Bury me in the Morning. BY MRS. HALE.

Bury me in the morning, mother; Oh! let me have the light Of one bright day on my grave, mother, Ere you leave me alone with the night;

Alone in the night of the grave mother-Tis a thought of terrible fear .--.
And you will be here alone mother-And stars will be shining here. So bury me in the morning, mother, And let me have the light

Ere I am alone with the night. You tell me of the Savior's love mother-I feel it in my heart;
But oh! from this beautiful world, mother, "Fis hard for the young to part!

Of one bright day on my grave, mother,

Forever to part, when here, mother, The soul is fain to stay, For the grave is deep and dark, mother, And heaven seems far away.

Then bury me in the morning, mother, And let me have the light Of one bright day on my grave, mother, Ere I am alone with night.

Never unclasp my hand, mother, Till it fills away from thine— Lot me hold the pledge of my love, mother Till I feel the love divine; The love divine-oh! look, mother, Above its beams I see:

Is smiling down on me! So bury me in the morning, mother, When sunbeams flood the sky-For death is the gate of life, mother, And leads to light on high.

And there an angel's face, mother,

A Border Tale.

THE MARRIAGE STATE: Shall Happiness and Bealth, or Misery and Bickness, attend it !

MOST STARTLING CONSIDERATIONS!

Reflections for the Thoughtful. Strange that countless human beings exist and drag through life as do the beasts of the field, or the insects of the earth, evincing no more thought or reflection than though the noble faculties of mind were not vouchsafed to them.

Many such are husbands and fathers, upon whom are dependent the health the well-heing, and the are dependent the health, the well-being, and the happiness of a confiding and affectionate wife, with perhaps a family of children.

HOW OFTEN IT HAPPENS THAT THE WIFE LINGERS FROM YEAR TO YEAR In that pitiable condition as not even for one day to feel the happy and exhilerating influence incident to the enjoyment of health.

She may not be an invalid confined to her bed, on even to her room; as her pride; ambition and energy induce and nerre her to take personal charge of her household, even when her health will not admit of it; but she is nevertheless perceptibly sinking from day to day, and always hiling.

Thus, day after day, and month after month transpire. Her health daily sinks, till finally even the hope of recovery no longer remains. And thus THE BLOOMING BRIDE.

But a few years ago in the flush of health and youth, and buoyancy of spirits, rapidly, and apparently inexplicably, becomes a feeble, sickly, debilitated wife, with frame emaciated, nerves unbilitated wife, with frame emaciated, nerves unstrung, spirits depressed, countenance bearing the impress of suffering, and an utter physical and mental prostration.

Sometimes this deplorable change may and does arise from organic or constitutional causes. But aftoner, by far ofteners, to gross and inexcusuble ignorance of the simplest and plainest rules of health as connected with the marriage state, the violation of which entails disease, suffering and misery, not only to the wife, but often

DREADFUL INHERITANCE from the Parents.

And must this continue ! Shall we be wise in And must this continue? Shall we be wise in all that concerns the cattle of our fields, our horses, our sheep, our cows, our oxen, the nature and character of the soil we possess, the texture and quality of our goods and merchandisd; but in all that concerns ourselves as human beings, with human functions and passions, subject to great derangement, involving our future peace and happiness—in all that concerns the health and welfare of the wife of our affections, and the mother of our children; in all that concerns the mental and physical well being of those children, we should be immersed in the darkest and most

BENIGHTED IGNORANCE.

How long shall this ignorance prevail so productive of its bitter fruits! Hew long shall the wife and mother be ignorant of the nature, character and causes of the various womb and schual complaints, embittering her days by suffering affering often prolonged to years, eventuating in a complication of diseases utterly and hopelessly incurable! Shall we for ever close our eyes to the results of physiological science by which we may arrive at an understanding of ourselves as men and women, subject to serious life-long enduring diseases, and perpetuating them to our children. AS CULPABLE AS INEXCURABLE

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER! No husband or wife need be ignorant of what concerns them most to know to secure their health and happiness. That knowledge is contained in a title work entitled THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION. BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU. PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN. One Hundredth Edition. 18ma, pp. 230. Price 50 Cente [ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA RINDING, $1 00.] First published in 1847; and it is not SURPRISING OR WONDERFUL,

I was about to rise from my concealment to return to the tent, and with my companions come to the rescue of the fair maiden, when the sound of voices warned me that still some of the party remained, and that such a stepaye, even the least intimation of my presence, would be the signal for one of the savages arrows to have sought a hiding place from its poisened top about the region of my heart.

I could not have escaped from the flying foot of the indians, nor cluded their swift tomahawks, and yet had I avoided all, their fast flying arrows would probably have reached me and I would not have lived either to assist in rescuing the maiden or tell this tale .-So I was forced to resort to the fertility of my imagination while waiting for the time to come when I could act. I gazed engerly forth in the direction the Indians had taken, watching the least thing that aroused my attention, but all was still, and there were no indications of the tragedy soon to be enacted. The sun had sank far down in the west and illuminated the horizon with its departing rays; the pale new moon was following closely his brilliant pathway, the scarcely stirring breeze moved not a lent, the silent waters gave not forth a rippling sound, but reflected in solemn stillness the moon's pale rays; the harsh howl of the wolf upon the distant hills, and the wild cat's shrill cry were unheard, and all things seemed wrapped in the stillness of death. I contimplated the heavens above and beheld with momentary rapture the myriads of constellations sparkling far and near amid the vast space of the etherial regions. I gazed upon the moon, pale and wan, and then looked upon the silent waters and saw mirrored in mimic glory the images
