New Milford Day and Boarding School.

THE committee appointed to inspect the closing exercises of the summer Term of this institution, would state that the exercises were sustained in the most efficient and creditable manner. The Exhibition consisted of a variety of pieces of declamation, original and selected, interspersed with interesting colloquies and the whole enlivened by some of the choicest music, discovered by the choir, who generally volunteered their services on the occasion.

The Committee, well acquainted with Rev. H. Osborn, Principal, his mode of instruction and discipline—do highly recommend this institution as every way worthy of the most generous patronage.
