

SALMAGUNDI.

A Railroad Incident. There's nothing like an obliging disposition, I thought to myself when traveling in a railway car from Boston to Worcester...

The gentleman got upon his feet and began to rub his eyes, but the young man forced him along to the door of the car and gently landed him on the road side.

When we stopped at the next station, a lady began to rummage under the seat where Captain Holmes had been sitting, and exclaimed in great alarm, "I can't find my bundle."

"Was it done up in a piece of brown paper?" I asked.

"Yes, it was, to be sure," said the lady. "Then said I, 'that young man yonder throw it out of the window at the last stopping place.'"

"This led to a scene between the obliging young man and the old lady, which ended by the former taking the address of the latter, and promising to return the package in a few days, provided he should ever find it."

"Well," said the young man, "catch me doing a good-natured thing again. What can I do for the old woman if I cannot find her bundle?"

"Whizz went the steam, ding, ding, ding, went the bell, the sparks and the cars flew as they say, like lightning, until we stopped again at the next station— I forget the name of it now, but it would be of no consequence if I could remember it."

"An old gentleman started up and began to poke under the seat where Captain Holmes had sat."

"What are you looking for," I inquired. "Looking for," said the old gentleman, "why I am looking for my bundle of clothes."

"Was it tied up in a yellow pocket handkerchief?" I asked.

"Yes and nothing else," said the old man.

"Good heavens!" exclaimed the obliging young man, "I threw it out of the cars at Needham, I thought it belonged to Captain Holmes."

"Captain Holmes!" exclaimed the old fellow, with a look of despair, "who is Captain Holmes? That bundle contained all my clean clothes that I was to wear at my son's wedding to-morrow morning. Good Lord! good Lord! what can I do?"

"Nothing could be done—but to give his address to the obliging young man as before, and console himself with a promise that the bundle should be returned to provide it was ever found. The obliging young man was now in despair, and made another solemn vow to attempt to dig me out again. The next station was his landing place, and as he went towards the door of the car, he saw a silver-headed cane, which he took hold of and read the inscription on it—'Moses Holmes, East Needham.'"

"Well!" again exclaimed the obliging young man, "if here is 'Captain Holmes' came."

"Yes," said a gentleman, who got in at the last station, "and the old fellow is lame too. He will miss his stick."

"Do you know him?" inquired the obliging young gentleman.

"Know him! I should think so," replied the gentleman; "he is my uncle."

"And does he live at East Needham?" asked the obliging young man.

"Of course he does; he never lived anywhere else."

"Well, if that don't beat everything," said the obliging young gentleman, "and I am off to him at Needham, just five miles in other side of his home."

WILL.—We like the strong robust expression. No one having uttered it in incertitude was over a mean, cringing man, although they rose in masses to pull him down. He speaks, and the indomitable will prevails. His enemies fall before him. He rides forth a conqueror. Would you be great? Would you be distinguished in your literary or scientific efforts? Look not mournfully at your lot, but with 'I will' breathing from your lips, and burning from a great heart, you cannot but prevail—show us the man who never rose higher than a food-stool, and whose influence died with his breath, and we will point to a groping, cringing wretch, who reeled at the approach of a spider, and faded beneath a thunder cloud.

THIS Institution has one of the most desirable locations in Northern Pennsylvania. Kingston, Luzerne county, Pa. The school is situated on a fine farm of 100 acres, and is accessible by daily stages from all parts of the country. The school has been in session for several years, and its patronage has been liberal and constantly increasing.

Through the munificence of Wm. Swetland, Esq., an additional library building 40 by 48 feet, and three stories high, has just been completed, and by the liberality of Hon. John Bennett, the school is now furnished with a valuable and complete library of books, and with the most complete and astronomical apparatus of the Institution as regarded, by all who have knowledge of it, as one of the highest and ample for full completion.

The Board of Instruction for the ensuing year is as follows: Rev. HENRY NELSON, A. M., PRINCIPAL. Rev. JOHN C. SMITH, A. M., Teacher of Mathematics. Philip T. Myers, A. B., Teacher of Mathematics.

Rev. C. H. STANTON, Teacher of Natural Sciences. James W. Wooten, Assistant. Miss Mary Dietz, Precipitator, and Teacher of Modern Languages.

Miss Elizabeth Bell, Assistant Teacher of Modern Languages. Mrs. Jane S. Nelson, Teacher of Drawing and Painting.

All of the above teachers are employed in the school for the purpose of teaching the English, Latin, and French. The former devotes such a portion of each day to his class as may be necessary, and the latter to his class of each day. The public will probably be surprised to learn that the school is under the special instruction and supervision of a very full board of teachers and Trustees, who will do well to enter as soon as they can to promote the most thorough improvement of all the pupils.

The expenses of this Institution are moderate. Tuition exclusive of ornamental branches, from $3 to $5.50 per quarter. Board $1.50 per week, washing 35c per dozen, and fuel 50c per week. The school is open to the public, and is a most desirable place for the education of the youth of this country.

SPRINGVILLE ACADEMY. The Fall term of this Institution will commence on the 22nd day of September, inst., under the care of Rev. A. H. SLOAT, A. M.

PRICES OF TUITION. The Primary Department, embracing Reading, Writing, Spelling, Arithmetic, Geography, and Grammar, $2 50. The higher branches of the English Department, $3 00. French and Drawing, each, 4 00.

Those who wish to prepare for College, Teaching, or the active duties of life, will here find every requisite for their education. The public will probably be surprised to learn that the school is under the special instruction and supervision of a very full board of teachers and Trustees, who will do well to enter as soon as they can to promote the most thorough improvement of all the pupils.
