The last Legislature of Maine passed a stringent liquor law, which is to take effect on the 15th of July next. By the same enactment it was Eggs, P doz., 10 cfs. 15th of July next. By the same enactment it was provided that the question should be put to the popular vote on the 7th of June next, as to whether they would have the law or not. As the new liquor bill was passed unconditionally, and the present law repealed, the law will go into effect if the people vote "ves," and if they vote "no? it will take effect all the same! Maine papers therefore conclude that there is not much use in roting. there is not much use in voting.

... The New-Orleans Picayune states that the damages by the great crevasse at Bell's plantation will reach four or five millions of dollars. On no less than five different occasions has the city of New-Orleans been partially inundated by crevasses which occurred in the levees above it. The first of these visitations was in 1785, the second in 1791, the plantation will reach the level of th third in 1799, the fourth in 1816, and the last in 1849. This Spring the river is unusually high, higher indeed than it has been since 1849; but the levees in the vicinity of the city are so well watched and kept in such a thorough state of repair, that no fears of an overflow are entertained.

.... The second trial of the woman Gardner, at Plymouth, Mass., for the murder of ber husband by poison, has resulted in a verdict of murder in the second degree. This is the first conviction in Massachusetts under the new law, passed at the last session of the Legislature. The crime of nurder is divided into first, and second degrees. The punishment of the first is death; for the second, imprisonment in the State Prison for life. A new trial has been refused the prisoner; but in the meantime the Boston Journal comes out with the statement that "an old but unrepealed law of the State declares that a female shall not be sent to State Prison." If this is a fact, the new law clashes with the old, and then how is Mrs. Gardiner to be punished at all? There is a mistake somewhere, or else a very Pretty legal snari has been contrived. The late news from Utah, of the intended abandonment of Salt Lake City by the Prophet and the Sainte, is found to be correct. Already, six hundred wagons have departed for the White Hountains, just within the boundaries of Korthern Mexico, and the prospect is, that the gloomy exodus will last, until the bulk of the misguided population are translated to the sext of their new empire. The entrance of the prophet into the Mexican domain, will prove a momentous circumstance, however, to flat effete and exhausted people: and if Brigham Young were a man of broad ambition, he could march to an empire, and a point of historical renown, which lew of the conquerors of the world had ever opened before them

... The British reap greater advantage from their war upon the Slave-traders than they are willing to confess. They have by means of it almost monopolized the important trade in palm oil and other products of the west coast of Africa, which by the last British return exceeded $12,000,000 a year.

British commanders jump to the conclusion that no Americans have any business on the Coast but in collecting and slipping stave-cargoes; and the conclusion is not unjust. This would not be the case, however, it the persecutions of the cruisers had not arrevery it the persecutions of the cruisers had not prevented Americans from going into the trade. Our naval officers are entirely averse from service on the African Toust. We have lately seen long letters of repression in severe terms, and expressing gratification that the trade was about to be reopened. It is not supprising that they catch no slavers. Indeed, as not surprising that they cated no savera. Indeed, our fleets is probably a protection to them, by operating as a check upon the British squadron, whose business it is to watch and seize them.

New Theory of Neutralization.

TO THE AFFLICTED EVERYWHERE. DOCTOR J. P. LAMBERT Auburn 4 Corners, Pa.,

Its adaptation to meet sudden emerpropagated. Its adaptation to meet sudden emergencies, its reasonableness, its rapidity of action when Therapeutically applied, and its effectiveness and certainty secures for it a confidence neight secures do it a confidence neight secures ed for any other. It needs but to be known, to be appreciated. It saves more patients, and relieves them more quickly, than any heretofore known theory. It reveals first causes, the effects of those causes on the living man, and points out the

There need be no failures in the cure of Fevers, Dysenteries, Inflammation of the Luggs,&c.,&c. None need die with those complaints, for every case can be cured with unerring certainty. There need no man die with Pleurisy, Illiac Passion, or Cramp in no man die with Pleurisy, Illiae cassion, or cramp in the Stomach; from three to teh minutes will posi-tively relieve and cure the lastiwo named cases. It exacts but few medicines, (so few, that patients often wonder how so few can give so great and sudden re-lies) and those of the mildest character. It will bear the most rigid scrutiny, and defice a flaw to be picked in its pathology. It cannot possibly hurtany one; but cures nearly all that submit to its action. Ample proofs can be furnished of its effective power to cure, he having met with but one fatal case, within one year, out of several hundreds of eases brought under year, out of several hundreds of eases brought under
