2. The best proportions between the value of land and other capital, and between the amount invested in the different departments of a farm, viz., land, labor, stock, implements, and manures.
3. Meteorology, in reference to its connections with drouths and floods, with suggestions for anticipating them and guarding against their effects.
4. Concentrated Manures, in reference to economy, improvement of land, injurious tendencies, preparations, applications, &c.
5. Depth of culture for different soils.
6. On the development of latent properties in soils.
7. New Crops, with their relative profit, and the extent to which they should be cultivated.
8. The cultivation of Forest Trees.
9. The construction of Ice Houses for domestic use.
10. Farm Gardens and Orchards.
11. On Agricultural Exhibitions.
12. Agricultural subjects other than the above.

RAISING APPLES.—Nothing pays better for care and attention than the apple. A single acre in this fruit, kept in good heart by manuring and cultivation, will yield more profit than ten acres neglected in the ordinary way. The only secret in having apples abundant every year, is in keeping the trees clean and in feeding them. I recently read an account of an apple tree standing near a house in a deep rich loam. It was kept in grass, and bore a large crop of early apples in alternate years, yielding nothing in the interval. By way of experimenting, the green sward was broken up, and the whole yard manured and planted as a garden. To the great disappointment of all the skeptics in the region, the old tree changed its habits, and bore very full crops two years in succession. The yard was seeded down and it relapsed, but continued to bear in the years which would have been barren in the old order. I verily believe that more than one half the fault of unfruitful seasons lies with ourselves, though we are accustomed to lay it all on the poor trees and the seasons. E. S. Lamoille, Bureau county, Ill., October 9, 1858.—Prairie Farmer.

HOW TO MANURE TREES.—Very few persons manure trees growing in sod or grass land, in a judicious or economical manner. The general practice is to dig the manure in, within a diameter of six feet, having the body for the center. The tree takes its food from the young rootlets, whose mouths extend just as far on every side, as the branches of the trees; hence this manure applied close to the body of the tree, is not where the roots take it up; and, of course, but little of its value is absorbed by the tree. If you doubt it, just try the experiment on two trees.—Serve the one as above named, and the other, as follows, viz: Mark a circle around the tree, having for its outline the exact radius formed by the overhanging branches; dig on the inner side of this circle a trench two feet wide, and one foot deep; mix well rotted manure half-and-half with the best of the soil, or earth dug out of the trench, and fill the trench with it; then replace the turf, and wheel away the refuse, or extra earth; rake clean and smooth; you will have a good growth of tree; your fruit large and more fair, and no unsightly or unnatural hillock or mound around the body of the tree.

PLANTING FRUIT TREES.—McIntosh says: "In planting fruit trees where the subsoil is of indifferent quality, it is advisable to place under each a piece of pavement three feet square and about twelve or fifteen inches under the surface, that the roots, when they come in contact with it may be made to take a horizontal direction. This is one great means of keeping them near the surface, and has been found of much advantage."

SUPERIOR SWEET APPLE, PEAR AND QUINCE PICKLES.—A long trial in our own family has proved the good quality of pickled sweet apples, pears and quinces prepared as follows: Take one peck of fruit, pare, quarter and core them and add 4 pounds of Sugar and one quart of vinegar. Cook the whole together until the fruit is tender, then remove it with a skimmer to plates on which it is to be spread out to cool, and afterwards put into glazed earthen ware or glass jars. Then make a new syrup like the first, but a little sweeter, say one quart of vinegar and 5 pounds of sugar, boiling with it a little bag containing ¼ ounce of ground cinnamon and and ½ ounce of ground cloves. Pour this syrup over the apples leaving the bag of spices in the syrup. Prepared in this way a very nice sweetmeat is obtained which is a sweetish tart but not scur, and the flavor will be highly relished by most persons. They will keep a long time, and are not so unhealthy as fruit stewed down to the keeping point. By an occasional boiling, the preparation might be kept for years if desired. It is cheap as the cost for a peck of fruit is only 9 lbs. of sugar, 2 quarts of vinegar, and a little cinnamon and cloves. The first liquid used for boiling the fruit may be taken for cooking a new lot, or it may be used for preparing other sauce for immediate use.

☞ To make a good hard cement, take pulverized brick, which has been well burnt, 13 parts; well ground letharge, 1 part—made to a paste by linseed oil. Apply as a plaster, previously wetting the surface with a sponge, to prevent the cement being too much absorbed. It becomes hard in three or four days. It may be applied to wood, but also to stone or metal, and resists water.

☞ The following preventive for moths in carpets is better than camphor or any other volatile repeller. Wring out a crash towel and spread it smoothly on the carpet, wherever moths are suspected or detected. Then iron it dry with a hot iron, repeating if necessary. The hot steam will penetrate the carpet (not injuring the color at all) and kill both worms and eggs.

☞ Peach leaves are superior to hops for making yeast. The bread made from it is quite as light, and equally well flavored.—We understand that the yeast is made in the same way, except that dried peach leaves are used instead of hops.

HOW TO TREAT CLIMBING ROSES.—When climbing roses fail to run, which is often the case, the remedy is to cut away all but three or four of the strongest shoots, and permit none but these to grow the first season. By this means you can cause your climbing roses to grow to almost any extent desired.

TO PRESERVE FRUIT JELLIES FROM MOULD.—Cover the surface one-fourth of an inch deep with pulverized loaf sugar. When thus protected, the jellies will keep in good condition.

QUEEN CAKE.—One pound of butter, well worked, and one pound of sugar. Beat the butter and eggs together to a cream; beat ten eggs very light, and add them by degrees. Mix in one pound of flour sifted fine.

☞ Mirth is the medicine of life.

A Light! A Light!

"KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS," That I, the undersigned, have on hand for sale Peters' Non-Explosive, Self-Generating Gas Lamp, the BEST, safest, and most economical light ever produced, equal if not superior to the best Coal Gas. It is specifically adapted to Churches, Hotels, Stores, Reading Rooms, Private Dwellings, &c., &c. It only requires a trial to prove it superior to every other portable light now in use. The material used for generating Gas is Burning Fluid or Aethereal Oil.—The Gas is generated in the Burner by evaporizing and decomposing the Fluid by its own heat forming pure Hydro-Carbonic Gas which is all conveyed to the Burner, leaving no substance unconsumed. The Burner can be fitted to any ordinary Lamp, guaranteeing it to be perfectly safe and free from any danger of explosion and is entirely free from smoke and unpleasant smell.

The following calculation will show its economy over other substances used for Light:

Peters' Self-Generating Gas Lamp with
Fluid or Aethereal oil, at 60 cts. per gall., six jet Burner,	1	ct. per hour.
Camphene at 55 cts. per gall.,	1¼	" "
Lard Oil, at $1,25 " "	2¼	" "
Sperm Oil, 2,50 " "	4	" "
Fluid with com. burner, 60 cts per gall.	1¼	" "
Gas at $2,25 per 1000 feet,	1½	" "
" 4,00 " " "	2½	" "

It may be distinctly understood that this Burner will produce more light than any other Portable Light now in use.

The public are invited to call and examine this premium Lamp for themselves, before purchasing elsewhere, this being the only Burner having a non-conductor. A. N. BULLARD.

The Artist's Rhymes About Hard Times, And Lack of Dimes.

THE times are hard, extremely hard,
There's no mistake about it;
Tis hard to get a little cash—
Harder to do without it.

All classes feel the want of funds,
The farmer, lawyer, merchant,
But who, more than the "Picture man"
Can show a case quite urgent.

He never yet has learned to live
On "false impressions" merely,
And pictures "only in your eye"
Fill up the purse—severely.

Please then, remember Phœnix Block,
Two flights of stairs ascend, sirs,
And for a copy of yourselves
A little money spend, sirs:

And if you haven't that to spare—
Not even a Spanish quarter—
I'll take your grain, your butter, cheese,
And other kinds of barter.

Don't wait until another day,
If you do you may regret it;
Somewhere, I've heard somebody say
There's danger lurking in delay.
This hint you may as well obey—
Perhaps in some unlooked-for way
A likeness of your face will pay,
So haste to Deans and get it.
