The Electorial Vote of the States.

The Judiciary committee of the Senate of the United States, with a view of putting to rest all doubts on the subject, have made a report in that body, that no additional legislation is required in regard to the new apportionment; therefore they recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the number of the electoral votes to which each State shall be entitled in the election of President and Vice President of the United States, in 1852, shall be equal to the number of Senators and Representatives to which each of said States will be entitled by the apportionment under the enumeration of 1850, as provided by the act 'for taking the seventh and subsequent censuses,' approved May 23, 1850.

The following statement exhibits the changes made in the electoral votes of the State, by the census of 1850, which the resolution adopts as the basis of their apportionment:

A man Murdered.

On Sunday, 11th inst., two small boys of Mr. Doubt, Inn keeper some three miles this side of Drums on the Hazleton and Wilkesbarre Turnpike, discovered the body of a man lying on his back behind a log near the Turnpike—about a mile this side of Doubt's tavern.

Esquire Santee of Butler summoned a Jury of inquest and made an examination of the body. We are informed by a gentleman from there to-day—that from the examination, the man was robbed and murdered. His scull was entirely broken in—his front teeth were knocked loose—the teeth broken in, and a stone of some fifty pounds weight was laying upon his arm, which had evidently been thrown upon his head while down, and rolled over upon his arm in which position it was found with the body. The body indicated a man of fifty years. His hair was gray. He appeared to be about 5 1-2 feet in stature.

A handkerchief was found in his pocket marked I. T. His clothes were of a fine texture, and the man had the appearance of being well dressed.

We are unable to gather all the particulars.

We were told that the Jury were unanimous in the opinion that he had been murdered. We will try to gather more information, that will lead to the identification of the body, and be the means of informing the friends of the deceased. The body, it was thought must have lain there for two months or more. The head and neck were partially decomposed. The features were very much bruised, and the face of the deceased could not have been recognized by persons knowing him when alive. There was blood upon his clothes. The lining of the pockets of his pantaloons were left turned out and having the appearance of their having been rifled. Breast and waistband of his pantaloons were unbuttoned. We hope this mysterious affair may be ferretted out. Our exchanges will do a favor to give notice of the case—that the murdered man's family, if he have one, may be informed of these circumstances.

The place where the body was found is about fourteen miles from Wilkes-Barre, on the Turnpike above mentioned.—Luzerne Democrat.

Fearful Steamboat Explosion.

The Buffalo Republic has some additional particulars of the explosion of the steamer Glencoe, at St. Louis. It says:

A later dispatch informs us that not less than 150 lives have been lost by this awful calamity. The scene is described as heartrending in the extreme. When the explosion took place, the boat was completely rent asunder, and human bodies, mangled and whole, and pieces of the wreck, flew up to a great height in the air.

Numbers were seen struggling in the water for a few instants, whose wounds were such that they soon sunk to rise no more.

The passengers and crews on the other boats at the landing crowded to the sides of their vessels in order to see the arrival of the ill-fated Glencoe, many of them were killed and a great number terribly injured. The shrieks and wailings of the wounded—the red glare of the fire, and the consternation of the surrounding crowd beggar description. It was an awful scene.

The names of the passengers on the Glencoe, or those on the other boats who were killed and wounded, are not yet ascertained.

The North Branch Canal.

The certainty of the speedy completion of the North Branch Canal has already given great satisfaction to the people along the line. This branch of the public improvements, will bring to the notice of the whole State the resources of a country inexhaustable in extent and beyond estimation in value. For many years the people of the North have been deprived of the proper facilities of reaching this market, and had it not been for the energy and perseverance of a few talented gentlemen in the North, this work would continue no longer uncompleted. We are glad to observe that the proper credit is being awarded to those who labored for the appropriation.—The following from the Wyoming Democrat so just and merited, that we fully endorse the compliment:—Pensylvanian.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.'—All who have labored in procuring an appropriation to place beyond doubt the completion of the North Branch Canal, are entitled to credit for the same. But no one toiled more faithfully and assiduously to bring about this long desired result, than C. L. WARD, Esq., of Bradford. To his untiring devotion to the great interests of the North, he brought ability, a mind well stored with all the important facts connected with this improvement, and this knowledge was at his own expense, put in useful shape, by being printed in pamphlets and statements, and laid upon the desks of the members, as a ready and reliable reference, to show the folly of the State to longer hesitate in regard to the prosecution of this valuable work. It is but justice that the public should be apprised of the valuable services of this man—so that he may be rewarded at least with the gratitude of those he has benefited.

Inaugural Address of President Roberts of Liberia.

The late files of Liberia papers contain the inaugural address of the Hon. J. J. Roberts on his re-election for a third time to the office of President, which is a most creditable document, and will favorably compare with similar documents from many of the Governors of our States. We make the following extract from it:

"It is no fiction but a veritable royality. A Christian state has risen into existence, and is now in successful operation, on the barbarous coast of benighted Africa; and it does appear to me that a doubt should no longer remain as to the designs of Heaven in returning us to our fatherland. To this end Liberia is attracting the attention of the whole civilized world. The eyes of all are upon her, critically observing every step she takes.

