.—Albany Ecc. Jour., Jan. 28, 1856.

We have examined this new Platform Scale and concur in all that is said by the Journal. The principle is at once simple and beautiful, and ensures perfect accuracy, while the price will be three times Harford, Susquehanna County, Pa. less than of the scales now used .- Albany Express.

SMITH'S PATENT PLATFORM SCALE.-We have exaudited this new invention. Nothing can be simpler or more completely developed than the principle upon which its acts. The platform which sustains the weight lifts a pendulup, suspended and loaded at the end, through an arc of a circle; and the indicator points out, upon the graduated circumference, the exact weight. In other platform scales the measure of avoirdupois has to be ascertained by moving a loose weight on a beam, as on a steelyard, till it hits the precise point. Smyth's invention is a self-working one, and indicates at once, and to the minutest fraction, the figure. By attaching the weight on the end of the pendulum, the scale becomes multiplied by fives or tens; by releasing the weight it gives ounces instead of pounds. For household purposes, t is as cheap and far better than steelyards; and is finding the way to all well regulated kitchens where the receipt book, with its prescriptions of weights and proportions, is used.—Atlas and Argus.

A New Ipra-If anybody doubts that this is an inrentive age, they should call and examine Smyth's Self-Acting Bent-Lever Platform Scales. For simplicity of design, and economy of space, they take precedence of any scales that have yet been invented .-There is one peculiarity about this scale; it possesses very little machinery, and can never make a mistake so long as the laws of gravitation continue Smyth's scale has another advantage—its small cost.
—Kuickerbocker.

SMITH'S PATENT PLATFORM SCALE .- This new and valuable invention was on exhibition at our State Fair just closed. Nothing in its department received ccedingly valuable, and must, we think, come into

The Albany Evening Journal publishes the above, and adds: This scale (Smyth's) was also exhibited at every attention given it in Ohio, but carried off the first and highest premium awarded—a diploma, and silver medal.—Cleveland (Ohio) Journal.

"SMTTH'S SELF-ACTING BENT-LEVER PLATFORM SCALE."—The fundamental principle of every impor-tant invention has been very simple. In its simplici r is the elements of its worth, its usefulness and adaptability. Inventions of complicated movement and visionary theories have never performed the obect sought to be obtained, for with adaptability, accuracy and durability must be combined cheapness. All of these desideratums are involved in the inven tion recently patented and known as "Smyth's Self-Acting Bent-Lever Platform Scales." The scale in question, from its construction on the principle of gravitation, is never liable to be out of order, It must perform its work thoroughly, because the laws of na-ture govern it. In size the scale is a pigmy, but for street, South of Searle's Hotel, — with the largest and capacity it is wonderful, weighing any object from best assortment of Goods ever brought into this marone one ounce up to four hundred pounds. It can be regulated by any one who looks at it but for a moment As their cost is but a triffe, they will speedily be as indispensably necessary in the household calendar as any other useful article of daily use.—Eve. Transcript.

IMPORTANT AND VALUABLE INVENTION .- Among others, we have been favored with an examination of the new and valuable invention (recently patent ed,) known as Smyth's Self-Acting Bent-Lever Plat form Scale," Mr. D. M. Smyth, the ingenious in ventor, has spent some five years in the perfection of his work, and that he has attained perfection there seems but little doubt. This scale is constructed upon a scientific principle which knows no variation or change, and hence its accuracy is beyond question. Its capacity and strength is unprecedent ed, while its form and the principle involved make NOTICE.

PUBLIC notice is hereby given that S.A. WOODRUFF is receiving a new lot of Stoves and Wares of all kinds usually kept in the Stove and Tinware line of business, among which may be found

Wares of all kinds usually kept in the Stove and Tinware line of business, among which may be found other platform scale of like capacity and accuracy the world. The scale we have seen (a sort of pocket edition as compared with other platform scales,) has the wonderful capacity of weighing any object, from one ounce up to four hundred pounds. Possessing the extraordinary merits and advantages conserving the contract of the contract o ceded to this invention, it cannot but be exceedingly valuable, and the scales made under it, brought as they will be, within the reach of every family, must meet with an unprecedented sale, and come into im nediate and general use, as well to the benefit of the public, as to those so fortunate as to secure the exclusive right of manufacturing and vending them .-

Petrast House, Satannan, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

Honord Sin: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the salvice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Markenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them I am now entirely well.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized contry on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is most powerful antifote yet known to man for the formulable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and catest remedy that can be employed for in fants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that "leads upon them unprepared We have abundant grounds to believe the Chinar Pacrosal saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those is cures.
