Washington, February 10th, Mr. Reim (Pa.) explained his position as representative of old Berks County. The great and radical change was caused by the principle of pro-tection to labor, and the distress produced by the late revulsion to the iron trade. Un-less the tariff be revised, the vote of Berks cannot be obtained for any party who oppose protection, and the Presidential election. lation of the coal and iron trade was commented on, and a hope expressed that all the interests of the country, North and South, would be protected. 2

.... A new style of wager was decided during the recent "cold srap" at Southington, Conn. A young man; named Ransom Gladding, made a bet that he would walk from nine o'clock till sunrise the next morning, in the open air, without all overcoat. An oblong space was staked out, 50 by 24 feet, covering the railroad track, and inclosed by a tope. The feat was successfully pertormed by him, and what is marvelous, without being touched by the frost. The trial grew out of a discussion by some young men, of the severe cold of that evening, and the nower of human endurance.