"The people of Liberia are unquestionably solving the greatest of political problems, the capacity of the African race for self-government and I have not the slightest doubt that under God, Liberia is the chosen instrument for working out this problem, and restoring to Africa a government, a name, and the blessings of civilization and Christianity. And gentlemen, by the Divine blessing, you have already accomplished much for down-trodden Africa, and have every encouragement to persevere in your efforts to carry forward the work committed to your hands. Will it be asked, what have you accomplished? The answer is at hand, and though the enemies of Liberia may attempt it, cannot be again said.

"You have successfully warred against that curse of all curses, the detestable slave trade, and by your exertions have aided in effectually driving from those shores these monsters in human shape who once infested this coast. You have relieved thousands from innumerable distresses consequent upon the ravages of cruel wars, instigated by heartless slave dealers, and with other thousands brought them within the pale of civilization. And above all, from Liberia has gone forth the light of Christianity, penetrating the very depths of heathen superstition and idoltry, so that in every direction may be seen the sons of the forest giving earnest heed to the story of the Cross."

IMPORTANT BILL.—The following bill passed finally in the House of Representatives:

Be it enacted, &c. That no warrant for the execution of any convict by hanging shall be issued within one year after the sentence of death shall have been passed, and that after that period, if no circumstances shall have come to light to render doubtful the correctness of the verdict of the jury in the matter, the Governor shall then issue his warrant for such execution. Provided, That from the time of conviction to the time of execution the convict shall be confined in one of the penitentiaries for the safe-keeping of convicts of this Commonwealth, as is now provided by laws.

SECTION 2. That upon the rendition of any verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree," against any person or persons charged there with in any court of this Commonwealth, it shall and may be lawful for the jury rendering the same in their discretion, to recommend the person or persons so charged and convicted to the mercy of the court—And every person duly convicted of murder in the first degree whom the jury so convicting shall recommend to the mercy of Court, shall be sentenced to undergo an imprisonment in one of the State penitentiaries, as the case may be and to be kept in separate or solitary confinement at labor for a period not less than fifteen nor more than fifty years.

The bill reported yesterday, to bring into the market certain lands heretofore set apart for the location of land warrants was passed

THE NEW POSTAGE BILL.

Mr OLDS, (dem.) of Ohio, asked the House to discharge the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union from the further consideration of the bill to amend the act to modify and reduce the rates of postage: He said it merely effected newspapers postage and it was desirable that the proposed arrangements should go into operation on the 30th of June. Objection was made.

THE CONTESTED SEAT FROM PENNSYLVANIA.

Mr. ASHE, (whig) of N. C., from the committee on Elections, made a report in the Pennsylvania contested election case H. B. Wright (dem) against Henry M. Fuller, (whig) and declaring the last named gentleman not entitled to the seat he now occupied.

TOMB OF WASHINGTON'S MOTHER.—A correspondent of the Lowell Courier, writing from Virginia, says that while in Fredericksburg, which was for some time the residence of Washington while a young man, and where he was made a Mason, he had the curiosity to examine the house in which washington lived. It is a capacious brick edifice, in most excellent repair, and though untenanted now, bids fair, with proper foresight, to last sound for many years. The ceilings and walls are adorned with elaborate stucco work, the stairways wide and the hall very commodious. Back of this is the tomb of Washington's mother, which is in a sadly neglected and dilapidated condition. For some reason or other, it has never been finished, a part of the marble lying in a rough state not ten feet from the foundation on which it should rest, and thus in the very birth State of the Immortal Washington, constant dishonor and disrespect are shown the sacred ashes of his mother. Her tomb is unfinished to this day.

BARNUM IS "ONE OF THEM."—Editor of the Sun: Your neighbor of the Herald is in great error in saying that I have been defeated in the Connecticut election. The rummies have got the worst of it. I only pay taxes caused by rum. They pay taxes and drink the filthy poison besides. The late election has proved what I have continually asserted, viz: that the Democratic party, proper is not the Rum party. Hundreds and thousands of Whigs forsook party to vote for rum—while a quarter of the same number of Temperance Democrats took the bitter pill of Whiggery for the sake of Temperance. I can dispense with the Maine Law with less sacrifice than drinking men can. Yours, P. T. BARNUM.

BALTIMORE, April 22d.

HORRID MURDER.—James McCowan, residing in Sarah Ann St., was murdered last evening by Allen Atkinson, his brother in law.

It appears that the parties had quarreled during the evening, and upon McCowans retiring to bed, Atkinson went to his room, and while asleep beat his brains out.

He has been arrested and committed to answer.

THE GREATEST HISTORICAL and Allegorical Print of the Age.

In commemmoration of that most important event in the American revolution, the British Surrendering their Arms to General Washington after their defeat at Yorktown, Virginia, October, 1781.

THE engraving is executed by Tanner, Vallance, Kearney & Co., from an original drawing by J. F. Renault, and published by Benjamin Tanner, Engraver, Philadelphia. The size of the print is 25 by 34 inches, and was originally published to subscribers at $12 in the sheet.

Explanation.

THE HISTORY.—In the first and grand plan are exhibited three large groups of the principal officers, who were present at the transaction; with a faithful likeness of each.

In the first group is seen General Washington, General Rochambrau, General Lincoln, Colonel Hamilton, an old Farmer eager to contemplate the scene, Billy the servant, and the Horse of General Washington.

In the second group are American and French officers; General Knox, Secretary Wilson, the Duke de Luazun, and the Marquis de La Fayette.

The third group is descriptive of the British surrendering their arms. Lord Cornwallis, General O'Hara, Commodore Simmons, Colonel Tarleton, with two fingers cut off, Lieutenant Colonel Ralph Abercombie, Lieutant Colonel Dundas, Lord Chewton, &c. Lord Cornwallis appears presenting his sword to the first General Officer he meets, but General Washington is pointed out to him as the only person to whom he is to surrender his sword.

On the heights and in the distance are the different armies and crowds of spectators. The House of Secretary Wilson, occupied by Lord Cornwallis and his staff, which was bombarded and pierced with balls; the Marquis de Lafayette having remarked that they were carrying dishes for the dinner of Lord Cornwallis, asked leave of General Washington to serve him a dish of his own cooking, and immediately after several bomb-shells fell through the roof on the table, and wounded some and dispersed the party.

THE ALLEGORY.—On the left is erected a monument in honor of those illustrious heroes who sacrificed their lives and fortunes to insure to their citizens the liberty and independence they now enjoy.

Published at $3 by Wm. B. Lane, Philadelphia, and to be had at the office of the "American Courier," No. 141 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, as premiums to that paper.

THE FLYING SHIP.

A chance to secure a cash income of $10 to $20 per week for twenty years, by the investment of five dollars in advance.

IT is extensively known that the undersigned has by theory and practical experiments so fully demonstrated the practicability of aerial navigation that all who have duly examined the subject are convinced; and no person, even those whose interests are adverse to its success, can offer a word of rational argument against it. Several model machines have been constructed, and each of them has operated successfully; and one of them, 16 feet long, carried a small steam engine, by the power of which the machine was propelled; and, being guided by its own helm, travelled rapidly through the air, even against a breeze of wind, in direct lines or circles, according to the adjustment of its helm. This machine was witnessed and applauded by hundreds in New York and Boston, and notices thereof were published in several newspapers of those cities at the time. Since those experiments were made, the inventor has made additional improvements whereby the invention is now perfected. And it appears certain that a safe and durable aerial ship (or aeroport) capable of carrying one hundred and fifty passengers at a speed of ninety miles an hour with more perfect safety than either steamboats or railroad cars, may be constructed for $15,000, and that the expense of running it will not exceed $25 per day. This aeroport will make the trip to California or to Europe in two days; and will be patronized with abundance of business (more than 50,000 persons are now ready to engage passages) at 200 per passage, which will amount to 30,000 per trip, each way; or 60,000 per week, besides 4,000 for carrying the mails.—If this aeroport is owned in shares of 5 dollars each, a single share will produce an income of 20 dollars per week.

It is ascertained, by a minute and careful estimate, that an aeroport 150 feet long and capable of carrying five persons at a speed of 60 miles an hour, may be constructed for 1,500 dollars. Now, having been disappointed of the funds requisite to put this invention in operation on a scale of practical utility, I propose that if 300 persons will subscribe five dollars each, payable when the whole amount of 1,500 shall have been subscribed, I will forthwith construct this pioneer aeroport, (which may be done in six weeks;) and when this is put in operation I can readily command the requisite funds for constructing a large aeroport as above mentioned. And I will so arrange that each subscriber, on the payment of the said five dollars, shall be furnished with a regular title deed, which shall entitle the holder thereof to one three-hundreth part of the first large aeroport that shall be constructed, and of all benefits and emoluments that may be derived therefrom for twenty years; the said aeroport to be kept in repair without expense to the shareholders. Subscribers will not be restricted to single shares, but each may hold as many as he is disposed to subscribe for at the first; and will receive dividends accordingly, which, according to the foregoing estimate, will be 20 dollars per week on each share, payable weekly or monthly. Subscribers may send their names to my address by mail, (prepaid,) and the same will be duly entered on the subscription book, (which already contains about fifty names of subscribers in this city,) and notice will be sent (prepaid) to each when the three hundred shares shall have been taken; and the money may be sent either to me or to the firm of Sheldon, Withers & Co., (well known bankers of this city,) who will on the receipt thereof forward to each subscriber a title-deed, as above stipulated, and will act as treasurers for the shareholders, and transfer the money to me as the progress of the work requires. Each subscriber will be furnished semi-monthly with a printed news-letter, reporting the progress of the work.

Editors or publishers of newspapers who will give the foregoing prospectus an insertion within three weeks, and send a copy thereof to the undersigned, shall be entitled to one share in the large aeroport, and be furnished with a title-deed or five dollars in cash forthwith.

RUFUS PORTER.

Washington, April 1, 1852.

P.S. It is confidently believed that by this invention unexplored regions may be examined, and the light of civilization and Christianity may be disseminated through benighted lands with facility; and that the world will honor the names of those who now subscribe to aid the introduction of an invention calculated to confer immense benefits upon the entire human race.
