In 1671, Louis XIV. had one regiment armed with guns, and called them fusiliers, to make a distinction between the guns and muskets, which distinction has entirely ceased since that time. Little improvements were made in regard to the locks, until about the year 1825, when the percussion lock was invented, which has undergone a good many changes, such as self-priming, &c. The percussion locks were not introduced into the different armies before 1837-1840.

In Prussia the needle gun was invented, which was in the beginning very imperfect, but has been improved a good deal, and is now in general use in the Prussian army. It is a breach loading gun. By opening the breach the needle, around a spiral spring works is cocked. The cartridge contains the priming, and the needle, when fired by pulling the trigger, penetrates the cartridge and strikes the fulminating powder, close under the bullet.—It has been lately improved again in Berlin.

In the firing of cannon a change has not been made until some years ago. In the English navy they used flint locks for firing them: lately the Prussian lock has been in general use. In the Prussian artillery friction tubes are used at the present time. A small copper tube is forced into the cartridge through the touch-hole; by pulling a small string, part of the tube which contains the friction powder is torn off, and ignites the powder. This method is superior to any other, as a cannon might be fired in rainy weather, and cannot as easily be injured as one with a percussion lock.

Incomparably the finest thing in the Crystal Palace is Thorwaldsen's great work—Christ and the Twelve Apostles. It is worth all the rest of the Exhibition that we have yet seen. We came upon this majestic triumph of art unawares, and were entranced by its grand variety of meaning and beauty. A semicircular apartment or alcove, lined with purple velvet, with the light coming from above through a blue shade, has been prepared for the reception of the figures. They are of the size of life, except Christ, which is larger; and they stand round the semicircle, the principal figure at the back, and six apostles on either hand. Here, for the first time, we see a countenance which does not outrage our idea of the Saviour. Here, for the first time, we behold a face expressive, at once, of the humility and loftiness, the sorrow and resignation, the dignity and lowliness, the purity and wisdom of the Man Christ Jesus. No effeminacy, no weak submissiveness, no indecision, are traceable in that face. It is the countenance of one who comprehends all the woes of mankind, pities them with an immeasurable compassion, knows that they are past cure for many and many an age, and yet is profoundly sure that the time will come when human folly and consequently human sorrow, shall have an end. The great difficulty in this work, as we apprehend, was to make the superiority of Christ manifest. The apostles are all moulded in forms befitting only the elect of men; yet between them and the Master, the sculptor has made the difference seem essential.—It is a beautiful, august work, and when we have seen and known more of it, we must describe it more fully.

New-York Dry Goods Store.

THE Proprietors of the New York Store, No. 7 Court street, Binghamton, Broome County, N. Y. takes unfeigned pleasure in returning his sincere thanks for the patronage bestowed upon him since his opening, as his trade thus far has surpassed his highest anticipations. He now takes pleasure in announcing, that his arrangements for the Summer Campaign are complete, having made his arrangements in New York to be supplied with every article at cost, which enables him to sell goods in any quantity, by the case, piece or yard, at the same prices that they are sold in New York at wholesale. This will at once satisfy every mind that goods can be sold at this establishment 15 to 20 per cent. cheaper than any other house in town can sell.

Merchants in this vicinity are advertising goods cheap and at cost. Their old stocks are flooding the market at the very highest prices, even at cost. Don't be humbugged by them—come to the New York Store, where you can get goods new and fresh from the Atlantic steamers and the manufactorys. I have just received 20 cases of the newest styles of rich black, fancy, brocade, check and changeable Silks, Barages, Challies, Lawns, Jaconets, Linens, Damask Table Spreads, Embroideries, Demi Veils, Parasols, Shawls, Vizetres and Mantillas, Gloves, Hosiery, Mitts, a large assortment of Dress Trimmings, Trunks, Valices, Satchels, De Lanes, Prints, bleached and unbleached Shirtings and Sheetings, Ticks, Stripes and Denims.

The New York Store is the Banner store.—We buy for Cash, sell for cash and charge nothing for showing goods. The summer campaign is open. Come and see the battle already begun, and buy a pile of cheap new and fashionable goods. Remember the number and place New York Store No. 7, Court st. a few doors east of the Chenango Bridge, Binghamton, Broome Co., New York.

F. BROWN'S
Essence of Jamaica Ginger.

This Essence is a preparation of unusual excellence. In ordinary diarrhœa, incipient cholera, in short, in all cases of prostration of the digestive functions, it is of inestimable value. During the prevalence of epidemic cholera and summer complaints of children, it is peculiarly efficacious; no family or individual or traveller should be without it. As it enables the system to resist the influence of incipient disease which lurk in a changing climate.

CAUTION.—Be sure to get the genuine essence which is prepared only by F. BROWN, at his Drug and Chemical Store, N. E. Corner of Fifth and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, and for sale by all the respectable Apothecaries in the United States, and at Montrose Pa by
