A Query.—Mr. Editor:—SIR:—You have noticed the Herald's proposition, perhaps, to pay off our National debt of three thousand millions, by subscription. Also the Tribina's proposition that only one billion of it be paid by subscription.

Weat would the balance be Y. Girs.

What would the balance be?

About Wright:—J. J. Wright, a colored law student in the office of Judge Collies of link boro, and a teacher to the colored school here last winter, we understand is now practicing law in Norfolk, Virginia. This is reorganizing society in Old Virginia. Luxive Union.

Legal Mottdays .- The Legislature of this State bas established the following as the legal holidays:
toy day recommended by the President of the luttle States as a day of fasting or thankegiving, the 4th of July, the 25th of December, the 1st of January, and the 22d of February.

Progressing.—The Oil Company's works at the Sait Spring, Franklin, are nearly completed, and drilling will commence in a few days. The engine is on the ground, the derrick built, and as soon as Sayre Brothers complete a balance wheel for the works, operations will commence.

Gipsics.—A party of those strange people have been stopping near Mount Prospect House for the last few days, and have just transferred their quarter to the west side of the Susquehanna. They find some persons who display sufficient simplicity to react to them for the purpose of having their formuse told.—Binghamton Republican.

toming Home.—We are pleased to meet in sour streets from day to day the familiar faces of many who have for years been absent fighting the battles down country. Having been mustered out of the service the boys are now hastening home to enjoy the fruits of their victories. We trust that ar an early may some steps will be taken toward a public recognition of their services.

Discontinuing Newspapers.—Many Postmast its are in the habit of returning papers to publishers when not taken out of the office. This is not what is required. The Postoffice regulations require Postmasters to write to publishers, not only notifying them that the papers are not taken, but see giving the reasons, when ascertainable within they are not taken.

Mrs. Harrison Brown. We have before us the adda it of George Charles Kent, sworn and substituted before M. J. Decker, J. P., June 7th, 1865. sented before M. J. Decker, J. P., June 7th, 1865, to the correctness of the statement by said Kent, a tashed in the REPUBLICAN of May 20th, of a conversation with Mrs. Harrison Brown concerning the assistation of President Lincoln. He states in the affidant that Mrs. Brown assured him that she meant what she said, and also that, to the best of the recollection, Fannie Brown was not present curing the whole of the conversation.

School Month.—How many days constitute a School Month has been a disputed question between teachers and directors for the last six or each years. The Legislature, at its last session, deaded the matter by enacting that twenty-two days shall constitute the School Month, but that Saturdars should form no part of the twenty-two days that is, the schools cannot be kept open on Saturdars in the members of a Board of School Directors and the members of a Board of School Directors those, they might appropriate two Saturdars of — . . . . . . those, they might appropriate two Saturdays of each month for Teachers' Institutes, which two Saturdays, if so appropriated, may be counted as a part of the twenty-two days.

Mousehold Poems.—By Henry W. Longfellow, with illustrations by John Olbert, Birket Foster, and John Absolon. Boston: Tecknor & Fields, 1865.

The series of Companion Poets for the People, of which the present is the initial volume, has been seron by the publishers, to answer an almost unitersal demand for cheap literature of a high class. The plan of the series is to present the choicest and most deservedly popular poems of the best poets in a tasteful and elegant style, and at the same time at a price so low as to bring the series within the reach of every household. The present volume contains all of Mr. Longfellow's shorter poems of a domest nature, with illustrations by leading English ara nature, with itristrations by leading English ar-tists. The next volume—"Songs for all Seasons," which will be issued June 15th,) will contain the transite lyrics and songs which are scattered through the pages of Tennyson. The series will be-come very popular with the general reader.

Fourth of July.—Such a "4th" as we anticipate is not on record. The tolls of immense armies are crowned with victory and glory; and the labors of the Aid Seclety are to culminate in rendering "honor to whom honor is due." To this end the ladies of the Montrose Aid propose to give a dimer, on the Fourth of July next, to all the returned soldiers of Susquehanna County who will accept the invitation here by tendered. To organize our afforts for the occasion a special call is made for a FVLL meeting of the Society on Thursday the 15th last. To afford us some idea of the number to be entertained, and also to procure a list of our guests for preservation, it is desirable that each returned to the recording all who have been honorably discharged during the war) should report himself by otter or otherwise to M. B. Helme, esq., as early as possible, giving his Company and Regiment, upon which he will be tapplied with a ticket. Citizens $150,000 to the content of the company and properly our plan are requested to furnish us material, each, or personal assistance in perfecting our arrangements.

They contain contributions from the ablect writers of the different political parties in the British bands, and while some of their go out of their way little to show their especial late and envy toward our own great Republic, we can partially overdook this, now that we neither need to court the layor nor tear the displeasure of our neighbors across the Atlantic.

Preserves and Non-Reporting Conserves.
By the terms of an act of Congress approved the 3d day of March, 1833, deservers from the army and conscripts who have failed to report to the proper officers, are placed in a world plight. If we read the terms of the act of Congress aright, all those referred to therein, have forfeited their citizenship, and are to all intents and purposes, in the position of aliens debarred from the exercise of all political rights and the holding of offices of trust and profit under the Government. The act of Congress distinctly declares, that.

"All who have deserted the military or naval service of the United States, who shall not return to said service or report themselves to a Provost Marshal within sixty days after the proclamation bereinafter mentioned, shall be deemed and taken to have voluntarily relinquished and forfeited their rights to become citizens; and such deserters shall be forever incapable of holding any office of trust or profit under the United States, or of exercising any rights of citizens thereof; and all persons who shall hereafter desert the military or raval service, and all persons who, being duly enrolled, shall depart the jurisdiction of the district in which he is enrolled, or go beyond the limits of the United States with the intent to avoid any draft into the military or naval service duly ordered, shall be liable to the penalties of this section. And the President is hereby anthorized and required forthwith, on the passage of this act, to issue his proclamation setting forth the provisions of this section, in which proclamation tile President is requested to notify all deserters returning within skryd days, as aforesaid, that they shall have served for a period of time equal to their original term of enlistment."

On the 10th of March, 1865, the President of the United States issued his proclamation as directed by the law above quoted. There is no mistaking the law. Its terms and its penalt
