To School Directors. of the general school law (C, S: L & D. p. ployment of low priced, incompetent teachers 18), authorizes the State Superintendent (but it is an unwise and unprofitable policy every only on certain important conditions) to is way. Teachers examinations cannot build sue his warrant for the State appropriation to up the system, so long as those who merit she several school districts. It is in the following words, viz.

wing words, viz.
"Section 36. That as soon as the schools sation offered. of any district have been kept open and in ly forward the same to the Superintendent, the board of directors must be received by astrous. the department, before the warrant for the State appropriation can be issued. There is no hardship in these legal requirements, and they are absolutely necessary to the proper and successful administration of the system. It is true that some directors-whose promptness and fidelity in this respect are worthy of the highest commendation-make out their report in due form and in due time, after having received the appropriation; but as a general thing there is so much negligence as to time in forwarding the annual report, and so much carelessness and inaccuracy in preparing it, that in self-defence the Department can no longer extend the indulgence hertofore granted, and which seemed in some degree proper while school officers were get-ting accustomed to the act of 1854, and the changes which it made in the workings of the County Superintendents are not to mail the four months' certificate to the Department, unless accompanied by the district report; and they are particularly requested to examine both documents carefully to see that they are properly made out, and the different items correct. After the certificate and report reach the Department, they will be again carefully examined, and if found to be correct, the school warrant will be immediately made out and mailed to the Treasurer of the district; but if not properly filled up, they will be returned to the Secretary of the board for correction, and the warrant withheld until they come back again. It is in vain to hope for statistics that shall be worth the printing, unless this mode of procedure be adopted. The shabby reports complained of, are not confined to obscure rural districts, with directors of limited education, by some of the most striking examples have come from the hands of respectable lawyers and merchants, whose business habits and skill in arithmetic, as illustrated by their school reports, would not command much higher figures than 3 or 4, if presented at a teacher's examination. Directors should bear in mind that the district report cannot be made yout until the schools have closed for the year. The report embraces the whole year, and not a part of it; and as it is the official history of what the schools have been and done, for that period, the record cannot be truthfully made up, until after the schools have finished their

One district is not dependant upon the other. Therefore when any district has transmitted its certificate and report, the County Superintendent will immediately mail them to the Department, without waiting for other districts; the school term in some districts being only four or five months, while in others it is eight or ten, and some directors are more punctual than others.

The principal causelof the imperfect district reports, is the carelessness of the Secretary in keeping the minutes and accounts of the Board; There is no justification for this neglect, for the Secretary can be paid for his services; and if he is not, when he acceptathe office, he accepts its whole duties, absolutely and without reserve, and should either perform them or resign. With this timely notice that a bungling report will not procure the State appropriation, it is hoped that the respective Secretaries will take pains to keep their accounts and records in an intelligible and accurate manner, so that they nor their successors in office will have any difficulty in making out the annual report, from the recorded and documentary evidence in possession of the Board.

Blank District Reports: The blanks for the four months' certificates and district re ports for the current school year, are not printed yet, but will be within a short time, as soon as the statistical tables of the past year are finished, and the detailed examination of the last year's reports has been com plesed, and it has been ascertained what mindifications of the form, or additional instructions may be necessary. Superintendents will be duly notified by mail.

Teacher's Sheets : The new style of blankfor Teacher's Monthly Reports, will be furn ished to Teachers in the secretary of the Board. If he has note, he will apply to the County Superintendent, who is charged by law, with the duty of supplying the School Boards of his county (C. S. L. & D., page 21. No 61)

Teacher's Statistics: The "Recapulation" on the back of the Teucher's Monthly Report is intended to secure greater accuracy in the statistics of the schools. The "average daily attendance of pupils," means the average number of scholars attending daily during Teucher's Woges: Economy is always a commendable virtue in School Directors.pro vided it be the genuine article, and not blind parsimony. But the last place to economize is in the teacher's wages, and the directors cannot practice virtue in this direction, without losing vastly more than they hope to gain by the operation. Skillful and success ful teachers are entitled to full compensation and can fairly earn it; and if it cannot be had, they will as a matter of course go where they can get it, or quit the business; while half price teachers are a dear bargain although it only takes half as much money to pay them. To be sure, the district has paid out less cash, but what is paid is lost, for the teacher could not earn it, and the pupils have spent their time without being benefitted, and quantities, as their systems require; out it deprived of it for some time, they becomes a teacher is not a cheap teacher, and it is a injure them the first time they are liberally great misfortune that this fact is not more fed. generally understood. Keeping Pears.

The pear is a peculiar fruit in one respect, which should be always kept in mind, viz. that most varieties are much finer in flavor if picked from the tree and ripered in the house than if allowed to begoine fully matured on the tree. There are a lew exceptions to this rule, but they are very few. And on the other hand, we know a great many varieties which are only second or third rate, when ripened on the tree, but possess the highest and richest flavor figathered at the proper time, and allowed to mature in the house This proper season is easily known, fist, by the ripening of a few full grown, but worm caten specimens, which fall sooner from the tree; and, secondly, by the change of color, and the readiness of the stalk to part from its branch, on gently raising the fruit. The fruit then should be gathered-or so much of the erop as appears sufficiently matured—and spread out or sheldes in the fruit room; or upon the floor of the garret. Here it gradually assumed its full color, and becomes deliciously melting aid luscious. Many sorts which, ripened in the sun and open air, are rather dry, when ripened within doors are most abundantly meeting and juicy. They will also last for a considerably longer period if ripened in this way—maturing gradually as wanted for use and being thus beyond the risk of loss of injury by violent storms or high winds.

Winter dessert pears, should be allowed to hang on the tree as long as possible, until the nights become freezy. They should then be wrapped separately in paper, packed in kegs, barrels, or small boxes, and placed in a cool dry room, free feom frost. Some va-rieties, as the D'Aremberg, will ripen finely with no other care than placing them in bar rels in the cellar, like apples. But most kinds of the interwinter dessert pears should be brought into a warm apartment for a couple of weeks before their usual season of maturity. They should be kept covered, to maturity. They should be kept covered, to prevent shriveling. Many sorts that are comparatively tough, if ripened in a cold apartment, become very melting, buttery, and juicy, when allowed to mature in a room kept at a temperature of 60 or 70 degrees.—Dow

Manner of Milking. From an article on Dairy in the Furmer's Gazette, we make the following ex-"The manner of milking exerts a more powerful and lasting influence on the produc-tiveness of the cow than most farmers are aware of. That a spow and careless mike soon dries up the best of cows, every practi-cal farmer and dairy man knows. The first requisite of a good milker is, of course, utter cleanlings: Without this the milk is uncleanlines: Without this the milk is unendurable. The udder should, therefore, be carefully cleaned before milking commence.

The milker should begin gradually and gently, but should steadily increase the rapidity of the operation till the udder is emptied as ing a pail sufficiently large to hold all, without the necessity of changing. Cows are very sensitive, and the pail cannot be changed; nor can the unliking without leading the cow to can the milking without leading the cow to more or less withhold her milk. The utmost care should be taken to strip to the last drop and to do it rapidly, and not in a slow and negligent manner, which is sure to have it-effect on the yield of the cow. If any milk is left it is re-absorbed into the system, or else becomes caked, and diminishes the tend ency to secrete a full quantity afterwards — It gentle and mild treatment is observed and persevered in, the operation of milking appears to be one of pleasure to the animal, at undoubtedly is but if an opposite course is pursued-if, at every restless movement aused perhaps by pressing a sore teat, the animal is harshly spoken to—she will be likely to learn to kick as a habit, and it will be difficult to overcome it afterwards. To induce quietness and readiness to give down the milk freely, it is better that the cows should be fed at milking time with cut food or roots placed within their easy reach. The same person should milk the same cow reg.

It is a mistake by no means ancommon, a suffice that there is very little for the reeder to do during the summer months in the way of providing for the wants of his stock. It is true that the same unceasing care and watchfulness which are so imperatively demanded of the farmer during long and severe winters, are now indispensable; but the prudent and thoughtful breeder will not forget that even at this season, when the grass is green on every hillside, and the sleek coats and rapid growth of his animals, attest the richness and abundance of the pastures, there are important matters which require his attention. Chief among these we would mention the provision of a constant add abun dant supply of salt, and clear fresh water -The importance of providing salt for stock is almost universally understood, and there are comparatively few tarmers who neglect it, but it is a common mistake to feed it at it-

The best rule for salting animale is to keep it constantly before them, and they will ther take it in such quantities, and only in such quantities, as their systems require; but i

LIQUID GLUE. A W article every family meets, for eals by Sept. 18, 1866,

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Ir is a fact that, at some period, every mem ber of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has in-troduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfac-tion to all who have used it. The Bitters tion to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and by vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausca, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Billious A Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Districts have no equal.

Diarrhea, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation.

by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive orgaps, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind: then why not use an article known to be infall lible? All nations have their Bitters, as a pretotle? All nations have their Bitters, as a pre-ventive of disease and strengthener of the sys-tem in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation ema-nated, based upon, scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science. FEVER AND AGUE.—This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp of the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the ase of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above stated diseases can be contracted, ever in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Vears, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently, her strength must yield, child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hoscetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

ecommend their use in all cases of weakness. CAUTION .- We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for Hostetten's Celebrated Stonach Bitters, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. 3. Hostputer's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side to of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.
