THE DEMOCRAT.

The Largest Circulation in Northern Pennsylvania—1632 Copies Weekly.

S. B. & E. B. CHASE, EDITORS.

MONTROSE, AUGUST 4, 1853.

MARRIED, on the 10th ult., in Kenebunkport Me., by the Rev. C. W. Heywood, Miss Amanda Mann, to Mr. A. R. Nott, all of Kenebunkport.

The following poetical correspondence is said to have actually passed between the above named couple, and to have been the bona fide 'proposal' and 'reply.' The fact that they were known to be inveterate punsters, makes the statement more probable. The last stanza, we presume, was added by our correspondent.—Boston Post

Nott to Amanda.

Oh that I could prevail, my fair,
That we unite our lot!
Oh take a man, Amanda Mann,
And tie a double 'knot.'

Your coldness drives me to despair—
What shall I do! ah, what?
For you I'm growing thin and spare—
For you I'm a 'pine Nott.'

If I should hear that you had died,
'Twould kill me on the spot;
Yet only yesterday I cried—
'Ah! would that she were Nott!'

The 'chords' and tendrils of my heart
Around thee fondly 'twine'—
Amanda, heal this aching smart!
Amanda, oh be mine!

These very terms, as I opine,
Suggest united lot;
Let's tie, then, dear, these chords and twine,
Into hymenial knots.

Miss Amanda Mann's Reply.

This life, we know, is but a span,
Hence, I have been afraid
That I should still remain A. Mann,
And die at last—a maid.

And often to myself I say,
On looking round, I find
There's Nott a man in every way
Just suited to my mind.

I fain would whisper him apart,
He'd make me blest for life—
If he would take me to his heart
And make A. Mann a wife.

Love not, my mother often says,
And so, too, says the song—
I'll heed the hint in future days,
And love Nott well and long.

Then oh, let Hymen or the spot,
His chain around me throw—
And bind me in a lasting knot
Tied with a single beau.

And now I give myself to you,
And thus unite our lots—
Then tie those chords and twine into
A dozon little Notts.

Shelter for Horses.

We copy the following remarks, from the London 'Sporting Magazine:'

The nearer we follow nature in the treatment of animals, the better; and I contended that keeping horses in cold and exposed situations, is a violation of the laws of nature. The blood-horse originally came from eastern climates, where the temperature is dry and warm; and although he is to a certain extent naturalized to this climate, the nearer the climate may be to that of his primitive soil, the better will his health be. The vine, it is true will grow and produce grapes in the open air, in this country, but not in that abundance, size, quality, or flavor, as it does in former climates, or when protected by the shelter of a hot house. Those who object to having their backs kept warm, argue that at times they are inevitably exposed to a cold stable, and that such a change will be productive of catarrh, inflammation, and various other diseases. This is not so frequently to be encountered as formerly; stables are more comfortably constructed than they used to be; and if a dinner invitation, or other social visit, exposed to a temporary asylum in a cold stable, a rug or two, or even a blanket, can soon be found to keep him warm whilst his master enjoys himself at the festive board. Indeed, if no envelopment can be procured, I am convinced the animal will not be so susceptible of cold, although accustomed to warm at home, as he will be if kept too cool and for this reason—he will be finer in his coat, and from the beneficial result of condition he will be dry; whereas a horse with a long coat, and out of condition, has a garment like a wet blanket, with a languid circulation, insufficient to create that evaporation necessary to render the horse dry, and the perspiration will be seen hanging to the point of almost every hair on his body.

To keep Wheel Tires Tight.

