For the Independent Republican. Farmers Should Think. WASHINGTON, Wyoming Co. Pa., [

Aug. 26, 1859. MESSES. EDITORS :- Dear Sire :- In my last I-promised to call the attention of farmers to the necessity of thinking. Since then I have noticed that the farmers and mechanics of Brooklyn have seen the necessity of thinking, and for that purpose have associated themselves together, to meet weekly, or monthly, as circumstances will permit. Now, sirs, man is a social being, and according to his nature he will associate for some purpose. And if he associates for that which will be a mutual benefit, such associations should be encouraged.

the Independent Republican) is worth the price of that number; that is, the revenue that Brooklyn derives from eggs and poul-try. What, fifteen hundred dollars for eggs alone! Who would have thought it? How much more profit is to be derived from such an association, to talk (among other things) about the cheapest and best way to raise eggs and poultry, than from discussing such ques-tions, for example, as, which is the mother of the chicken, the hen that laid the egg, or the en! Yet, at other times, how easily, and by hen that hatched it? I wish the Brooklyn what trifling matters, we suffer ourselves to Association success, and hope friend Breed and his associates will remember that we would like to hear from them from time to

The maxim is true that the man that is the means of causing two spears of grass to grow where only one did grow is a public benefactor. If you, sirs, could be the means, through your paper, of causing the farmers of Susquehanna county to double their present average crops, would not you be public benefactors? Most certainly so.

The question may be raised, can it be done and not cost more than it will come to? Now for thinking on the matter. As farmers, we will lay our heads together, and think on the subject. For myself, I am persuaded that it can be done. But as to the cost, I am somewhat at a loss.

Now, let us think. What is the average crop, through the county? If I am wrong, or err in judgment, I hope that "some of the pails, and other tin dishes were procured, and bester informed will correct me. First, we will think about the crop of grass. What is tools, and went to bed.
the average crop of hay per acre? Say one ton, or is that too high, or too low? Now, ware?" asked Uncle D. the next morning, cannot the meadows of Susquenanna county be made to produce two tons per acre? I think so; and my reason for thinking so, 1s that it has been done. Now for the crop of corn. What is the lord. average per acre? Thirty bushels. The soil of Susquehanns county is capable of being for pleasure!" said the pedler, with a wink, made to produce sixty bushels of corn to the acre as an average crop. We will not say anything of the extravagant reports that have been made at some of your Fairs. Oats will they average thirty or thirty-five bushels? If the soil was raised to produce double the crop of orn, the crop of oats would double, of course. As for wheat, buckwheat, and potatoes, the crop is so uncertain that I know not what to say of them; the straw and tops may be made to grow, but as to the grain exclaimed—"Sir, do you mean to say that may be made to grow, but as to the grain exclaimed—"Sir, do you mean to say that and potstoes, there seems to be a mystery you haven't ten cents?
