Our Lecture Course.—For a few years past there has been much talk about a "Course of Lectures" in Montrose, which, we believe, has always ended just as it began—in talk, until the present season. This Fall a few young men have taken hold of the matter in earnest, and the result is, that we are to have a series of from eight to ten lectures, provided the community are sufficiently interested to patronize them. The "Course" is to be opened Wednesday evening, Nov. 2d, by Rev. D. K. Lee, of Auburn, N. Y. Of Mr. Lee, we have no personal knowledge, but we have every assurance from those who have heard him, and from many very flattering notices of the Press, that his Lecture on "Astronomy" is the production of a master mind. We sincerely hope that our citizens will not stay away, from the mere fact that Mr. Lee is comparatively a stranger among us. We are satisfied that the "Association" would not hazard the success of their "Course" by employing a Lecturer of inferior order to open it, as their success depends, in a great measure, upon the character and result of the first. Again we ask our citizens not to suffer this great enterprise to die out for want of such support as this community is abundantly able to give. Let us show the young men who are engaged in so laudable an undertaking, that their efforts are appreciated, and by our united patronage give them a helping hand in this, their most praiseworthy enterprise.

☞ The following notice of Mr. Lee's Lecture we copy from the Patriot and Gazette, (Fulton, N. Y.:)

The Lecture on Astronomy, by Rev. D. K. Lee, on Friday evening last, was very well attended, and was certainly one of the most interesting and instructive lectures that we ever listened to. Mr. Lee is a very fine speaker, and his perfect familiarity with his subject engaged the attention of the entire audience.—It was difficult to imagine from the ease and freedom with which his lecture was delivered, the immense amount of labor and thought it must have cost him.

One of the New York papers in speaking of Mr. Lee's Lecture, says, "in many respects it is superior to Prof. Mitchell's."

The Philadelphia News says: "Mr. Lee is delivering his lecture upon Astronomy to many large and delighted audiences."

Returned to Montrose.—The friends of Dr. C. C. Halsey in this vicinity will be glad to learn that he has returned to Montrose, with the intention of practicing his profession here. His card will be found on the first page of this paper.

Read's Patent Portable Clothes Frame.—This simple but ingenious article is becoming quite extensively introduced in this vicinity. After having examined it, and witnessed its use for several weeks, we believe it to be a very convenient contrivance for the purposes intended. Its several advantages can readily be perceived by inspection of the Frame, which is for sale by Mr. Chauncey Foot, of Montrose.

The Montrose Student.—This is the title of an agreeable little monthly paper, edited by the students of the Susquehanna County Classical and Normal School, and printed on the Republican steam press. Its contents are entirely original, being the productions of students of the Normal School; and some of the articles evince a good deal of literary taste and talent. The third number will be issued this week.

Susquehanna County Classical and Normal School.—The present term of this institution—being the first under the charge of its new Principal, Prof. H. Brodhead—will close on Friday of this week. Mr. Brodhead has shown himself an able and efficient teacher; and we are glad to learn that the school will be continued under his control. This school ought to be liberally sustained.—The advertisement for the next term will be found in another column. It will be observed that the next term will commence November 16th, instead of the 9th, as was first contemplated.

"The Model Letter Writer."—The following beautiful specimen of epistolary composition, which was recently picked up in the streets of a neighboring town, we recommend to be added to the next volume of model letters published for the benefit of young writers. There is nothing artificial about it. It must be genuine:

Will our Lectures be Sustained?

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I see by the "posters" about town that the "Young Men's Literary Association" have succeeded in their efforts to institute a Course of Lectures in our place during the present season. Of course, the only question as to their success, is, "will they be sustained?" Were it a question to be solved merely by ascertaining whether such a Course would be useful, no one would doubt, for a moment, as to their complete success. It is not a question of expediency or usefulness, for that has been long conceded; and as to their benefit, a practical answer may be found in the superior intelligence of those communities where the Lecture Room has long been an established institution. Again we repeat, the only question as to their success is, will they be sustained by our citizens? To this there should be but one answer. We can sustain a Course of Lectures if we really wish one. Let every one who feels that such a Course would be a benefit to the community, evince it by the support of the first Lecture, next Wednesday evening. Persons might be cautious, and hesitate, with propriety, if it was something new, but it is not. In towns all around us they are moving in this work, and reaping the benefits of this most decided American Institution.

