The first number will appear December 5, 1857; and neither pains or expense will be spared to ren der t a Family Newspaper of the First Class.
Great care will also be taken to admit into its columis no matter which the most careful parent would wish to exclude from the knowledge of his fan the same time, its readers will be Reptivell informed on the Leading Topics of the Day, whether of do mestic or foreign origin, and its arrangements in all the departments of newspaper enterprise, are of the most efficient character. Its Private Correspondence from the principal European cities gives the most authentic accounts of all events of interest tranpiring abroad; and its well arranged facilities for obtaining early information from every point of our own widely extended continent, are believed to be at own widely extended continent, are believed to be at least equal to those of any other newtpaper in the Union. The City Department of the paper includes reports of all interesting occurrences in the great metropolis of the State, and its adjacent cities; excluding only such portions of the criminal records as cannot be made public except at the risk of injury to the cause of morality and virtue. While the chief object is to furnish a reliable record of current events, it is also intended to be, in a measure, a reflex of the literature of the day. With that view, its Notices of Books will include early and discriminating reviews of all the most valuable books issued from the press. To give greater variety to the literary department ey Tales and Poetry of the highest merit will be weekly introduced. Tales will from time to time appear in its columns from Dickess, Mss. Trollore,

CHARLES READE, and most of the distinguished writers of the age, which will be suitably illustrated. Scientific intelligence is gathered and arranged be competent hand; new inventions and duly chronic cted; the progress of agriculture is noted; mention is made of all matters of interest in the history of mufactures and commerce; and no effort is spared any department to keep the paper up to the spirit the times. Established August, 4. 1821. THE PAPER THAT NEVER SUSPENDS. A Family Weekly—Devoted to Literature and the News.

I N these times of Bank suspensions and Mercantile suspensions, the proprietors of the Saturday Evening Post call the attention of the reading public to their old and firmly-established weekly paper, as the paper that never auspends. For over THIRTY-SIX YEARS

The Post has been published; and in all that period through "good times" and through "bad times," through bank inflations & bank contractions, through prosperous scaled and through panies, the Post has been regularly issued every week, and forwarded to its thousands of subscribers. Its proprietors therefore point to the past as an unfailing index for the future And they feel that in asking of the reading public a continuance of the patronage heretofore so liberally bestowed upon the Post, they are asking no more than what it will be both the inerest and the pleasure of that public to grant.

CUGAR, Molasses, Rice, Coffee, Teas, and all kinds THE PAPER FOR YOUR FAMILY. MORRIS & WILLIS'S HOME JOURNAL for 1858.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT $2,00 A YEAR. THE HOME JOURNAL has become universal.—
There are few families of cultivated habits—(few of those who seek to enliven and make home the most intelligent and attractive place)—who do not now receive it. It is read, we believe, wherever run the gold threads of domestic happiness and true moral refinement, which are woven so thickly into the stronger and coarser web of our country's industry and energetic prosperity. The Home Journal is the speaker to the hearts of this busy nation, in the hours given to happiness and relaxation.

the speaker to the hearts of this busy nation, in the hours given to happiness and relaxation.

The first number of the new series will be issued on the first of January next. New subscribers can be supplied from that date; but immediate application will be necessary for such as desire to begin at the beginning. A home is hardly complete, we think we may safely venture to say, without the Home Journal, which, besides being a chrenicle of the times, abounds in intelligence designed to enliven an American Home. Its editors (Ggo. P. Morans and N. P. WILLIS) devote their entire time, skill and experience, to the task of giving, each week, everything perience, to the task of giving, each week, everything worth knowing. They particularly keep an eye on all the whims and novelties of the day. The utmost pains are taken to present the facts and outlines of all news. In the literary department, we aim at sketches and readable criticism, and in our condensations of the productions of the vast, newspaper was the formula of the vast, newspaper. world of Europe, we endeavor to avoid the tiresome and the local, and transfer to our columns the pick of English information and brilliancy, while we endeav-or to select with a true sense of pure morals, true or to select with a true sense of fure morals, true wit, and genuine humor.

The new feature for the coming year is one that we have long thought of presenting to our readers—the Cornessonnence of four very viillant vomen who send us regularly the Gossir of the Gay World.—We have grudged exceedingly the keeping of these most readable matters to ourselves—feeling certain that it gas precisely the Society gossip which our subscribers required as effervescence to the otherwise brimming cup—and, with some difficulty, we have obtained the consent of our fair correspondents. It was only on one condition, however—the inegonity, for each, should be strictly preserved. We agreed to this; but, as it was important to distinguish between their several Letters, we rentured to suggest nomic de planne, such as we thought would be somewhat descriptive of their several veins of humor. The four ladies will therefore be introduced to the readers of the next volume of the Home Journal, as Mrs. Jaronica Jones, Mrs. Anelia Rayren, Miss Lotsa Nuyfin, Miss Justella Surmonte. And from these—the four most brilliant persons of our clay sequain—the four most brilliant persons of our clay sequain—the clay required to the charming a latters will be duly forthcoming. NUFFIN, Miss JUSTELLA SUNDOIE. And from these—the four most brilliant persons of our city acquaintance—the charming Letters will be duly forthcoming. Every one knows how a tea-table or evening circle is enlivened, by the coming in of an intelligent man, who knows all the new ideas affoat, and tells them, briefly; and gayly, and off-hand, in the way of ordinary conversation. Such a person gives you the substance of the daily papers, in three or four sentences—tells you the plan and moral of a new book in a dozen words—gives the essence of a sermion, the core of a public speech, the key to a public charmeter, the spirit of an article in a review, the novelry in fashion, the last turn in politics—all briefly, and all without detail or flummery—leaving it with you, as material for your own discussion and gozaip. This is just what we propose to do for the Home Journal for 1858. We mean to jot down, for our readers in the fewest words possible, every new idea that falls ior. 1858. We mean to jot down, for our readers in the fewest words possible, every new idea that falla in our way. As we read, as people drop in and talk, as we look about in our walks, we shall be on the look out for ideas and novelties—giving them in the briefest shape. Cormerly, we used to lay such mean oranda aside, to write about if we should find time—now, we shall give them to our readers, no biscuss. now, we shall give them to our readers, to Discuss Themselves. In this way, the subscriber table Home Journal will stand a chance to get hold, in some shape or other, of every new idea that is going. The other popular features of the paper will be continued:—Sketches of Belles, Portraits of Fublio Characters, descriptions of stirring scenes in New-York, news of fishion and manners, phases of gry and literary society, and new fun or new fully—in short, a picture of the world as it passes. We have scared thought it necessary to mention, however, what our readers well understand, that we take care also to chronicle and advance overy interest of benevolence and moral improvement, and strive hard to make the Home Journal no less useful and improving than it is entertaining and original.

As a New Year's present from a Gentleman to a leady, the Home Journal is one, of which the remembrance is rentembered every week, and it is unsurpassed.