A correspondent of the Southern Planter gives the following mode of repairing the felloes of wheels so that they will keep tight:

'I ironed a wagon some years ago, for my own use, and before putting on the tires, I filled the felloes with linseed oil; and the tires have worn out and were never loose. I ironed a buggy for my own use, seven years ago, and the tires are now as tight as when put on. My method of filling the felloes with oil is as follows: I use a long cast iron oil heater, made for the purpose, the oil is bro't to a boiling heat, the wheel is placed on a stick, so as to hang in the oil, each felloe one hour, for a common sized felloe. The timber should be dry, as green timber will not receive oil.—Care should be taken that the oil be made no hotter than the boiling heat, in order that the timber be not burnt. Timber filled with oil is not susceptible of water, and the timber is much more durable. I was amused, some time ago when I told a blacksmith how to keep tires tight on wheels, by his telling me it was a profitable business to tighten tires; and the wagon maker will say it is profitable to him to make and repair wheels—but, what will the farmer, who supports the wheel right and smith, say?

Thrilling Narative.

The following thrilling account is said to have been taken from the Log Book of a vessel sometime since arriving in port;

'In the course of the voyage, that dreadful disease, 'ship fever' broke out among the crew. One of the sailors among the victims, was accompanied by his son, a lad of fourteen years, who was strongly attached to his father, and remained with him day and night, and could not be persuaded to leave him a moment. A large shark was seen every day following the vessel, evidently for the purpose of devouring any one who should die and be committed to the deep. As it was the custom at sea, he was sewed up in a sheet, and for the purpose of sinking him an old grindstone, and a carpenter's axe were put in with him. The solemn and impressive service of the Episcopal Church was then read doubly solemn at sea, and the body was committed to the deep. The boy who had watched the proceedings instantly plunged in after the father, when the enormous shark swallowed both. The second day after this dreadful scene, as the shark continued to follow the vessel, (for there were others sick on board,) and one of the sailors proposed, as they had a shark hook on board, to make an effort to take him. They fastened the hook to a large rope, baiting it with a piece of pork, and threw it into the sea when the shark instantly swallowed it. Having thus hooked him by means of the windlass they succeeded in hoisting him on board.

After he was dead they prepared to open him, when one of the sailors on stooping down for that purpose, suddenly paused, and after listening a few moments, declared most solemnly that he heard a low guttural sound, which appeard to proceed from the shark. The sailors, after enjoying a hearty laugh at his expense, proceeded to listen for themselves—when they were compelled to admit they heard a similar sound. They then proceeded to open the shark, when the mystery was explained. It appeared that the sailor was not dead but in a trance, and his son, on making this discovery, had by means of his knife ripped open the sheet, and having thus liberated his father, they both went to work and righted up the old grindstone the boy was turning, and the father was holding on the old ship carpenter's axe, for the purpose of cutting their way out of the Jonah-like prison, which occasioned the noise heard by the sailors. As it was the hottest season of the year, and very little air stirring where they were at work, the father and his son sweat tremendously.—Vernon Transcript.

The 'Lumber' in a Single Tree.

It was called the Fremont Pine, and was situated about fourteen miles east of Placerville near the emigrant road. Its history and proportions are thus sketched by the San Francisco Herald:

In circumference two feet from the ground it measured twenty-nine feet, or nine feet in diameter.

At the commencement of the rainy season last autumn, Levin Payne and T. A. Dimitt determined on cutting it down, for the purpose of working it into shingles. It was chopped off only two feet from the ground, as there was no apparent diminution in size for fifty feet upward. As many men as could work around it chopped it off in two days. Seven men now commenced operations upon it, and have continued, with but little interruption, the entire winter and spring.

The first eight feet, though perfectly sound, was not worked in consequence of its being a little cuty and cross grained. Above this eight cuts were taken, of eight feet each; and at this distance, or seventy feet from the stump, it was seven feet eight inches in diameter. From these eight cuts, five hundred shakes four feet long by six inches wide, and two hundred and twenty-five thousand sixteen inch shingles have been made by riviting and shaving and without the least loss of timber. Three more eight feet cuts will easily make forty thousand shingles more, but, with some little loss of timber, there being a few small dry limbs in the last cut. This will make in all, two hundred and sixty-five thousand shingles, at twelve dollars per thousand, the price they brought at the stump, and we have no less a sum than $3,180 for shingles alone, besides shakes, rails and fence post. The entire length of the tree was two hundred and thirty feet. It may be asked by the old folks at home, how we manage to saw into blocks a tree that, when lying upon the ground is two feet higher than most men's heads. We answer, that it is first chopped into on both sides about twenty inches, and then sawed off into cuts eight feet long; these are then split with powder and quartered, then sawed into sixteen inch shingle blocks. It may seem to some like another California story, and so it is, but it is, nevertheless, true. We have seen it, measured it, and can test to the facts as regards its size.

