The Black-Lettered List. WYROFF, GRUND, PLRURET, THRASHER RAINEY, BENNETT, &c.,
We are indebted to the Washington State (Douglas's organ) for the annexed life-like portraits of some of Buchanan's pets. The

No. 1. Mr. Wykoff, Chevalier d'Industrie bearer of dispatches to St. Petersburg, a eight dollars per day, and traveling expenses defrayed. Subsequently appointed bearer of dispatches to China, whither he is about to proceed, at the same rate of compensation.

This person has been the confidential pimp and scavenger of the Bennett family since he came out of the penitentiary of Sardinia-performing all manner of services for his em ployers from major domo down to cuisinier. "Your Money or your Place.-A writer in the Washington States, a Democratic paper, asserts that General George Washington Bowman, the reputed editor of Mr. Bu-chanan's organ, the Constitution, has for sometime been engaged in levying contribu-tions of six dollars from each and every subordinate holding office in the various departments at Washington, the money to be applied to the sustenance of that disorganizing

"We do not know which to admire most the tactics of Miramon in levying half a nillion on the specie train through Mexico, or this levy of General Bowman on the gov

This system of "levying black mail," we are assured is not confined to Washington alone, but extends throughout the whole Union. It is only by such means that the reckless and disorganizing organs of this most corrupt and imbecile Administration are kept alive to make war upon the honest and nsistent Democratic masses who refuse to follow and endorse the wicked abandonment of the principles of our party on the part of the President and the gang of fire-eating dis-unionists by whom he is surrounded and con-trolled.—Harrisburg Sentinel.

INDIAN SLAVE TRADE .- The U. S. revenue cutter Wm. Appleton, Lieut. Randolph com-mander, arrived at Key West, on the 27th ult., bringing three prisoners, who are sus-pected of the murder, at sea, of Captain Morantes, of the schooner Enterprise, and the subsequent running of the vessel ashore and robbery of the specie in the Captain's charge. The men say that the Captain fell overboard accidentally, while off Hillboro', and that in attempting to save him, the vessel drifted in on the breakers, and was lost, but deny that the Captain met his death at their hands.-Suspicions are so strong against them that Commissioner Brown has committed them

The Enterprise was fitted out at Havana for the purpose of transporting a cargo of in-dians from Carthagena to Cuba, where they are made slaves of. The trade is exactly similar to the African slave trade, except that the vessels and men engaged in it run no risk-never being overhauled by cruisers or searched by Custom House Officers. The traffic has been going on for some years, and was patronized for a long time by the famas patronized for a long time by the fa-mous Francisco Marti, the nobleman fisher-man of Havana. > Great Bend, July 15, 1859. For the Independent Republican. Farmers Should Think.

Washington, Wyoming Co., Pa., July, 1859. Messas, Entrons:-I noticed a piece in your ast issue, entitled, " How to Honora calling." I wish every farmer that reads the Independent Republican would read it and treasure it up in his mind, so as to profit by it. I am aware that farming is by many thought to be a low calling, when in fact it is the most bonorable of callings that a man can be engaged

I have heard an old maxim, that if a man was only strong in the arms, he would do for a farmer, though he was weak in the brain. This is a great mistake. To be a good farmer, a man must be a good thinker; and if he thinks aright, it will lead him to act aright, and of course to prosperity. Indeed, no man will prosper in his calling, be it what it may, unless be thinks and thinks aright. The merchant must think when and where he can make the best purchases, and then the best sales; the mechanic, where he can purchase the best material at the cheapest rates, then how he can make it up at the least expense, and sell it to the best advantage. The manufacturer must be a close and correct think er, or he will not prosper. We see the necessity of rigid economy in manufacturing pursuits, when we see what a small gain or oss will make or break. I heard of a man engaged in the manufacture of stockings, who got rich on a profit of one penny per pair. In conversation with a gentleman engaged in calico printing, he said that one quarter of a cent per yard would make or break a firm. I was in company with some woolen manufacturers, and their conversation was on their occupation. They remarked that a certain their present Manager. "Well," says one of them, "they give him good wages." Another replied, "He sayes them two ounces of wool in every yard of broadcioth." A FARMER. My Labor-Saving Husband.—Hints for

Other Husbands.
Some husbands are more plague than proft, and make vastly more work than they do; but mine is one to brag about. When I was married, to my shame be it spoken, I had never made a loaf of bread nor a pie. I had no idea of saving time nor of saving work. But I had a husband who had love enough for me to bear with my simplicity, and not to scold when the bread was burned and the pie not fit to cat. Going into the kitchen one morning, he saw me baking ouckwheat cakes and greasing the griddle with a piece of pork on the end of a fork. He said nothing, but went into the wood-house, and soon returned with a smoothly whittled stick, about six Years?

I fretted because my refrigerator had no shelves, and I could not make room enough for all the milk, meat, and butter. So he made two racks, and fitted ventilating shelves from the one to the other. The shelves are

Many persons suppose that fruit is un-wholesome, especially for children, because their mortality is so great at the time when fresh fruit begin to abound in market. Undoubtedly, the eating of green or partly de-cayed fruits is injurious to young persons; it is not made to be eaten; though green fruit is little harmful if well cooked. But it is not correct to ascribe the sickness and death of so many children to fruit eating. On examining the bills of mortality of any large town, we shall find that the increase deaths among children in Summer, is almost exclusively of those under five years of age, and principally of those under two years.— Of course they eat little or no fruit. The deaths at the same season among persons between five and twenty-five, those most likely to indulge too freely in fruits, is less than in Winter. The mortality, therefore, of the summer season, is more probably owing to the increase of heat than to fruit eating. The excessive heats of the day, tollowed by exposure to the chilly damps of evening, may help to account for much of the sickness of children in the fruit season.

We once met with the following extract from the London Lancer, a high medical authority: Referring to the health of London during a week in the middle of August, the writer remarks: "The deaths ascribed to diarrhea are 126, of which 115 occurred among children. The tender age of nearly all the sufferers, 97 of them of them not have ing completed their first year, is sufficient to dispel the popular error, that the use of fruit is the exciting cause." Now, let us carry the war into the enemy's country. Fruit, eaten in moderation, is posi-tively wholesome and its use is demanded by the peculiarities of the Summer season. The most common diseases of Summer, such as diarrhea, dysentery, and cholera, are bilious complaints, and require anti-bilious treatment. Fruits are anti-bilious. A kind Providence causes them to abound at just the season when they are the most needed. In the Winter, we may devour meat of all sorts, both fat and lean, and other kinds of food containing much carbon and nitrogen, and no harm will per-haps come from it, because the rigors of the season call for such nutriment; and free exercise in the open air will burn up the carbon; but during the Summer season, a different style of living is required. Experience shows that during the latter season less meat should be eaten, and a greater proportion of vegetables and fruits. The natives of tropical climates long ago found this out, and they act accordingly; while Northeners going there to reside, and keeping up their habits of high living; soon fall victims to bilious dis-

There should be moderation, of course, in the use of a good thing. Fruit should be ripe if caten raw; it is better to eat it early in the day, and the atomach should never be overloaded with it.—Am. Agriculturist.
