AN ELECTION-DAY ANECLOTE; DY PAUL CREYTON. On the morning of the election, Mr. Trimmer, one of the candidates for the office of constable, in a town out west, said to his confidential serving-man, "You must keep your eyes open to-day, Jerry. Always see what's to be done, and do it. Remember that the saving of one vote may put ne into office. And one thing in particular I want you to bear in mind. There'll be some speechifying, and of course, I'll be called ou; so, the moment you hear my name proposed, I want you and your friends to be ready with three cheers.

Jerry had a thick skull, and brain; but after considerable scratching of his cranium, Business ards, 4 lines or less, he brightened up, and said that he under- Yearly Advertisements, not over 4 squares. stood his master perfectly, and that he could depend upon him.

you try. Now do your work; and I'll re- patch. ward you. And, Jerry-Don't forget the three cheers."

The polls were opened. At first, the election was dull business, but towards the middle of the forenoon, the people began to assemble and considerable excitement was raised. The party to which Mr Trimmer belonged made the Red Tavern their head quarters. Liquor was drank in the barroom, and speeches made on the steps, all for the public good. \Mr. T.immer's purse was opened, and so was his mouth. He treated the crowd to bad liquor and worse harrangues; while Jerry at the same time was making himself useful. Affairs prospered favorably, when, atter a number of speeches had been made from the door steps somebody called for Trimmer !" "Trimmer! Trimmer !" echoed the

Now was the critical moment. The candidate for constable had done his share of talking that day, but this was the first time he had been called upon for a speech. He pressed through the crowd, and reached the open space allotted to the speakers. "Trimmer! Trimmer!" cried a small boy

Trimmer bowed, and attempted a smile But he had set his heart on the three cheers, and he needed them to encourage him. After some hesitation, however, he -oegan:

"Fellow citizens!-" A dead silence followed.

Hem!-This day is one-of immense importance to the country !"

Trimmer glanced bis eyes around him for some manifestation of aprobation.-How he carsed the stupid Jerry in his heart, for not breaking the embarrassing silence with tumpltuous applause!" A day, fellow gitizens

To illustrate the use of the GALVANIO BELT, suppose the case of a person afflicted with that bined civilization, DYSPETSIA, or any other Chronic or Nericos Disorder. In ordinary cases, stimulants are three which, by their action on the nerves and muscles of the stomach, afford temporary relief, but which leave the stomach, afford temporary relief, but which leave the action thus excited has cessed. Now compare the with the effect resulting from the application of the GALVANIC BELT. Take a Dyspeptic, sufferer, even the worst symptoms of an attack, and simply it is to Belt around the Body, using the Magnetic Fluid as directed. In a short period the insemble perspiration will act of the positive element of the Belt, thereby causings of vanic circulation which will pass on to the negative, and thence back again to the positive, thus keeping spaces tinuous Galvanic circulation throughout the spications of the most sovere cases of DYSPETSIA are FER.