A CASE UNDER THE LIQUOR LAW OF NEW JERSEY.—The first case which has occurred in the State, under the law relative to habitual drunkards, passed at the last session of the Legislature, took place at Princeton on Friday the 22d ult., and is mentioned in the Whig. The Chancellor issued a commission to three gentlemen, who proceeded to try before a jury an inquisition into the habitual drunkenness of Charles Skillman, and his incapacity to take care of his property. The jury gave a verdict that such was the case, and, according to the law, the Orphan's Court, on application, must appoint a guardian over him. He is divested of all control of his property, which will be restored on his reformation; all liquor sellers under a penalty are forbidden to sell to him. Legally, he is to be treated as a lunatic.

COST OF A PASSENGER CAR.—The cost of one of the long railway passenger cars is, on an average, about $2,000. There are in the United States upwards of eighty private car manufactories, exclusive of those railways which make and repair all for their own use; and it is calculated that a capital of $6,000,000 is invested in this branch of industry, producing about $17,000,000 annually, and employing about six thousand men.

Prosperity is scarcely safe unless it is mixed with a little adversity.

Bryant House, Great Bend Depot, Pa.

THIS new and spacious building, situated but a few feet from the Depot at Great Bend, is now opened in a formidable manner for the reception of visitors and will be kept open at all hours, (both day and night,) for the reception of travellers; and especially for the accommodation of passengers travelling on the N. Y. & Erie & L. & W. Railroads, being at the junction of these two roads, and the most convenient point to step in and take refreshments and be off with the first train, as well as the most convenient house to accommodate the public, because it is NEW, CLEAN AND WHOLESOME, with room enough to accommodate ALL, being fitted up with new furniture to correspond, and tables always set, with WARM MEALS and luxuries furnished at a moments warning.

☞ Passengers desiring rest and sleep, can, by calling here, avoid the inconvenience of taking an omnibus to find an inn, as well as the delay and uncertainty of returning to the depot at the arrival or departure of the trains; as a porter will be in waiting to conduct them with their baggage to the Bryant House, "just across the way," and conduct them back again without fee or reward, taking special care to wake them if desired at any hour of the night.

The location of the Bryant House, with the natural scenery about it combine to make it a very desirable SUMMER RESORT for business men and others in the city who may wish to "cast off care" for a few days to recruit in the country.

A Large and Commodious Hall

is attached to this building for the convenience of pleasure Parties, who may always find good accommodations there, without regard to numbers, with warm stables for their teams, and reliable help to wait on them.

☞ For further particulars inquire at the Bryant House of the proprietor. ADDISON BRYANT.

DOCTOR YOURSELF For 25 cents.

BY MEANS OF THE POCKET ESCULAPIUS, or every one his own Physician! Thirty-sixth edition, with upwards of a hundred engravings, showing private disease in every shape and form, and malformations of the generative system,

By William Young, M. D.

The time has now arrived that persons suffering from secret diseases need no more become the victims of quackery, as by the prescriptions contained in this book, any one may cure himself, without hindrance of business, or the knowledge of the most intimate friend, and with one tenth the usual expense. In addition to the general outline of private disease, it fully explains the cause of manhood's early decline, with observations on marriage—besides many other derangements which it would not be proper to enumerate in the public prints.

☞ Any person sending TWENTY-FIVE CTS. enclosed in a letter, will receive one copy of this book, by mail, or five copies will be sent for one dollar. Address DR. W. YOUNG, No. 152 Spruce street, PHILADELPHIA, post-paid.

☞ DR. YOUNG can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his different publications, at his office, 152 Spruce street, every day between 9 and 5 o'clock, Sundays excepted.) 39y1

The People's Friend.

