CHORUS.
Oh! my poor Nelly Gray, they have taken you away, And I'll never see my darling any more,
I'm sitting by the river and I'm weeping all the day,
For you've gone from the old Kentucky shore.

When the moon had climb the mountain and the stars were shining too,
Then I'd take my darling Nelly Gray,
And we'd float down the river in my little red canoe, While my banjo sweetly I would play.

One night I went to see her, but she's gone the neigh bors say, The white man bound her with his chain, They have taken her to Georgia for to wear her life

As she toils in the cotton and the cane. My canoe is under water and my banjo is unstrung,

I'm tired of living any more,
My eyes shall look downward and my song shall while I stay on the old Kentucky shore.

My eyes are getting blinded and I cannot see my way,

Hark I there's somebody knocking at the door,
Oh, I hear the angels calling and I see my Nelly Gray; Farewell to the old Kentucky shore.

Oh ! my poor Nelly Gray, up in Heaven there they They'll never take you from me any more, I'm coming, coming, coming as thea ngels clear

The Habits of Fish.

BY R. L. BELL, PRESIDENT OF AMERICAN INSTITUTE.

THE HAG. - Among the cartilaginous, fish there is one known as the hag, which is posthat they cannot shake it off-like the leech, it lacerates with its teeth, and draws the lifeblood-from the object of attack. Thus fixed, it offeres a tempting bait, and might readily become an easy prey were it not that Providence has offered it a means of escape of a remarkable character. When dauger aped, and after a short-time it assumes the and taste in their arrangement, transparency of glue, and may be drawn into

THE TORPEDO.—This wonderful fish has been gifted by the Supreme Being beyond all the animals of the terrestrial world, and in some respects even man. It has been armed, to defend itself, with the lightning of and himness of faith which ever characterizes heaven, which it employs, as we do gunpowder, to amaze, stupefy, and even destroy the inhabitants of the ocean. The cat, during certain changes in the weather, is capable of accumulating a small portion of electricity. but not sufficient to arrest its prey; but the torpedo conceals himself in the mud, well knowing that he possesses the power of destroying, through the medium of a shock, read. The rights of the pioneer in that artiany simple, unsuspecting creature that may cle are so fully and clearly set forth that I be so unfortunate as to pass over him. That cannot resist the temptation to sit down and self-sufficient biped, man, may charge a bat thank you for it. Quite an abundance of food is required before he can again accumulate galvanic power. He can emit sparks of electricity that will kill an object fifteen feet from him, and may be immedistely deprived of electric power by contact

As far as ascertained; all the fishes that possess this wonderful power may be classed with the Genera, Trichiurus, Tetrodon, Gymlast are the most remarkable, and all their the general organization is accommodated to their individual mode of life. THE MALAPTERURUS-Is an electric Tish. whose organs of electricity surround it direct. ly beneath the skin, forming a mass of tissue of a cellular nature, presenting the appearance of pork, and consisting of fibres interlaced together, forming a perfect network of hundred and fifty dollars in money. From cells, completely full of albuminous matter; the day of her escape till now, they had been attached to this there is a nervous system, enable to get no trace of her. Description of Towns in Utah. Salt Lake City contains about a third of he population of the Territory, and has a great many fine, and some elegant buildings, he principal of which are the Tabernacle, where all religious meetings are held; the Council House, Endowment House, the Temple, now in course of erection, Court House, Young's two mansions, nineteen public school houses, together with the costly houses erected for the elders. The next settlement, north, is called Sessions, eight miles from Salt Lake City, and contains several fine houses. It is situated on the main road: the houses are not compactly built, but extend nearly five miles .-The settlement contains the richest lands in the Territory. Farmington city comes next, a very pretlittle town, the county seat of David couny; it contains about 1,000 inhabitants. Eight miles north is Keysville, containing about the same number of inhabitants. Here is some excellent arable land, and a fine stock

Weber river is about eight miles further north. On it have been built two forts, called East and West Weber forts, containing about five hundred inhabitants each. They are very pleasantly situated. Ogden city, one of the principal cities of the Territory, is about three miles from Weber. It has many costly buildings. North of Ogden city, about two miles, is a arge, well-built fort, called Bingham's Fort.

has about 7,000 inhabitants. Northeast of this, three miles, is Ogder Hole—a very pleasant locality, surrounded sessed of a very remarkable mode of escaping on all sides by mountains, with the exception its enemies; by creating a vacuum with its of the entrance. It contains about 500 in-lips, it adheres with such tenacity to fishes habitants.

North of the "Hole," twelve rafles, is well-located fort, called Willow Creek Fort. In this vicinity there is fine agricultural land and the heaviest crops of wheat in the Territory are raised here.

Five miles North is Box Elder, or Brigham's city, being eight miles South of Bear proaches, the hag emits a species of excre- river. This city is very handsomely situatment of a slimy nature, which surrounds and ed. It is built upon a plain, about two hund conceals it from view. This matter is so red feet above the level of Bear river, It is abundant that he can continue to emit it un finhabited by Danes and Welsh, whose houses til a large tub of water is thoroughly imbu. exhibit considerable skill in their construction

On Bear river there are two small settle long threads. This fish has neither ventral ments, and farther north two others. These nor pectoral fins, and its body appears de are Cache and Malade valleys, where the void of a head, terminating in a circular thick stock belonging to the "Church" generally was kept.

All these cities and forts are to be laid in ashes at the command of the Church, and the poor people have given themselves to the work of destruction with all the confidence religious fanaticism. - Cor. Alta California:
