Indian Eloquence.

The following is one of the finest specimens of Indian eloquence we have ever read. It is from the memoirs of T. L. McKenny, head of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in 1842, a work published about that period, we believe. It is touching and beautiful; and the most eloquent efforts of Kossuth are hardly superior to this council speech of a North American Indian:

Speech of Col. Cobb, Head Mingo of the Choctaws, East of the Mississippi, in reply to the Agent of the United States.

Brother—We have heard your talk as from the lips of our father, the great white chief at Washington, and my people have called upon me to speak to you. The red man has no books, and when he wishes to make known his views, like his father before him, he speaks from his mouth. He is afraid of writing. When he speaks he knows what he says; the Great Spirit hears him. Writing is the invention of pale faces; it gives place to error and to feuds. The great Spirit talks—we hear him in the thunder—in the rushing winds and the mighty waters—but he never writes.

Brother—When you were young we were strong; we fought by your side, but our arms are now broken. You have grown large; my people have become small.

Brother—My voice is weak; you can scarcely hear me; it is not the shout of a warrior, but the wail of an infant. I have lost it in wailing over the misfortunes of my people. These are their graves; and in those aged pines you hear the ghosts of the departed. Their ashes are here, and we have been left to protect them. Our warriors are all gone to the far country west; but here are our dead. Shall we go, too, and give their bones to the wolves?

Brother—Two sleeps have passed since we heard you talk, and we have thought upon it. You ask us to leave our country and tell us it is our father's wish. We would not desire to displease our father. We respect him, and you his child.—But the Choctaw always thinks We want time to answer.

Brother—our hearts are full. Twelve winters ago our chiefs sold our country. Every warrior that you see here was opposed to the treaty. If the dead could have been counted, it could never have been made; but, alas! though they stood around they could not be seen or heard. Their tears came in the rain drops, and their voice in the wailing wind; but the pale-faces knew it not, and our land was taken away.

Brother—We do not now complain.—The Choctaw suffers, but never weeps.—You have the strong arm, and we cannot resist: but the pale face worships the Great Spirit. So does the red man. The Great Spirit loves truth. When you took our country you promised us land. There is your promise in the book. Twelve times have the trees dropped their leaves, yet we have received no land. Our houses have been taken away from us. The white man's plough turns up the bones of our fathers. We dare not kindle our fires; and yet you said we might remain, and you would give us land.

Brother—is this truth? But we believe now our great father knows our condition: he will listen to us. We are as mourning orphans in our country; but our father will take us by the hand. When he fulfills his promise we will answer his talk. He means well. We know it. But we cannot think now. Grief has made children of us. When our business is settled, we shall be men again, and talk to our father about what he has proposed.

Brother—You stand in the moccasins of a great chief; you spoke the words of a mighty nation, and your talk was long.—My people are small; their shadow scarcely reaches to your knee; they are scattered and gone; when I shout I hear my voice in the depth of the woods, but no answering shout comes back. My words, therefore, are few. I have nothing more to say, but to request you to tell what I have said to the tall chief of the pale faces, whose brother stands by your side.

A Curious Prayer.

The Syracuse Star is responsible for the following:

'In the State of Ohio there resided a family consisting of an old man by the name of Beaver and his three sons, all of whom are hard 'pets' who had often laughed to scorn the advice and treaties of a pious though very eccentric Minister who resided in the same town. It happened one of the boys was bitten by a rattlesnake and expected to die, when the Minister was sent for in great haste. On his arrival he found the young man very penitent and anxious to be prayed with. The Minister calling on the family, kneeled down and prayed in this wise:

'O Lord, we thank thee for rattlesnakes; we thank thee because a rattlesnake has bit Jim. We pray thee send a rattlesnake to bite John; send one to bite Bill; send one to bite Sam; and O Lord, send the bigest kind of a rattlesnake to bite the old man, for nothing but rattlesnakes will ever bring the Beaver family to repentance. Amen.'

☞ A Gentleman on passing his hand too familiarly on a lady's knee, was told by her that he was "out of bounds."

"What tribe madame?"

"Of the Pee-kees," replied the young lady.

Almost Dar Now.—The following anecdote, illusterative of railroad facility, is very pointed. A traveller inquired of a negro the distance to certain point.—'Dat pends on circumstances,' replied the darkey. 'If you gwine afoot it'll take you about a day; If you gwine in the stage or homneybus, you make it half a day; but you get in one of these smoke wagons, you be almost dar now!'

'Will you please to permit a lady to occupy this seat?' said a gentleman to another, the other day, in a railroad car. 'Is she an advocate of women's rights?' asked the gentleman who was invited to 'vacate.' 'She is,' replied he who was standing. 'Well, then, let her take the benefit of her doctrines, and stand up.'

There is said to be a girl somewhere in New England whose heart was so warm that it burnt through her bosom.

A government official in Bermuda was in the habit, some years ago, of sending packages of arrowroot to the Duke of Wellington, out of kindness and respect, for which he used to receive notes from the Duke acknowledging the receipts of the packages, and expressing thanks for them. The supply of arrowroot at Apsley House must have exceeded the consumption; and its accumulation appears to have been inconceivably large, for the Bermuda official was surprised to receive a note, of which the following is a copy; 'F. M. the Duke of Wellington presents his compliments to——, and begs to inform him that he now has arrow-root enough.'

The New Orleans Picayune tells an anecdote of a temperance man in Louisville, who was very anxious to have a neighbor sign the temperance pledge—said the temperance man to the other—

'I wish you would sign your name to it.'

'I'll consider it over. It is'nt best to be rash, you know and to stop so suddenly.'

'But now is the very time, and, your name will go so far, and have so great an effect.'

'Well, now the fact is, I can stand it tolerably well during the summer, but in the winter it's no use—I'm not in the habit of it. However, seeing it's you, and to help, you may put me down for six months.'

A merchant not over conversant with geography, on hearing that one of his vessels was in jeopardy, exclaimed, 'Jeopardy! Jeopardy! where's that?'

Dr. Johnson was asked by a lady what new work he was employed upon. 'I am writing nothing, just at present,' he replied. 'Well, but Doctor,' said she, 'if I could write like you, I should always write, merely for the pleasure of it.' 'Pray Madam,' retorted he, 'do you think that Leander swam the Hellespont merely because he was fond of swimming?'

'At what time do your omnibusses start?' asked a Londoner, lately, of of one of the conductors. 'Our busses,' replied the functionary, 'runs a quarter arter, arf arter, quarter to, and at!' In English this means every quarter.

A fellow named, Wills was hauled up in Albany the other day for striking a man named Joke, and fined $5. He plead in extenuation that he thought it no offence to 'crack a joke.'

Smith O'Brien.

A letter from this illustrious exile, to the Dublin Nation calls to mind his sad and unmerited fate. He speaks like a man; his sentiments are still noble, patriotic, sublime. The vile treatment of his unworthy foe has not in the least tainted his noble mind. Alluding to the remark of Lord Eglington, that 'none of the persons in whose behalf my interference is solicited, have expressed contrition for their crimes, or manifested any sense of gratitude or royalty to the gracious Sovereign whom they have so greviously offended, and to whose clemency some of them are indebted for their lives,' he says:

'If it be a crime to have loved the land of my fathers with a fanatic affection, then I am a criminal. If it be a crime to have devoted to the welfare of that land a life of unremitting toil, then I am a criminal. If it be a crime to have foregone for its sake every object of personal ambition, and what I prise still more, the endearment of domestic associations in the happiest of homes, then I am a criminal. If it be a crime to have encountered for its sake every sort of obliquy and danger, then I am a criminal. If it be a crime to have stooped for its sake to solicitations from the British Parliment galling alike to personal and national pride, then I am a criminal. If it be a crime when I found peaceful remonstrances unavailing, to have incited my countrymen to appeal to that final arbitrament which even England can honor in Hungarian failure and American success, then I am a criminal. If it be a crime to have desired to win freedom and independence for my country with the least possible amount of bloodshed, and with total abstinence from revolutionary excesses, then I am a criminal. Were I in the presence of my maker, I could not acknowledge as a crime this devotion to Ireland.—How, then, can I express contrition for it to that government which has been, both directly and indirectly, both in times far remote and in the days of its recent calamity the agent to which it owes its oppression and desolation.

