has its agents all over the country. ulates a stock large enough to ship, or of selling it to the local stcrekeeper or speculator. It will also save the necessity of farmers clubbing, as they do now, to hire a sep state car to carry nothing but butter, and a man to go with it to keep it ventilated and see that it is not put in a car impregnated with villainous smells, which butter has a natural tendency to absorb, and by which many a keg of good butter has been spoiled. Another advantage farmers will have from the butter express is the safety of money transmitted for proceeds of sales, as we understand the Company will pay the commission merchants' accounts of sales, without charge or risk to the farmer at the station where he ships his butter. A few peigh-bors, for instance, near Watertown, N. Y., can unite and churn enough in the morning to make 100 pounds and ship it at night, and it will be delivered to their commission merchant before night the next day. . He may sell it the same evening and hand in the account of sales and pounds at the express offee in time for it to go back the following morning, so that if the butter was churned Monday morning, shipped Monday night, de-livered and sold Tuesday, and returns sent back of Wednesday, the owner could cail and get his money Thursday morning, less, if the butter sold for 25 cents per pound, commission, $1.25; freight, 95 cents; postage, 0; percentage, 0; risk, 0; total, $2,20, freight and commission upon 100 pounds of butter, and the balance in his pocket three days after churning it more than 300 miles from market. The advantage of this new project will be almost as great to the city as it will be to the country; for we shall be more likely to get our butter in an catable condition. - N-Y. Tribune. ADVERTISING.—One of our exchanges is down on soliciting advertisements. He says

t lessens the dignity of the craft—that the value of the press to the people as an agency fessions and their wares, should be appreciated without solicitation. Those experienced in the business will admit the truth of this. Solicitation leads men to suppose that the advertiser is really a "patron"-paying for service not rendered, or value not received—induces many to regard a printer, as a sort of mendicant, for whom the least crust or old bone-the last ragged, shabby shinplaster—is good enough pay; and whom, of all others, a dilapidated debtor should leave last to settle with after the barber, the waiter, and the boot-

OLD GARRETS .- There is no "institution" among us that more needs to be investigated than old garrets." The records of the town of Westfield during the Revolutionary War, supposed to be irrecoverably lost, were latey found in a garret in that town. Every year or two we hear of valuable documents hus "accidentally" rescued from dust and destruction. Suppose the Commonwealth should establish a Commission on Garrets. There is no telling what treasures might be unearthed.—Ch. Watch and Reft.

Rev. Dr. Sprague of Albany, commenced his historical career, now so honorably distinguished, by rummaging old garrets, where he found much of the material for his immense collections of autographs and pamphiers.-New York Independent.

Important to Farmers! THE undersigned respectfully calls the attention for farmers in the County of Susquehanna, to JOHN H. BRUEN'S PORTABLE FARM FENCE. This is a new, cheap, and durable mode of fencing, being so constructed as not to require the setting of posts in the ground, which is a great saving both of material and labor, besides adding to its durability.—
Farmers will find it much to their interest to avail themselves of the use of this valuable improvement.
