From a letter before us, says the American Agriculturist, written by an Illi-nois clergyman enclosing his subscription, we gather that the writer joined the lilinois (Methodist) Conference 32 years ago, when that conference embraced the whole of that great State, and Indiana also. He refers to close to give them something to work at. A the progress he has witnessed during thirty gentleman of my acquaintance bought his years in that region—which has been very wife one, and the result has been that she has great, surely. The writer, like many others of his class, has labored to promote the phys. ical as well as spiritual well being of his wide and re-stiched; the children have all been parish, and as one means of securing this end, he has endeavored to increase their intelligence, by inducing them to read agricultural papers. We will give one instance of his found her sewing the tails of his best coat to-success in his own words: success in his own words:

"I once, with much persuasion, got a rich farmer—a brother in the church—to take an agricultural paper. It so chanced that he had a fine flock of sheep, several of which were just then attacked with a disease which carried them off, and he was in great fear that he would lose the whole. Going to the village post-office for his agricultural paper, and opening it, the first article that caught his eye was on sheep, which described the disease in his own flock, and the remedy.—

He went to the drug store at once, procured the medicine and cured his sheep. When I that wenturing away from home for the first time in our lives, for we are not dead to speak came round again to preach at his house, he of in seeing foreign countries not laid down was quite inbilant over what his paper had was quite jubilant over what his paper had on any map we know about.

I have twelve numbers already, and they will do as long as I live; and there he quit, I suppose forever. But such things are doubtless familiar to you. I have often thought it strange, when visiting wealthy farmers, to find any quantity of trifling 'Dollar Papers' on their tables, but very seldom a good agricultural work. I should be glad to see this remedied; I hope it may be."