An Extraordinary Freak of Nature.—A man by the name of George W. Houston, living a short distance from Sparta, Va., has a cow which has brought forth a most uncommon calf. The calf is now two weeks old, living, and likely to live. It has two distinctly formed mouths, four distinctly formed nostrils, two tongues, and four eyes, and will, I think, have four horns. In all other respects it is formed as usual, and is a playful and very pretty calf. It eats very heartily with either mouth. Some three or four hundred persons have been to look at it and all consider it a very great curiosity.—Richmond Whig, May 10th.

Bryant House, Great Bend Depot, Pa.

THIS new and spacious building, situated but a few feet from the Depot at Great Bend, is now opened and furnished in a suitable style for a Public House, and will be kept open at all hours, (both day and night,) for the reception of travellers; and especially for the accommodation of passengers travelling on the N. Y. & Erie & L. & W. Railroads, being at the junction of these two roads, and the most convenient point to step in and take refreshments and be off with the first train, as well as the most convenient house to accommodate the public, because it is NEW, CLEAN and WHOLESOME!—with room enough to accommodate ALL, being fitted up with every thing necessary to correspond, and tables always set, with WARM MEALS and luxuries furnished at a moments warning.

☞ Passengers desiring rest and sleep, can, by calling here, avoid the inconvenience of taking an omnibus to find an inn, as well as the delay and uncertainty of returning to the depot at the arrival or departure of the trains; as a porter will be in waiting to conduct them with their baggage to the Bryant House, "just across the way," and conduct them back again without fee or reward, taking special care to wake them if desired at any hour of the night.

The location of the Bryant House, with the natural scenery around it combine to make it a very desirable SUMMER RESORT for business men and others in the city who may wish to "cast off care" for a few days to recruit in the country.

A Large and Commodious Hall

is attached to this building for the convenience of pleasure PARTIES, who may always find good accommodations here, without regard to numbers, with warm stabling for their teams, and reliable help to wait on them.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH!

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, Prescot Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway—Sir:—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflamation set in so severely, that doubts were entertained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and from that time after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three Boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inverted in the Hobart Town Courier of the 1st March, 1851, by Major J. Welch.

Margaret M'Donigan, nineteen years of age, residing at New Town, had been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs, during this period she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's Pills, which she consented to do, and in an incredible short space of time they effected a perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 84 YEARS OF AGE.

From Messrs Thew & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement, August 24, 1851.

To Professor Holloway—Sir:—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 84 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have so relieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered by their means, comparatively active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before.

(Signed) HENRY COE, North st., Lynn, Norfolk.

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys,

AND all diseases arising from a disordered liver or stomach such as constipation, inward piles fullness or blood to the head, acidity of the stomach, nausea, heart burn, disgust for food, fulness or weight in the stomach, sour eructations, sinking or fluttering at the pit of the stomach, swimming of the head, hurried or difficult breathing, fluttering at the heart, choking or suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, dimness of vision, dots or webs before the sight, fever and dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin and eyes, pain in the side, back, chest, limbs &c., sudden flushes of heat, burning in the flesh, constant imaginings of evil, and great depression of spirits, can be effectually cured by

Dr. Hoofland's celebrated German Bitters,

Prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, at the German Medicine store, 120 Arch street Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States as the cures attest, in many cases after skilful physicians had failed.

These bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching power in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are lithal, safe, certain, and pleasant.

Read and be Convinced.

The Editor of the Boston Bee said, December 22d—

Dr. Hoofland's Celebrated German Bitters, for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic, or Nervous debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These Bitters have been tested by thousands, and a friend at our elbow says he has himself received an effectual and permanent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remedy. We are convinced that, in the use of these bitters, the patient constantly gains strength and vigor—a fact worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicate stomach with safety under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and to the afflicted we advise their use.

Scott's Weekly, one of the best papers published, said, August 25th—

"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the medical faculty as an article of much efficacy in cases of female Weakness. As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these Bitters advantageous to their health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."

More Evidence.

The Philadelphia Saturday Gazette, the best family paper published in the United States, says of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters—

"It is seldom that we recommend what are termed Patent Medicines to the confidence and patronage of our readers, and therefore, when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters we wish to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noised about for a brief period and then forgotten after they have run their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally approved, and which has met the hearty approval of the faculty itself."

Look well to the marks of the genuine. They have the written signature of C. M. JACKSON upon the wrapper and his name blown in the bottle, without which they are spurious.

For sale, wholesale and retail, at the German Medicine Store, No. 120 Arch street, one door below Sixth, Philadelphia, and by respectable dealers generally throughout the country.

Prices reduced.—To enable all classes of invalids to enjoy the advantages of their great restorative powers.

BY MEANS OF THE POCKET ESCULAPIUS, or every one his own Physician! Thirty-sixth edition, with upwards of a hundred engravings, showing private disease in every shape and form, and malformations of the generative system,

By William Young, M. D.

The time has now arrived that persons suffering from secret diseases need no more become the victims of quackery, as by the prescriptions contained in this book, any one may cure himself, without hindrance of business, or the knowledge of the most intimate friend, and with one-tenth the usual expense. In addition to the general routine of private disease, it fully explains the cause of manhood's early decline, with observations on marriage—besides many other, derangements which it would not be proper to enumerate in the public prints.

☞ Any person sending TWENTY-FIVE CTS. enclosed in a letter, will receive one copy of this book, by mail, or five copies will be sent for one dollar. Address DR. W. YOUNG, No. 152 Spruce street, PHILADELPHIA, post-paid.

☞ DR. YOUNG can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his different publications, at his office, 152 Spruce street, every day between 9 and 3 o'clock, Sundays excepted.) 33y1

The People's Friend.

T. T. Pond's, of Ithaca, N. Y., Pain Destroyer and Healing Extract.

AN Extract from the shrub called Witch hazel, and purely from that, with the exception of a little Alcohol to preserve it.

It will cure all local pain and inflammation, old sores, fresh wounds and bruises, Piles, and all diseases of the bowels of a chronic nature, tooth-ache, ear-ache, and an excellent remedy for females, &c.

It is truly what it professes to be, "THE PEOPLE'S FRIEND." Providence has scattered along the rugged paths of life many things that contribute greatly to the comfort and happiness of every body; hence the present value, an I well may they be called "Friends of the People."

One word here to guard against imposition. A man by the name of Spencer has manufactured and offered for sale a spurious article called the "Cure of Extract"—that would be extract from the hazel-nut—the genuine is as white and pure as water, while the spurious article is colored, which enables the public to distinguish.

None genuine but those marked Pond's Pain Destroyer.

WILLIAM K HATCH, Montrose, and store-keepers and medicine dealers generally, Agents.

DR. S. E. CRAIN, German Physician, takes this method of informing his friends and the public in general that he has removed from California, Pa., and located in the village of Oswego, County of Tioga, and has established a permanent office on Lake Street, over T. P. Pateh's new brick store, and is ready to attend to any business in the line of his profession.

His peculiar method of treating is a correct diagnosis in diseases, and his unparalleled success in treating the various diseases incidental to the human system, more especially those of an acute, subacute, chronic, or complicated character, are all that is necessary for him to offer the invalids and diseased of every character to entrust him to the confidence of a discriminating public. For the benefit of those unacquainted with his method of practice he would say that he describes disease by a chemical and microscopical examinasi n of the Urine.

Persons may send or bring their Urine in a clean (at least two ounce) vial the first thing in the morning is preferred, and as a record of the split at this case, examined the name and age of the patient are the only required. No charge is made for examining a case where no medicine is taken.

His medicines are principally selected from the vegetable Kingdom, and are administered according to the German Botanico Practice.

He would also add, that he has at last made an important discovery in relation to treating diseases of a cancerous origin, or Uraet. This is a singular depression and may consist of crystalline grains, or a gritty, harsh feel but not distinctly visible upon a close examination, or a watery consist is irregular shaped transparent semi-gelatinous, sufficient large to be readily distinguished by the eye, and denominated Calculi.

The preparation that he has introduced is capable of dissolving and toolding in solution, calculous, or stony concretions, which he has names Urinasol, and very often exhaustive inflammation of the Urinary, organs, and thereby allowing the same to escape.

References can be had at his office from persons living in all the Western counties of the State of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, &c., who have been given up to die by the most skilful Physicians, leaving them and awaiting themselves of all skill, have been restored to good health. The great Germany Remedies for Female obstructions, Worms, Croup and Dysentery, may always be found at the office.

MARRIAGE,

HAPPINESS AND COMPETENCE.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an era when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed.

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY.

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without having the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands. In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S Private Medical Companion.
