tel the following report, through their chairman, Mr. Chase:

Resolved. That the selection of WILLIAM BIGLER by the voice of this Convention, as the standard-bearer of the democracy in the next gubernatorial contest, is net only in accordance with the well established usages of the party, but a well-merited tribute to his eminent worth, integrity and ability. His entire administration has been characterized by an unselfish devotion to the best interests of the people. The democracy will hail his re-nomination with delight, and will ratify the action of this Convention by his trium phant election.

Resolved. That the last annual message of Gov. Bigler is a public document of unusual strength and ability; exhibiting, with the greatest candor, and fidelity, the actual financial condition of the Commonwealth. In this frank and manly exhibit, we have assurance that the public interests of the people are entrusted to a safe and competent Executive.

Resolved, That whilst there is much in the message of Gov. BIGLER to excite our admiration and pride for the exhaustless wealth of the State, and the high degree of prosperi If enjoyed by the people, we should not be insensible to the importance of a rigid economy in every department of the government. It is in this that we have the assurance that the public money is not misapplied, and a just foundation for the confidence that public engagements will be cheerfully met by the

Resolved. That upon the subject of the currency, the views of Gov. Bigues are perfeetly sound and democratic. That whilst it has never been the aim or intention of the Democratic party to "uproot a system of banking," it is not less our true policy to restrain the aggregate amount of capital invested in banking to the demands of a healthy trade, and the actual business wants of the community, and not run the risk of great commercial cinbarrassment and distress ly an undue expansion of paper circulation. Old and solvent banks should be re-chartered with great caution, and only after a month thorough examination of their condition; whilst new ones should be established when absolutely necessary, and demanded by the exigencies of trade. Resolved. That the evils of omnibus and special legislation had become intolerable, so flugrant an act of injustice. and the former especially calculated to produce incalculable mischief and injury to the public. We therefore heartily commend and approve the position assumed by Gov. BIGLER! against this species of legislation.

Resolved, That in the adjustment of the difficulties at Erie, and with the Franklin caral company. Gov. Bigier displayed great skill, prudence and ability; and that he is justly entitled to the praise of all for his conduct throughout the entire controversy.

Resolved, That this Convention presents BLACE, as the candidate of the Democrat- Congress. ic party for Judge of the Supreme Court. The high character and distinguished ability If Judge Black are too well known to every ditizen of the commonwealth to require endersement by this Convention. The time he has already occupied that eminent position, has been sufficient to leave the impress of a great mind upon the jurisprudence of the country, and he has shown himself a worthy necessor of the strong minds who filled the

Resolved. That the election of Gen. FRANK-LIN PIERCE to the Presidency, was a triumphant vindication of the attachment of the Democratic party to the Constitution and the Union; and that so far his administration has displayed great ability, been eminently judicious and consistent with the principles upon which he was elected, and the doctrines contained in his inaugural address. Resolved. That the public services of the Hon.

Resolved, That the democracy of Pennsyl vania are in favor of a liberal disposition of the public lands by the general government, and of the principles of a well devised Homestead Law, which would encourage agriculture, commerce, manufactures, and all other branches of industry, by granting to every be white male citizen of the United States, Way is the head of a family, a homestead of one undred and sixty acres of land out of the pulic domain, upon condition of occu-Bandy and cultivation of the same for a cerzuin specified reriod.

Resolved, That the democracy of Pennsylvania adheres with unshaken fidelity, to the Constitution anaUnion of the States; and relies upon the conpromise of 1850 as the final adjustment of the vexed and dangerous question which then agitated the country, and menaced the existence of the Union .-Upon this rational principle Gov. Bigler entered upon the contest of 1851, and with a distinct avowal of his adhesion, was triumphantly elected. Adherence to its provisions. South, East and West, before he casts his was adopted in 1852, as a distinctive feature in the national platform, and D. Lidvas xperce was elected by an unparalleled majority, thus manifesting the popular assent to the terms and conditions of the compromise. Regarding it, as we do, as a solemn and deliberate settlement of the controversy, consecrated by the efffort and energies of the ablest and best of both great political parties at the time of its adoption, and since, twice ratified by the people of this State, we therefore ratify and adopt the principles laid down in the Baltimore platorm of 1852.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously On money, the Convention adjourned sine