It frequently happens that useful measures are defeated through the bitterness of political strife or ecclesiastical zeal; but in this work there need be no dissension. Here is an attempt to inaugurate in our midst a plain system of popular education, upon which every well-wisher of the community can unite. Will not the people of Montrose and vicinity look to this thing, and see that through their inactivity this enterprise shall not prove a failure? It seems to me that we are called upon by every consideration by which persons can be moved, to act in this matter.—It will turn the attention of our young men from the card-table and the grog-shop, to something higher and nobler. It will incite the mechanic to spend his leisure hours in better pursuits than loafing and wine-bibbing. To the person overburdened with business it offers an opportunity for profitable recreation, and at the same time he is helping to sustain an institution—the benefits of which cannot be measured.—I trust, then, that these Lectures will be well attended, not only for the benefit, but for the credit of our town. If there are those who dislike the subject, let them attend, if for no other purpose than to encourage and aid the "Course." Let it not be said that while Scranton, Wilkesbarre, Towanda, and Binghamton are each sustaining Lectures, the people of Montrose are too much occupied in chasing the "almighty dollar," to sustain a similar Course. I believe the Lectures will be well sustained. This is an intelligent community, and, if I mistake not, the people stand ever ready to help in any good cause. Let the Church, then, be filled next Wednesday evening.

A LOVER OF PROGRESS.

Meeting of Students.

At a meeting of the students of the Susquehanna Co. Classical and Normal School, Nov. 1st, 1859, the following preamble and resolutions were passed:

Whereas, The present term of the Susq. Classical and Normal School is drawing to a close, we, the students of said Institution, feel it a privilege to express the high esteem with which we regard our present efficient and much loved Principal, Prof. H. Brodhead, and we desire to render to him our unfeigned thanks for the kindness and unremitting interest he has ever manifested for us, and for the valuable instruction we have received under his supervision, by adopting the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we, the students of the Susq. Classical and Normal School, do appreciate the labors of our worthy Professor; that we are grateful for the unsparing pains manifested by him in the advancement of our moral and intellectual welfare; and that we are exceedingly gratified by the announcement that he is to remain with us during the coming term.

Resolved, That we render Prof. Brodhead every aid in our power in sustaining our school in a manner which shall be alike creditable to him and advantageous to ourselves, and that we heartily recommend him to the patronage of the people of our County.

Resolved, That in the selection of his assistant teachers Professor Brodhead has placed us under obligations both to himself and to the other teachers whose uniform kindness and continued labors for our improvement we fully appreciate and shall gratefully remember.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to Prof. H. Brodhead, and also published in the Student and county papers.

Take Notice.—The New York Observer of Oct. 20 says "The Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine has taken the highest premiums at all the Fairs of this season whenever exhibited. We may instance as already held, the United States Agricultural Fair, the Fair of the St. Louis Mechanical Association, the State Fairs of Maine, Vermont, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and numerous County Fairs. At the U. S. Fair held at Chicago about thirty varieties of machines were exhibited. The award to this machine was the usual medal as the highest premium and a special premium of a silver pitcher valued at $100."

☞ It is a common observation that there are more sufferers from debility among Americans, than can be found among any other civilized nation. The reason is obvious. We take too little exercise, and forget that the wants of the body in the absorbing pursuits of business. In all such cases, ordinary medicines can do little good. What is required is just such a tonic and invigorator as Dr. J. Hostetter has given to the world in his celebrated BITTERS. The weak and nervous denizen of the counting-house, the exhausted toiler upon the shop board, and the prostrated student of the midnight lamp, have found a wonderful specific in the "Bitters," and prefer it to more pretentious, but less efficacious medicines. But it should not be forgotten that the secret which has so magical in its influence upon a frame which is merely debilitated, is equally powerful in assailing nature to expel the most terrible forms of disease. Who would not give it a trial? Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

NEW GOODS. NEW GOODS.

AT THE NEW YORK BRANCH STORE OF

Guttenberg, Rosenbaum & Co.,

At Montrose and Susquehanna Depot, Pa.

THE undersigned have provided themselves with a large and splendid assortment of

Fall and Winter Stock of Goods:

Of which they boast of being the handsomest and cheapest in this section of the country. They also flatter themselves that they have the best facilities of obtaining Goods fresh from the market, and they are determined not to be undersold by any firm this side of New York city. In regard to

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

We would say, that being in this business largely at 24 Dey Street, N. Y. City, we can offer the public bargains not surpassed by any retail dealer in this section, as we can sell here at retail prices all sizes as those who go to New York and purchase at wholesale, and then bring them here and have to make a profit over that which they have already paid themselves. Call on us and we will prove you the facts.