T. T. Pond's, of Ithaca, N. Y., Pain Destroyer and Healing Extract.

AN Extract from the shrub called Witch hazel, and purely from that, with the exception of a little Alcohol to preserve it.

It will cure all local pain and inflammation, old sores, fresh wounds and bruises, Piles, and all diseases of the bowels of a chronic nature, tooth-ache, ear-ache, and an excellent remedy for females, &c.

It is truly what it professes to be, "THE PEOPLE'S FRIEND." Providence has scattered along the rugged paths of life many things that contribute greatly to the comfort and happiness of every body; hence their great value, and well may they be called "Friends of the People."

One word here to guard against imposition. A man by the name of Spencer has manufactured and offered for sale a spurious article called the "Cured Extract"—that sounds like extract from the hazel-nut—the genuine is as white and pure as water, while the spurious article is colored, which enables the public to distinguish.

None genuine but those marked Pond's Pain Destroyer.

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys,

AND all diseases arising from a disordered liver or stomach such as constipation, inward piles fullness or blood to the head, acidity of the stomach, nausea, heart burn, disgust for food, fulness or weight in the stomach, sour eructations, sinking or fluttering at the pit of the stomach, swimming of the head, hurried or difficult breathing, fluttering at the heart, choking or suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, dimness of vision, dots or webs before the sight, fever and dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin and eyes, pain in the side, back, chest, limbs &c., sudden flushes of heat, burning in the flesh, constant imaginings of evil, and great depression of spirits, can be effectually cured by DR. Hoofland's celebrated German Bitters.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equaled, by any other preparation in the United States as the cures attest, in many cases after skilful physicians had failed.

These bitters are worthy the attention of invalids—Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exciting the most searching power in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are, within, safe, certain and pleasant.

Read and be Convinced.

The Editor of the Boston Herald, December 23d—

Dr. Hoofland's Celebrated German Bitters, for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic, or Nervous debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These bitters have been used by thousands, and a friend at our elbow says he has himself received an effectual and permanent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remedy. We are convinced that, in the use of these bitters, the patient constantly gains strength and vigor—a fact worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicate stomach, with safety under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and do thus directed we advise their use.

Scott's Weekly, one of the best literary papers published, said, August 27th—

"Hoofland's German Bitters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the medical faculty as an article of much efficacy in cases of female Weakness. As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these Bitters advantageous to their health. We know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."

More Evidence.

The Philadelphia Saturday Gazette, the best family paper published in the United States, says of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters—

"It is seldom that we recommend what are termed Patent Medicines, to the confidence and patronage of our readers, and therefore when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters we wish to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noised about for a brief period and then forgotten after they have run their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally approved, and which has met the hearty approval of the faculty itself."

Look well to the marks of the genuine. They have the written signature of C. M. JACKSON upon the wrapper and his name blown in the bottle, without which they are spurious.

For sale, wholesale and retail, at the German Medicine Store, No. 120 Arch street, one door below Sixth, Philadelphia, and by respectable dealers generally throughout the country.

Prices reduced.—To enable all classes of invalids to enjoy the advantages of their great restorative powers, Small Bottles 75 Cents.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH! HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, Prescot street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway—Sir.—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our list of Proprietary Medicines for some time past, customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflamation rose to so severely, that double doses were required before being able to bear up under it. Fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three Boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart Town Courier of the 1st March, 1851, by Major J. Welch.

Margaret M'Cunnigan, nineteen years of age, residing at New Town, had been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs; during this period she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's Pills, which she consented to do, and in an incredible short space of time they effected a perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 84 YEARS OF AGE.

From Messrs. Thew & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement,—August 21, 1851.

To Professor Holloway—Sir.—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 84 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have so relieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered by their means, comparatively active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before.

MARRIAGE, HAPPINESS AND COMPETENCE.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at this—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back—and sinner, and regret the fatal consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, successfully evolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands. In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to health, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled
