Additional Relative to the Gale on Lake Erie.

Supposed loss of the Propeller Powhattan, with all on board—Various other Wrecks discovered—Great number of Lives lost, etc.

Buffalo, Nov. 15, 1852.

Private advices received from Dunkirk, report, that the propeller Powhattan foundered on the lake during the late storm, and that all on board including a number of passengers, perished. Her books and papers were washed ashore. We have received nothing as authentic as yet, but the foregoing information is probably too true.

Advices from the West come in slowly. A sail vessel, bottom up, is reported near Fairport. Her name is unknown and the crew is supposed to be lost.

At the mouth of the Detroit river, ten or twelve vessels were ashore, but most of them got off with slight damage.

The schooner Eagle is a total wreck, at the mouth of the Welland canal, with a cargo of 6300 bushels of wheat, all lost. One hand was drowned, but the rest escaped after much suffering.

The Canadian schooners Sovereign and Lady Bagot are ashore in Lake Huron. The former is a total wreck.

The propeller went ashore, but by discharging her cargo, got off and arrived here last night.

A report is in circulation that a steamer was seen on fire on the north shore, off Cleveland last night, but we have no reliable particulars.

How Gen. Pierce Received the News of His Election.

A Concord correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer, dating on the 3d inst., writes as follows:

The lightning line assured us last night, about half past 11 o'clock, that Franklin Pierce is President of the United States. The democracy were wild with delight, notwithstanding they had never a moment's doubt on the subject. The only self-possessed and quiet man in Concord was Frank Pierce himself.—He received his victorious bulletins with scarcely a change of countenance. He went quietly to bed as he always does, a christian and a sober man. It is said in Concord, by those who know him well, that he will spend his Presidential $25,000 every year. The health of Mrs. Pierce is too feeble for house-keeping and so, with their only child, a smart boy of a dozen summers, they board in the private family of Mr. W. Williams, a respectable citizen, engaged in the extensive manufactory at this place, of Coaches, Omnibuses and Railroad

☞ A brutal murder was discovered at Buffalo on the 2ad inst. An old man named Jean Leblanc, between sixty and seventy years of age, who kept a grocery store on the corner of St. Philip and Caliborne streets, was found dead in his bed, his body gashed and mutilated in a most horrid manner, no less than forty-five wounds being found upon it.—The discovery was made by a baker, who had been in the habit of furnishing the deceased with bread. Nineteen wounds were visible before the clothing of the deceased was removed, evidently made with some sharp instrument, and it was inferred that two or three men must have assailed the old man at once.

Love and Murder.

In Harrison township, Warren county, Ohio, on the evening of the 25th ult., Jeremiah Eskridge shot at, and hit Mary Spangler, and immediately after, placing the muzzle of the pistol against his breast, over the heart, discharged the contents of the other barrel, the ball passing through his heart and lodging in the skin back, just under the skin. He was found with both hands clenched hold of the clothes over the wound. He struggled some three quarters of an hour before he died. Eskridge had been paying attention to the girl for some months, she giving him little or no encouragement. He asked her mother for her in marriage, which she refused, saying that she was too young, she being only some fourteen years of age. The girl, at last accounts, was improving very rapidly, and it is supposed will recover.

Women Murdered by their Husbands.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14, 1852.

A woman named Trendway was killed by her husband on Thursday last at Halltown, four miles from Salem N. J. She had sued him for separate maintenance, and having obtained a verdict in her favor, he repaired to the house where she boarded, and fired at her through the window, killing her instantly, the ball passing through her heart.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 13 1852.

A man named James Mirley, living near Fredonia, killed his wife last night, by beating her brains out with a hatchet. He is supposed to be insane.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY SLAVE CASE.—Verdict for the Plaintiffs.—We learn from the Philadelphia Sun of Tuesday last, that the jury in the case of Oliver et al vs. Weakley et al after being out from Thursday morning of last week, until Saturday evening last, came into court and sent for the Judge and clerk to receive their verdict, not desiring to remain locked up over Sunday. The judge and clerk soon made their appearance and received their verdict. It was for the plaintiffs, in the sum of $2800 against Cauffman, and not guilty as to the other two defendants, Stephen Weakly and Philip Breechbill. The trial commenced on the 19th of last month. It was for harboring and assisting thirteen fugitive slaves to escape from their masters. This action settles the fact that juries in the United States Court will give verdicts against persons who aid in the escape of fugitive slaves, although some of the jurors are taken from infected districts of country.—Democrat, Nov. 4.

HO FOR A STRIKE!—All honest men who won't go in debt, who won't get a living without earning it, who won't be nose led by Fashion, are invited to meet for consultation. We have no riotous intentions—we are law abiding men—but we want our rights. It is our right to wear a hat till the nap is all gone from the edge of the crown; but our oppressors oblige us to get a new one every six months, or a year at most, and for our lives we cannot tell the new one from the old, except by the date on the hatter's card inside. It is our right to wear an overcoat two years, if it is sound and strong, although it has turned grey and the button holes need repairing. But we cannot do it unless it be on rainy days, and the tyrants thus cheat us out of a fortnight's hard earned wages. It is our right to hire a pew in the gallery of the church, where we can hear equally well, and be as fervent in our devotions; but we must pay four times as much, and sit in a prominent place below, and spend another week's wages for the blance. We have a right to rent no more room than we use, but the world demands one parlor or two for its use! and we must pay one hundred dollars more for rent to oblige the world. We have a right to live within our means, but Fashion clutches us by the throat and commands us to sign mortgages and bonds and sealed notes, and we must do it.

Gentlemen, honest men, wise men, are not our wrongs intolerable? Let us strike for our rights and be free.—New York Times.

Relic of Antiquity.

In the report of the Agricultural Society of Berks County, we find the following notice of an ancient model for a mouse trap:

"The Committee have also given due attention to a remnant of antiquity labelled "model of a mouse trap supposed to have been used by Noah in the Ark—still in use among the Philistines and other low people, presented by Joseph Hohn, of Centre. In this there is also believed to be some slight inaccuracy, as the object of Noah, if the Committee are rightly informed, was to preserve rather than to destroy, any of the animals under his charge. If the design of this article was that indicated by the label it is but an indifferent recommendation of the invention, as is evident from the very numerous offspring of the animals it was intended to eradicate. Nor can it be better disposed of than by returning it into the hands of the Philistines, by whom it was probably deposited."

Banner Township.

We clip the following from the Monroe Democrat, and are willing to concede that Monroe is most clearly the banner county, and that Eldred is the banner township in this State:

Eldred, a township recently established in this county, at the late election voted as follows:

For Pierce and King	153
For Scott and Graham,	000

We doubt if this can be beaten by any township in the Union.

Gallant little Polk is the next on the list. She gives.

For Pierce and King,	139
For Scott and Graham,	1

Middle Smithfield is rather hard to beat. Her vote stands:

For Pierce and King,	298
For Scott and Graham,	6

And Jackson township is not slow. Her vote stands,

For Pierce and King,	100
For Scott and Graham,	6

Madame Sontag at Boston.

BOSTON, Nov. 14, 1852.

Madame Sontag's concert, on Saturday evening, was a crowded and brilliant affair. She proposes to give a full dress rehearsal on Wednesday morning.

☞ Thanksgiving will take place in Maine Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Gorgia, and Florida on the 25th inst. In New Hampshire on the 11th, Mississippi on the 14th, and South Carolina on the 19th.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last, Mr. Joseph Davis, a most worthy farmer, living near Muney, in Lycoming county, was killed by the falling of a tree. The Luminary says Mr. D., his brother and nephew, having treed a raccoon, proceeded to cut the tree down as it fell it lodged in a large dead hemlock without limbs, some three feet in diameter, which broke off near the ground, and falling back, struck Mr D., and litterally crushed him to atoms—leaving scarcely a remnant of the human, frame. Every bone in his body save one hand, the fore arm, and the two feet and lower parts of the legs, were broken and crushed to pieces. The heart, together with some of the other intestines, were forced from the body and found some three feet distant.

Died,

In St. Louis, on the morning of the 16th ult. of Cholera, ELLEN B., wife of James M. Ward, aged 25 years, formerly of New Milford, Susquehanna county, Penn'a.

The above announcement will sink deep into the hearts of the distant relatives and friends of the deceased. Mrs. W. in company with her husband, who is connected with the Pacific Railroad in this State, bid adieu to her home relatives and friends only a few days since; then she was in the enjoyment of health, and buoyant in spirits. When almost in sight of our city, she was attacked with that fatal disease which has carried off so many of our citizens during the past three years, and sunk beneath the iron grasp of death. To the relatives of the deceased it may be some consolation to know that every attention which could be shown her was kindly bestowed by ladies of this city and those on the boat, and she was attended by our most skillful physicians; but their kindness and skill was of no avail—death had marked her for his own, and gently she sank to sleep, to wake no more on earth. She left a child, which is too young to know its loss or a mother's love, and a kind and devoted husband, who deeply mourns her death.

"Dearest sister, thou hast left us—
Here thy loss we deeply feel:
But 'tis God that hath bereft us—
He can all our sorrows heal."

The only True Portrait of Washington.

Just Published, J. T. Welch's Magnificent cent

PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON.

Engraved, by permission, from Stuart's only original portrait in the Athenæum, Boston.

THIS superb picture, engraved under the superintendence of THOMAS SULLY, esq., the eminent and highly gifted artist, is the only correct likeness of Washington ever published. It has been characterized as the greatest work of art ever produced in this country. As to its fidelity, we refer to the letters of the adopted son of Washington, GEORGE WASHINGTON PARK CUSTIS, who says, "it is a faithful representation of the celebrated original," and to CHIEF JUSTICE TANEY of the Supreme Court of the United States, who says, "As a work of art its excellence and beauty must strike every one who sees it: and it is no less happy in its likeness to the Father of his country. It was my good fortune to have seen him in the days of my boyhood, and his whole appearance is yet strongly impressed on my memory—The portrait you have issued appears to me to be an exact likeness, representing perfectly the expression as well as the form and features of the face." And says SENATOR CASS, "It is a life-like representation of the great original." PRESIDENT FILLMORE says, "The work appears to me to have been admirably executed, and eminently worthy of the patronage of the public." Says MERCHANT, "the eminent portrait painter, and the pupil of Stuart, "your print, to my mind, is more remarkable than any other I have seen, for executing the whole individuality of the original portrait, together with the noble and dignified repose of air and manner which all who ever saw him considered a marked characteristic of the illustrious man it commemorates."

For the great merits of this picture, we would refer every lover of Washington to the portrait itself, to be seen at the office of this paper, and to the letters of the following artists, statesmen, jurists and scholars accompanying it.

ARTISTS.—Merchant and Elliott, of N. York; Neagle, Rothermel, and Lambdin, of Philadelphia; Chester Harding, of Boston; Charles Fraser, of Charleston, S. C.; and to the adopted son of Washington, Hon. G. W. P. Custis, himself an artist. STATESMEN.—His Excellency Millard Fillmore, Major General Winfield Scott, Hon. Geo. M. Dallas, Hon. William R. King, Hon. Daniel Webster, Hon. Lynn Boyd, Hon. Lewis Cass, Hon. Wm. A. Graham, Hon. John P. Kennedy, Hon. R. C. Winthrop, LL. D. JURISTS—Hon. Roger B. Taney, Hon. John Duer, Hon. John McLean, Hon.
