The boys, the jors, the noise, the fan ;

But not a single conic Section.

I recollect those harsh affairs.
The morning bells that gave us panics;
I recollect the formal prayers,
That seemed like lessons in Mechanics;
I recollect the drowsy way
In which the students fistened to them,
As clearly, in my wig, to-day
As when, a boy, I slumbered through them. I recollect the tutors all

As freshly now, if I may say so,

As freshly now, if I may say so,
As any chapter I recall
In Homer or Ovidius Naso,
I recoffect extremely well,
"Old Hugh," the mildest of fanatics;
I well remember Matthew Bell,
But very faintly, Mathomatics.

For lessons fathomed to the bottom;

(Alas, that pencil-marks should fade!)

I recollect the chaps who got 'em-The light emestrians who soured O'er every passage reckoned stony:

And took the chalks,—but never scored

A single bonor to the pony!

Ah me-what changes Time has wrought: Ah me—what changes Time has wrought.

And now predictions have miscarried!—

A few have reached the goal they sought.

And some are dead, and some are married;

And some in city journals war;

And some as politicians bicker;

And some are pleading at the bar;

For jury verdicts, or for liquor; And some on Trade and Commerce wait;
And some in schools with dunces battle;
And some the gospel propagate;
And some the choicest breeds of cattle;
And some are living at their case;
And some were wrecked in "the rerulsion," Some serve the State for handsome fees, And one, I hear, upon compulsion!

LANGER, who, in his college days,
Thought e'en a cross a moral scandal,
Has left his Puritanic ways,
And worships now with bell and candle;
And Mann, who mourned the negro's fate,
And held the slave as most unlucky,
New helds him at the market rate.

Now holds him, at the market rate, On a plantation in Kentucky! Ton Knox, who swore in such a tone
It fairly might be doubted whether
It really was himself alone,
Or Knoz and Erebus together,—

Has grown a very altered man,
And, changing oaths for mild entreaty,
Now recommends the Christian plan To savages in Otaheite!

To savages in Otaheite!

Alas, for young ambition's vow,
How envious Fate may overthrow it!—
Poor Harver is in Congress now,
Who struggled long to be a poet;
SMITH carves (quite well) memorial stones,
Who tried in vain to make the law go;
Hall deals in hides; and "Pious Jones"
Is dealing faro in Chicago! And, sadder still, the brilliant HATS,

And, sadder stil, the manly, and ambitions.
Once honest, manly, and ambitions.
Has taken latterly to ways,
Extremely profligate and vicious;
By slow degrees—I can't tell how—
He's reached at last the very groundsel,
And in New York he figures now,
A member of the Common Council!

THE FAMILY CIRCLE .- The Baltimore Sun alluding to the prevalence of crime among boys, properly asserts that one of the main causes of the decline of morality is the decay of parental discipline. The family circle, the domestic hearth, is the true fountain of puri-ty or corruption to public morals. Most people become what they are made at home. They go forth into the world to act out the character they have formed in the first fourteen years of their lives. It is alleged in excuse that children have become more unmanageable than they used to be. We reply that human nature and human relations are unchanged. Children are just as amenable to authority as they ever were. This is the main purpose for, which Providence has made them helpless and dependent-that they may be trained to obedience, order, inchildren as they ever had. Where there is The real fact is that parents are too indolent, too indifferent, to take the pains to train up their children in the way they should go .-It requires perpetual vigilance, and they get proper authority over others. Self-conquest is the greatest victory of all. There can be no just parental discipline where there is no

CURIOUS CALCULATION.—The vast number of inhabitants who do live, and have lived. upon the face of the earth, appears at first sight, to defy the powers of calculation.— But if we suppose the world to have existed six thousand years; that there now exist one thousand millions; that a generation passes away in thirty years; that every past generation averages the present; and that four individuals may stand on one square yard, we will find that the whole number will not occupy a compass so great as one-fourth the extent of England. Allowing six thousand years since the creation, and a generation to pass away in thirty years, we shall have two hundred generations, which at one thousand millions each, will be two hundred thousand millions, which being divided by four persons to a square yard, will leave fifty thousand millions of square yards; there are, in a which have always been, with me, more submile square, three millions, ninety-seven thoumile square, three millions, ninety-seven thou-sand, six hundred square yards; by which, if In digging them last fall, I found enough to the former sum be divided, it will give six-prove that they were not wholly exempt teen thousand one hundred and thirty-three square miles, the root of which, in whole among those planted alone. The yield was numbers, is about one hundred and twenty not as good as by themselves, while I believe seven; so that one hundred and twenty-seven the corn was full as good, in both quantity miles square will be found sufficient to contain the immense and almost inconceivable there. My method is to fit the ground for Horisontal Wells.

There is hardly a tunnel miner in Califor nia, who could not teach many of us a lesson of value upon horizontal wells in place of those sunk perpendicularly into the earth.— You may call this kind of well a tunnel if you please. Every such miner, almost, has had a too truthful experience of the fact, that whether his tunnel is driven into earth or rock, one of his greatest annoyances, ere he reaches fifty feet into the hill, or mountain before him, is the presence of water. From every pore of the earth and every fissure of the rock, the dripping water accumulates, and in many instances in sufficient quantity to furnish-by being detained in reservoir -the water for washing his auriferous earth; and when not in sufficient quantity for this purpose, would often supply hundreds and even thousands of gallons of water every twenty four hours. In many situations, along our narrow val leys the farm house and buildings are located at no great distance from the foot of the hills and ridges that bound them on either side; and sometimes, doubtless, with the very view of rendering available the water from some pure spring, issuing from their sides. It is in such localities or in the immediate vicinity of abrupt hills, rising high in the back ground, and where no springs are found, that the horzontal well or tunnel is peculiarly practica-

The advantages of such a tunnel over the ommon well are these: they can be constructed generally at a less cost than attends the construction of the ordinary well. They can be run in at such an elevation that the water conveyed in a pipe, can be carried to any part of the farm buildings; or such a pressure can be secured as will enable the possessor to ornament his grounds by a jet d'eau, or fountain : or he can water, in the evening, by an artificial shower, the little lawn devoted to perpetual green. There is a greater certainty that water will be found at all seasons purer than much that is collected in wells. The common well usually excavated in the immediate vicinity of the farm house, necessarily contains, water that, to some extent during the rainy season, has filtered through the immediately adjoining soil, and taken along with it more or less of its impurities; hence the necessity of cleaning out wells at intervals.

Not so with tunnel wells; their water is always clear; no flood affects their purity, or protracted drought the quantity of water they furnish; and it is far more likely to be what is usually termed soft water, than when obtained from wells sunk in a clay or earth composed, to a great extent, of the debris of alkaline or limestone formations. The mouth of the tunnel, secured at all times by a door under lock, would be safer against the admission of all foreign substances, detrimental to the quality of the water, than is the ordinary well, thereby securing to the consumer an article as pure as from the natural spring. Many suppose -- without making inquirythat the cost of pipe, for the conveyance of water from such situations to the farm buildings, would be too great to warrant the expenditure. To such, we say that half-inch pipe (we mean by this, pipe that is half an inch in diameter on the inside) is amply sufficient for all the purposes that water is used for around a single farm house and buildings, except for the purpose of irrigation; and if reservoirs for its accumulation are provided, it is astonishing to the uninitiated how much water will flow through even a half inch pipe, if kept constantly running.

The convenience of having fresh water at all times of the day above ground, and susceptible of being conveyed to any height bout the buildings-below the fountain head -by its own power, instead of being compelled to draw it from wells, is so great that even if the first cost considerably exceeded that of the construction of an ordinary well, dustry, and virtue. It is not true that pathe advantages inseparable from the tunnel rents have not as absolute control over their well, would be more than equal to the difference in cost .- Cal. Culturalist.

MAKE FRIENDS OF THE BIRDS.—Remember that every family of birds you can induce to locate upon your trees, rids you of enemies, and increases your wealth. Land is still cheap upon the farm, and trees are cheap.tired. It requires self-control to exercise a Plant more trees, and with your other crops Plant more trees, and with your other crops raise your own music. Encourage the boys to build bird boxes, and put them upon the buildings and fences. This will amuse them quite as much as robbing birds nests, and quite as much as robbing birds nests, and will foster within them much better sentiments. We once visited a large rural village in New England, where they had a fashion of rearing a large bird house on the top of a long pole in the garden. This pole was a conspicuous object, on almost every street. We need not say that they had a vigorous horticultural society there, and that the place was famous for its apples, pears, and plums; its cherries, strawberries, currants; and other small fruits. The birds took care of their insects, and they will take care of yours if you will give them a chance. - American Agriculturist.

Teas! Teas!! PRESII for of Black and Green Teas just opened by J. LEONS BON?

1858. J. DICKERNAN, Jr. 1858. HARDWARE AND STOVE EMPORIUM 34 IN FULL BLAST!

THE UNDERSIGNED would take this opportunity to inform his friends and customers that he has recently made large additions to his former ex-Hardware, Stoves, Stove Pipe, Stove Trimmings, Zinc, &c., and that he is prepared to supply the wants of the community in that line at thinstally low prices. He flatters himself that his facilities for manufacturing his own Wares, Stoves, &c., give him a decided advantage nover any who purchase and transport at a heaty explane their entire stock.

He would say, to those who, wish to purchase STOYE Sof any description, STOYE PIPE, or TRIMMINGS, of any kind, and pay for them, he is prepared to give them great bargains; but to those who want to purchase on a year's credit and then let it, run two years more, he had rather they would call on the post-part of the control of the work that of the most of the work that of the most of the work that of the mouth of the post-part of the control of the work that of the mouth of the post-part of the post-part of the work that of the mouth of the post-part of the work that of the mouth of the post-part of the work that of the part of the work that of the post-part of the work that run two years more the had ruther they would call on some one else, even if they have to pay seventy-five per cent more than an article is worth. In the line of his assortment is the largest and best selected in Sus-quehanna County; purchased as his block has been mustly of manufacturers, he is chabled to offer indifferents to those country merchants who buy small bills rarely to be found this side of the big city. We can offer special laducements to Carpenters and Joiners who are in want either of Tools or Building Materials. Blacksmiths can find ANVILS, VICES, BELLOWS, and, in fact, almost anything in their line, by calling on us, Cheap for Cash!

Our stock of Bry Goods, Groceries, Boots & Shoes, Hats and Caps, Yankee Notions, &c. is as large as the times will admit of. They were purchased at a low figure, and will be sold at prices correspond with the times.

READY-MADE CLOTHING! We have just opened about one and a half cords ready made clothing. Every body says they are cheap. Some say they are very cheap, and a number have ventured to say they are dog cheap. Cerain it is that a small pile of money will buy a large pile of clothing.

We would add, in this connection, for the information of all concerned and the "test of mankind," that we are thred and sick of the credit system; we have suffered enough by it already, and are determined to rid ourselves of the whole "critter." Believing that the nimble sixpence is the true system, we are re-solved to adopt it and are offering our goods at prices
